Don't miss Stocking Stuffer Saturday at Carmel City Center

The REPORTER

Participating businesses at Carmel City Center will offer special promotions and a sampling of holiday treats while you shop on Saturday, Dec. 8.

Visitors can stock up on the perfect stocking stuffer gifts for everyone on their list from 14 Districts Weekend, Addendum, Bath Junkie, The Bike Line, Carmel Tailoring & Fine Clothier, Endeavor Boutique, J. Benzal Menswear, Lantz Collective, Linden Tree Gifts, Oliver's Twist, Out of the Blue Polish Pottery & Gifts, Silver Door Boutique Spa and Uplift Intimate Apparel.

Visitors can also 'Enter to Win' three $75 gift certificates while they shop at Addendum, Bath Junkie and Oliver's Twist during Stocking Stuffer Saturday. Carmel City Center offers an array of options for shopping – men's and women's apparel, fine jewelry, home gifting, salon and spa services, intimate apparel and fitness gear and apparel.

Santa Claus will also make an appearance at Carmel City Center on two occasions once again this December. Children of all ages can visit with Santa from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. this afternoon at Carmel City Center's taproom and restaurant, Books & Brews, 61 W. City Center Drive.

Santa will make another appearance next week from 5 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 13 at the paper and gift shop, Oliver's Twist, 800 S. Range Line Road, Suite 255, Veterans Way. Parents are encouraged to bring their cameras to capture the special moment. Santa will bring an early present to all children after their visit with him, while supplies last.

"We welcome children and families as they visit with Santa and shop for the perfect gifts during Stocking Stuffer Saturday. We hope visitors will enjoy all that Carmel City Center has to offer this holiday season," said Melissa Averitt, senior vice president at Pedcor Companies.

Carmel City Center is located at the southwest corner of City Center Drive and Range Line Road. Surface parking is available on plaza level (accessible from City Center Drive), in the underground garage (accessible from Range Line Road as well as City Center Drive) and in the newly opened Veterans Way garage.

For more information, visit carmel-citycenter.com.

Officials deem threat at WHS not credible

The REPORTER

On Wednesday, officials at Westfield High School found graffiti on a bathroom stall was later deemed non-threatening. However, according to school officials, the graffiti indicated a threat of blowing up the school.

An investigation conducted by the Westfield Police Department identified the suspect as a student.

The school district issued the following statement after the discovery:

"Today Westfield High School administrators were made aware of graffiti on a WHS bathroom stall containing threatening language. WHS administrators and Westfield Police Department (WPD) have investigated this incident. We want to reassure our Rocks family that the safety of our staff and students is our top priority. After a thorough investigation, there is no evidence to deem this threat credible. This type of activity in our schools will not be tolerated. WPD is always on site and will continue to operate as they do each and every day."

Fishers Nickel Plate District named state cultural district

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

It was just a few months ago when the City of Fishers applied to the State of Indiana, asking the downtown Nickel Plate District receive a special designation. The Indiana Arts Commission wasted no time in approving the Fishers area a statewide cultural district.

This is on the heels of Nickel Plate Arts recognizing Fishers as the Emerging Arts Champion of the Year.

"We are thrilled to receive this recognition from the Indiana Arts Commission," said

Leah McGrath, Fishers' Deputy Mayor in a city news release. "This is such an exciting moment for our community. This designation signifies not only our commitment to advancing arts and culture in Fishers, but is also recognition of the vibrancy and cultural significance of the Nickel Plate District. The Statewide Cultural District designation helps to further root the Nickel Plate District and will guide decisions with community programming, architecture, public art, and more."

Last August, the Fishers City Council adopted an ordinance to create a local Arts & Culture Commission, which will partner with city departments on arts events. The commission will begin operations next month.

Why investing in the arts is an investment in your community

I had a conversation the other day with a Carmel resident who was asking about why the City of Carmel spends so much on the arts.

To them, the arts were a luxury and not worth spending a lot of public money.

I patiently listened to her thoughts but I also shared my viewpoint.

To me, spending on the arts is a way to invest in economic development. Communities that support the arts tend to attract interesting restaurants and boutique retail stores. They attract new residents, many of them millennials who are coveted by employers hungry for new employees. And they give our community character. All of these things in turn attract corporate headquarters which helps pay taxes that support the quality of life for the area.

