HSE school board discusses redistricting process for K-8

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

The Hamilton Southeastern school board is beginning a redistricting process for kindergarten through eighth grade. The process will end on Dec. 12 with a board vote on new K-8 school boundaries for the 2019-2020 school year.

Board members held a work session early Tuesday morning to talk about what priorities the board wants in asking for input from the public, as the process moves along the remainder of this year.

There are a number of reasons redistricting is needed. A new school, Southeastern Elementary, will open in August 2019. Some schools are very overcrowded. For example, Thorpe Creek Elementary School has 900 students, many more students than an elementary building should contain. There continue to be schools utilizing portable classrooms.

Dr. William Carnes, who served as interim HSE superintendent for several months during 2014 and 2015, is now filling in as an interim assistant superintendent until Mike Beresford's former position is filled. Carnes is leading the administration's work on the redistricting plan.

At the Aug. 8 school board meeting, Carnes presented the following priorities for consideration in the redistricting process:

- To the extent possible:
- The redistricting plan will attempt to assign students to attend schools closest to their homes.

Bomb threat confirmed at concert

The REPORTER

Investigators with the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office have released information concerning the security issue at the Rascal Flatts concert at Ruoff Home Mortgage Music Center on Aug. 9.

Detectives confirm the security concern was a bomb threat that was deemed a credible danger. Exact information on how the threat was made, reported and other details concerning the incident will not be released as these points are integral to the current open investigation.

Once the concern was made known, venue, security and law enforcement personnel took planned and appropriate action for the safety of concert guests and the artists.

While no arrests have been made in connection with the incident yet, detectives continue to investigate the case. Anyone with information concerning the incident should contact the Sheriff's Office Investigations Division at 317-776-9887.

Improvements in design, use coming to Noblesville alleys

The REPORTER

The Noblesville Common Council has allocated $80,000 to support alley activation efforts in Downtown Noblesville. The plan was recommended by the Downtown District Committee with funding coming from Downtown District's portion of the trash fee.

"This project will add vibrancy and vitality to Downtown Noblesville, while developing iconic, one-of-a-kind experiences that can help define our community as a must-see destination and an incredible place to live," Noblesville Arts Council Convener Aili McGill said.

The alley activation plan includes the following:

- Installation of bollards in the north and east alleys.
- Design, fabrication and installation of articulating metal archways on the north, south and east alleys.
- North alley amenities including tables and chairs; E-ceptacles (trash cans that also provide Wi-Fi); and phone charging stations.
- North alley public art with a

School candidates, monument re-dedication, and more

With a little more than a week before the deadline to file for school board, Noblesville still has no candidates. Never before has there apparently been so little interest. Incumbent members have not publicly expressed interest in re-election and no others have come forward to seek the two seats at stake in this fall's election.

Most recent school candidate filings in other county school districts are David C. Martin in Hamilton Heights' Jackson Township district, and Julie Chambers in Southeastern, District 4.

Countywide, there are only 16 candidates so far for the 18 seats up for election this year. The deadline to file is noon on Friday, Aug. 24.

Indiana Republican Party leaders, realizing the importance of Hamilton County to their statewide election strategy, sent field director Matt Organ to the GOP Breakfast Club meeting to outline how crucial a Republican plurality may become this year.

The election's marquee race will feature the Senate contest between Mike Braun and Democrat Joe Donnelly. Braun is scheduled to appear here in October at the annual Carmel GOP pork roast.

Donnelly will also make one or more appearances, but his schedule has not been announced.

Carmel firefighters train for water rescues

WISH-TV | wishtv.com

Carmel firefighters were called to a water rescue for a car in a pond Monday night, just a few days after they wrapped up their annual water rescue training.

Every firefighter went through the training that was held at the Hamilton County Training Center. They worked on dropping a life jacket to someone in the water using a drone and flipping over an overturned boat.

They also worked on a scenario where a fisherman called in about two people in the water. The responding firefighters did not have a boat, so they used the

Save the Nickel Plate raises new questions about Port Authority's handling of Indy's membership

Submitted by Logan Day
Save the Nickel Plate, Inc.

