Looking to be Hamilton County's hometown healthcare provider . . . Riverview invests in new facilities

By STU CLAMPITT
ReadTheReporter.com

Riverview Health's combined ER and urgent care facility in Westfield opened Tuesday, Oct. 23, and is being called a useful and novel idea. In the near future, more Hamilton County residents will have the opportunity to go to a combined Riverview facility as four more of them are brought online in Fishers, Carmel and Nora in the next few years.

Seth Warren

On Oct. 25, Riverview broke ground on a new facility in Fishers at 9690 E. 116th St. That will be a free-standing emergency room and urgent care facility. In November, Riverview's attorneys filed for variances with the City of Carmel for facility in Carmel.

According to Riverview Health CEO and President Seth Warren, the Fishers facility should open in late summer or early fall of 2019. The Carmel facility could come online in late 2019 or early 2020, but there are too many variables to provide an accurate projection at this time.

"We will also be building three other locations for these free-standing ER/urgent cares as well," Warren told The Reporter. "We had to file some paperwork for the 146th and Hazel Dell location. We go before one of the committees on the 4th. That will be another free-standing facility, like the Fishers model."

Their third facility is planned for west Carmel.

Cicero Town Council President Miller, Jackson Twp. Trustee Miller both resign

By STU CLAMPITT
ReadTheReporter.com

Cicero Town Council President Rusty Miller and Jackson Township Trustee Christina (Chris) Miller have both stepped down from their elected office effective Saturday, Dec. 1.

Resignation letters were sent electronically to both Republican Party Chair Laura Campbell and Hamilton Clerk Tammy Baitz on Friday. Having purchased a new home in Carmel, the Millers have placed their Jackson Township property for sale. As of Saturday, the Millers are living full-time in Carmel.

A caucus to find a replacement for Rusty Miller on the Cicero Town Council should follow. That appointee will serve until the end of 2019.

Regarding who will fill the office of trustee for the month of December until trustee-elect Robyn Cook takes office in 2019, Chris Miller said according to state statute, if there is a designee when a trustee steps down, that designee could serve the remainder of the term. Although that decision rests with the Republican Party, Heather Sauder is the Jackson Township designee. She could serve as interim trustee for the final month of the year.

Rusty Miller said he was glad to have been a part of the success of Cicero.

"I've enjoyed working with the people of Cicero, with the council and with the department heads," Rusty Miller said. "I wish them all the best. I'm proud and humbled to have been a part of so many great things in Cicero. It was wonderful to help grow the Cicero Sports Complex for our local youth and to be a part of obtaining the grant to improve and revitalize downtown. The opportunity to help recognize Charlie Cambre for his lifetime of service with the dedication of the pier and kayak launch at Red Bridge Park as 'Charlie's Landing' was a great experience."

Chris Miller reflected on her time in office and spoke of the future of the township when speaking to The Reporter Saturday afternoon.

"While the last eight years have sometimes been stormy and challenging, I am very proud of what the board and I have accomplished in that time," she said. "Jackson Township is most definitely safer with a better fire department and paramedics. We now have nine firefighters. That makes my heart feel good and lets me sleep much sounder at night knowing that everyone is safer. Thanks to everyone who was involved in making all of this possible. I wish the next trustee all the luck in the world. I want her to succeed because her success is the success of the township, and that's what's most important."

The Millers told The Reporter they will not disappear from northern Hamilton County now that they have moved.

"While our residence will be in Carmel, we will not be strangers," the Millers said. "We have many friends in northern Hamilton County and friendships are not based on your address, but on the relationships you build. We will certainly frequent northern Hamilton County to enjoy all the good things going on up here now and in the future."

Stepping away from public life and into private life for the Millers began Saturday.

"We are looking forward to our new adventure in Carmel," Rusty Miller said.

A Hallmark Christmas

It's beginning to look a lot like . . . oh my goodness!

How can Christmas be just some 20 days away?

I have our home looking like it's been visited by Martha Stewart. Okay, that might be a huge exaggeration. More like a visit from a Hobby Lobby elf.

I just want to stay home and bake cookies and watch Hallmark movies. Seriously, I need an extra week just to enjoy all the festivities. I want to sing carols and sip hot chocolate and listen to everything with a Christmas genre. I need a whole lot of falalalala and less hustle and bustle.

As I am sitting here with visions of sugar cookies and homemade caramels and cinnamon candy, I can't help but remember Christmases of yesteryears.

The aroma of so many somethings from the oven. The line at the Santa House on the Courthouse Square. The Firestone Christmas parties at the Diana Theater. The church plays that always ended with a Nativity scene. And, oh yes, the Hallelujah Chorus sung by Mrs. McFarland's choirs.

It was all so good.

It was never about the presents. It was about the feelings and the people who made it special.

I love the Christmas Eve church services. I love singing "Silent Night," knowing good and well that my eyes will leak as I hold up my lit candle. Truly, love comes down at Christmas as I sing "Joy to the World."

I have decked the hall and the front porch and the living room and kitchen and even the bathroom, a bit.

I have Frosty the Snowman and his mom and dad and several sisters and brothers tucked on the island in my kitchen with candlelight all aglow. Chuck would say I even have a few cousins with them.

Our Nativity scene on the sofa table reminds me that it was a Holy Night when a Local winners in the Nov. 6 election will take their oaths of office in ceremonies Dec. 20. County Republican Chairwoman Laura Campbell announced swearing in proceedings will be held in the Historic Courtroom of the Courthouse at 5 p.m. with Judge Steve Nation administering the oaths.

The newly elected and re-elected officials actually assume their duties on Jan. 1. But, the public ceremonies are a tradition, allowing family, friends and supporters to observe election victors swear to "do their duty" in the office to which they were elected.