There are a lot of strategies for economic development. Many cities use sports. The City of Indianapolis invested in the Pan Am Plaza decades ago as a way to attract sporting events and Mayor Bill Hudnut famously took a major risk by building a stadium for an NFL team before the Colts were lured to town. His gamble paid off and Indianapolis has reaped the benefits of having NBA and NFL franchises.

Unfortunately, the game has changed and major sports teams now hold all of the leverage when it comes to negotiating deals. If cities don't give sweetheart deals when it comes to new stadiums then NFL, MBA and MLB teams often threaten to leave and relocate elsewhere. Often the threats become reality and another city throws ridiculous incentives in order to lure them away. The effect of losing a major sports team is horrendous economically but the cost of keeping one can be pricey too.

ADAM AASEN

Even if a city can successfully keep a major team, there are factors beyond a mayor's control. A winning or losing season can mean millions of dollars difference for a city. A mayor can't control whether a general manager drafts well or whether a coach calls the right plays but a championship season can mean a huge infusion of cash economically. And frequent losing years can mean empty stadiums, quiet bars and vacant hotels.

By using the arts as an economic development tool, a municipality doesn't have to worry about a team leaving to move to another city. They don't have to worry about wins or losses. The ball is in their own court, so to speak.

Sure, the average person spends less money on the arts than they do on sports. In 2017, there was $56 billion spent on attending sporting events alone in the United States, more than $100 billion if you include all spending on sports. Worldwide - not just in the U.S. - only $63 billion was spent on the arts in 2017. North America made up a third of that number. So it's a smaller amount for sure, but the study doesn't include the multiplier effect of arts spending, such as people going out to eat before an arts show or concert. It doesn't include someone who stopped at a clothing store after traveling to an area to check out some art.

In addition, we also have to evolve our definition of art. It doesn't just mean painting and sculptures and plays. It also means concerts and movies and fashion and more. Art really is anything that uses creativity to express an idea.

And it's a tool to attract new restaurants and give cities throughout Hamilton County their own unique identity. Adam Aasen is a co-owner of Donatello's Italian Restaurant and a former journalist who lives in Carmel. His column "Carmel Convo" will appear twice each month in The Reporter.

Come out for Art Drop Carmel today

The REPORTER

Art Drop Carmel returns for the second time in 2018. All artists in Carmel – from students and professionals, painters and cartoonists, sculptors and illustrators, animators and fine artists, photographers and printmakers or musicians with CDs – are encouraged to participate Saturday.

It's simple: Hide your artistic creations around the Carmel Arts & Design District and then provide picture clues of where to find art by using social media. Include #artdropcarmel in your posts to allow others to search for your art. If you plan to hide art, register at myartdrop.com where you can also find more information.

Live music will fill galleries throughout the District during the IU Health North Hospital Second Saturday Gallery Walk. Dine at one of your favorite local eateries then stroll through the beautiful new exhibits at nine of our galleries. Begin your evening by picking up a Scavenger Hunt Clue Sheet at All Things Carmel for your chance to win great prizes.

Special gallery exhibits will be featured throughout the Gallery Walk including:

- Art on Main Gallery and Gifts is featuring 12

x 12 inch works by all of their two dimensional artists which make the perfect gifts. There are a variety of subjects including holiday, abstracts, floral and landscapes, people and living creatures. Art on Main will also feature smaller art including glass snowmen, glass birds, hanging pendants, pottery items including mugs and dipping oil bowls and smaller oil paintings and fine art photos. Randall Scott Harden and several other artists will offer smaller holiday works of art on easels with special pricing. There will be treats and door prizes during the Gallery Walk. (111 W. Main St., #140)

- Art Lab will be open during the Second Saturday Gallery Walk. The month of December will showcase the work of teaching artists Deb Kolp and Sofiya Inger. Director Maren Bell will also have work on display. Visit during the Gallery Walk for free coffee and sweets to enjoy. (31 E. Main St., #300; enter via 37 E. Main St.)