Indianapolis-area citizens with Save the Nickel Plate have uncovered an alarming find: Indianapolis should have been involved in voting and decision making about the Nickel Plate Railroad that runs from Noblesville to Indianapolis, which was abruptly shut down by the Hoosier Heritage Port Authority last year.

The Port Authority currently consists of Hamilton County, Fishers and Noblesville – a group that voted to end the Nickel Plate Railroad and convert that line to trails. Even though the line runs through Marion County, Indianapolis government officials did not think they had a say in what happened to the railroad.

Two newspaper articles from The Indianapolis News, published on Aug. 30, 1996 and Sept. 4, 1996, mention that the Port Authority unanimously voted on Aug. 29, 1996 to accept Indianapolis as a member.

Not only does Indianapolis have two positions and should have been part of the Port Authority for the last 12 years, but then-Indianapolis mayor Stephen Goldsmith also pledged $150,000 towards a feasibility study of the railroad line in the late 1990s.

Indianapolis also has a city ordinance stating that it occupies two appointed positions on the Port Authority. Click here to view the ordinance.

- East alley public art with a 200 square-foot mural and interactive lighting installation.

- South alley amenities including trash cans or charging stations; and an artistic hydration station.

- Painting all existing furniture to match new downtown color standards.

- Adding safety mirrors at the ends of each alley.

In addition to the $80,000 allocated by council, the Noblesville Economic Development is contributing $25,000 from its 2018 and proposed 2019 budgets.

“The Arts Council also has already secured grant money for the design of the north alley lighting installation and will be pursuing additional grant opportunities to bolster the proposed public art installations and to add more public art to the Downtown District in general,” said McGill. “We anticipate that this project will take approximately 16 to 18 months to complete.”

COUNTY LINE

Crownland Cemetery (for which Monument Street is named) will be rededicated in public ceremonies at 2:30 p.m. on Sept. 16.

It was first dedicated 150 years ago on July 4, 1868, and bears the names of all who enlisted in Union forces from Hamilton County. (271 of them died in the war.)

The County Historical Society is sponsoring the event which will feature members of the military, Masonic Lodge and Boy Scouts. Patriotic music is planned and a Lincoln re-enactor will be present.

Ronald Wilson is coordinating the event.

One of our Reporter readers who saw our story on the removal of relics from the Transportation Museum at Forest Park asked what happened to the dismantled Indianapolis interurban terminal that was stored at the park. The world's largest interurban station was trucked to the park in pieces in 1968 with the intention of having it re-assembled to house the museum's trains.

The huge structure where 500 interurban electric trains arrived daily had nine sets of tracks under roof. It was built in 1904 and served until 1941 when it was converted to a bus station.

After lying in pieces at the museum for years, the steel was sold for scrap because there was not enough money to restore it.

The redistricting plan will attempt to design a “feeder” system.

- The redistricting process will attempt to maintain neighborhoods and subdivisions.

- Stabilize the movement of the Exceptional Learner's instructional learning spaces.

At the Tuesday work session, board members brainstormed a number of other considerations, including:

- Have a transparent process

- Maximize school capacity on the west side of the district to allow for continued growth in the eastern areas

- Reduce the use of portable classrooms, now and in the future

- Establish a feeder system, for example, where students from a junior high school will all go the same high school

- Use a neighborhood concept to keep neighborhoods going to the closest school geographically

- Maintain subdivisions and neighborhoods in the same school where possible

The board members and administrators will grapple with the fact that many of these concepts cannot both be used. For example, using a feeder system may not be consistent with keeping neighborhoods and subdivisions headed to the same school.

Dr. Carnes will use the ideas from board members at the work session and fashion a recommendation of priorities for the board to consider at the next regular board meeting on Wednesday, Aug. 22.

The board priorities will serve as a guideline for members of the community, as they are asked to make suggestions on how the school boundaries should be drawn. “Cluster groups,” appointed by school principals, will meet on Sept. 10 and 11. There will be focus groups sessions in late September and community dialogue sessions are set for Oct. 24 and 25. Administrators and board members will then begin to take that information and form the new school boundary lines for a final board decision on Dec. 12.

