Board approves changes to two Carmel schools

By BRITTANY LEWIS
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

The board of Carmel Clay Schools in a Monday night meeting voted 4-1 in favor of rebuilding one elementary school and relocating a second one, per a recommendation from one of the district's interim superintendents, Roger McMichael.

At a meeting last month, McMichael called for demolishing and rebuilding Carmel Elementary at its current location. He also suggested closing the current Orchard Park Elementary and using it for adult education purposes or for use by the Parks and Recreation Department, while building a new Orchard Park campus off Clay Center Road.

McMichael said he hopes to have construction started on both sites by February 2020 and the schools ready to use by June 2021.

The school district released a statement following the vote:

"The CCS School Board made the difficult decision tonight to close Orchard Park Elementary and build a new elementary school at Clay Center Road which will open in July of 2021 along with a new Carmel Elementary facility built on its current site."

Millers take national honors

The REPORTER

This past week, Noblesville High School's speech team "Miller Speech" competed in the 2018 National Speech and Debate Association National Tournament in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Jahne Manifold, a recently graduated NHS senior, was crowned National Champion in Poetry. Among 463 competitors from 45 states, Manifold brought home the school's first individual title and Indiana's first Poetry Champion since 2002. Her program, titled "Where We Live," spread awareness of gun violence disproportionately affecting black communities.

Abigail VanMeter, also a recently graduated senior, qualified to the final round of Informative Speaking for the second consecutive year. Out of nearly 250 competitors, VanMeter placed among the Top 6 speakers. Her speech, "Make it Stick," highlighted the Post-It and its effect on spreading positive messages in times of tragedy.

Samantha Snyder was named an Octafinalist (Top 60 competitor) in Humorous Interpretation, and Cameron Hudspeth and Madeline Shelton were Octafinalists in Duo Interpretation. The competitors' breaks in Poetry, Humorous and Duo are placed in the Top 75 in their events out of nearly 250 national competitors.

Freshman Macy Meunier was a quarterfinalist (Top 28) in Extemporaneous Commentary, Mary Blake Brock placed among the Top 48 in Expository Speaking, and Kaleigh Newton (Informative Speaking), Katherine Conrad (Informative Speaking), Elissa Maudlin (Dramatic Interpretation), and Benjamin Elliott and Kurt Weigel (Duo Interpretation), all

The association recognized the NHS program as a School of Honor, ranking the team among the Top 40 out of nearly 4,500 participating high schools nationwide. This is the second consecutive year that the team earned that honor.

City will provide cash support in first year of Spark!Fishers

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

As the July 29-30 inaugural Spark!Fishers Festival nears, Mayor Scott Fadness says the city will be providing cash support to the first year event.

In a podcast interview recorded Monday morning, Mayor Fadness says in the first year of the Spark!Fishers Festival, he expects the cash contribution by the city to be similar to the amount provided in the past to the Fishers Freedom Festival.

"Keep in mind that this is our first year," Fadness said. "There's some heavy lifting to get it up and running, but even the fact that they are holding it to one day brings down our in-kind costs, because if you look back in the day when we had to have police, fire and public works out there for two full days, that really started racking-up on overtime bills for the work that we did."

Filing for school board seats begins July 25

By FRED SWIFT
ReadTheReporter.com

Filing opens July 25 for school board candidates in November's general election. Some board members in all six Hamilton County school districts will be selected in the non-partisan voting.

Hamilton Southeastern voters will choose a total of four members on its seven-member board. Noblesville will elect or re-elect two members to its five member board.

In what could become the most watched race, three of the five board members at Carmel are to be chosen. Controversy over proposed closing of two elementary schools along with the replacing of a girls' basketball coach could bring competitive contests for any or all three seats at stake.

Little if any controversy accompanies the school elections in Hamilton Heights, Sheridan and Westfield where three seats in each district are to be filled in the election.

Any citizen who is a registered voter is eligible to run in the appropriate election district. (Each school system has election districts within its boundaries) The filing is made at the county elections office. The deadline to file is noon on Aug. 24.

Meanwhile, three candidates have filed on the Democratic ticket for ballot positions that were not filled in the May primary.

Jason Straw of Westfield has filed for county sheriff. He will be opposing Dennis Quakenbush, the Republican candidate, and Duane Brenton, the Libertarian.

Filing for county commissioner is Rosemary Dunkle, Carmel. She will oppose incumbent Christine Altman in the November election.