Those taking office are Kathy Richardson as county clerk, Dennis Quakenbush as sheriff, Mike Casati as judge of Superior Court 1, Gail Bardach as judge of Superior Court 6, Lee Buckingham as prosecutor, Christine Altman as commissioner, Robin Ward as assessor, Jennifer Hayden as recorder, John Chalfin as coroner.

Also beginning four-year terms are county council members Steve Schwartz, Fred Glynn, Amy Massillamany and Ken Alexander. Several town council members in Sheridan, Cicero and Atlanta, nine township trustees and 36 township board members also begin new terms as a result of this year's election.

The public may attend although seating is limited. A reception hosted by the Republican women's organization will follow.

County leaders speak to State about Noblesville West Middle School tragedy

Fishers Winter Wonderland rescheduled for this afternoon

The REPORTER

Winter Wonderland presented by Fishers Elite Martial Arts has been rescheduled due to inclement weather. The event will take place from 2 to 8 p.m. today, Sunday, Dec. 2 outdoors at the Nickel Plate District Amphitheater, 6 Municipal Drive.

The annual tree lighting will take place at 6 p.m. A sensory-friendly area will also be available for children and families with special needs. Art in City Hall presented by Fishers Arts Council and Nickel Plate Arts will take place from 3:30 to 8 p.m. during the event.

Reservations scheduled for Saturday's Pictures with Santa during Winter Wonderland will also be moved to Sunday (reservation times will remain the same). All reservations are currently full for Pictures with Santa.

Activities at the Hamilton East Public Library that were originally scheduled during the event will remain on Saturday.

The free, annual event features family-friendly winter fun at the newly renovated Nickel Plate District Amphitheater.

One of the city's most popular events, Fishers Parks & Recreation offers expanded hours and more activities for the community at this year's event, including children's activities, ice carving demonstrations, a petting zoo, live music from Fishers Music Works, and more. The highlight of the evening, the annual tree lighting, will take place at 6 p.m. A sensory-friendly area will also be available for children and families with special needs.

The city of Fishers encourages attendees to donate new adult and children's socks during the event to benefit the Good Samaritan Network of Hamilton County.

Cicero Edward Jones office supports Toys for Tots drive

The REPORTER

Local Edward Jones financial advisor Corey Sylvester is supporting the U.S. Marine Corps Toys for Tots program by using his office as a drop-off location for this year's toy drive. Local residents may help needy children in the area by bringing in a new, unwrapped toy to the office, at 120 W. Jackson Street in Cicero, during regular business hours now through Dec. 10. "With the holiday season around the corner, we are all getting ready for the festivities," Sylvester said. "And as this is the season of giving, now is a great time to remember the less fortunate in our community."

"We are in the process of negotiating for property out that way," Warren said. "The fourth location will be in Nora, so it will be outside of Hamilton County, but certainly serving southern Hamilton County."

While emergency room visits can result in thousands of dollars in bills, urgent care medical treatment is far less expensive.

Warren said this new combined facility is not something that is yet becoming a standard, but he does know of a similar facility in the Dallas/Fort Worth area in Texas as well as a few other parts of the country.

"There is a large portion of the country that does not have this model," Warren said. "To me it seems like a no-brainer. People don't necessarily know what is emergent and what is urgent. The same symptoms could often go either way. Being able to go to one facility and be seen by an emergency room physician and then being billed at the appropriate level of the care provided has not been widespread historically."

These facilities give Riverview the capability to serve Hamilton County residents in a wider area in a more convenient way.

According to Warren, these new facilities will be like the Westfield model in the combined ER and urgent care, but they will not have inpatient services or a surgical suite. They will have the appropriate imaging, labs and service to support that, but will not offer have inpatient hospital services the way Westfield will in early January 2019.

"Consumers want convenience and accessibility," Warren said. "We recognize that coming to a hospital campus can sometimes be a little daunting. By spreading the care out and offering multiple venues and access points, it makes it more convenient and accessible for them."

Riverview recently received an award as one of the top 100 orthopedic surgical facilities in the country by Healthgrades, a company that provides information about physicians, hospitals and health care providers. Healthgrades has amassed information on over 3 million U.S. health-care providers.

Riverview also received an award for patient experience.

"As we expand our footprint, we are offering a high-quality experience," Warren said. "From a technology standpoint the Westfield and Noblesville locations have the latest and greatest in terms of imaging equipment. We just got a new spinal guidance system. We have a new linear accelerator for radiation therapy for cancer patients. We invest heavily in technology, we are getting awards for patient experience and quality and we are very customer-friendly with the combined model or ER and urgent care where is takes the guesswork out for the patient."

Warren said Riverview Health wants to be Hamilton County's hometown healthcare provider.

"We do this with the local, hometown interaction and experience," Warren told The Reporter. "What I always say is, 'The patients we serve live in our community.' We are going to see our patients at our kids' baseball games, at the grocery store, at church and at other events and locations. The level of care we provide to them has to have that hometown and neighborly feel because we live with the people who become our patients. We are members of the community as well. We value the patient and make sure their experience is as pleasant as can be when they need help."

Former e-cigarette executive, local attorney open first vape, CBD dispensary in Hamilton County

The REPORTER

Vape and Wellness introduces to the public its first upscale retail vapor store and CBD dispensary near Historic Noblesville Square, offering electronic cigarette products, organic CBD oil tinctures, edibles, capsules and handmade CBD-infused oil bath balms. The company plans on expanding into other exciting wellness categories in the near future.

Doors opened at the end of October at 170 Logan St., located conveniently next door to Kroger. Vape and Wellness has a heightened focused on providing a higher-end experience and ambiance for their customers. The walls of the store are wrapped with reclaimed Indiana tobacco barnwood – an ironic touch. An oversized bar was handcrafted for customers to sample various products in optimal comfort. The store offers extended lounge areas with several large-scale ceiling fans and brand-new HVAC system to dissipate vapor.

