Wayne Township candidates make their cases at voter forum

The REPORTER
Transparency, fiscal responsibility, and vowing to listen to their constituents were recurring themes in the Durbin Elementary gymnasium last Wednesday night as candidates for Trustee, Advisory Board and Hamilton Southeastern District 4 School Board squared off in a voter forum hosted by the Wayne-Fall Lions Club of Hamilton County.

Potential voters submitted questions that were asked to the candidates via a pair of moderators. In the Wayne Township Trustee race, Independent candidate Joy Sisson Kiskaden is looking to unseat incumbent three-term Republican Diane Crim, who chose not to attend the forum. This left Kiskaden to answer voters' questions regarding transparency, restoring confidence and respect to the Wayne Township Trustee's office, and reaching out to all residents' needs are her priorities.

This was the theme that was echoed by the three candidates in attendance seeking to be members of the Wayne Township Advisory Board. Republicans Robert Brent Hiday and Laura McNamara and Democrat Brandy Bast seemed to be lockstep agreement with Kiskaden that now is the time to restore respect to Wayne Township government.

Incumbent Advisory Board Member, Republican Stacy Mahan, who is also the daughter of current Wayne Township Trustee Diane Crim, also chose not to attend the forum.

New faces join veteran actors for Christmas season . . . It's a Wonderful Life at Carmel's Studio Theater

The REPORTER
Actors Theatre of Indiana has announced the cast for the upcoming holiday hit, It's a Wonderful Life - A Live Radio Play, scheduled to run from Nov. 16 to Dec. 23 at the Studio Theater in Carmel at the Center for the Performing Arts.

A number of new and youthful faces will join a cast of veteran actors in this wonderful production that is sure to get you into the holiday mode.

In a tribute to both live radio and the beloved Frank Capra American holiday classic film, this endearing and iconic tale comes to captivating life as a live 1940s radio broadcast - and you, the audience, will be right there in the studio.

With the help of an ensemble that brings dozens of familiar characters to the stage, the story of idealistic George Bailey unfolds as he considers ending his life one fateful Christmas Eve. It will take the help of the lovable angel, Clarence.

BMV extending hours to issue voter ID cards, driver's licenses

The REPORTER
The Indiana Bureau of Motor Vehicles says license branches will extend their hours next week to issue ID cards and driver's licenses for identification at polling places during the general election.

The BMV says its branches will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 5 and from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 6. Branches will only process new, amended or replacement ID cards and renewed, amended, or replacement driver's licenses and learner permits on those days.

The BMV says individuals who hold a driver's license or ID card that expired after the last general election may use them as proof of identification for voting purposes.

A list of documents required to obtain a new state ID card or driver's license can be found at myBMV.com.

Go Purple with Prevail

At Prevail, we are not just assisting and raising awareness of domestic violence in October, we are fighting the violence year-round. Check out our services to see how we can help you or a loved one today.

We all have a responsibility to act towards ending violence in our community. At Prevail, we believe domestic violence is a public health issue that can be prevented. This powerful video really says it all.

Hiring an interior designer for new home construction

There’s a common misconception that people think interior designers are too expensive and that they can’t afford one. But, in reality, a good designer can help a client not only save money but reduce headaches.

KRISTIN BERGUNDER
Interior Designer

When looking at blueprints or walking through a home newly under construction, a designer is looking at the end result ... imagining artwork on the walls, furniture in place, lamps where they should be.

husband and I were working with an architect while planning to build our new home and envisioning the end product throughout the entire planning process.

The design part of the process doesn’t begin after the walls are built. It begins with the initial planning for construction stages.

If you are working with a production builder, as you finalize the blueprints, the process for most is that you will schedule time with a design consultant at one of the builders’ design centers. They will sit down with you, show you options, and you will begin the selection process. There are A LOT of decisions to make, and for some, this can be very overwhelming.

The upgrades can add up quickly, so focusing on the areas that mean the most to you is important.

Where are you comfortable spending a little more to upgrade, while pulling back in other areas of the home? There are dozens of options, as well as varying levels of pricing in just granite and quartz counter tops alone. You will most likely find yourself asking throughout the selection process, well, how much more is this going to cost me?