And, Dan Greenhalgh, Fishers, is the Democrat candidate for Delaware

No injuries reported after child fires one shot in Fishers IKEA

The REPORTER

Fishers police are investigating after a child found a gun and fired a shot inside IKEA.

It happened around 2 p.m. Monday at the IKEA located at 11400 IKEA Way in Fishers.

A customer sat down on a couch, where his firearm fell out of his pants and got lodged in the piece of furniture. He got up from the couch and continued to walk around the store without realizing his gun was gone, according to Sgt. Tom Weger with Fisher Police Department.

Kids sat down on the same couch, found the gun and one of them

Township trustee opposing Republican incumbent Debbie Driskell.

Democrats may field a few more candidates during a caucus tonight in Fishers. The party still has numerous vacancies on its local ballot.

Fishers Parks and Recreation Director Tony Elliot told me during the same podcast that he expects those involved with the festival will learn a lot the first year and become more efficient in subsequent years.

"I've served on the sponsor committee and we've learned a lot," said Elliot.

City Councilman John Weingardt stated last week that he expects the Spark!Fishers Festival to have "very minimal" cash support from the city, but did say he had not seen the numbers.

In 2017, the Fishers Freedom Festival received $45,000 in cash support from the city and $45,000 in in-kind support. In-kind support is from the city departments, such as police, fire and public works.

Elliot described a very different Geist "Blast On The Bridge" this year. The July 4th celebration will no longer close-off the Geist bridge at roughly 4 p.m. as in past years, instead concentrating on the local restaurants in that area.

The bridge will close at 8 p.m. so people can gather to watch the fireworks display at 10 p.m.

Finally, when asking about the IKEA-sponsored

Maternity Lounge at the festival, Mayor Fadness mentioned his wife Anna may take advantage of that. Scott & Anna Fadness are expecting their second child in late August, and, according to the mayor, their second child will be a boy.

It was a difficult recommendation for CCS Administration to bring to the Board and for the Board to approve since Orchard Park Elementary has been a special school in our community and big part of many students, teachers, and community members lives over the years. We are fortunate to live in a community where people are passionate about their schools and education.

The recommendation was based on providing every student in our community, both now and in the future, a 21st century learning environment in the most efficient and fiscally responsible manner. It is now our task to design and build those special learning facilities and work hard over the next three years to make these transitions a positive experience for the students and families we serve."

pulled the trigger, firing a shot but not injuring anyone, Weger said.

Evidence technicians and investigators were at the scene. Weger said witness statements and evidence had been collected and would be forwarded on to the Hamilton County prosecutor.

Weger added that now is the time for parents to talk about what steps to take if a child finds a gun. Two steps are critical: Don't touch it, and go find and tell an adult.

At 4 p.m. Monday, the scene had been cleared, and the store had opened for business again.

An IKEA spokesperson provided a statement on the incident:

"We take this incident very seriously and we have offered the family of the child involved our sincerest apologies. Safety and security of customers and co-workers is the top priority for IKEA. We have processes in place to ensure that the store is safe for customers and co-workers. For example, our store team has regular safety walks and audits which happen before, during and after opening hours. In addition, IKEA has a no weapon policy in our locations to prevent exactly these types of situations. As soon as we were aware of the situation, our co-workers took the action that they were trained to do to ensure the safety of customers. We are cooperating with police as they investigate this incident."

The Girls Basketball program is especially grateful to TigerONE for the grant money that has provided athletic enhancement equipment, as well as a new ball cart."

Matt Moore, Head Boys Basketball Coach, said, "TigerONE has allowed our program to make tremendous strides off the court in how we function and operate as a program. The grants we have benefited from have gone a long way in providing upgrades in equipment and team gear along with technology support among other things. We greatly appreciate the support of TigerONE and their commitment to furthering the Fishers student-athletics experiences."

Steven Peek, Head Girls Volleyball coach, said, "TigerONE has been an invaluable support system for Fishers Athletics, and especially to the Girls Volleyball program. Our program needed significant training equipment and video technology improvements, and it was TigerONE grants that made those possible. Their support has allowed the girls to have tremendous seasons recently, including a Mudsock win in 2017. It's amazing how many Fishers supporters work tirelessly to give Tiger athletes opportunities to compete and succeed!"

Readers concerned about pets in public places

Dear Editor:

Question: How would you like to spend several hours outside in the humid and hot Indiana summer wearing a fur coat and no shoes on the hot pavement? Probably not?

