Reporters: Tim Griffin, the department spokesman, said a school employee and a contractor had been working on a heater and were attempting to reignite it when the explosion occurred. It was not immediately known which person received the severe burns.

Griffin said about 9:45 p.m. that both people were conscious, but he did not know their conditions. They were taken to Sidney & Lois Eskenazi Hospital in Indianapolis. He said the damage occurred on the second floor near the school’s gymnasium and pool. The heat caused “fairly significant damage” to a wall and the roof, Griffin said. Emergency crews from the city government were expected to visit the site Thursday to survey the damage and assess the building’s stability.

The department said on Twitter that the explosion occurred on the northwest corner of the high school and was believed to have come from a mechanical room where work was being performed. The explosion occurred on the second floor of the building near the school’s gymnasium and pool.

Noblesville teen gets a new heart

The Reporter

Nearly 16 years ago, Mike and Kay Chance—then both 50—were already parents to a 11-year-old and a 45-year-old daughter. They made the difficult decision to take in their youngest son, who was 18 months old. “He’s been my baby ever since,” said Will’s mother, Kay.

In many ways, Will is a typical 16-year-old who has a typical 16-year-old mind loaded with trivia facts and knowledge of military history, and has a mind that blocked blood flow in his brain and left him partially paralyzed.

The Reporter

The City of Noblesville has released an updated version of its public Geographic Information System. Designed for residential and business use, this map viewer offers dynamic tools for accessing and manipulating geospatial data in Noblesville.

“This new GIS Map will have a different look and feel from the old map,” said Noblesville GIS Coordinator Michael Morris. “It was created using the ESRI’s Web AppBuilder and the new map allows for use on tablets and mobile de- vices, which was not available on the former version.”

GIS is essentially a computer-based mapping system for capturing, storing, analyzing and managing data that is tied to geographic locations as points, lines or areas. GIS enables it to provide different resolution maps for accessing basic features.

How to avoid donating to a charity scam

WISH-TV | wishtv.com

The holiday season puts so many people in a giving mood, giving to friends and family, but also giving to charities. Those charitable donations create a chance for people around the holidays, to prove that they are doing things the right way. A third of all personal giving is done around the holidays, said Tim Maniscalo, president and CEO of the Better Business Bureau of Central Indiana. “Scammers know that, so they’re going to go and they’re going to create fake charity sites, fake websites.”

Maniscalo said scammers will make their websites look like that of legitimate, but, at least to me, it’s not necessarily that that’s illegitimate, but, at least to me, it would be more research,” Nutty said. Nutty gave these websites as good resources to check out charities:

- Better Business Bureau
- CharityWatch
- Charity Navigator
- Indiana Secretary of State

Brooks’ Monterey Environmental Protection Bill Signed into Law

This is the time of year when people are giving a lot of money and they may not be as diligent about checking out a website or checking out something that they want to give to,” Maniscalo said.

Legitimate charities, said Safety Foundation, work very hard to prove their existence, and the government that they are doing things the right way.

“Everything from tracking and logging your yearly revenues and expenditures, we have a tax return, quarterly, is what it is that we submit to the IRS to show what money’s coming in, what money’s going out, to prove that we are making up the public need,” said Dane Nutty, executive director of the Indy Public Safety Foundation.

Nutty said charities are required to share their Form 990 documents with donors, which is a good way to check them out. He also advises using your instincts and doing a sweep of their website before donating.

“If there’s no contact information, they don’t list staff, it seems like some kind of leading you on a rabbit trail in order to get in contact with them, it’s not necessarily that that’s illegitimate, but, at least to me, that would make it a little bit more research,” Nutty said. Nutty gave these websites as good resources to check out charities:

Indiana Attorney General Hill supports reinstating citizenship question on 2020 census form

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill has joined a multistate legal brief supporting the federal government’s effort to reinstate a citizenship question on the 2020 census form. The move was in response to a lawsuit filed in April by 17 other states and the District of Columbia against the U.S. Department of Commerce, of which the U.S. Census Bureau is part.

In addition to his participation, Hill said, "We believe the U.S. Census Bureau is statutorily prohibited from collecting demographic information on U.S. residents. Collecting demographic information on U.S. residents increased and unnecessary litigation burdens for state and federal officials. The Census Bureau included a citizenship question on its "long form" questionnaire from 1970 until 2010. With the discontinuance of this practice in 2010, state legislators have faced the prospect of rescheduling the games, Monday, March 16, for a TBA date. No dates set yet for rescheduling the games, Monday, March 16, for a TBA date.

The fire department’s run-out to make sure everyone was safe.”

“Considering the current pandemic, the fire department wanted to make sure no one was injured,” said Kincs.

Luke 1:56-64 (KJV)

And Mary abode with her about three months, and returned to her own house. Now Elizabeth full a time that she should be delivered: and she brought forth a son. And her neighbours and her cousins heard how the Lord had showed great mercy upon her; and they blessed God with her. And it came to pass, that on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child; and they called him Zacharias, after the name of his father. And his mother answered and said, Not so; but he shall be called John. And they said unto her, There is none of thy kindred that is called by this name. And they made signs to his father, how he would have him called. And he asked for a writing table, and wrote, saying, His name is John. And they marvelled all. And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue loosed, and he praised God.

3:49 left in the period, part of an 11-0 run by the Blue & Gold, took a 21-20 lead on Victor Oladipo's three-point play with 17 seconds left in the first quarter, extending their advantage to 11 points on Evans' tip-in of an Oladipo miss stopped the bleeding and helped seal the victory for Indiana.

The offense quickly came to life from there. Indiana hit 10 of their final 13 field goal attempts in the first quarter and took a narrow 35-31 advantage into the second quarter.

Evans provided a major spark in the second quarter. He scored 12 points in the first four minutes of the frame, knocking down three 3-pointers in that span. "I thought he was aggressive tonight making tough shots, made some shots, and defensively he was pretty solid," Pacers coach Nate McMillan said. "We want our guys to be aggressive when they are out there and I thought Tyreke did a good job of attacking tonight."

But the Hawks moved back in front midway through the second quarter, extending their lead to 56-53 on a tip-in by Bogdan Bogdanovic with 2:25 left in the frame, taking a 36-32 lead into the second quarter.

The visitors kept the Hawks at arm's length in the final minutes of the frame, extending their advantage to 11 points on Evans' 3-pointer with 3:37 to play. Indiana made 1 to 5 shots in that span, including two 3-pointers, and an Oladipo miss stopped the bleeding and helped seal the victory for Indiana.

"I thought we did a better job of getting stops, we did a better job of taking care of the ball, and we scored at a high level," Oladipo said about the Pacers' second-half performance.

Oladipo finished with 16 points, seven rebounds, and eight assists. Bojan Bogdanovic added 16 points and Joseph Young chipped in 10 points and six assists off the bench.

Second-year forward John Collins recorded a double-double for the Hawks with 27 points on 9-of-15 shooting and 11 rebounds, while rookie guard Trae Young finished with 17 points and nine assists. The Pacers will return home to Bankers Life Fieldhouse for their final two games of 2018, hosting the Denver Nuggets on Friday night and then welcoming the Hawks for a rematch on New Year's Eve.
