Explosion at Carmel High School injures two

WISH-TV | wishtv.com
An explosion Wednesday at Carmel High School has injured two people, one with severe burns, according to Carmel Fire Department.

Carmel firefighter Tim Griffin, the department spokesman, said a school employee and a contractor had been working on a heater and were attempting to relight it when the explosion occurred. It was not immediately known which person received the severe burns.

Griffin said about 9:45 p.m. that both people were conscious, but he did not know their conditions. They were taken to Sidney & Lois Eskenazi Hospital in Indianapolis.

He said the damage occurred on the second floor near the school's gymnasium and pool. The blast caused "fairly significant

The department said on Twitter that the explosion occurred on the northwest corner of the high school and was believed to have come from a mechanical room where work was being performed. The fire was

The REPORTER

The final numbers are in for this year's Hamilton County Festival of Trees. A record of 210 guests attended the quickly sold-out event that was held last month at the Bridgewater Country Club.

Santa himself auctioned off both a Silent Night visit and a Toy Making visit. Pianist John Cernerio from "GraceNote" welcomed guests as they arrived. Tenth Street Photography had a photo booth for guests.

Executive Director of Good Samaritan Network Nancy Chance received The Circle of Corydon Award from Governor Eric Holcomb for her service to the community. The award was presented by State Senator Victoria Spartz, State Representative Chuck Goodrich and Hamilton County Clerk Kathy Richardson.

A silent auction, new this year, raised approximately $20,000, which contributed to a total of $50,000 raised at the event. The money has been and will continue to be used to help the underserved residents living and working in Hamilton County.

The event organizers would like to thank all guests and the following sponsors for the generosity:

Will Chance is the youngest-ever heart transplant recipient St. Vincent has served.

Noblesville teen gets a new heart

The REPORTER

Nearly 16 years ago, Mike and Kip Chance - then both near 70 years old - were already parents to a 49-year-old son and a 43-year-old daughter. They made the selfless decision to take in and eventually adopt their great-nephew, Will. The Chance family took in Will when he was just four weeks old and officially adopted him as their youngest son when he was 18 months old.

"He's been my baby ever since," said Will's mother, Kip.

In many ways, Will is a typical 16-year-old who has bedroom walls covered in posters and enjoys playing video games online. Will also loves history, especially military history, and has a mind loaded with trivia facts about World Wars I and II.

Will began having some stomach issues in the summer of 2016. After a second trip to the emergency room, an abdominal CT scan was done and they discovered his heart was grossly enlarged. On June 27, 2016, just 12 days after his 14th birthday, Will was diagnosed with severe cardiomyopathy as a result of an unknown virus attacking his heart. It is not known what the virus was or how long ago he contracted it. When the heart damage was discovered, his heart function was at 15 percent and it took up one-third of his chest. While in the PICU at Peyton Manning Children's Hospital he went into full cardiac arrest, suffered a stroke and had a defibrillator/pacemaker placed.

During his 18-day hospital stay at Peyton Manning Children's Hospital, Will 'coded' and was then revived. During that time, he also suffered an acute stroke caused by a blood clot that blocked blood flow in his brain and left him paralyzed on his right side and unable to speak. Due to the care he received and blood thinners, the blood clot that went to his brain and caused his stroke to eventually dissipate. Will soon regained full

Noblesville updates its public GIS map

The REPORTER

The City of Noblesville has released an updated version of its public Geographic Information System map. Designed for residential and business use, this map viewer provides dynamic tools for accessing and manipulating geographic data in Noblesville.

"This new GIS Map will have a different look and feel from the old map," said Noblesville GIS Coordinator Michael Morris. "It was created using the ER-SI's Web AppBuilder and the new map allows for use on tablets and mobile devices, which was not available on the former viewer."

GIS is essentially a computer-based mapping system for capturing, storing, analyzing and managing data that is tied to geographic locations as points, lines or areas. GIS makes it possible to work with multiple information "layers" concerning various geographic features at motion and speech. After he survived the stroke, doctors began taking the necessary steps to secure a healthy heart for Will.