Co-owner Ian Hull is passionate about this industry and has spent a career developing strong partnerships with various manufacturers, retailers and distributors coast to coast.

“I’ve been deeply involved in the e-cigarette and CBD industries since well before their adoption in Central Indiana,” said Hull. “I’ve traveled nationwide and pulled inspiration from various locales while developing ideas for our first store. Simply put, this is not just another vape shop.”

Fellow co-owner Alex Ostrovsky said, “There are few people in the state – much less the country – who know more about our product offering than Ian. From the inception – we had a shared vision to provide a professional approach to selling these categories. Vape and Wellness is a destination for everyone – from enthusiasts to seniors seeking alternative remedies for their ailments.”

All of the electronic cigarette liquids are manufactured in an FDA-registered lab. They will carry only the finest products and hardware which comply with all relevant federal and state laws, rules and guidelines. If you are local to Noblesville or want to spend an autumn day shopping Historic Downtown Noblesville, be sure to make it by the store. To those who are already enjoying these products – the seemingly limitless options at Vape and Wellness will enhance your experience.

AG Curtis Hill joins bipartisan coalition in defending states’ rights to regulate rising costs of prescription drugs

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill has joined a bipartisan coalition of 32 attorneys general in filing an amicus brief in the U.S. Supreme Court supporting states’ rights to regulate and address the rising cost of prescription drugs.

In Rutledge v. Pharmaceutical Care Management Association, the attorneys general argue that in order to protect the well-being of consumers, states must retain the right to regulate pharmacy benefit managers, also known as PBMs. PBMs act as gatekeepers among pharmacies, drug manufacturers, health insurance plans and consumers for access to prescription drugs. The brief filed this month argues that regulation of the prescription drug market, including PBMs, is a critical tool for states to address access and affordability of prescription drugs and protect residents.

In 2015, the state of Arkansas implemented a law that regulated PBMs by setting standards for generic drug prices. Under the law, PBMs must raise their imbursement rate for a drug if that rate falls below the pharmacy’s wholesale costs. The law also created an appeals process for pharmacies to challenge these reimbursement rates. The law was challenged by the Pharmaceutical Care Management Association, which argued that the Employment Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) prevents the State of Arkansas from implementing the law. Arkansas has asked the Supreme Court to hear the case.

“States must constantly safeguard their ability to act on behalf of their own citizens,” Hill said. “Here in Indiana, we must step forward to protect policy-making prerogatives that rightfully rest with state government.”

In this month’s filing, the attorneys general argue that state laws regulating pharmacy benefit managers are not restricted by federal law. Regulation is critical to the states’ ability to improve the transparency of prescription drug marketplaces and to protect consumers’ access to affordable prescription drugs, especially those in underserved, rural and isolated communities. In addition, the attorneys general assert that the regulation of pharmacy benefit managers promotes healthcare access and affordability for residents and that taking away a state’s ability to regulate would create confusion and uncertainty in the market and harm patients.

Stressed-out teens

Editor's Note: The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School's 10th grade English class, taught by Abigail Williams.

SHELBY HAMMACK
Sheridan High School Student

I can personally say that school is way too stressful. There have been days to the point that I'm extremely exhausted and I just want to sleep my problems away. I go to school eight hours a day for five days a week. In those eight hours, I am constantly thinking and doing school work. After school, I go home to spend another hour or more doing homework, as well as studying for upcoming tests. In my opinion, that's too much stress. All of that stress causes me to be irritated, overwhelmed and overall in a bad mood. School causes too much stress and takes a toll on teens' health.

According to thehill.com, "On average, teens reported their stress level was 5.8 on a 10 point scale, compared to 5.1 for adults." For teens, the main reported source of stress was school. Teens spend eight hours a day in school; therefore, teachers shouldn't assign loads of homework. Teens are dedicating too much time to school-related things, causing us to not have enough relaxation time. Teachers know that we have a life outside of school, so why do they choose to give us a bunch of homework? I feel that someone should come up with a solution. For example, teachers should communicate with one another as to when they are assigning schoolwork. Teachers should also only be allowed to assign two or less items of schoolwork a week. It would improve our lives.

There are many factors that play a role in teens' stress, one factor being time management. It's hard to balance school, home activities, peer activities and more. It's also challenging to balance several subjects and workloads. It ends up overloading our schedules and causing tons of stress. Another factor is fear. According to huffpost.com, fear is a great factor in teens' lives. "Fear of not getting into a college, fear of not getting financial support, fear of not shining in college or high school so that you're employable. Fear is a powerful moti-vator, but it also creates and generates tremendous amounts of stress."

To sum up, teens fear failing in life. Although, there are ways to minimize stress and cope with school. For example, one way is learning to change your thinking. According to the huffpost.com, "You cannot get stressed out unless you believe your thoughts. All stress is precipitated by stressful thinking." Another way to manage stress is to lower your goals by a little bit. Don't slack off but also don't create goals just to set yourself up for disappointment or failure. Set a goal to make yourself feel satisfied by your performance. You'll achieve much more.

In conclusion, school is the main source of stress for teens. It not only affects how we act and feel; it affects how long we sleep, how much we eat, and more. The pressures of school work, family life, social life, and more combined results in teens being even more stressed than ever before. Although there are ways to de-stress, it can be hard to handle everything. Too much stress can lead to bigger problems. Everyone knows that it's hard to manage a lot of stress, so why not make things easier?

An apology is not a solution

For years I have been saying, "It is not really the thought that counts." Now I'm adding, "An apology is not a solution."