- Indiana Artist Elves have been busy creating art and gifts for the holidays at CCA Gallery. They will be featuring an All Gallery Holiday Show throughout the remainder of December. (111 W. Main St., #135)

- In December, the Carmel Arts Council Children's Art Gallery will feature student art from the Carmel Arts Council's Winter Art Contest as well as artwork from Mohawk Trails Elementary and all new artwork from the CCS middle schools and Carmel High School. (40 W. Main St.)

- Soori Gallery features paintings, bronze and acrylic sculptured works by leading American and international artists. Featured sculptors include Michael Wilkinson, Frederick Hart, Jerry Joslin and more. (33 E. Main St.)

Activities taking place during the Gallery Walk include:

- Free caricatures and face painting by BlendIt-BlendIt by Claire Hockman (inside Sub Zero Ice Cream, 111 W. Main St., #130).

- The free Carmel Holiday Trolley runs from 2 to 9 p.m. with stops in the Arts & Design District, City Center and the Christkindlmarkt/Ice at Center Green.

- Free musical entertainment throughout the district. Dianna Davis will play at Magdalena Gallery of Art, Kassey King will perform at Donatello's Italian Restaurant and Circle City Steel will be at The Olive Mill.

- Be a part of the Scavenger Hunt that will lead you to find select pieces of art or items of interest in each of the participating galleries and businesses. Begin the hunt at All Things Carmel (110 W. Main St., #104). Your completed Scavenger Hunt clue sheet will enter you for a chance to win one of several great prizes sponsored by Carmel Health and Living during the Gallery Walk, including:

- Raku Artistic Bowl by Jeremy Diller ($50 value)

- Three Sylvia Gray Designs one-of-a-kind scarves ($100 value each)

- IU Health North Hospital fleece throw ($20 value)

- Papa Fattoush gift card ($25 value)

- "Now you can grow" greeting card ($10 value)

- Rita Jackson clay bird pin ($15 value)

A map of the gallery locations and more information about the IU Health North Hospital Gallery Walk activities can be found at CarmelArtsAndDesign.com.

Thinking about moderation during holiday indulgences

"He that eats till he is sick must fast till he is well."
 – English proverb

At the risk of incurring disdain from my readers based on the above quote, please know that I realize that holiday fare looms close at hand and it is not my intention to suggest that we do not indulge in the many delicious dining options which appear at this special time.

After a summer season of local, fresh options for fruits and vegetables we begin the fall and holiday season feeling pretty good about our nutritional choices. Most of us are more active in the summer as well so we usually are feeling healthy and fit.

For me, the Christmas season brings sugar cookies, cheeseballs and crackers, dips, sauces and more! Honestly, I think I have put on about five pounds just writing this article! Baking for loved ones, friends and neighbors, going out to dinner to celebrate the season, and enjoying those "comfort foods" we all love are traditions which may be very important to you and yours and should be filled with joy and happiness.

As a nutrition and wellness coach, I believe it is important to enjoy items that you may not ordinarily eat during the rest of the year – "feasting" is one word for it. Deprivation is never the answer and we have all heard – and know, actually – that moderation is the key to success. Have one cookie instead of three; a half-piece of pie instead of the usual piece; less gravy on those mashed potatoes, etc. Moderation does make a difference! Additionally, don't forget to snack on the fresh veggies before you go out to eat or join the family for a big dinner.

My quote at the beginning of this article

SHARON McMAHON

includes a reference to a "fast" and in a later article I will address fasting and considerations of fasting. In the meantime, enjoy your holiday "feasts" within reason and while paying attention to any health issues and concerns. Vary your special goodies with healthy, fresh, vitamin-rich items in order to feel better, look better and be well!

Let us also remember during this time of holiday joy and feasting that there are many in our communities who are in need of nutritious food items – let's stock the food pantries with items you would wish to serve your families. Remember that many school children are unable to access food items provided through our school systems during the holiday break and those families need our help.

Additionally, pick up some dog food/cat food (use coupons!) while grocery shopping to add to your food pantry donations. Sadly there are people who sometimes give up their pets because they cannot afford to feed them or even those who feed their pets "people" food while they themselves go hungry. (And please, no chocolate for the furry family members!) Thank you for your generosity!

Warmest wishes and blessings from my home to yours this holiday season,
Sharon McMahon, CNWC

Consider these New Year's financial resolutions

As the year winds down, you may want to look ahead to see which areas of your life you can improve in 2019. Perhaps you'll decide to exercise more, eat healthier foods, reconnect with old friends or volunteer at a school or charitable organization. All these goals are certainly worthwhile – but you also may want to add some New Year's financial resolutions to your list.