"Thank God for Salerno," said Kip, referring to St. Vincent cardiothoracic surgeon, Dr. Christopher Salerno. "Salerno came in to discuss the heart pump option as a bridge to transplant because doctors didn't think Will's original heart would make it long enough to wait for a heart transplant."

A few months later, in September of 2016, 14-year-old Will became the youngest patient at St. Vincent to receive a mechanical heart pump.

At first, Will was adamant he didn't want a heart transplant. But after giving it more thought, he decided he just wanted to feel normal again without carrying around a heart pump. Will's family notified Dr. Ravichandran of his decision to proceed with steps to find a new heart and Will was put on the list.

A few months ago, on Sept. 21, 2018, Will became the first pediatric patient at St. Vincent and Peyton Manning Children's Hospital to receive a heart transplant.

The Chance family's home phone rang a few days earlier on Sept. 18, 2018 at 8:20 p.m.

"We saw 'Anonymous' show up on the TV screen when the phone rang that night," said Kip. "Will was playing on his computer with his headset on at the time. My husband and I knew this was 'the call.'" Kip and Mike spoke to the voice on the other and then took the phone to Will's room. Kip removed Will's headset and handed him the phone.

Kip described the scene: "Will answered the phone in a very unexcited tone and said, 'Hello?' That's when his cardiologist, Dr. Ashwin Ravichandran, told him, 'I have some awesome news for you ... We found you the perfect heart!' To which Will said [still with an unfazed Ben Stein-like tone], 'Really? How cool.' Of course, at that point, Mike and I are bumping into each other with excitement."

Will was only on the list for two weeks. Five days before he got the transplant, his case was lifted from a 1B (with the pump) to a 1A since he was a pediatric case – which helped to shorten his wait time.

On the day of his operation, the medical team asked him, "Will, do you know why you're here?" Will said, "Yeah ... I'm going to have a minor procedure done." Everyone in the room chuckled.

Will's parents – who are admittedly overprotective – explained to him the risks of the procedure and the very real possibility he may not make it through the operation. Will told his mom and dad, 'It's like this: If I wake up and see the doctors, you and Dad, I'll know I'm in a good place. And if I wake up in heaven in the arms of Jesus, then I'll also know I'm in a good place.'

His mother teared up as she concluded, "Faith and prayer are what got us through this."

What was expected to be a 12-hour surgery only ended up lasting about seven hours. It was over so soon that his parents were initially worried when they saw his surgeon, Dr. Salerno, approach them in the waiting area. He put their minds at ease.

"Dr. Salerno came in and said everything went great and that Will's new heart was perfect," said Kip.

Will is recovering at home where he has home school during the week. He is currently on 30 medications, three of which are immunosuppressants to help his body adjust to its new blood-pumping organ. Visitors must continue to sanitize hands when interacting with him to prevent any infections that could threaten his health with his new heart.

"All the layers are still there from before. You can print a map, search for an

Radio hams invite tech savvy DIYers to program

The REPORTER

Anyone who is a “techie” or do-it-yourself hobbyist (DIYer), electronics tinkerer, amateur radio operator or potential engineer is invited to a presentation at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Jan. 5 at the Hamilton County Emergency Operations Center in Noblesville.

Dr. Ron Sans, an officer of the Central Indiana

Amateur Radio Association (CIARA), will demonstrate and discuss a recent project he completed. The presentation will describe circuit considerations and design and printed circuit layout negative design. Sans will give a detailed description on how to etch printed circuit boards in your home, including photos of components used for etching. He will cover drilling holes in the printed circuit board and the use of recommended specialized tools that help with parts mounting.

The program kicks off the 2019 meeting year of CIARA, which meets at 10 a.m. on the first Saturday of every month. Anyone interested in electronics, getting an amateur radio license or learning more about the many aspects of club activities are welcome to attend this free program.

The Emergency Operations Center is located at the Emergency Management Office in the Hamilton County Sheriff’s campus at 18100 Cumberland Road, Noblesville.

Indy Auto Show kicks off 2018 event

WISH-TV | wishtv.com

The Indy Auto Show is America’s second-longest running auto show and it is happening at the Indiana Convention Center until New Year’s Day.

If you love cars, this is the event to come to. Not only do you get to check out the new model vehicles for 2019, but car manufacturers will feature specialty vehicles.