STU CLAMPITT
Chasing Wisdom

"What? It's not the thought that counts? Stu, you fool, of course the thought counts!"

No. It does not. Want proof? Donate anonymously. It could be as simple as a bag of groceries sitting on the front porch of a family you know might struggle during the holidays. Then wait and see if anyone asks what the donor was thinking, or if they focus instead on how much the gift – the act – is appreciated.

The intention behind the act can add a layer of deeper meaning, but what we do for others is more important than what we think.

"But, Stu, that just means that thoughtful action counts. What about when it really is just the thought?"

Try this: Next time you take someone to dinner, go to McDonalds. Buy them the cheapest cheeseburger on the menu and say, "I thought about treating you to steak and lobster and it's really the thought that counts. Enjoy your grease on a bun, dear."

Let me know how that works out for you.

Also, if you accidentally drop that cheeseburger on the floor, just pick it up, dust it off and say, "I'm sorry," as if that will fix the whole thing.

Let me know how that works, too.

An apology expresses that you did not intentionally cause harm, but it is not a solution.

Offer a solution. My vehicle recently tried to be Christine from that Steven King story. While on the road, the electric driver's seat started tilting forward. It did not stop until I felt like a little old lady holding the steering wheel inches from her face. If I had T-Rex arms, it would be quite comfortable to drive.

I do not have T-Rex arms. I called my mechanic and explained the problem. We set an appointment for a Friday and added an oil change to the service call.

I dropped the vehicle off the night before.

By 2:20 p.m. I had not heard anything, so I called. They had not even looked at it.

They apologized and said they'd get right on it, they'd call me as soon as they knew what the fix was, and I could pick it up by the end of the day.

At 4:25 p.m. I had not heard anything, so I called.

They apologized for not calling me back. They told me why they could not fix or diagnose the problem. I asked about the cost of the oil change. They said they had not priced it yet. I heard that to mean, "We have not changed the oil yet."

When I arrived at 4:45 p.m. it was still getting the oil changed.

I was livid. I asked what they would do to make this right.

The lady behind the counter said, "I'm sorry."

I said, "I don't care if you're sorry. I need a solution. What is your solution?"

I got excuses and another apology.

"Still not a solution. An apology will not fix my truck. At a bare minimum, how do we make sure this never happens again?"

A gentleman behind the counter then interjected, "The lady said she's sorry."

I was stunned to silence for at least three seconds as my brain tried to process this fundamental flaw in their logic. Then I ranted for a bit because I enjoy a good rant.

She said she's sorry, so that must make everything fine?

She said she's sorry so it's acceptable that it took over 24 hours to change the oil? To not even start until I called? To not call me to explain they were running behind? To not call me back to tell me they can't fix it? To not refer me to someone else? To not at least tell me why this won't happen again?

But she's sorry. Oh. Okay then. I guess that fixes it.

Now I just need either a new mechanic or a set of T-Rex arms.

Fishers road construction updates, week of Dec. 3

The REPORTER Allisonville Road

131st Street is closed to all traffic at Allisonville Road for up to 30 days for utility and reconstruction work. The detour is south to 126th Street, where left turns will be permitted over to Lantern Road.

Traffic has switched to the west side of Allisonville Road onto new pavement from Fawnsbrook Drive to 131st Street. Work has begun on the east side of the road and one lane is open in each direction. For more info on this project, view the Fact Sheet.

106th Street from Hague Road to the Crosspoint Boulevard/Lantern Road roundabout is now open, with lane restrictions. This is still an active construction site, so please drive with caution. 106th Street from Eller Road to Allisonville Road and from Allisonville Road to Hague Road will open soon.

State Road 37

Drainage work for State Road 37 has begun. Construction vehicles will be using the construction entrance on Lantern Road, between 126th and 131st streets, and may cause some short delays. There are no scheduled lane restrictions or closures along SR 37 at this time.

2019 state park permits available

The REPORTER

Annual entrance permits, horse tags, off-road cycling permits and lake permits for 2019 are on sale now at DNR Division of State Parks property offices.

These passes and permits make great holiday gifts for outdoor lovers and are a wise self-gift, too.

With a daily entrance fee of $7 per car at DNR properties, in-state visitors who buy a pass can make their money back on their eighth visit.

Annual entrance and Golden Hoosier permits can also be purchased at any of the seven state park inns. All of the permits are also available online at stores.innsgifts.com/permits.

All permits are good from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 of year issued. The types of permits that can be purchased are:

- $50 Annual Entrance Permit: Admits noncommercial vehicles, driver and passengers to DNR properties that charge a gate fee. More info at stateparks.IN.gov/5062.htm.

- $70 Non-resident Annual Entrance Permit: Admits non-Indiana resident non-commercial vehicles, driver and passengers to DNR properties that charge a gate fee. More info at stateparks.IN.gov/5062.htm.

- $25 Golden Hoosier Passport: For Indiana residents who are at least age 65 years or are a resident eligible for Social Security disability payments under 42 U.S.C. 401 (proof of eligibility must be presented at time of purchase and disabled individual must be present in the vehicle at time of use); admits non-commercial vehicle, driver and passengers.

- $20 Annual Horse Tag: Entitles one horse access and the use of DNR properties where horse use is allowed. Vehicle admission is not included.

- $20 Off-Road Cycling Permit: Required for cyclists wishing to access and use mountain bike trails on state park, reservoir and state forest properties with trail ratings above beginner. It is not required for property roadways and paved biking trails. More about off-road cycling permits at stateparks.IN.gov/8623.htm.

