Looking to be Hamilton County's hometown healthcare provider . . . Riverview invests in new facilities

Health's to Riverview combined ER and urgent Health care facility in Westfield opened Tuesday, Oct. 23, and is being called a useful and novel idea. Final vote on proposal taking place at Dec. 12 meeting . . . Hamilton Southeastern redistricting now up to school board

By LARRY LANNAN

LarryInFishers.com

Hamilton Southeastern (HSE) Schools Superintendent Allen Bourff told school board members last Wednesday night that his "preferred" grades K-8 redistricting plan is the recommendation he is making to the board and he will not change that recommended map. It is now up to the HSE School Board to decide what to do about drawing new district lines for HSE Schools because the board has the final say.

There were 25 people that addressed the board, with all but one critical of the "preferred" redistricting plan.

Some parents pointed to the emphasis the school corporation has put on mental health, arguing their child will have mental health issues as a result of the change in schools. Many parents asserted that the distance between a home and the new school, compared to the school their child is now attending. will increase.

The major question is where the board goes from here after listening to all these comments. Since Dr. Bourff has said this is his final recommendation, it is now up to the board to come up changes.

There was a proposal made to hold board work session at 6:30 a.m. on Thursday, Dec. 6, but Board President trating the "preferred" redistricting plan Matt Burke says there is no guarantee recommended by Superintendent Bourff, that meeting will be held. It appears this is the only opportunity board members

> Burke says it is important that the community know before the Dec. 12 meeting about any changes the board may be contemplating.

The bottom line is this: There will be with any changes, if there are a vote on redistricting on Dec. 12, and it will take at least four school board votes to enact any grades K-8 redistricting plan.

Help Hamilton Humane Society by buying book

The REPORTER

Noblesville resident, author and Reporter columnist receive Sharon McMahon would like to remind readers that her book, "Sweetie's Scars: A Journey of Hurt, Hope and Healing" is still available on Amazon.

"I wrote this book to both commemorate my dog Sweetie, and to bring attention to the plight of dogs such as Sweetie who are often mistreated and left abandoned," McMahon said. "Sweetie was a lucky dog in many respects as we were able to get to her before she succumbed to her injury, and we were beyond blessed to have her in our lives for many years. Many dogs are not this lucky, and end up living fearful and sad lives."

McMahon indicates that all royalties received from the proceeds of the book are donated to the "Sweetie Rainbow Fund" which she established with the Humane Society of Hamilton County. The special fund helps to offset the steep costs of medical treatment and needs of senior dogs and cats which are brought into the shelter.

Hamilton Heights' Angel Tree helps make Christmas bright

The REPORTER

"Every child should have a gift to open on Christmas morning," said Linda Morris, guidance office registrar, who along with Whitney Gray, Hamilton Heights High School assistant principal, spoke on Hamilton Heights School Corporation's long-standing Angel Tree Program at a recent meeting of the Cicero Kiwanis Club.

The local club has been a supporter of the program for many years, allocating funds to support the corporation's efforts to help make Christmas brighter for district children who could face a bleak holiday season because of hardships experienced by their parents or grandparents. Morris has been spearheading the Angel Tree program at the middle school for more than a decade, and Gray, in charge of the high school's program since 2012. Together a tag and shop for specific they work closely with Angel Tree program coordinators at the elementary and purchased to the building primary schools.

The program, started many years before Morris nations and any remaining joined the middle school tags and spends a day shop-staff in 2006, was designed to ensure children in need would have new toys and clothing at Christmas.

Families who could benefit through the Angel Tree program are initially identified by school counselors. Letters are sent to these families to see if they are interested. If so, they complete a form with the names, ages, gender and interests of children under 18 in the household.

Each school building sets up at least one tree (after Thanksgiving break through Dec. 6). Holiday themed-shaped tags identifying participating families by number only with age, gender and interests of children within the household are placed on the tree. James Robert "JB" Massingill March 11, 1975 – November 26, 2018

dan, passed away unexpectedly at his home in Mulberry, Ind., on Monday evening, November 26, 2018. Born in Noblesville on March 11, 1975, he was the son of Chuck Massingill and Tina (Freeman) Massingill-Railer.

JB was very dedicated, and also very successful at everything he did in his life. A majority of the time, that tends to lend itself to somewhat of an inflated ego, but not with JB. About as humble a man as you would ever want to know, JB, along with those closest to him, knew his accomplishments, and that was just fine with him. A 1993 graduate of Sheridan High School, he was proud to be a Blackhawk. JB was a player on the 1992 Class A State Champion football team. He was a true team player. You never heard him boast about laying out one of Ritter's defensive players, allowing what turned into Sheridan's only TD of the game. In addition to football, JB was a power lifter. In 1990, when he was just 15 years old, he broke the National High School Bench Press record at the National Weight Lifting Championships. That's something most people would brag about, but not JB.