People can talk with car product specialists and check out the more than 400 vehicles displayed in spectacular exhibits. You can even sit and compare all the 2019 models.

The show is happening now through Jan. 1 at the Indiana Convention Center. Adults can get in for $7 at the door and children age 12 and under are free.

Now through Sunday, everything starts at 10 a.m. and goes until 8 p.m. Then on Monday and Tuesday, it goes from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

The Indiana Blood Center will have one bloodmobile as well as a small, four-bed blood drive set-up inside the auto show space at the convention center.

Brooks’ bipartisan environmental protection bill signed into law

The REPORTER

President Donald Trump has signed into law H.R. 1733 to direct the Secretary of Energy to review and update a report on the energy and environmental benefits of the re-refining of used lubricating oil, a bipartisan bill introduced by Congresswoman Susan W. Brooks (R-Ind.-05), which passed the House on Dec. 12 and the Senate on Dec. 20.

“Our country is already re-refining lubricated oil through a process that rids the oil of harmful contaminants and restores the oil to its original effectiveness,” said Brooks. “I am proud the president signed this bipartisan bill into law because having an up-to-date report of the energy and environmental benefits of re-refined lubricating oil will help Congress work with the private sector in order to ensure we are responsibly and safely helping to reduce waste and benefit American consumers while protecting the environment.”

How to avoid donating to a charity scam

WISH-TV | wishtv.com

The holiday season puts so many people in a giving mood, giving to friends and family, but also giving to charities. Those charitable donations create a chance to be taken advantage of.

“About a third of all personal giving is done around the holidays,” said Tim Maniscalco, president and CEO of the Better Business Bureau of Central Indiana. “Scammers know that, so they’re going to go and they’re going to create fake charity sites, fake websites.”

Maniscalco said scammers will make their websites look like that of recognizable charities or will create made-up charities. Their hope is to tug those holiday heartstrings and get a donation.

“This is the time of year when people are giving a lot of money and they may not be as diligent about checking out a website or checking out something that they want to give to,” Maniscalco said.

Legitimate charities, such as the Indy Public Safety Foundation, work very hard to prove to donors and the government that they are doing things the right way.

“Everything from tracking and logging our yearly revenues and expenditures, we have a tax return, essentially, is what it is that we submit to the IRS to show what money’s coming in, what money’s going out, to prove that we are supporting a public need,” said Dane Nutty, executive director of the Indy Public Safety Foundation.

Nutty said charities are required to share their Form 990 documents with donors, which is a good way to check them out. He also advises using your instincts and doing a sweep of their website before donating.

“If there’s no contact information, they don’t list staff, if it seems like they’re kind of leading you on a rabbit trail in order to get in contact with them, it’s not necessarily that that’s illegitimate, but, at least to me, that would spur me to do a little bit more research,” Nutty said.

Nutty gave these websites as good resources to check out charities:

- Better Business Bureau
- GuideStar
- Charity Watch
- Charity Navigator
- Indiana Secretary of State

Indiana Attorney General Hill supports reinstating citizenship question on 2020 census form

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill has joined a multistate legal brief supporting plans by the federal government to reinstate a citizenship question to the 2020 census questionnaire. The brief was filed in opposition to a lawsuit by 17 other states against the U.S. Department of Commerce, of which the U.S. Census Bureau is part.

Amid other legal complaints, the suing states claim that asking census respondents whether they are citizens denies equal protection by discriminating against racial minorities. Attorneys general of the suing states have described the citizenship question as a tool for intimidating states that welcome immigrants. Such objections amount to baseless rhetoric, Hill said.

"The federal government is well within its rightful authority to ask census respondents whether they are citizens," Hill said. "In fact, a negative response does not necessarily mean that the respondent is here illegally. Those with work or student visas are not U.S. citizens but are here lawfully."

Further, the Census Bureau is statutorily prohibited from sharing any data in which an individual can be identified, Hill noted. Individual responses are considered confidential under the law, withheld even from law enforcement. The value of the census instead lies in the bulk data it provides to policymakers and the public. Regardless of individuals' varying perspectives on immigration policy, Hill said, Americans across the political spectrum should be able to achieve consensus supporting the basic value of collecting demographic information on U.S. residents. "Crafting practical solutions to the millions of illegal immigrants already here," Hill said, "does not require that we abandon the collection of data points, such as citizenship status, that can aid us in developing critical solutions to our many pressing problems."