- Lake Permits ($25 annual motorized; $5 annual non-motorized): Required for all private watercraft using a state park lake, state-managed lake, state forest lake or Division of Outdoor Recreation lake. This includes personal watercraft, motorboats, canoes, paddleboats, rowboats and all watercraft moored at marinas, private docks, group docks or bank ties. More at stateparks.IN.gov/8521.htm.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And straightway in the morning the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council, and bound Jesus, and carried him away, and delivered him to Pilate. And Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answering said unto them, Thou sayest it. And the chief priests accused him of many things: but he answered nothing And Pilate asked him again, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they witness against thee. But Jesus yet answered nothing; so that Pilate marvelled.

Michael J. Black

February 23, 1954 – November 29, 2018

Michael J. Black, 64, Alexandria, Ind., passed away on Thursday, November 29, 2018 at Community Hospital of Anderson. He was born on February 23, 1954 to Keith and Lois (Camp) Black in Noblesville.

Michael was a farmer and retired school bus driver/mechanic for Noblesville Schools and Hamilton Southeastern Schools. He was the owner of a tile ditching company, Black Ditching, LLC. Michael was a member of Grace Baptist Church in Yorktown, the Chapter 7 IHC Club and the Hamilton County Pork Producers. He enjoyed restoring antique tractors with his sons, antique tractor pulling and gardening. Michael loved his pets, Duke and Colt. The three could always be seen riding in his truck. Michael never met a stranger, he was always jolly and had a contagious laugh. Michael valued and loved his family, always making quality time with them.

He is survived by his wife, Jacquelyn M. Black; son, Craig Black; daughter, Kelli (Joel) Kingen; son, Doug (Nikki) Black; sister, Tracie M. (Black) Cramer; brother, Keith E. Black II; and sister, Karen A. Black.

In addition to his parents, Michael was preceded in death by his grandparents, Frank and Pearl Black.

Visitation will be from 4 to 8 p.m. on Monday, December 3, 2018 at Randall & Roberts Funeral Home, 1150 Logan St., Noblesville. Services will be held at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, December 4, 2018 at the funeral home. Burial will be at Crownland Cemetery in Noblesville.

James Robert "JB" Massingill

March 11, 1975 – November 26, 2018

James Robert "JB" Massingill, 43, formerly of Sheridan, passed away unexpectedly at his home in Mulberry, Ind., on Monday evening, November 26, 2018. Born in Noblesville on March 11, 1975, he was the son of Chuck Massingill and Tina (Freeman) Massingill-Railer.

JB was very dedicated, and also very successful at everything he did in his life. A majority of the time, that tends to lend itself to somewhat of an inflated ego, but not with JB. About as humble a man as you would ever want to know, JB, along with those closest to him, knew his accomplishments, and that was just fine with him. A 1993 graduate of Sheridan High School, he was proud to be a Blackhawk. JB was a player on the 1992 Class A State Champion football team.

He was a true team player. You never heard him boast about laying out one of Ritter's defensive players, allowing what turned into Sheridan's only TD of the game. In addition to football, JB was a power lifter. In 1990, when he was just 15 years old, he broke the National High School Bench Press record at the National Weight Lifting Championships. That's something most people would brag about, but not JB.

A true outdoorsman, JB made hunting and fishing look as easy as riding a bike. He usually did fairly well when he was out hunting for deer and turkey, but when he went bass fishing, it was on a whole other level. He loved every aspect of it; the science of finding the best spots, making the perfect lures, telling stories about your secret fishing holes, and the peacefulness of just sitting, sometimes by yourself and sometimes with good friends, just waiting for them to start biting.

As much as JB loved bass fishing, he loved his family and friends more. Sitting around the fire pit with the people he loved most was about as close to heaven as you could get; if his nieces and nephews were there, it was even better. Everyone seemed to be family in JB's eyes. He never seemed to know a stranger. If you needed help, JB was always there to lend a hand. It didn't matter if he had known you for decades or met you five minutes ago, if you needed help, JB would never tell you no.

After attending ITT Tech, JB worked for over 25 years as a machinist for Lake Erie Screw in Frankfort. He was a member of the N.R.A., the KV. Elliott Post 67 Sons of the American Legion, the Bass Masters, and just about every Bass Club you could find in Frankfort, Clinton County or Central Indiana.

JB is survived by his father, Chuck Massingill; his mother and step-father, Tina Massingill-Railer and Dave Railer; maternal grandmother, Vonna Lois Freeman; one son, Hunter Ray Massingill (fiancée Mackenzie Dietz), West Lafayette; one brother, Bill Massingill (Rachel), Thorntown; three step-brothers, Michael Holman (Rachelle), Frankfort, Alan Railer, Sheridan, and Barry Railer of Sheridan; his former wife, Brandy Sammons Massingill of Burlington; and his nieces and nephews, Madison Massingill, Alexa Massingill, Georgia Massingill, Alyssa Railer, Lauren Railer, Camden Massingill, Gavin Railer, Dakota Sammons, Montana Holman and Maverick Holman, who were his pride and joy.

He was preceded in death by his step-mother, Teresa Lynn "Terri" Massingill; sister-in-law, Sabrina Plunkett; mother-in-law, Rhonda Kelley; half-brother, Ray Massingill; paternal grandparents, Luther and Vergie Massingill; maternal grandfather, Robert "Bob" Freeman; and by his canine BFF, his rat terrier RED.

A celebration of JB's life will take place at 7 p.m. on Monday, December 3, 2018 at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan, with visitation from 3 p.m. until the time of service. Pastor Ben Simpson will be officiating.

Betty J. Olson

June 2, 1930 – November 6, 2018

Betty J. Olson, 88, formerly of Sheridan, passed away peacefully at her home in Downers Grove, Ill., on Tuesday, November 6, 2018. Born June 2, 1930 in Sheridan, she was the daughter of the late Newton and Thelma (Barker) Presley.