For a custom new build, an interior designer is not only an advantage for the finishes but the actual design of the home itself ... the blueprints.

Begin working with a designer at that point. The objective is not just, “How do we make the home look fantastic?” but also, “How do we function within the space?” With a custom build, the design process can seem more challenging and stressful because you will most likely be given a little more freedom and options when making finish selections. Builders have relationships established with vendors and suppliers.

In our case, we were pointed in a specific direction to select flooring, for example. However, we could look through the ENTIRE showroom and had a certain budget in mind given by the builder. Have you ever walked into a large flooring showroom stocked with hundreds of samples to look at? I was like a kid in a candy store, but for some, this might make their head spin.

Whether you are working with a production or custom builder, you will need to select everything from counter tops, tile, carpet, faucets, hardware, cabinets, paint, you name it. How do you pull it all together to achieve the look you want at a price that works for your budget, and obtain a design that feels custom made for you?

Consider assistance from an interior designer!

to attend the forum due to a prior commitment.

Bradley L. Banks and Julie Chambers, the two candidates for the HSE School Board District 4, made their cases to the voters. Both candidates are attorneys with children in the system. They believe their backgrounds, education and dedication to making choices that provide the best educational outcome for HSE students – while remaining fiscally responsible to the voters – make them the best choice. Both Banks and Chambers say they value and want to hear from voters in order to represent their interests on the HSE School Board.

The Lions Club would like to thank all of the candidates, the public that attended and both moderators, Steve Willy and Brian Lane, for a very successful forum that was unbiased and provided much information.

Westfield grad shares story of cancer journey, recovery

By BRITTANY LEWIS
 WISH-TV | wistv.com

"You've already chosen the harder thing to do," a physical therapist at Riley Hospital for Children at IU Health told Emily Settle as she attempted to walk on a straight line.

The fact that she's even walking at all is progress considering what she's been through the past few years.

"Doctors told me, you know, 'Emily, you might not ever walk again by yourself, you might have brain damage,' and I was like 'Hell no. I am not using a walker for the rest of my life, I was a D-I athlete.'"

Settle became sick her freshman year of college while attending Southern Illinois University. She was on the school's cross country and track teams.

"I ran every meet. But you know, looking back, I'm glad I did because I was in a shape – physical state where I could – it would save my life," said Emily.

In late April 2016, Emily started to fall back on her runs. She was tired all the time. And her neck was stiff. She relayed the information to her mom in a phone call.

"She was like, 'Oh, my gosh you have meningitis,' and I was like 'Really?'" said Settle. "She told me, 'You need to go to the health center right away.'"

"The doctor called me within a half hour, and it's like, that's never good when the doctor calls you," said Sandy Settle, Emily's mom.

It was not meningitis. It was leukemia. "I cried, I mean, you know, nobody wants to hear that, but it's just like you've got two ways to look at it, you either going to fight it or sit back and let it happen," said Settle.

Emily was sent to a hospital in St. Louis where she spent some time in the Intensive Care Unit, eventually receiving a stem cell transplant.

"After the first transplant, I wasn't really sick and I thought, 'Well dang, I can have cancer all the time, I can do again.'"

And then she relapsed. The leukemia was back and so was her fight.

 Westfield graduate Emily Settle was diagnosed with leukemia in 2016. She is still determined to fight despite a relapse after a stem cell transplant.

"I was ready."

She had returned home to Westfield and was receiving care at Riley Hospital for Children where doctors prepared her for a second stem cell transplant.

"She had seen so much therapy even before transplant and so she was weak when she started out with us. All of us went into that transplant very nervous that we wouldn't be able to cure the disease or if we could cure her disease that she would experience potential life threatening or life-ending complications from that therapy," said Dr. Jodi Skiles, Director of Pediatric Stem Cell Transplant at Riley Hospital for Children.

Skiles said Settle was very sick during the transplant but is now in remission.

"She is incredibly resilient," said Skiles.

"I've been given a second chance, I can go and I can change what I didn't like before I can, not a lot of people get that and I can try to give people hope because you know, cancer sucks, but it makes you realize how precious life is," said Settle.

As the sign next to the Settle's fireplace says, 'Life is a journey. Not a destination.'