As part of their complaint, the suing states have attempted to depose U.S. Secretary of Commerce Wilbur Ross and other officials. The brief joined by Indiana opposes such tactics as intrusive depositions of government officials that, if allowed to stand, would encourage increased and unnecessary litigation burdens for state and federal officials.

The Census Bureau included a citizenship question on its "long form" questionnaire from 1970 until the 2010 census. With the discontinuance of this practice in 2010, state legislators have faced the prospect of depending on the less reliable American Community Survey (ACS) for information regarding citizenship.

Click here to read the amicus brief the state of Indiana joined on Friday, Dec. 21.

Gary worked as a superintendent for Gilliatte General Contractors. He had many passions and talents: Harleys, anything with engines that he could wrench, hunting and fishing. Most of all, Gary loved his family, especially his grandsons and his pup, Tucker.

He is survived by his parents, Steven and Karen Swinford, Peru, Ind., formerly of Noblesville; wife of 36 years, Teri Barker Swinford; son, Gary W. (Christin) Swinford, Alexandria, Ind.; sister, Tambrey (Philip) Swackhamer, Cicero; brother, Steven Swinford Jr., Peru, Ind.; brother-in-law and his family, Rick Barker, Noblesville; grandsons, Sidney and Waylon Swinford; future granddaughter, Brailey Swinford; as well as several nieces, nephews, aunts and uncles.

Gary was preceded in death by his son, Dustin Bradley Barker Swinford; sister, Starlea Swinford and mother-in-law, Janet Barker.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. on Saturday, December 29, 2018 at Randall & Roberts Funeral Center, 1685 Westfield Road, Noblesville, with visitation from 11 a.m. to the time of service. Pastor Andy Waite will be officiating.

All thoughts and prayers are deeply appreciated. Everyone is welcome to pay their respects. Come in peace.

Memorial contributions may be made to Randall & Roberts Funeral Center to defray funeral expenses for the Swinford family.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And Mary abode with her about three months, and returned to her own house. Now Elisabeth's full time came that she should be delivered; and she brought forth a son. And her neighbours and her cousins heard how the Lord had shewed great mercy upon her; and they rejoiced with her. And it came to pass, that on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child; and they called him Zacharias, after the name of his father. And his mother answered and said, Not so; but he shall be called John. And they said unto her, There is none of thy kindred that is called by this name. And they made signs to his father, how he would have him called. And he asked for a writing table, and wrote, saying, His name is John. And they marvelled all. And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue loosed, and he spake, and praised God.

Luke 1:56-64 (KJV)

Millers host their own event starting today...

Basketball tournaments make for busy holiday week

Noblesville's Zack Johnson is averaging 16 points per game for the Millers so far this season. Noblesville will host its annual Holiday Tournament, with games starting this morning and running through the championship on Friday night.

The period between Christmas and New Year's Day is a time to relax - unless you're a basketball player.

Several Hamilton County teams will be participating in tournaments over the next three days, so there will be a ton of hoops action in a short amount of time. While most of the events are out of town, there are a couple of nearby tournaments that basketball fans can enjoy.

In fact, there's one right in the middle of the county: The annual Noblesville Holiday Tournament. The Miller boys team will host seven other teams at The Mill in this event, which begins today. The first-round schedule is as follows:

Game 1: Andean vs. Columbus North, 10 a.m.

Game 2: Northridge vs. Noblesville, noon

Game 3: New Albany vs. Crown Point, 2 p.m.

Game 4: Lawrence Central vs. Chesterton, 4 p.m.

The Millers, at 4-4, will take on a Raiders team that is 4-3. Northridge has wins over Elkhart Central 73-57, East Noble 52-47, Goshen 49-42 and South Bend Washington 60-59, in overtime. The Raiders have lost to Westview 60-45, Class 4A No. 7 South Bend Riley 76-66 and Angola 50-37.