Betty was a graduate of Sheridan High School and enjoyed a wonderful career as a secretary for both the Argonne National Laboratory and George Williams College. She was a member of the Downers Grove First United Methodist Church, taking great joy in her many years of fellowship and service with the First United Methodist Women.

Anyone who knew Betty knew that she had many things that she was passionate about, however, there were a few that really captured her spirit and personality. First was her love of animals. There was hardly ever a time in her life that Betty didn't have a recently adopted dog or just a neighborhood stray that she was spoiling rotten. If there is a special place in heaven for those who care for unloved animals, Betty will surely have a reserved seat. There were two other activities that Betty held dear, and those were tending to her flower beds and seeing just how much of Indiana she could physically move back to Illinois. Every trip that Betty would make to Indiana, no matter what the occasion, always had to include a stop (usually multiple stops) to various fields around the area looking for discarded field rocks. She would fill up whatever vehicle she was in, literally, and head back to Illinois with new decorations and borders for her well cared for flower beds. If the D.O.T. knew what she was up to, they would have made her pull into the weigh stations for sure. Last but certainly not least on this list is her family. Betty loved her family, animals and all, more than they will ever know.

Betty is survived by her two loving sons, Gregory Olson and Garry (Phyllis) Olson, both of Downers Grove, Ill.; her sister, Naoma Stiles of Heath, Texas; and by her brother, Robert Presley who lives in the Indianapolis community of New Augusta.

She was preceded in death by her parents; and by her sister, Virginia Hollingsworth.

Private family services are being planned. Betty will be laid to rest at Crown View Cemetery in Sheridan.

Arrangements have been entrusted to Kercheval Funeral Home in Sheridan.

Double good weekend for Huskies...

Fourth-quarter run seals win for Heights over Golden Eagles

By RICHIE HALL

ARCADIA - After an emotional win on Friday at New Castle, Hamilton Heights was back in its home gym Saturday night for another big rivalry game.

The Huskies hosted Guerin Catholic, and the game was reasonably close for three quarters and part of the fourth. But Heights ended the game with a flourish, defeating the Golden Eagles 74-60. It was part of a great weekend for the Huskies program.

"I was real proud of our guys, because that was our first double," said Heights coach Chad Ballenger. On Friday, the Huskies handed the Trojans only their eighth loss in the history of their famous field-house. They were excited, although they didn't get home until 11 p.m., then came back in to practice the next morning.

"We played well and wanted that to carry over and not just be about last night, and I thought our guys did a good job," said Ballenger.

The first period was back and forth, but ended with the Huskies ahead 18-13. Sophomore Gus Etchison was hot early, with eight points, including two 3-pointers. Meanwhile, the Golden Eagles got six points from Bernie McGuinness and five from Luke Godfrey, both of whom had a 3-pointer.

In the second quarter, it was Camron Knott's turn to step up, as he scored seven points for Heights to help it to a 30-23 halftime lead. Kian Sills began the third quarter with a 3 for Guerin, cutting the lead to 30-26.

Etchison added another nine points in the third, but the Golden Eagles were beginning to push, getting within four points after back-to-back baskets by McGuinness and Josh Osborn. Etchison stretched the lead back to seven with a three-point play, but Godfrey's layin kept Guerin Catholic within 45-40 after three.

Godfrey then made two free throws in a one-and-one situation to start the fourth. Now the lead was 45-42. AJ Field drained a 3 for the Huskies, which Sills answered immediately with a 3.

Joseph Bobilya's 3 got GC within 50-48, and Godfrey made two more free throws to tie the game at 52-all with 5:33 left. But at that point the Huskies went on a big spurt, outscoring the Golden Eagles 22-8 in the game's final minutes.

Camron Knott started the run with a hook shot, then Etchison added four points on a layin and two free throws. Heights rolled from there, with Etchison scoring 12 points during the run, including 8-of-8 from the free throw line. As a team, the Huskies were 14-of-16 from the line in the quarter.

"We locked down when we had to," said Ballenger. "We made that little defensive run there at the end. Pushed it out, hit free throws."

"We've just done a good job," said Ballenger. "We've made shots, we've made runs, got to the free throw line, which has been really big."

'Hounds cruise past Pendleton

Carmel picked up a win at Pendleton Heights on Saturday, by the score of 53-31. The Class 4A No. 2 Greyhounds got off to a good start, leading 17-7 after the first quarter. The Arabians cut into Carmel's lead slightly in the second period, getting within 28-21 at halftime. But the 'Hounds powered through the second half, outscoring Pendleton 25-10.

John Michael Mulloy earned a double-double of 17 points and 15 rebounds; that included an 11-of-12 effort from the free throw line. Luke Heady added 16 points. Carmel is now 3-0 and plays at Noblesville on Friday.

Marauders pull away from Tigers

After a back and forth first half, Mount Vernon pulled away from Fishers 59-50 in a Saturday night game at the Marauders' gym. Mount Vernon led 16-11 after the first quarter, but the Tigers came back to tie the game at 24-24 by halftime. Willie Jackson helped out at the free throw line, making 4 of 5 in the second period, while Josiah Matthews also had four points in that period. But the Marauders went ahead 40-34 by the end of the third and were able to hold on in the fourth.

Huge third quarter sends HSE to victory

Hamilton Southeastern had an outstanding third quarter, and that propelled the Royals to a 78-44 win over Fort Wayne North Side on Saturday. The Legends led HSE 17-15 after the first period, with the Royals taking a 30-27 lead at halftime. Southeastern then took control in the third quarter, outscoring Fort Wayne North 32-6. Aaron Etherington scored 15 points, with Chris Grubbs, Landon Morris and Mabor Majak all adding 10. Majak and Noah Smith both pulled four rebounds, with Smith handing out seven assists and making five steals. Majak blocked two shots in addition to dishing out four assists. Chris Kottowski and Vinny Buccilla both had four assists also, while Grubbs made four steals. The Royals are 4-0 and host North Central on Friday.