"Through all of this, we're like, yep, this is why God made her the way he did. She's tough," said Sandy Settle.

The past few years of Emily's life have not been easy, but she's going exactly where she needs to go with every step she takes in physical therapy.

Local doctor favors school referendum

Dear Editor,

We have had three children in Noblesville schools since 2011. During this time, we have been consistently impressed with the quality of people involved with their education. From administrators to teachers, we have experienced a talented group of educators who continue to impress us every day.

Individuals like Beth Niedermeyer, Jeff Bryant, Stacey Swan, Pat Haney, Kristie Cassidy, Peggy Wood, Jason Seaman, Katelyn Koons, Alex Axsom and Stacey White are as dedicated, compassionate and intelligent as they come. We should never take any of them for granted.

There are dozens and dozens more, and they all deserve to teach and work in a safe environment, as our students deserve to learn in a safe environment. They also deserve to be compensated fairly for their experience, dedication and expertise.

Our community is beyond blessed to have such amazing individuals impacting our children's lives and futures. We all benefit from strong, safe schools, whether we have students there or not.

Please consider this and vote yes for the Noblesville referendum on Nov. 6.

No one likes taxes, but not investing is worse

Dear Editor:

No one likes the prospect of more taxes. But the idea of not investing in Noblesville schools could prove to be even worse. As a parent to three children, a substitute teacher and a frequent volunteer in Noblesville schools, I will tell you three reasons why I will be voting “yes” on Nov. 6.

We are losing great teachers.

My son's favorite teacher in sixth grade left for a better salary in a neighboring school district last year. This teacher was a valuable asset to Noblesville. He had a skill set in robotics and technology that was top-notch. He was adored by the students and his fellow staff. In today's schools, teachers' jobs are harder than ever. We have to give our teachers the compensation that they deserve. Having highly educated students will contribute to a strong future workforce and a strong community for Noblesville.

We need better mental health support for our students.

I have heard the argument that it's not the school's responsibility to assist our students in their mental health needs. But the reality is that today more and more children are suffering from serious mental health issues. This affects our students' ability to learn and our teachers' ability to effectively teach. The current ratio in Noblesville of having one counselor to 450 students is not adequate. Our counselors are trying to make schedules, deal with behavioral issues and help those students with mental health issues all at the same time. The referendum will provide additional counselors and social workers to help our kids be successful in learning – and in life.

Increasing school safety is critical.

From monitoring school-administered iPads, to implementing deterrents to keep kids from bringing weapons into our schools, improving school security is an absolute necessity. Did you know that the Noblesville Director of Safety is currently also the Director of Special Education? These two jobs come with huge amounts of responsibility and one person cannot be expected to do both. The referendum would provide funding for a dedicated School Safety Director along with hiring more Student Resource Officers and purchasing gun sniffing dogs.

Voting yes for the referendum means voting yes for a strong future for Noblesville. I am confident that if Noblesville makes this investment, it will be more than worth it.

Thank you for considering,
Stephanie Lambert
Noblesville resident and mom

Weingarten explains why you should vote for Democrats

Dear Editor:

Too often you hear the statement there are no Democrats in Hamilton County, well there are and number of them are running for office. There are some extremely important reasons why you should vote for them. The county is currently run by one party, that leads to deals behind closed doors, a total lack of what is going on. How often is something announced as if it is a done deal with no public input, or public input for show to make you feel good but no one is paying attention to what the public is saying. If you ever go to a council meeting they bring forward one action after another and approve without discussion or even letting the public really know what they are doing. It is this lack of transparency that is bad for government. A perfect example is the recent train mess. It is very apparent this action was a deal behind closed doors and they didn't care what anyone wanted or that they were even willing to listen.

Want to end the secret deals elect a few people of the opposition party, all of a sudden questions will be asked. The meetings behind closed doors will end. It is important for good government to have an open dialog. It is to the benefit of the community to elect at this level Democratic candidates. We are not talking about national issues but rather our community.

Joe Weingarten
Chair Hamilton County Democratic Party

NOBLESVILLE SCHOOLS

REFERENDUM 2018

Strong Schools, Strong Community

Strong schools make for a strong community. The ability to attract new businesses to Noblesville, prepare our future workforce, and achieve a high quality of living as a community are all directly related to the strength of our school system.