Noblesville's wins have come over Shortridge 60-46, Anderson 73-66, Hamilton Heights 62-50 and Taylor 65-37. The Millers have losses to Fishers 54-36, 4A No. 2 Carmel 45-40, Westfield 51-38 and Pike 62-48.

Meanwhile, there will be some good matchups among the other teams. Andean will come into The Mill at 3-3, with Columbus North 5-3. New Albany is 4-2 and Crown Point is 5-1, while 4A No. 4 Chesterton, perfect at 7-0, will take on a 5-2 Lawrence Central team.

Once the first round games are complete, the losing teams will play consolation games at 6 and 8 p.m. to determine who plays for fifth and seventh places. On Friday morning, the semi-finals will be played, with games at 10 a.m. and noon.

The placement games start at 2 p.m. with the seventh-place contest, followed by fifth place at 4 p.m., third place at 6 p.m. and the championship at 8 p.m.

As for other Thursday games, the Fishers boys team will play at the Lebanon Tournament, not too far of a drive for Tigers fans. Fishers takes on Gary 21st Century at 11:30 a.m., after Herron plays Kokomo in the 10 a.m. game. In the evening session, Marquette Catholic will play Perry Meridian at 6 p.m., followed by Lebanon and Greenfield-Central battling it out at 7:30 p.m.

Semi-final and consolation games take place on Friday morning, with the placement games beginning at 4 p.m.

Meanwhile, University's 1A No. 3-ranked girls team travels to Monrovia for the Bulldog Holiday Tournament. The Trailblazers play Traders Point Christian at 2 p.m., after Monrovia takes on South Putnam at noon. The third-place game is at 5 p.m., with the championship game set for 7 p.m.

WEEKEND GAMES

On Friday, the Guerin Catholic and University boys teams will make their annual trip to Vincennes to play in the McDonald's Hoosier Hysteria Tournament.

The teams are on opposite ends of the draw, so they wouldn't see each other until Saturday action. But first things first: The Golden Eagles play Evansville Day at 4 p.m., with the Trailblazers facing off against Borden at 7 p.m. In between, Central Christian takes on Evansville Harrison at 5:30 p.m., while Milan plays host Vincennes Lincoln at 8:30 p.m. Consolation and placement games are set for Saturday.

Four girls teams will be participating in tournaments. A nearby tournament is the North Central Classic, which is where Hamilton Southeastern's 4A No. 2 Royals will play.

Southeastern will take on New Albany at 2 p.m. Friday, this after the 4A No. 5 Panthers play Springboro, Ohio. On Saturday, New Albany plays Springboro at 10 a.m., followed by what will be a marquee matchup between HSE and North Central at noon.

Noblesville will play in the New Palestine Holiday Tournament, taking on Southport at noon. That follows a game between the host Dragons and Greensburg. The third-place game is set for 2 p.m., with the championship at 4 p.m.

Fishers will travel to East Central for the St. Leon Skyline Chili & Haag Ford East Central Holiday Tournament. St. Leon is the small town in which East Central is located, about a half-hour northwest of Cincinnati. Haag Ford is a car dealership in nearby Lawrenceburg and Skyline Chili needs no explanation.

The Tigers will play North Harrison in their first game, which tips off at 2 p.m. Other games are Shelbyville vs. East Central, Monroe Central vs. Seymour and Salem vs. Dixie Heights, Ky. Consolation games take place at 5:30 p.m. that day, with the semi-final and placement games on Saturday.

Guerin Catholic will head north to Tipton for the Lady Devils Holiday Tournament. The Golden Eagles will play two games as part of Pool 1, facing Jennings County at 11 a.m. and Tri-Central at 2:30 p.m.

Other games on the schedule are Richmond-Tipton at 12:45 p.m., Richmond-Reavis, Ill. at 4 p.m., Jennings County-Tri-Central at 5:45 p.m. and Reavis-Tipton, 7:30 p.m. Placement games begin on Saturday afternoon.

ROYAL ROAD TRIP

Hamilton Southeastern's boys team will play in the West Kentucky HOOPS Classic, which takes place today and Friday at Caldwell County High School. The school is in Princeton, Ky., about an hour and 20 minutes southwest of Evansville.