COREY SYLVESTER
Cicero Edward Jones

employer-sponsored retirement plans. For 2019, you can contribute up to $19,000 (up from $18,500 in 2018), or $25,000 (up from $24,500 in 2018) if you're 50 or older to your 401(k) or similar employer-sponsored retirement plan. It's usually a good idea to contribute as much as you can afford to your employer's plan, as your contributions may lower your taxable income, while any earnings growth is tax-deferred. (Keep in mind that taxes are due upon withdrawal, and withdrawals prior to age 59 1/2 may be subject to a 10 percent IRS penalty.) At a minimum, put in enough to earn your employer's matching contribution, if one is offered.

Try to "max out" on your IRA. Even if you have a 401(k) or similar plan, you can probably still invest in an IRA. For 2019, you can put in up to $6,000 in a traditional or Roth IRA (up from $5,500 in 2018), or $7,000 (up from $6,500) if you're 50 or older. (Income restrictions apply to Roth IRAs.) Contributions to a traditional IRA may be tax-deductible, depending on your income, and any earnings growth is tax-deferred. Roth IRA contributions are not deductible, but earnings growth can be withdrawn tax-free, provided you don't start taking withdrawals until you are 59 1/2 and you've had your account at least five years. You can put most types of investments – stocks, bonds, mutual funds, government securities and so on – into an IRA, so it can expand your options beyond those offered in your 401(k) or similar plan.

Build an emergency fund. Try to build an emergency fund containing three to six months' worth of living expenses, with the money held in a low-risk, liquid account. This fund can help you avoid dipping in to your long-term investments to pay for unexpected costs, such as a major car repair.

Control your debts. Do what you can to keep your debts under control. Ultimately, the less you have to spend on debt payments, the more you can invest for your future.

Don't overreact to financial market volatility. In 2018 – especially the last few months of the year – we saw considerable market volatility, with huge drops and big gains in rapid succession. What will 2019 bring? It's always difficult – and usually futile – trying to forecast the market's performance over the course of an entire year. But, in any case, try not to overreact to whatever ups and downs we may experience. Instead, continue pursuing an investment strategy that's appropriate for your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon.

Following these suggestions can help you become a better investor in 2019 – and beyond.

Boost contributions to your employer-sponsored retirement plan. Good news! Contribution limits will be increasing for many

Coyotes are more active during winter season

The REPORTER

Because winter can be a busy time for coyotes, DNR biologists say people can expect to see more of them in the coming months, but not to be alarmed.

"Most young coyotes leave their parents to start looking for new homes during winter. In addition, coyote breeding season starts in January, and coyotes may be more mobile during that time as well," said Megan Dillion, DNR south region urban biologist.

Coyotes are common to Indiana, including areas where people gather. It is normal for them to show up not only in rural environments, but also in urban areas.

"Coyotes thrive near people because they like to eat the rodents and rabbits that thrive near people, so seeing them in urban areas happens pretty regularly and is not unusual," said Geriann Albers, DNR furbearer biologist.

As a result, coyotes are an important part of Indiana's environment, helping to control rodent populations and cleaning up dead animals.

Coyotes' main diet consists of rodents and rabbits, but they will eat almost anything, including fruit, insects, pet food and garbage. That's why it's important to keep garbage secure, make sure pet food is not left outside and make sure fruit from trees is picked up.

"Coyotes may be attracted to bird feeders because mice and squirrels will hang around bird feeders. If you start seeing a coyote and you have bird feeders up, taking them down for a few weeks may encourage a coyote to move on," said Jessica Merkling, DNR north region urban biologist.

If you see a coyote and want it to go away, try to make it uncomfortable. Yell, wave your arms, spray it with a hose, or throw tennis balls or small stones – but don't throw anything that it may construe as food. Noisemakers such as a jar of coins or a small air horn can also scare away coyotes and are therefore good to carry when venturing out.

Never corner or chase a coyote. Make sure they always have a clear path to get away from you.