A true outdoorsman, JB made hunting and fishing look as easy as riding a bike. He usually did fairly well when he was out hunting for deer and turkey, but when he went bass fishing, it was on a whole other level. He loved every aspect of it; the science of finding the best spots, making the perfect lures, telling stories about your secret fishing holes, and the peacefulness of just sitting, sometimes by yourself Ashlyn and Justin Lipscomb; as well as other special famand sometimes with good friends, just waiting for them to ily members. Carey was preceded in death by her mother, start biting. As much as JB loved bass fishing, he loved his family and friends more. Sitting around the fire pit with the people he loved most was about as close to heaven as you could get; if his nieces and nephews were there, it was even better. Everyone seemed to be family in JB's eyes. He never seemed to know a stranger. If you needed help, JB was always there to lend a hand. It didn't matter if he had known you for decades or met you five minutes ago, if you needed help, JB would never tell you no. After attending ITT Tech, JB worked for over 25 years as a machinist for Lake Erie Screw in Frankfort. He was a member of the N.R.A., the KV. Elliott Post 67 Sons of the American Legion, the Bass Masters, and just about every Bass Club you could find in Frankfort, Clinton County or Central Indiana. JB is survived by his father, Chuck Massingill; his mother and step-father, Tina Massingill-Railer and Dave Railer; maternal grandmother, Vonna Lois Freeman; one son, Hunter Ray Massingill (fiancée Mackenzie Dietz), West Lafayette; one brother, Bill Massingill (Rachel), Thorntown; three step-brothers, Michael Holman (Rachelle), Frankfort, Alan Railer, Sheridan, and Barry Railer of Sheridan; his former wife, Brandy Sammons Massingill of Burlington; and his nieces and nephews, Madison Massingill, Alexa Massingill, Georgia Massingill, Alyssa Railer, Lauren Railer, Camden Massingill, Gavin Railer, Dakota Sammons, Montana Holman and Maverick Holman, who were his pride and joy. He was preceded in death by his step-mother, Teresa Lynn "Terri" Massingill; sister-in-law, Sabrina Plunkett; mother-in-law, Rhonda Kelley; half-brother, Ray Massingill; paternal grandparents, Luther and Vergie Massingill; maternal grandfather, Robert "Bob" Freeman; and by his canine BFF, his rat terrier RED.

Betty J. Olson June 2, 1930 – November 6, 2018

Betty J. Olson, 88, formerly of Sheridan, passed away peacefully at her home in Downers Grove, Ill., on Tuesday, November 6, 2018. Born June 2, 1930 in Sheridan, she was the daughter of the late Newton and Thelma (Barker) Presley.

Betty was a graduate of Sheridan High School and enjoyed a wonderful career as a secretary for both the Argonne National Laboratory and George Williams College. She was a member of the Downers Grove First United Methodist Church, taking great joy in her many years of fellowship and service with the First United Methodist Women.

Anyone who knew Betty knew that she had many things that she was passionate about, however, there were a few that really captured her spirit and personality. First was her love of animals. There was hardly ever a time in her life that Betty didn't have a recently adopted dog or just a neighborhood stray that she was spoiling rotten. If there is a special place in heaven for those who care for unloved animals, Betty will surely have a reserved seat. There were two other activities that Betty held dear, and those were tending to her flower beds and seeing just how much of Indiana she could physically move back to Illinois. Every trip that Betty would make to Indiana, no matter what the occasion, always had to include a stop (usually multiple stops) to various fields around the area looking for discarded field rocks. She would fill up whatever vehicle she was in, literally, and head back to Illinois with new decorations and borders for her well cared for flower beds. If the D.O.T. knew what she was up to, they would have made her pull into the weigh stations for sure. Last but certainly not least on this list is her family. Betty loved her family, animals and all, more than they will ever know.

Betty is survived by her two loving sons, Gregory Olson and Garry (Phyllis) Olson, both of Downers Grove, Ill.; her sister, Naoma Stiles of Heath, Texas; and by her brother, Robert Presley who lives in the Indianapolis community of New Augusta.

She was preceded in death by her parents; and by her sister, Virginia Hollingsworth.

Private family services are being planned. Betty will be laid to rest at Crown View Cemetery in Sheridan.