The 2016 referendum was about maintaining the status quo and was a reduction in the tax rate. The 2018 referendum is about enhanced mental health, increased safety and retaining top-quality staff. It's about keeping our schools and our community strong.

Due to the teacher shortage and recent pay increases by neighbor districts, our teachers are leaving for positions that can pay $5,000-$15,000 more.

Since 2009, Noblesville Schools has lost $46.5 million in funding.

The 2018 referendum will replace the 2016 referendum and will provide funding through 2026.

53% of the additional funding would be spent on mental health & safety, while 47% would be spent on staff pay.

The current referendum rate is 18.9 cents and the new proposed rate is 37 cents.

This referendum would raise an additional $6.25 million/year for Noblesville Schools.

For more info visit noblesvilleschools.org

MENTAL HEALTH

Enhanced focus including student screenings & more counselors

SAFETY

Expanded protections including more police officers & safety equipment

STAFF PAY

Pay competitively with neighbor district to keep good teachers & staff

How Much Will This Referendum Cost Taxpayers?

A median Noblesville home valued at $206,000 currently pays $192/year for the 2016 referendum. The new 2018 rate would cost this home $376/year. That's an additional $184/year—an additional $15/month—for enhanced student mental health, school safety and teacher pay.

Interfaith Alliance brings hope to increasingly prejudiced world

Dear Editor:
I am hopeful ...
On Monday night, I attended a Community Memorial Gathering at Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation for the people who were killed at the synagogue in Pittsburgh last week. In one way I feel discouraged at seeing acts of Anti-Semitism rise 58 percent since 2016, but another part of my spirit is hopeful, and here is why:
There were over 1,000 people from all faiths present to show their support for our Jewish brothers and sisters. Over the last year, I have seen acts of support from the Jewish community for the Muslim community, and the Muslim community reaching out in support to the Jewish community as well.
This last week we saw people of all faiths build a house for a family through Habitat for Humanity. We have had over 60 people in attendance every Thursday evening of October for Carmel Interfaith Alliance's "Meet Your Neighbor" series, where we had speakers share their beliefs and misconception of their faith. The Q&A time, in the end, was valuable as people learned about a faith tradition that they knew very little about.

I am convinced that one of the best ways to decrease prejudice is helping people meet others of another culture or faith tradition. Once we get to know each other as human beings we see how much more we have in common than what divides us.
I am looking forward to our Interfaith Thanksgiving Service at 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 18 at Congregation Shaarey Tefilla here in Carmel. With the acts of vandalism that this congregation experienced, I am glad we can have our service at the synagogue to show our support for our Jewish brothers and sisters who live in Carmel.

This event is open to the public and has no charge. We invite people to bring a non-perishable food items as your offering. This food will go to our local food bank. We will have scripture readings, singers and speakers from different faith traditions celebrating our American holiday of Thanksgiving.
Be Courageous.
Pastor Jerry Zehr
President of the Carmel Interfaith Alliance

Reader in Philippines endorses brother for Hamilton Co. sheriff

Dear Editor,
I have been following my brother Jason Straw's campaign for Hamilton County sheriff over the past few months, and the way his opponent acts seems strange to me.
First of all, it is well-known that Jason's opponent works for the sheriff, but he appears to miss 99 percent of the meetings. He also failed to appear to debate Jason at the League of Women Voters debate, but Jason was there and gave a great presentation on how he will improve the sheriff's department and transparency.
Many of the chronic problems in the jail are medical problems, not police matters. That is why having a critical care trauma nurse from the military in charge is so important with the substance abuse and mental illness issues that crop up.
I don't think any county will have a better sheriff than my brother, and I look forward to the creative things he will do. He is also not in this to make the office into his own cash cow as so many people do. He already has a military pension and he has promised to just take the base salary and give the rest toward improving the department.
So, Jason's attitude will ensure that his deputies have the equipment they need and the advanced training. Jason can even provide training on medical issues like he did in the military as a captain specializing in critical care work. He saved the lives of over 600 people on his first tour in Afghanistan alone. Jason is an expert on terrorism, having fought against it where it lives. He is better trained than his "absent" opponent to deal with crisis situations.
I hope people will vote early and Vote Straw.
Sincerely,
Andrew Straw