Blackhawks win season opener

The Sheridan boys basketball team won its season opener on Saturday night, beating Anderson Prep on the road 54-39. The teams were tied at 12-12 after the first quarter, but the Blackhawks pulled away in the second period to lead 31-20. The Jets made a comeback in the third quarter, cutting Sheridan's lead to 38-33, but the 'Hawks cruised through the fourth period 16-6. Caleb Duke and Nick Burnell each scored 10 points. Burnell reached double-double status with 10 rebounds and also made five steals. Duke went 7-of-9 from the free throw line. Drake Delph added nine

HEIGHTS

Etchison finished the game with 29 points, while Knott scored 20. Field added 10 points. Guerin Catholic, meanwhile, had four players in double figures. Godfrey scored 17, Sills added 14, McGuinness put in 12 and Osborn scored 10. Golden Eagles coach Bobby Allen said he thought his team played better than it did Friday in a loss to Roncalli. "Our goal in the third quarter was to win that quarter and we did," said Allen. "And then we came out in the fourth quarter and we got the game tied with about five minutes to go, and then we put up a couple bad possessions. They're a good team, and when you don't stay consistent against a good team, they're going to bury you, which is what they did to us at the end. They make all their free throws, they compete at a high level and they're very, very well-coached." Heights is now 3-1 for the season and will host Lewis Cass on Friday to open Hoosier Conference East play. The Golden Eagles are 1-2 and will play at Muncie Central next Saturday.

Hot shooting 'Blazers beat Speedway

University rode the hot shooting of juniors Sam Mervis and Max Greenamoyer to a 61-48 win over Speedway Saturday night at The U Center. Mervis had a career-high 21 points including making all nine free throw attempts. Mervis led the Blazers in assists (seven) and rebounds (six). Greenamoyer also had a career high with 17 points, including five 3-point baskets. The Class 1A eighth ranked Trailblazers improved to 3-1 with the win, while the Sparkplugs fell to 1-2. Speedway led just once, 9-7, for 12 seconds before a Nate Shatkowski 3-pointer gave University the lead for good. University held a three-point advantage after the first quarter and steadily stretched the lead throughout the game. "We managed the end of the game well tonight" said University coach Brandon Lafferman. "Sam Mervis had a great game and did a phenomenal job knocking down free throws." Mervis made seven free throws as part of his 11-point fourth-quarter outburst. "All 10 players contributed tonight and played their role. We had a good weekend," concluded Lafferman.

University is off until next weekend when they will have a pair of home games. Friday night the Blazers host sectional opponent Bethesda Christian and welcome Pioneer Conference North rival Liberty Christian on Saturday evening in the night-cap of a girl-boy doubleheader.

Covenant beats Golden Eagles

Guerin Catholic dropped a Circle City Conference game to Covenant Christian 66-52 Saturday at the Eagles Nest.

Bennett

The Golden Eagles played with the Warriors in the first half, trailing just 13-8 after the first quarter and 31-26 at halftime. But Covenant outscored GC 21-7 in the third period to take control of the game. "For the second game in a row we were in a five point game at halftime with a pretty good team, unfortunately for the second game in row we got outplayed in the third quarter," said Guerin Catholic coach Jeff Buckner. "To the girls' credit they fought extremely hard to get back into the game in the fourth. We were able to attack the basket and get to the foul line for 30 free throws to lead to our best offense effort of the season."

Nicole Cunningham scored 21 points to lead the Golden Eagles, with Paige Bennett and Kathryn Loso each adding 10.

Guerin Catholic is 0-3 in the conference and 2-6 overall. The Golden Eagles play at Marion on Tuesday.

Bogdanovic's big night sends Kings past Pacers

By WHEAT HOTCHKISS

Courtesy nba.com/pacers

Trailing by one in the closing seconds and with All-Star guard Victor Oladipo watching in street clothes, the Pacers turned to Bojan Bogdanovic on Saturday night in Sacramento.

The Croatian sharpshooter had carried Indiana all night, scoring a season-high 27 points and hitting 10 of his first 15 shots. As the clock ticked down, Bogdanovic drove to the left baseline and unleashed a vicious stepback move to create separation from Kings center Willie Cauley-Stein.

The resulting space gave Bogdanovic an open look for the potential game-winner. It looked good out of his hands, but swirled around the rim before falling out.

And just like that, the Pacers' hopes of putting together a winning Western Conference road trip evaporated, as the Kings (11-11) prevailed over Indiana (13-10), 111-110, in a wild contest that featured 11 ties and 25 lead changes.

Indiana's offense went cold at a crucial time, as the visitors failed to score for nearly four minutes of game time down the stretch in the fourth quarter. Sacramento slowly erased a four-point deficit, tying the game at 107 on Cauley-Stein's dunk with 1:32 remaining.

Darren Collison finally stopped the bleeding, knocking down a 3-pointer to put the Pacers back in front with 1:12 to play.

De'Aaron Fox's fastbreak layup with 35.1 seconds left made it a one-point game. On the other end, Collison was whistled for an offensive foul for wrapping his arm around Fox.

After a timeout, Fox drove and missed a runner, but Cauley-Stein was there for the follow, converting the putback slam with 16.1 seconds left to put Sacramento back in front.

The Pacers designed a play for Bogdanovic, but he couldn't get the shot to fall.

"That was the play, to go two-man game with Bogey and Domas and he pulled it out," Pacers head coach Nate McMillan said. "He got a good look at the basket and it just didn't go down for him."

After Bogdanovic's miss, Kings guard Buddy Hield and Collison grabbed the rebound simultaneously, forcing a jump ball with 1.3 seconds remaining.