Learn more about coyotes at wildlife.IN.gov/5688.htm.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And they that passed by railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Ah, thou that destroyest the temple, and buildest it in three days, Save thyself, and come down from the cross. Likewise also the chief priests mocking said among themselves with the scribes, He saved others; himself he cannot save. Let Christ the King of Israel descend now from the cross, that we may see and believe. And they that were crucified with him reviled him. And when the sixth hour was come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour. And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani? which is, being interpreted, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, said, Behold, he calleth Elias. And one ran and filled a sponge full of vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink, saying, Let alone; let us see whether Elias will come to take him down. And Jesus cried with a loud voice, and gave up the ghost. And the veil of the temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom.

Elsie May Gordon

November 3, 1924 – December 2, 2018

Elsie May Gordon, 94, Sheridan, formerly of Home Place, passed away on Sunday morning, December 2, 2018 at Majestic Care of Sheridan.

For Elsie, there was nothing more important in her life than her family. She was fortunate enough to be able to stay at home and raise her children. As her children grew older and started to have families of their own, she was overjoyed to become a grandmother. This gave her the chance to do it all over again. Elsie loved being a part of their lives on a daily basis. You could say that she was kind of a homebody, and that was just fine with her. She was quite content taking care of her husband, and keeping house.

When she carved out a little time for herself, Elsie liked to sit down with a good book, do a little knitting and arrange (and rearrange) her angel collection, along with whatever else ended up on her whatnot shelf.

Elsie is survived by her two sons, Sonny J. Gordon (Treena), Sheridan, and Johnny L. Gordon, Home Place; her daughter, Linda K. Milburn (Earl), Home Place; two grandchildren, Robert Eldridge (Brandy) and Matthew Eldridge (Sadie); and four great-grandchildren, Morgan, Lucas, Landon and Spencer Eldridge.

She was preceded in death by her sister, Edna Marie; and by her husband, Harold F. Gordon in 1985.

Private family services are being planned for a later date.

Elsie will be laid to rest at Carmel Cemetery.

Arrangements have been entrusted to Kercheval Funeral Home of Sheridan.

No. 2 Carmel edges Noblesville in barn-burner at The Mill

By CRAIG ADKINS

Friday night's meeting between two of Hamilton County's longest boys basketball rivals would mark the 124th time on the hardwood.

This particular battle would live up to the expectations of the rivalry and more. Carmel came into the game leading the series overall, 62 wins to Noblesville's 61. That defines a rivalry, to say the least.

It was a game that would include nine ties and three lead changes, and fans sure got their money's worth as Carmel wound up edging Noblesville in the final minute, 45-40.

"It's a game that every year, you can count on it being one of these types of games. We knew coming in that it was going to be a dogfight," said Carmel head coach Ryan Osborn on the rivalry between Carmel and Noblesville.

"We gave ourselves a chance tonight. With our effort, with our focus and our intensity, I thought we executed well at the end of the second quarter," said Noblesville head coach Brian McCauley on his team's effort on Friday night against Carmel.

The Millers took an early 3-0 lead on Zack Johnson's 3-pointer from the top of the key, but the Greyhounds struck right back to tie it 3-3 on Karsten Windlan's 3 from the top on Carmel's end.

Johnson nailed another from the right corner and then Luke Heady knocked one down from the right corner for 6-6 and from that point on, it was obvious that this game would go down to the wire at the rate it was going.

"They came out and they hit some tough shots early and kind of got the momentum early and I thought that was big. The ability to do that, I think, sustains it for the game," Osborn continuing on Noblesville's execution throughout.

Noblesville got one of two four-point first quarter leads when Jordan Schmidt canned a 17-foot jumper just beyond the free throw line and then Alex Hunt maneuvered around defenders to put a reverse layup off the glass for a 10-6 Miller lead. The Millers would extend it again to four points at 12-8 on a Xavier Hines 18-footer.

Carmel found a way to tie it for the third time in the period by going on an 8-4 run to close out the first eight minutes tied at 14-14. Freshman Pete Suder broke the tie quickly putting his second bucket off the board. But, Noblesville knotted the game again at 16-16 from two more by Alex Hunt and took the lead again on a mini spurt of their own.