Robyn Cook explains her endorsements

Dear Editor:
My name is Robyn Cook and I am the Republican candidate for Jackson Township Trustee.
I am writing to voice my opinion and why I support a few of the candidates on our local ballot.
I met Nicole Ryan Duncan when the current township leadership dissolved the Jackson Fire Territory. Her passion and dedication to learn the facts and take a stand for the good of the entire community caught my attention. Over those difficult months she proved to be the real deal. While others started with the same passion and zeal, they quickly faded away once the efforts to save the Jackson Fire Territory failed.
Nicole has continued to stay involved and educate herself regarding township business and has an incredible vision for the good of our entire community.
This, along with her educational background in philanthropy, civic leadership, and non-profit management are necessary assets in our township.

I met Amy Yeary Pascoe while campaigning for the primary election. She did not take the decision to run for Township Board lightly. I learned, by the questions she asked and the research she did, that she is a sharp businesswoman deeply rooted in this community. Her thoughtful approach to decision making is a valuable and appreciated quality to have when spending taxpayer money and making quality-of-life decisions.
I believe that together, Amy and Nicole will take immediate measures to mend relationships and build bridges not only throughout Jackson Township but the entire tri-town area.
Julie Davis for Hamilton Heights School Board: Here is where I get a little teary.
I have known Mrs. Davis (I still can't call her Julie!) for 35 years. I was the new girl at Hamilton Heights who just nervously blended in. Mrs. Davis was one of my teachers my junior and senior years. She was always caring, kind and approachable.
Fast forward many years when our paths crossed again. She remembered the girl who just blended in and is still the same compassionate person. These are not the only reasons I support her for Hamilton Heights School Board.

She is an educator who retired from our school system. She then went back to work as an instructional assistant. She loves our kids and wants the best for them! When she says she will be able to offer the Hamilton Heights School Board a unique perspective, I agree; and I believe this will be an asset not only to our students, but to our teachers, parents and the entire community.
Regardless of the outcome of the elections, please know that I am committed to working amicably alongside those who are elected by our citizens. We voiced our desire for change and unity amongst Jackson Township, White River Township, Cicero, Arcadia and Atlanta during the primary election. For me, those goals remain unchanged, and I am dedicated to work diligently to achieve them.
Sincerely,
Robyn Cook
Jackson Township

Council candidate Ken Alexander asks voters to focus on facts, not headlines

Dear Editor:
During my campaign, I have witnessed firsthand the nastiness that we see impacting our political system, but not where you might expect.
It has evolved at the most local level, our Westfield Washington School Board. I have three children in the Westfield school system. It is a wonderful school district. Its size and rating are attracting people in droves like it did my wife and me when we chose to move here. We continue to be happy with that decision and are excited about the direction this new administration and school board has chosen to lead us.
Westfield now has a superintendent in place who has successfully led capital projects due to growth, done the research to understand our needs as a community given the rate of growth, managed a partnership with the YMCA at a previous school and hired a CFO to manage our finances. We are not the small community we once were and need to hire the right people to continue looking out for our best interest. As far as I can tell, we are on the right trajectory, yet there are people saying explosive things.
Here are the facts:
• Westfield has had the highest rate of growth in the state amongst schools in last five years.
• The financial picture that is being attributed to this administration was during the tenure of the last set of leaders.

• The factors that would dictate a school "in danger" are being misrepresented by a slate of candidates from data from the prior leadership.
• The school recognizes the financial hole they were given but has the professional leadership now to plan and implement a plan to fix it.
• Per the State's Legislative Services Agency, schools in danger must be experiencing a reduction in assessed value throughout the district and a reduction in student population, which is definitely not the case in Westfield.
Our schools are on the right path, but you wouldn't believe that if you read some of the misinformation being stated and advertised in this school board race.
Learn the facts and reach out to our administration like I did. Dr. Grate is always available and my conversation with Brian Tomamichel, WWS CFO, was eye-opening about the reality of our schools, to say the least.
It is good to have the right leadership in place and I am proud to call Westfield home.
Ken Alexander

Hill announces expansion of prescription drug education program for Indiana teens

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill announced on Monday plans to expand an innovative digital curriculum for high school students that informs them about safe use of prescription drugs and ways to avoid the risks of substance abuse.