We are writing to bring attention to a common occurrence seen around Hamilton County in the warm summer months which we find perplexing and bothersome. It is becoming more prevalent for dog owners to drag their dogs around to public events, concerts, ballgames, farmers markets, etc. regardless of the heat and discomfort of their pets. Not to mention that there may be people attending those events who are fearful or uncomfortable around dogs due to unfortunate experiences in the past.

We have been dog owners our entire lives and currently have two dogs who are very content to stay at home where it is cool and comfortable with fresh water and their dog toys. They are not interested in being in a crowd, or becoming hot and anxious while we owners "show them off" as some kind of trophy or prize.

We have observed people dragging their dogs out to concerts at Federal Hill Commons where the music is obviously disturbing the dogs' sensitive ears. We have observed dogs being taken to the Babe Ruth ballpark in Forest Park where it is clearly posted that "no dogs are allowed." Maybe those dog owners cannot read? Not sure what the problem is there.

Dogs are social creatures in most cases. If you wish for your dog to have contact with other dogs, there are dog parks and doggie daycare facilities. Maybe your dog does enjoy attention from other people - invite friends over to your home where your dog is comfortable and not exposed to extreme weather conditions.

In the meantime, please reconsider whether your dog is looking forward to a concert or watching a ballgame ... they probably are not. And of course never leave your dog in a warm car, keep them safe and secure away from crowds, loud noise and heat. As we approach the July Fourth festivities, please be especially careful with your dogs' exposure to any fireworks. They depend on us for so much, let's not let them down!

Carmel bike mascot coming soon

By FRED SWIFT
ReadTheReporter.com

The City of Carmel's new bicycle safety mascot will be making its appearance soon. Named Spokes, the mascot will be a person in a costume which resembles a friendly dog dressed in largely blue and gold attire. But, Spokes is not intended to look like a Greyhound, the long-time Carmel High School mascot.

Spokes will attend various community events promoting bike safety on the city's roads and trails. He (or she) will be a paid performer under the direction of a handler, both of whom are yet to be named. Carmel's office of community relations promises more information soon on details of the plans for Spokes including how to apply for the job.

HAND hires consultant, schedules Housing Needs Assessment public meetings

The REPORTER

HAND Inc. has engaged Novogradac & Co. LLP, a national accounting and consulting firm, to complete the 2018 Hamilton County Housing Needs Assessment. This data-based analysis, which is conducted twice a decade, is used to determine local housing needs and to identify a strategy for meeting them.

In addition to collecting and evaluating demographic data at the county level, the consultant will solicit input from key stakeholders during a series of public open houses scheduled for the week of July 9. Representatives of local businesses, nonprofit agencies and government entities are invited to attend the meetings to share their thoughts on the state of housing in the community – and how it impacts their organizations.

The two-hour meetings will be held at the following times and locations:

- 9 to 11 a.m. July 10, Grand Park Events Center, 19000 Grand Park Blvd., Westfield
- 1 to 3 p.m. July 10, Sheridan Public Library, 103 W. First St., Sheridan
- 2 to 4 p.m. July 11, Carmel City Hall, 1 Civic Square, Carmel
- 1 to 3 p.m. July 12, Arcadia Town Hall, 208 W.

Main St., Arcadia
 • 9 to 11 a.m. July 13, Fishers City Hall, 1 Municipal Drive, Fishers

• 2 to 4 p.m. July 13, Noblesville City Hall, 16 S. 10th St., Noblesville

Participants can arrive anytime during the scheduled hours to provide feedback.

“The Housing Needs Assessment is a valuable tool, because it allows communities to get a clearer picture of the types and magnitude of their housing challenges and opportunities,” said Rachel Denton, a partner in Novogradac’s Kansas City, Mo., office. “This report will allow leaders and residents of Hamilton County to make better-informed decisions on how to best allocate their resources.”

Results from the study are expected to be unveiled at HAND’s annual sustainable housing conference on Sept. 21. Registration for that event is expected to open July 30.

“HAND has been working to provide quality housing options in Hamilton County for 15 years, and we know that the need is growing along with the population,” said Executive Director Jennifer M. Miller. “Now we will have current data to help us tell that story in an even more compelling way.”

The 2018 Housing Needs Assessment is funded by grants from The Legacy Fund, Duke Energy Foundation and the Noblesville Housing Authority. The report is required of communities that receive federal Community Development Block Grant funding in order to determine local needs.