Reader suggests policy change to offset public health costs of tobacco

Dear Editor:

Smoking-related health costs and productivity losses in the U.S. amount to roughly $19.16 for every pack of cigarettes sold – much higher than the average sale price of each pack. Research shows that regular and significant increases to tobacco prices reduce tobacco use. A higher tax could be a win-win for Indiana – saving lives while generating revenue.

But Indiana is falling behind when it comes to increasing lifesaving and revenue-building taxes on this deadly product, according to American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network's annual "How Do You Measure Up?" report. Despite multiple opportunities, including this past legislative session, the General Assembly hasn't increased the state's tobacco tax in more than 10 years.

Nearly one-third of cancer deaths in Indiana can be attributed to smoking, and approximately 151,000 Hoosier kids alive today will ultimately die prematurely from tobacco use. We can all agree that's unacceptable.

Hoosiers must call on their lawmakers to stand up to Big Tobacco and reduce suffering and death from the diseases their products cause, like cancer. Cancer prevention cannot be delayed.

Rep. Brooks tours Embassy Suites hotel in Noblesville

The REPORTER

Congresswoman Susan W. Brooks (R-Ind.) toured the Embassy Suites Noblesville on Tuesday as part of the American Hotel & Lodging Association's (AHLA) "Heart of the House" hotel tour program to meet with hotel employees in her district and see firsthand the career opportunities in the lodging industry.

Indiana's hotel industry plays a vital role in the state's economy, generating $6 billion in annual guest spending and $2 billion in tax revenues, while supporting $4 billion of labor income. Guests staying at the 106 hotels in the state's 5th Congressional District, which includes Marion, Carmel, and parts of Kokomo, spend $652 million each year, contributing to local labor income and economic activity.

Click here for more information on how Indiana hoteliers contribute to the economy and local jobs.

"The hospitality industry has been responsible for creating over ten thousand jobs in the Fifth District of Indiana alone and is contributing to the continued growth of our state's economy," said Brooks. "It is important that we are all working together to encourage people to enter the workforce, and I am happy the American Hotel & Lodging Association is prioritizing closing the skills gap through their various career development programs. I am proud of Embassy Suites' commitment to embodying true 'Hoosier Hospitality' and their support for the Noblesville community through job creation and lasting career opportunities. I look forward to continuing to work with local stakeholders to ensure the hospitality industry continues to thrive and support Hoosier jobs."

The tour was led by Eric Welch, general manager of Embassy Suites By Hilton Noblesville Indianapolis Conference Center, a 198-suite property that opened earlier this year. Also accompanying the congresswoman were Patrick Tamm, president of the Indiana Restaurant and Lodging Association (IRLA); Sarah Stegmeyer, director of communications and advocacy at IRLA; and Chris Burgoyne, vice president of government and political affairs for AHLA.

"It was an honor to welcome Congresswoman Brooks to our hotel and introduce her to so many of our exceptional associates who work hard every day to not just service our guests, but to help make their stay an experience to remember," said Welch. "Hospitality is the heart of this industry. We pride ourselves on securing the best talent while continuing to support our local community, and we appreciate everything Congresswoman Brooks is doing back in Washington to support us in turn."

Brooks

AHLA engages with members of Congress on the "Heart of the House" hotel tours to provide an in-depth look at the career opportunities available as well as the economic and community impact of the lodging industry.

About the American Hotel & Lodging Association

Serving the hospitality industry for more than a century, the American Hotel & Lodging Association (AHLA) is the sole national association representing all segments of the 8 million jobs the U.S. lodging industry supports, including hotel owners, REITs, chains, franchisees, management companies, independent properties, bed and breakfasts, state hotel associations and industry suppliers.

Headquartered in Washington, D.C., AHLA focuses on strategic advocacy, communications support, and educational resources for an industry that advances long-term career opportunities for employees, invests in local communities across the country and hosts more than one billion guests' stays in American hotels every year.

AHLA proudly represents a dynamic hotel industry of more than 54,000 properties that supports $1.1 trillion in U.S. sales and generates nearly $170 billion in taxes to local, state and federal governments. Learn more at AHLA.com.