“By educating students about the dangers of prescription drugs, we can prevent tragedies and promote smart choices,” Hill said. “Sadly, almost half of all teens incorrectly believe that prescription drugs are always safer than illegal street drugs. We need to correct these misconceptions and empower teens to be part of the solution to the drug crisis devastating so many lives.”

Called the Prescription

Drug Safety Network, the program was launched on a pilot basis earlier this year in Indianapolis through support from Walmart. Through interactive scenarios and self-guided activities, students learn facts about drugs, how to properly use and dispose of them, and how to step in when faced with a situation involving another person’s misuse. The course is aligned with the Centers for Disease Control’s National Health Education Standards and state academic standards.

The expansion will increase the reach of the program to students across 19 Indiana counties. It occurs at no cost to the schools where it will be implemented. Financial support is provided by the Office of the Attorney General, Walmart and North Central Health Services (a non-profit hospital and grant-making organization).

Developed by education technology leader EVERFI, the course uses evidence-based strategies to improve student preparedness, behaviors and attitudes toward making safe decisions about prescription drugs. Data shows that students in the pilot year achieved a 49 percent increase in knowledge from pre- to post-course assessments.

“The greatest jumps in knowledge were around how to support a friend who may be at risk for misuse and abuse of prescription drugs,” said Maddy Murphy, director of global partnerships at EVERFI. “The Prescription Drug Safety course is aligned to national health education standards to help schools implement the program seamlessly into their curriculum. Here in Indiana, the course is primarily used within the health education classes.”

Walmart Senior Vice President for Health and Wellness Paul Beahm praised the program’s effectiveness.

“As a dedicated community partner, Walmart strives to improve the health of families,” Beahm said. “Walmart’s work with the Prescription Drug Safety Network is a critical pillar in Walmart’s broader Opioid Stewardship initiative that addresses the opioid crisis from all angles, including providing disposal services, limiting prescriptions, and supporting policies around Prescription Drug Monitoring Programs.”

Stephanie Long, president and CEO of North Central Health Services, spoke of her organization’s financial involvement in bringing the program to eight Indiana counties.

“Our organization’s vision,” Long said, “is to create healthier communities through the delivery of behavioral health care and the support of technological and scientific advancement, education, quality of life, and humanitarian community activities.”

The 10 counties in which the program is being funded by the Office of the Attorney General are Crawford, Dearborn, Fayette, Henry, Jennings, Ripley, Scott, Starke, Switzerland and Washington. The office will provide $20,000 annually for three years.

The eight counties in which the program is being funded by North Central Health Services are Benton, Carroll, Clinton, Fountain, Montgomery, Tippecanoe, Warren and White.

Walmart funds the program in Marion County.

Obituary

Wendy Kay Forbush

August 21, 1966 – October 27, 2018

Wendy Kay Forbush, 52, passed away peacefully at home in Westfield on Saturday evening, October 27, 2018 surrounded by her loving family and her care givers. Born August 21, 1966 in Noblesville, she was the daughter of Kenneth D. “Kenny” and Jane (Laiguel) Forbush. Wendy was a 1984 graduate of Sheridan High School and worked for Biddle Manufacturing for over 20 years.

Family played a very significant role in her life. If Wendy was going to do something, you better believe someone in the family was gonna be riding shotgun right along beside her. Traveling definitely fit the bill in that regard. Wendy and her mom always found a new place, or sometimes an old place they had already been, to go on one of their mini trips. It honestly never mattered, when they hit the road, being on a tip with mom was all she really cared about. One of her favorite places to go was Tennessee – Wendy just loved it down there. Traveling also lent itself to another activity that’s never fun unless you are with the friends and family, and that is finding great places to eat – the little hole in the wall places were always the best. The list of family activities the Wendy loved would not be complete without mentioning sales. Yard, garage, barn, estate – it really didn’t matter what you called it, the Queen of Garage Sales could sniff ‘em out no matter where they were at. She also enjoyed just sitting around with the people she loved the most, watching her Colts and Cowboys play on TV.