Hines made his second field goal, followed by Schmidt sinking all three attempts from the charity stripe that gave the Millers their biggest lead of the game at 21-16. Andrew Owens drained a trey from the left corner and Butler-commit 6'10 senior John Michael Mulloy grabbed an offensive rebound and in a split second, sailed to the hoop for a put-back dunk, tying the game 21-21.

The next four points for Carmel would be Mulloy free throws, getting the Greyhounds back on top 25-23 with seconds left until halftime.

The Millers were looking for the best shot possible on the final possession of the half and they couldn't have drawn it up any better.

Eagan Keever-Hill swished a 3 from the left wing as time expired, sending Noblesville into halftime with a 26-25 lead.

"We had to talk about some adjustments," said Osborn, referring to what Carmel needed to do to be more productive offensively.

Those adjustments helped Carmel outscore Noblesville in the third, 10-7, and also gave them what it took to hold off the feisty Millers.

"Offensively, I thought we were pretty stagnant in the first half. We didn't have much movement and when we did move, it was slow movement," stated Osborn on Carmel's offense in the first half.

Osborn was right. They Greyhounds weren't as fluid on offense throughout the game as they probably expected to be.

Mulloy scored 12 of his 22 in the middle two frames. More importantly for the Greyhounds, came through when it counted.

Johnson helped the Millers tie the game for the ninth time at 30-30, but Robert Fry laid up his only basket to swing it back Carmel's way 32-30.

Xavier Hines took a swing pass from Schmidt and sank his first three of the season for Noblesville's last lead at 33-32.

The senior all-state candidate Mulloy got fouled as he made a layup and the horn sounded to end the third. He made the free throw to give Carmel a 35-33 edge through three.

"The kids did a good job of executing in the second half, getting it inside more in spots where John Michael could finish," said Osborn, satisfied with how Carmel was able to execute in the second half to push to the win.

Noblesville played tremendous defense and deserves a lot of credit for keeping the game close, but it came down to free throws.

The Greyhounds went 8-of-10 and the Millers were 5-of-7 in the fourth at the foul line.

It seemed like Carmel might have been taken by surprise at Noblesville's intensity throughout the game, never giving up.

Noblesville had chances down the stretch, cutting their deficit to two twice on a Johnson driving layup and Eagan Keever-Hill making two of three at the line, along with junior Brendon Fisher making one of two foul shots to make it 39-38.

Mulloy scored six consecutive points for Carmel that made it 41-38 with just over a minute left.

Keever-Hill made a pair of crucial free throws to bring it to 41-40 Carmel. Keever-Hill would foul out with 1:09 left, but Andrew Owens missed both off the back of the iron, leaving Noblesville with a chance to pull off the upset.

The Millers had the ball on the far left baseline with 8.5 seconds left and decided to throw a full court pass that was deflected by Owens and into the hands of Windlan, who was fouled, making both free throws.

Owens would make two more free throws, redeeming his last trip that would ice the game for the final score of 45-40.

"Overall, we gave ourselves a chance and for that I am encouraged by our fight and our competitiveness," said McCauley on his Millers' play overall, sticking with the second-rated 'Hounds from start to finish.

It became a game of who could get to the free throw line more and win the game with the clock stopped. The Greyhounds had a slight advantage there, making 16-of-20, while the Millers managed only half as much, going 8-for-10.

"We capitalized late. It's a free throw battle and for the most part hit some big ones at the end," said Osborn on Carmel getting it done at the free throw line when it counted.

In the end, it was quite the battle in this Hamilton county rivalry series that dates back to 1913. Carmel now owns a 63 to 61 lead in the all-time series.

Noblesville (1-2) gets back to it at The Mill on Saturday as it will host the Anderson Indians (3-1). Anderson won on Friday at Arsenal Tech in overtime, 66-61.

Sheridan boys hold off Clinton Central comeback

By RICHIE HALL

The Sheridan boys basketball team played its home opener on Friday night, and it was an exciting victory for the Blackhawks.

Sheridan beat old rival Clinton Central 50-43. The 'Hawks dominated through the first three quarters, then held off the Bulldogs as they made a big comeback in the fourth period. This also marked a victory for Sheridan in its first Hoosier Heartland Conference game of the season.

"We did what we wanted to do, and that's go 1-0 on the night for the varsity game," said Sheridan coach Chris Schrank. "JV did the same over there. It may not have been the prettiest, but we'll take a win at the end of the night."