Rita Kay Ewing

July 18, 1954 – August 12, 2018

Rita Kay Ewing, 64, of Sheridan, passed away on Sunday, August 12, 2018 at Essex Nursing and Rehabilitation Center in Lebanon. Born July 18, 1954 in Noblesville, she was the daughter of the late Virgil and Willie Mae (Reynolds) Ewing.

There were three things in this world that Rita held in the highest of regards: Her faith, her family and the love of a good meal. A woman of strong faith and devotion, she was a member of The Bible Church in Sheridan for many years. Rita was also sort of a self-proclaimed food connoisseur. Whether it was a church dinner, going out to eat, or just whipping up something at home, Rita loved a good meal; and if it was homemade, even better. Last but in no way least on her list was her family. To Rita, her family – and that most definitely included her pets – were the most important thing in her life.

Rita is survived by her three brothers, Burlin C. Ewing (Virginia), Gale Ewing (Louise) and Kerman L. Ewing, all of Sheridan; her sister, Donna J. Swank, Sheridan; and many, many nieces, nephews, great-nieces and great-nephews. Rita is also survived by her Boston Terrier, Jamaica. Rita always considered herself Jamaica's mommy, and you would be hard-pressed to find anyone who loved their pets more than Rita did.

She was preceded in death by her parents; two sisters, Sue Ulrey-Terrell and Lou Burgan; and three brothers-in-law, Sonny Ulrey, Gerald Swank and Tinley Burgan.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. on Friday, August 17, 2018 at The Bible Church, 1478 W. State Road 38, Sheridan. Burial will follow at Crown View Cemetery in Sheridan. Pastors Harrell Wilson, Russ Wilson and Jennifer Martin will be officiating. Visitation will be held from 4 to 8 p.m. on Thursday, August 16, 2018 at The Bible Church in Sheridan.

Memorial contributions may be presented to either The Bible Church, or to the American Cancer Society.

Hamilton Heights won its opener by beating Elwood 3-2 on Tuesday at the Huskies' tennis courts.

The Huskies got victories from No. 3 Ben Wolfgang and both doubles teams: No. 1 Nic Rice and Josh Russell and No. 2 Liam Huss and Jake Martin.

"I am looking forward to seeing our young team grow as each day goes by," said Heights coach Justin Davis. "None of our singles players have previous Varsity singles experience, but they are eager to learn and will become much stronger opponents as the year goes on. As for our doubles players, some have varsity experience, but not much; they will continue to grow and be a tough match-up as well. I am excited to see what this season has in store for us, it's great to get our season kicked off with a win. Once the JV players compete against other teams, it'll help shape the full potential of this season and the following seasons to come."

APPLE reserved bird hunts now taking applications

Upland bird hunters can apply now for the opportunity to participate in controlled-access hunts on private land through a relatively new DNR program called APPLE.

APPLE stands for Access Program Providing Land Enhancements.

APPLE offers financial incentives to landowners who allow controlled public access hunting on their land. Public hunting opportunities are made available through a reserved draw system.

The program is geared toward improving hunting opportunities for ring-necked pheasant, Northern bobwhite quail and American woodcock. The species available at each participating property can vary.

To apply, visit hunting.IN.gov and click on the "Reserved Hunt Info" link. Hunters can apply now through Sept. 23.

The online method is the only way to apply. Applicants must possess a hunting license valid for the hunt for which they are applying.

Hunters will be selected through a computerized, random drawing. Drawing results will be posted at wildlife.IN.gov within two weeks after application deadlines. An email will be sent to applicants when results are posted.

Sheridan Horseshoe League

Price Heating returns to the lead, JBS United moves to 2nd

Since the Sheridan Horseshoe League was rained out a couple of times, the members had to play catch up this week.

Instead of the league's normal 10-win night, it played a couple of 10 win-nights. Price Heating recaptured the league lead by winning 18 of the 20. JBS United moved into second by winning 16 of 20, eight of which were against Traditional Concepts, knocking them out of first place and into third.

Jeff Ogle had his best night of the season tossing, an actual game of 81 and a handicap game of 140. Richard Law and Brad McKinney lead JBS United into the second spot. First-half season winners Price Heating must win four games next week to take the league championship without the need of a playoff.