Wendy is survived by her mother, Jane Forbush, Byrdstown, Tenn.; her two wonderful daughters, Danielle Vandervort and Jordan Vandervort, both of Westfield; three grandchildren, Brayden Pierce, Zander Reynolds and Sophia Vandervort; and her brother, Dave Forbush, Byrdstown, Tenn.

She was preceded in death by her father, Kenny Forbush; and by her canine BFF, Miley.

Wendy’s family would like to extend a very heartfelt Thank You to wonderful nurses and staff at Transitions Hospice for their dedication, professionalism and their loving care.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. on Saturday, November 3, 2018 at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan. Burial will follow at Spencer Cemetery in Sheridan. Pastor Mack Burberry will be officiating. Visitation will be held from 4 to 8 p.m. on Friday, November 2, 2018 at Kercheval Funeral Home.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And they come again to Jerusalem: and as he was walking in the temple, there come to him the chief priests, and the scribes, and the elders, And say unto him, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority to do these things? And Jesus answered and said unto them, I will also ask of you one question, and answer me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things. The baptism of John, was it from heaven, or of men? answer me. And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say, Why then did ye not believe him? But if we shall say, Of men; they feared the people: for all men counted John, that he was a prophet indeed. And they answered and said unto Jesus, We cannot tell. And Jesus answering saith unto them, Neither do I tell you by what authority I do these things.

Judith “Judy” Ann (Pickett) Sylvester

September 29, 1928 – October 28, 2018

Judith “Judy” Ann (Pickett) Sylvester, 90, Noblesville, passed away October 28, 2018 at Maple Park Village in Westfield after a long battle with dementia. Judy was the daughter of Claude and Fannie Mae (Gatts) Pickett. She was born September 29, 1928.

Judy was gifted with a great sense of humor and she was also a very kind and generous person. Judy was a birthright Quaker and very proud of it. She loved to read, craft and watch the birds and squirrels. When she was younger she was the leader for a Methodist Youth Group, a Sunday school teacher and also a Boy Scout troop leader. Judy was also an animal lover, but most of all she was a devoted and loving wife, mother and grandma.

Judy married Charles Sylvester on April 21, 1947. She was a stay-at-home mom while her children were small. Then the couple started Charlie's Bait, Tackle & Sporting Goods, which she managed while Charlie was working for the NFD and Talbert's Lumber. She had also been employed at Bland's Hardware, as a bookkeeper at G. C. Murphy's, Noblesville Jr. High School, and she managed the Blue Ribbon Dairy for several years.

Judy is survived by a son, Michael Sylvester (Michele), Wichita, Kan.; a daughter, Nancy Hernandez (Joe), Noblesville; grandchildren, Steven Sylvester, Mark Hernandez, Jason Hernandez and Emma Sylvester; and two great-grandchildren, Peyton Sylvester and Alex Hernandez. She adored her grandkids; unfortunately, the dementia had taken over her life and she wasn't able to enjoy her great-grandchildren.

Judy was preceded in death by her husband, Charles Sylvester, in 2011 after 64 years of marriage; her parents; her only sibling, Robert Pickett; and a grandson, Gregory Hernandez.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. on Friday, November 2, 2018 at Randall & Roberts Funeral Home, 1150 Logan St., Noblesville, with visitation from noon to the time of service. Burial will be at Crownland Cemetery in Noblesville.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Alzheimer's Association, 50 E. 91st St., Suite 100, Indianapolis, IN 46240; or the charity of your choice.

Strong second half gives Shamrocks opening win

By RICHIE HALL

LAPEL - The first basketball game of the season can often be the hardest game.

This is especially true if there are young players on the team. The good news for Westfield is that its young players are up to the challenge, and so are the returning players.

The Shamrocks opened their season on the road at Lapel on Tuesday. After a jittery first half, Westfield got it together in the second half and cruised to a 51-35 victory. It's the second year in a row that the 'Rocks have started the year with a win over the Bulldogs.