Trailing 4-2 in the first quarter, the Blackhawks made their first big run of the game by scoring nine straight points. Caleb Duke had five points in the run, including the game's first 3-pointer.

The Bulldogs bounced back with a 10-0 run, giving them a 14-11 lead early in the second quarter. But Sheridan answered that one with a 13-0 run. Duke contributed eight points, with Drake Delph nailing a 3, and Jesse Kolb rolling a basket in. Kolb would have the half's last score, a layin to give the 'Hawks a 26-16 lead.

Sheridan continued to cruise in the third quarter, which opened with a three-point play from Delph. The Blackhawks led 39-23 after three, and a layin by Kolb at the start of the fourth gave Sheridan its largest lead of the game at 41-23.

Clinton Central came roaring back after that, going on an 18-3 run to get within 44-41. Drew Hosteter hit a 3-pointer, then Spencer Smith poured in 15 points: A three-point play followed by four 3-point baskets.

Duke stopped the run with a free throw, then Nick Burnell made a putback to get the lead back up to 47-41. Two free throws by Nate Martin cut the lead to 47-43, but Duke made 3-of-4 foul shots in a 10-second span to clinch the game.

"I think it's good for these guys to learn to have to play through a little bit of adversity," said Schrank. "Somebody makes a run at you, can you handle that and not fold? And we've had that a couple times. Our first game was that way. It was sloppy, they made a little bit of a run, cut it to five or six, but we finished the way that we needed to. So hopefully, that's something that in the long run is going to pay off."

Duke finished the game with 19 points, with Kolb scoring 13 and Delph 10. Burnell grabbed eight rebounds, with Delph collecting six and Kolb getting five. Sheridan is now 3-0 for the season and plays at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Tipton.

Sheridan girls win scrappy game over Bulldogs

By RICHIE HALL

In the span of one week, the Sheridan girls basketball has changed its fortunes in the Hoosier Heartland Conference - for the better.

The Blackhawks took on Clinton Central as part of a girls-boys doubleheader at Hobbs Hall, and the girls did their part, holding off the Bulldogs in a scrappy 38-35 win. Sheridan's victory moved it to 2-1 in the league.

"We feel better than we did after we were 0-1 to Taylor last week," said Blackhawks coach Jaidlin Delph. "We got one yesterday and then got one tonight, so we're feeling a lot better than we were. We are in such a competitive, tough conference. We're not letting up anytime soon."

The game was close all the way through. Sheridan led 9-5 after the first quarter, with Jillian O'Flaherty and Berkley Williams both hitting 3-pointers. But the Bulldogs allowed the 'Hawks only four points in the second period, closing to within 13-12 at halftime.

Clinton Central took a 14-13 lead at the beginning of the third quarter when Kaylea Whitcomb made two free throws. After that, Sheridan went on a 7-0 run, with Heather Barker scoring all of the points. The 'Hawks led 20-14 at that point, then later led 26-20. But Whitcomb was fouled on a last-second shot at the third-quarter buzzer, and made all three free throws to get CC within 26-23.

The Bulldogs led three times during the fourth quarter. But each time, Barker got the lead back for Sheridan: First with a 3-pointer to put the 'Hawks up 32-31, then a basket off a steal to give Sheridan a 34-33 advantage.

A Barker free throw tied the game at 35-35 tied the game up with 48.5 seconds left. Clinton Central got the ball, but Olivia Raines made a steal. Eventually, Sheridan's Allie Delph was fouled, and she made both her shots for a 37-35 lead.

The Bulldogs had the ball with under 10 seconds to go, but the Blackhawks tied it up for a jump ball to get it back. O'Flaherty was fouled with 2.9 seconds left and made one free throw to seal the game.

"We got some big stops, but we have a lot to work on," said Jaidlin Delph. "A lot of late, last-minute decision making type things that we need to improve on. Hopefully we can do that as the season progresses."

Sheridan's Jillian O'Flaherty works around a Clinton Central defender during the Blackhawks-Bulldogs girls basketball game.

Barker scored 17 points to lead the Sheridan scoring, and reached a double-double by making 10 steals. The Blackhawks had 20 steals as a team, with Allie Delph making four. Olivia Raines collected eight rebounds, with Barker grabbing five.