Arrangements have been entrusted to Kercheval Funeral Home in Sheridan.

NOBLESVILLE - In its 10th game of the season, the Hamilton Southeastern girls basketball team reached the 10-win mark.

The Royals kept their undefeated campaign going Wednesday night with a 65-31 Hoosier Crossroads Conference win over Noblesville at The Mill. Southeastern had to battle in the first half, but began to get going in the second half, cruising through and solidifying its place atop the to four points in the first three quarters, but HCC standings at 3-0.

The Millers had an early 9-5 lead on the Royals in the first quarter, with senior Maddie Knight scoring all nine of those Noblesville points, and Amaya Hamilton scoring all five of HSE's points. Southeastern started to roll in the later minutes of the first, finishing the period on a 9-0 run. Jackie Maulucci and Bailee Poore each 3-pointers.

The Royals began to slowly edge ahead in the second quarter, extending their lead to 25-14 by halftime. Maulucci drained another 3, while Hamilton added another three points (free throw and putback).

Then, everybody started to get hot: Malea Jackson hit two noting that her team missed shots in the 3s, and Tayah Irvin drained one. Maulucci's layin gave the Royals a 46-23 lead; Southeastern scored 21 points in the third and never allowed Noblesville more than nine in any quarter.

"In the second half, we talked to the kids about what we should do, how to attack it and everything," said Royals coach Chris Huppenthal. "We just settled down."

"Beyond that, defensively, I wasn't happy with how we played at all," said Huppenthal. "I think they did a great job back-cutting us, being patient in their offense, and we did not defensively guard the ball in front of us very well. And again, we didn't handle their back-cuts very well."

The Millers held HSE's Sydney Parrish she got going in the fourth period by scoring 13 points. That gave Parrish 17 points, tying her with Maulucci for Southeastern high-scoring honors. Maulucci had five 3-pointers.

"Jackie can hit shots," said Huppenthal. "They left her open, they were going to allow her to shoot it. She can do that."

Hamilton scored 13 points, corralled nine rebounds and dished out five assists, while Parrish pulled eight rebounds.

Knight continued to play well for the Millers throughout the game. She hit her second 3 of the contest in the fourth quarter, and wound up leading all scorers with 20 points. Knight also grabbed six

I can personally say that Teachers should also only school is way too stressful. be allowed to assign two There have been days to the or less items of schoolwork point that I'm extremely a week. It would improve exhausted and I just want to sleep my problems away. I go to school eight hours a day for five days a week. In those eight hours, I am constantly thinking and doing school work. After school, I go home to spend another hour or more doing homework, as well as studying for upcoming tests. In my opinion, that's too much schedules and causing tons stress. All of that stress of stress. Another factor is causes me to be irritated, overwhelmed and overall in a bad mood. School causes too much stress and takes a toll on teens' health.

According to thehill. com, "On average, teens reported their stress level was 5.8 on a 10 point scale, compared to 5.1 for adults." For teens, the main reported source of stress was school. Teens spend eight hours a day in school; therefore, teachers shouldn't assign loads of homework. Teens are dedicating too much time to school-related things, causing us to not have enough relaxation time. Teachers know that we have a life outside of school, so why do they choose to give us a bunch of homework? I feel that someone should come up with a solution. For example, teachers should communicate with one another as to when they are assigning schoolwork.

that play a role in teens' stress, one factor being time management. It's hard to balance school, home activities, peer activities and more. It's also challenging to balance several subjects and workloads. It ends up overloading our fear. According to huffpost. com, fear is a great factor in teens' lives. "Fear of not getting into a college, fear of not getting financial support, fear of not shining in college or high school so that you're employable. Fear is a powerful motivator, but it also creates and generates tremendous amounts of stress."

there are ways to minimize stress and cope with school. For example, one way is learning to change your thinking. According to the huffpost.com, "You cannot get stressed out unless you believe your thoughts. All stress is precipitated by stressful thinking." Another way to manage stress is to lower your goals by a little bit. Don't slack off but also don't create goals just to set yourself up for disappointment or failure. Set a goal to make yourself feel satisfied by your performance. You'll achieve much more. In conclusion, school is the main source of stress for teens. It not only affects how we act and feel; it affects how long we sleep, how much we eat, and more. The pressures of school work, family life, social life, and more combined results in teens being even more stressed than ever before. Although there are ways to de-stress, it can be hard to handle everything. Too much stress can lead to bigger problems. Everyone knows that it's hard to manage a lot of stress, so why not make things easier?