AG Curtis Hill lauds FDA approval of marijuana-based drug as good example of how process should work

The REPORTER

Attorney General Curtis Hill on Monday praised the process by which the U.S. Food and Drug Administration for the first time has approved a cannabis-based drug – Epidiolex. The drug, which contains purified cannabidiol (CBD), will be used to treat two rare forms of childhood epilepsy.

“Regarding the development of medicine, we should follow the standard scientific protocols developed in the United States for approving products as effective and safe,” Hill said. “I said the same thing during CBD oil, and this is what I continue to believe. We should respect the guidance of the FDA.”

Any further forays into the use of marijuana as medicine should go through the same process that produced FDA approval for Epidiolex, he said.

“The appropriate path to these breakthroughs in the United States involves the FDA – which approves a substance to be a medicine, outlines its legitimate prescribed use and provides guidance on proper dosage,” Hill said. “Such a process is different from simply labeling something as ‘medicinal.’”

FDA Commissioner Scott Gottlieb made similar observations in a prepared statement released Monday. “This is an important medical advance,” Gottlieb said. “But it’s also important to note that this is not an approval of marijuana or all of its components. This is the approval of one specific CBD medication for a specific use. And it was based on well-controlled clinical trials evaluating the use of this compound in the treatment of a specific condition. Moreover, this is a purified form of CBD. It’s being delivered to patients in a reliable dosage form and through a reproducible route of delivery to ensure that patients derive the anticipated benefits. This is how sound medical science is advanced.”

Smart tips to keep your grill clean, safe

StatePoint

Nothing beats barbecues, block parties and al fresco dining. For your family’s safety and for the sake of your grill, here are some pointers on keeping that grill well-maintained all season.

Ensure your grill is still in good working order after the off-season by giving it a once-over. Remember to turn off the gas and tank valves before getting started. Check whether all of its components are intact, including gas hoses. Also, determine whether the tank is full.

Keep in mind that many grills come with a warranty, and you may be able to replace worn out parts without needing to buy a brand-new grill entirely.

When it comes to the grates, experts recommend using tools that allow you to skip the brush and the elbow grease to save some time and energy.

“Spray a concentrated multipurpose cleanser over your grill’s grates evenly, wait a few seconds to give the grease time to break down, then gently wipe the area down with a sponge,” says TV contractor, Jeff Devlin, who uses Mean Green on his grill. The spray, which was recently named by Real Simple Magazine as the Best Multipurpose Spray, is available at Walmart and other retailers. A deep clean is important once or twice a season.

However, after each use, you can keep debris and build-up from becoming a bigger problem with a quick spot clean. One important area you don’t want to neglect is the bottom of the grill, where ash and grease build-up is likely to occur. Scrape out this section regularly.

You can better protect your grill from the elements and guard against rusting by covering it after each use. If possible, use the cover provided by the manufacturer, as its designed to best fit your grill.

This season, take great care of your grill. With the right tools on hand, you can streamline your routine.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Likewise also the chief priests mocking him, with the scribes and elders, said, He saved others; himself he cannot save. If he be the King of Israel, let him now come down from the cross, and we will believe him. He trusted in God; let him deliver him now, if he will have him: for he said, I am the Son of God. The thieves also, which were crucified with him, cast the same in his teeth.

Boys State Junior Championship

Guerin Catholic senior-to-be Ty Gingerich, shown here after winning the Lafayette Jefferson regional, surged to a fourth-place result at the stroke play portion of the Boys State Junior Championship Tuesday at Purdue's Kampen Course. Gingerich is now the fourth seed in the match play, which begins today. Also pictured is GC golf coach Mark Mathews.

Two weeks ago, Guerin Catholic's Ty Gingerich made a second-round surge at the IHSAA boys golf state finals, and that gave him a third-place finish.

Gingerich followed the same script on Tuesday at the Indiana Golf Association's Boys State Junior Championship, which is taking place this week at Purdue University's Kampen Course. The Golden Eagles senior-to-be shot a three-under par 69 to pull into a tie for fourth place in the second round of the 36-hole stroke play contest. Gingerich made five birdies in his round.

Overall, Gingerich finished stroke play with a two-over par 146 over two days. As a result, he will be seeded fourth for the match play portion of the championship, which begins today. Gingerich will play Chase Claymier of Evansville in the first round.