Hield won the jump ball, but it went straight into the hands of Collison, who nearly drained a shot at the buzzer, but it wouldn't have counted even if it had fallen.

Because Collison was involved in the jump, he was not allowed to be the first player to touch the ball after the tip. A brief review concluded that Collison had committed a violation and gave the Kings the ball with 0.9 seconds left. A successful inbound clinched the win for Sacramento.

In a game that came down to the wire, the Pacers' season-high 25 turnovers loomed large after the final buzzer, the last one coming on Collison's offensive foul.

"We got the lead in the last minute or two and you have to execute," McMillan said. "We had some turnovers late in this ball game that kind of changed the game. We just have to take care of the ball and execute when the game is on the line."

Saturday's game featured eight lead changes over the first half of the first quarter alone, but the Pacers eventually moved in front thanks to strong starts from their starting wings. Bogdanovic and Tyreke Evans combined for 18 of Indiana's first 22 points, helping the visitors out to an early lead.

The Blue & Gold extended their advantage to as many as seven points in the frame and took a 30-26 lead into the second quarter.

The Kings used a 3-point barrage to move back in front, burying four threes in the first 3:06 of the second period to retake the lead. The Kings led by seven points before the Pacers strung together a 13-4 run to close the half and take a 60-58 lead into the break.

The third quarter was a Bogdanovic duel, as Bojan scored nine points for the Pacers and Bogdan (no relation) scored eight for the Kings.

The frame featured six ties and four lead changes, but Domantas Sabonis' nine-foot jumper with 26.6 seconds left gave the Blue & Gold a 91-89 lead heading into the fourth quarter.

Doug McDermott and Bogdanovic carried the offensive load for Indiana early in the final frame. The Pacers' two sharpshooters combined for 12 straight points for the Blue & Gold to give them a 107-103 lead with 5:06 remaining, but the offense went cold from there.

All five starters and McDermott finished in double figures for Indiana. Bogdanovic led the way with 29 points, but missed his final four attempts. Thaddeus Young added 14 points on 6-of-8 shooting, while McDermott scored 14 while going 5-for-8 from the field.

Myles Turner (14 points, 12 rebounds, and three blocks) and Collison (11 points, 12 assists, and six steals) each recorded double-doubles for the pacers, while Evans chipped in 12 points and four assists.

Bogdan Bogdanovic led Sacramento with 20 points off the bench. Hield added 18, while Cauley-Stein tallied 17 and 13 rebounds.

After splitting their four-game road trip, the Pacers return home to Indianapolis and will host the Chicago Bulls on Tuesday night at 7 p.m.

"We have to put it behind us and focus on Chicago," Collison said. "I've always said that, if you let losses linger on it's going to get to three and four losses in a row, just thinking about the previous game."

"We have an opportunity to go back home, try to get a win under our belt and start feeling good about ourselves."

Noblesville, Carmel wrestlers compete at Shamrock Duals

Noblesville wrestling coach Michael Weimer talks with his Millers team during the Shamrock Duals on Saturday.

The Carmel and Noblesville wrestling teams were among the competitors at the Westfield Shamrock Duals on Saturday.

The Greyhounds went 4-1, beating Princeton 80-0, Ben Davis 67-12, Zionsville 57-15 and Crown Point 45-20. Carmel narrowly lost to Roncalli 29-27. Six Greyhound wrestlers finished the day 5-0: Suhas Chundi (106 and 113 pounds), Kyle Holman (132), Gabe Davin (152), Logan Hart (170 and 182), Cameron Bacon (182 and 195) and Jack Heldt (220).

The Millers finished eighth at the tournament, going 2-3 as a team. Justin Johnson Sparks went 5-0 on the day.

"It was great to see our kids compete in such a tough tournament," said Noblesville coach Michael Weimer. "The boys competed hard and every NHS wrestler gave maximum effort and fight on the mat. I was very proud of how our team supported each other in every match contested today."

Royals swimmers win dual over Brownsburg

Hamilton Southeastern scored a dual meet sweep of Brownsburg on Saturday.

The Royals girls team won 142.5-43.5. Southeastern coach Andy Pedersen said his freshman class stepped up, led by Molly Robinson winning the breaststroke and finishing a close second in the 500 freestyle. Robinson also had a strong split in the 400 free relay. Katherine Kesler, Rebecca Ang, Ashley Baker and Kennedy Fisher all had strong efforts.

"This was a nice win for the Lady Royals - the leadership was really impressive from our senior class," said Pedersen. "We were also very proud to be represented by Team Captains Bella Goss and Mo Pedersen today. The cheering on deck was strong and the team did an outstanding job of being cohesive and supporting one another. In that regard, it was the best effort we have seen this year and is a great predictor of the direction the team is heading."

HSE's boys won 139-47. Thomas Reising broke 1:05 to win the breaststroke, while AJ Ricafort won the diving event. Evan Sellers placed first in the 500 free and swam a strong final 25 yards to place second in the 200 free. Logan Hess, Nick Bostock and Alex Kaminski (third in the 500 free) all had impressive races as well.

"We will close out by commending our two captains," said Pedersen. "Collin Matasovsky is as gritty a kid as we have ever had here and just comes to work each day...just like all of us, he has good days and bad ones, but it rarely impacts his effort level as that is incredibly consistent. Matteo Fontanin got a varsity opportunity and made the most of it with four outstanding swims today - this is exactly the kind of effort we have come to expect from Matteo. He is professional as can be with his approach to this sport - he comes to work, gives a great effort and then takes a break so he can be ready to do it all over again...he gets that this sport is a grind and that is not a bad thing."

The Royals will travel to Westfield on Tuesday for a dual meet.