Sheridan is 6-3 overall and is off until next Friday, when it travels to Eastern to continue HHC play.

Huskies get opening conference victory

Hamilton Heights opened Hoosier Conference East Division play with a 71-44 win over Lewis Cass Friday at the Huskies' gymnasium.

Heights took care of business early, leading 22-11 after the first quarter and 40-18 at halftime. The Huskies poured in another 27 points in the third period, with eight players scoring at least two points.

Gus Etchison led the way with 29 points, including 15 in the first quarter alone. AJ Field added 10 points. Heights had 10 3-pointers as a team, with Etchison draining three, and Field, Cory Vonfeldt and Brent Pennington all making two. Hudson Hochstedler led the rebounding with five. The Huskies totaled 20 assists, with Hochstedler handing out eight, Issiac Hickok dishing out five and Etchison making four. Hochstedler also had four steals.

Heights is 4-1 overall and hosts Delta at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

'Blazers pick up fourth straight win

The University boys basketball team won their fourth game in a row Friday night with a 58-41 win over Bethesda Christian.

Max Greenamoyer led a balanced attack for the Blazers with 12 points. Nate Shatkowski, Jacob Sager and Eric Major each tallied eight points while Joe Martin and Quinn Steiner had six points each.

The Trailblazers never trailed in the game, although the Patriots kept the game close in the first half. University methodically built a 15-8 lead at the end of the first quarter with six different players scoring. Shatkowski's 3-pointer with 4:08 remaining in the half gave University a 22-12 lead, but the Blazers went scoreless for more than three minutes as Bethesda Christian seized momentum and crawled within 22-19.

Steiner swung the momentum back to the home team with a pair of 3-point baskets, the second one a contested shot from the wing at the halftime buzzer that gave University a 28-19 lead.

A pair of baskets from Martin sandwiched a Sager lay-in over the first 90 seconds of the third quarter to put University in front 34-19 and cap a 12-0 run over just 2:20 of game clock. The contest was not in doubt the rest of the game as University's lead swelled to as many as 20 points.

team high honors in rebounds with Sager as each pulled down six caroms. Martin had five steals.

University is next in action tonight as part of a triple-header with Liberty Christian. The boys junior varsity game tips at 5:00 p.m. to be followed by the girls varsity and boys varsity games.

The Trailblazers are 4-1, while the Patriots fall to 1-3.

Royals beat Panthers, stay perfect

Hamilton Southeastern got off to an outstanding start at North Central on Friday, and that carried the Royals to a 73-57 victory over the Panthers.

Southeastern led 24-5 after the first quarter and maintained the lead from there. The Royals were up 41-25 at halftime. Aaron Etherington scored 23 points for HSE, including four 3-pointers.

Noah Smith reached double-double status with 13 assists and 11 points; he also made four steals. Mabor Majak added 11 points and blocked two shots. Chris Grubbs collected seven rebounds, with Kole Hornbuckle pulling six rebounds.

Southeastern is undefeated at 5-0. The Royals will play Culver Academy at 5 p.m. today at the FORUM Tipoff Classic at Southport.

Defense, Bogdanovic, bench play add up to Pacers win

By KYLE GRAND

Courtesy nba.com/pacers

The Pacers picked up another road win after handling the Magic, 112-90, in Orlando. Great defense, Bojan Bogdanovic and strong bench play were the keys to tonight's win.

"Well, it was a team effort," Pacers head coach Nate McMillan said. "We talk about our guys that are not in rotation, working hard to have themselves ready because injuries are going to happen. You've got to be ready to play. Our coaches and our guys, they work hard to prepare themselves for the opportunity, and I thought tonight they stepped up and they played a solid game from start to finish against a very good team."

Bogdanovic scored 21 of his game high 26 points in the first half, and he had it going from the start. He scored eight quick points to stake the Pacers to a 15-12 lead with a little over seven minutes to go in the opening quarter.

The Pacers extended their advantage to nine at the 4:06 mark but the Magic were able to cut into it before the first quarter ended, as the Pacers led by just three, 28-25, heading into the second.

The Pacers' second unit got the team off to a great start in the second period. The group put together a 12-2 run to give Indiana a 40-27 lead and force a Magic timeout with 7:38 left in the half.