Noblesville's Nels Surtani, a junior-to-be at Park Tudor, also carded a 146 during stroke play. Surtani is seeded fifth in match play and will take on Benjamin Burgan of Westfield, a sophomore-to-be at Guerin Catholic, in the first round.

Two more Hamilton County players finished in the top 10 as part of a five-way tie for seventh. Noblesville's Danny Paris, a recent Cathedral graduate, carded a 148 and earned the ninth seed. He plays Connor Proudman of Crown Point in the first round of match play.

Nick Dentino, a senior-to-be for state champion Carmel, drained four birdies as part of his second round effort, a one-under par 71. Dentino finished stroke play at 148 and earned the 10th seed; he plays Sam McWilliams of McCordsville to open match play.

In all, 21 golfers with Hamilton County ties are participating in the match play portion of the Boys State Junior Championship.

Complete results for all county golfers now follow:

IMS to build dirt track, host lucrative USAC Midget Event during Brickyard Race Week

The Indianapolis Motor Speedway will add to its luster as the Racing Capital of the World with the construction of a quarter-mile dirt track inside its famous oval, hosting a United States Auto Club Midget National Championship event during Big Machine Vodka 400 at the Brickyard Powered by Florida Georgia Line race week in early September.

Race week for the Big Machine Vodka 400 at the Brickyard powered by Florida Georgia Line will feature an even wider variety of thrilling action with the USAC P1 Insurance Midget National Championship competing in a two-night spectacular event, the Driven2SaveLives BC39, on Wednesday, Sept. 5 and Thursday, Sept. 6. The event honors late USAC champion and three-time Indianapolis 500 starter Bryan Clauson and increases awareness of Indiana Donor Network and Driven2SaveLives.

The Driven2SaveLives BC39 will include a unique format ending with a 39-lap feature Sept. 6 in the richest Midget racing event in recent history. The event will feature more than $70,000 in purse and incentives, including a $15,000 winner's purse - the largest in Midget racing.

Dirt and asphalt racers from around the country have expressed interest in the event, with a large and diverse field - including NASCAR Cup Series drivers - expected to compete.

"This is an exciting new chapter of the longtime relationship between USAC and the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and reinforces the connection between short-track racing and this facility," IMS President J. Douglas Boles said. "The Speedway truly is The Greatest Race Course in the World, and adding a dirt track will create even more opportunities for fans to enjoy the magic of IMS. We can't wait to see some of the best drivers and teams in America compete here during Brickyard race week."

Construction of The Dirt Track at IMS, located inside Turn 3 of the oval, started last week with the first loads of Indiana clay arriving for grading. Concrete walls and safety fencing will be constructed during the summer, and portable lights will illuminate the track.

Reece O'Connor of Kokomo (Indiana) Speedway is overseeing the track design and layout and supervising the construction. Allegiant International, a multinational advisory and consultancy firm based in Indianapolis, is facilitating the project.

The United States Auto Club and IMS were synonymous for many years after the sanctioning body was formed in 1956 by IMS owner Tony Hulman. USAC was the sanctioning body for the Indianapolis 500 from 1956 through 1997.

"Over the years, the Indianapolis Motor Speedway has played such a critical part not only in the formation but also the successful growth of the United States Auto Club," USAC President/CEO Kevin Miller said. "Our roots originated at IMS, and our passion continues to reside here. To have USAC return to hosting a race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway is a historic and exciting new chapter for our Midget series. We are beyond thrilled for both our competitors and fans to add this race to our 2018 calendar."

Ticket prices will range from $35-50 and go on sale in mid-July. Camping also will be available. Visit www.ims.com/bc39 for more information about this event and to learn when tickets become available.

Indiana Donor Network, which oversees and coordinates organ, tissue and eye donation across the state, launched Driven2SaveLives in April 2016 with Verizon IndyCar Series driver Stefan Wilson to promote donation and transplantation awareness around the 100th Running of the Indianapolis 500. At the time, the campaign honored Stefan's late brother, IndyCar race winner Justin Wilson, who died in August 2015 from injuries he sustained in a race crash and saved five lives as an organ donor.

Three-time USAC Midget and two-time USAC Sprint Car national champion Clauson, a versatile and beloved driver, died in August 2016 following a race accident. As a registered donor, he went on to save five lives as an organ donor and continues to heal the lives of countless others as a tissue donor. In January 2017, Indiana Donor Network partnered with Clauson-Marshall Racing and expanded Driven2SaveLives into dirt track racing in honor of Clauson.