The Royals take on Center Hill High School out of Olive Branch, Miss. (about a half hour south of Memphis) at 6:30 p.m. tonight. Southeastern then faces the Webb School, a private school located in Bell Buckle, Tenn. (about an hour southeast of Nashville) at 5 p.m. Friday.

Much closer to home, Sheridan's girls are scheduled to play back-to-back home games on Thursday against Lapel and on Friday against Tri. The Sheridan boys team will play at Lapel on Friday.

Carmel's girls team will travel to Penn on Saturday for an afternoon game. The Greyhounds were to host Kokomo tonight, but the game was canceled after the explosion at the high school, as was this afternoon's boys game against Anderson.

Eight Pacers reach double figures in win over Atlanta

By WHEAT HOTCHKISS
Courtesy nba.com/pacers

After a two-day break for Christmas, the Pacers returned to action on Wednesday night in Atlanta. There was no holiday hangover for Indiana (23-12), as eight players scored in double figures in a 129-121 win over the Hawks (9-24).

Thaddeus Young led the Blue & Gold with 21 points in the win on 9-of-12 shooting, while Domantas Sabonis added 19 points and eight rebounds.

Tyreke Evans, back in the lineup after missing the last two games with a bruised right knee, added 19 points and five assists, going 7-for-9 from the field and 4-for-4 from 3-point range.

"It felt good just to be back out there with my team," Evans said. "I just wanted to help and I was out there playing the way that I wanted to play and it just felt good tonight."

The Pacers actually got off to a sluggish start on Wednesday, missing their first eight field goal attempts and falling into a 12-2 hole. Indiana finally got its first field goal on Young's layup with 6:55 remaining in the opening frame.

The offense quickly came to life from there. Indiana took a 21-20 lead on Victor Oladipo's three-point play with 3:49 left in the period, part of an 11-0 run by the Blue & Gold.

After their rough start, the Pacers hit 10 of their final 13 field goal attempts in the first quarter and took a narrow 32-31 advantage into the second quarter.

Evans provided a major spark in the second quarter. He scored 12 points in the first four minutes of the frame, knocking down three 3-pointers in that span.

"I thought he was aggressive tonight making plays, made some shots, and defensively he was pretty solid," Pacers coach Nate McMillan said. "We want our guys to be aggressive when they are out there and I thought Tyreke did a good job of attacking tonight."

But the Hawks moved back in front midway through the quarter thanks to a 16-6 run and remained in front for the remainder of the half, taking a 67-64 lead into the break.

Atlanta led for most of the third quarter, but the Pacers closed the frame with a flurry. Cory Joseph hit a 3-pointer from the left corner to tie the game at 85 with 2:35 left in the period, then put Indiana in front with a breakaway layup 21 seconds later.

The Hawks briefly retook the lead on Omari Spellman's three with 1:14 left in the quarter, but Indiana reeled off eight unanswered points in the final minute of the frame to take a 95-88 lead into the fourth quarter.

The visitors kept the Hawks at arm's length in the final frame, extending their advantage to 11 points on Evans'

3-pointer with 3:37 to play.

Atlanta used a 7-1 run to climb within five, but Young's tip-in of an Oladipo miss stopped the bleeding and helped seal the victory for Indiana.

"I thought we did a better job of getting stops, we did a better job of taking care of the ball, and we scored at a high level," Oladipo said about the Pacers' second-half performance.

Oladipo finished with 16 points, seven rebounds, and seven assists. Bojan Bogdanovic added 16 points and Joseph chipped in 14 points and six assists off the bench.

Darren Collison tallied 11 points, five rebounds, and eight assists. Myles Turner was the eighth Pacers player in double figures with 11 points, six boards, and four dimes.

Hawks guard Kent Bazemore tied his career high with 32 points in the loss, going 14-for-25 from the field and 4-for-9 from 3-point range.

Second-year forward John Collins recorded a double-double for the Hawks with 21 points on 9-of-13 shooting and 11 rebounds, while rookie guard Trae Young finished with 17 points and nine assists.

The Pacers will return home to Bankers Life Fieldhouse for their final two games of 2018, hosting the Detroit Pistons on Friday night and then welcoming the Hawks for a rematch on New Year's Eve.