Westfield coach Ginny Smith said that Lapel was doing the little things in the first half, and her team was not. But after a "nice heart-to-heart" talk during halftime, the Shamrocks came out and took control.

"We didn't understand that shots weren't falling," said Smith. "We need to try to get some easy buckets just to get our offense going. We just kept on doing the same thing over and over again expecting a different result. But I do think that we finally figured out that we could get some easy buckets if we could just penetrate, kick, get out in transition and get some easy buckets. That way things would start falling for us. We got some offense from our defense and that got us going."

The Bulldogs held the lead for most of the first half, including a 9-5 advantage after the first quarter. Westfield moved ahead briefly in the second period, 15-14, after junior Ava Henson converted a three-point play. Lapel went on a 7-0 run immediately afterwards to take a 21-15 lead; that would turn out to be its largest lead of the game.

Junior Ashtin DeCraene hit a 3-pointer to pull the Shamrocks within 21-18, and that was the halftime score. DeCraene's triple turned out to be the beginning of a 13-0 run for the 'Rocks.

Zoe Pentecost opened the second half with a layin, then Henson pushed Westfield ahead with her own basket. Henson followed that up with a pair of free throws. Freshman Alyssa Crockett - she was one of the starters - drained a 3, then Henson added another foul shot, putting Westfield up 28-21.

From there, the Shamrocks slowly extended their lead. Senior Jade Shipley hit a third-quarter 3-pointer, and a Jordan Hillis free throw finished the period's scoring, putting Westfield up 46-36. The Shamrocks' defense also ramped up in that quarter, disrupting the Bulldogs' offense. Westfield had two instances where pressure on a Lapel inbound resulted in a turnover.

"When we started picking up full-court, it created some situations for Lapel that put us in a better situation in terms of scoring," said Smith. "If we don't take that stance, we probably don't jump on them and get a lead at all. So I think it was a good move. The kids played hard. They were able to finish around the rim."

Crockett added four more points in the fourth quarter. She also helped with an easy basket, deflecting and stealing an inbounds pass, then giving it to Henson for the score. Henson led the Westfield scoring with 14 points.

"Ava is an amazing young lady," said Smith. "She has an incredible work ethic. She will do some great things for us this season. She's finishing well around the rim. She's starting to make free throws. She defends quite well. All in all, I am super excited to see what this junior season brings for her."

Crockett finished the game with 13 points and nine rebounds, coming very close to a double-double in her first high school game. Smith spoke about the pressure that a freshman can feel when thrust into the varsity spotlight. But she noted that Crockett has "a great head on her shoulders."

"Today was very difficult and I don't know if people really understand what it's like to be a 14- or a 15-year-old and to feel that kind of pressure," said Smith. "We just try to talk her through it. We let her know that she's going to make mistakes. We let her know that she's going to struggle some. And we let her know that she's going to be okay."

Westfield outrebounded Lapel 40-21. After Crockett's nine boards, Henson pulled six, while DeCraene and Pentecost both had five. Regan Dimond had two blocked shots.

The Shamrocks will play their home opener on Saturday, hosting Pendleton Heights.

Wrestling schedules

Most county teams begin season Nov. 17

One by one, the winter sports are starting up.

Wrestling was the latest sport in which teams could begin practices, which took across the state did on Monday. Competition can begin on Nov. 12, although many teams in Hamilton County will be waiting a few days before taking to the mat.

The first big day is Saturday, Nov. 17, when six schools will have their first meet. Hamilton Heights will host its annual Super 6 tournament, with Noblesville competing there as well. Fishers travels north for the Western Invitational, while Hamilton Southeastern heads into Indianapolis for the John Hurrle Memorial Invitational at Arsenal Tech. Westfield will travel to the south side for the Circle City Classic at Perry Meridian, and Sheridan will wrestle at a tournament in Cloverdale.

Carmel opens its season Tuesday, Nov. 20 by hosting Lebanon at the Carmel High School Fieldhouse. (Subsequent Greyhound home matches will be at the Eric Clark Activity Center.) Guerin Catholic starts its season on Wednesday, Nov. 28, welcoming Clinton Prairie to the Eagles Nest.

Here's a complete list of schedules.
