Noblesville native loves to help people, give back

By STU CLAMPITT
ReadTheReporter.com

You may know Mark Jones as the roller-skating Uncle Sam in Noblesville's Fourth of July Parades. Or maybe you know him as the roller-skating Santa Claus in Noblesville's Christmas parades. Or maybe you know him from one of his numerous sales jobs in Hamilton County over the last several decades. But he'd like you to know him as a life-long member of the community who is now proud to be part of the Tom Wood family.

When The Reporter asked how he came to be a salesman at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, Jones chuckled and said, "It started 50 years ago knowing General Manager Mike Bragg."

Jones said he had been in the car business 20 years ago, but when his work schedule began to interfere with his ability to attend his kids' school events, he decided to give it up.

"I told myself, 'One day I'll go back to the car business because I just love helping people with their automotive needs,'" Jones said.

His love of people led him to sales in financial planning, cable TV, invisible fence pet containment systems and more.

"I've been in the retail industry my whole life," Jones said. "Not counting the years of concrete work I did on the side, my work at the grain terminal in Noblesville, and Forest Park back when I was a teenager."

Jones is also a supervisor for the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on a seasonal basis, which he has done for 17 years.

"I've never traveled anywhere outside the continental United States," Jones said. "What was really great about Formula One coming to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway

Let's go to the grocery

Once upon a time, in a neighborhood in old town Noblesville, you would find a small grocery store ... in every neighborhood.

I'm in a Facebook group that shares old pictures and old stories of Noblesville. Seems we all have a few of both.

I asked if anyone remembered the little grocery on 12th Street just north of Central Avenue. Just a few remembered it.

I was told that it was first opened by the Smoot Family, then the Bradshaws.

I remember it being owned by Chad and Rosie Phillips. I grew up with their sons Chuck (Steve) and Neal. My parents and I lived a half a block away between Grant and Central.

It was there that we bought our Christmas trees ... and carried them home.

For some reason I remember more about going to the Wayne Street grocery where my dad would buy me Chocola out of the pop machine. I was his shadow. It was one of the "perks" of being an only child.

Now back to the rest of the stores. They were all known by the street where they were located or the family that owned them. Most families, who owned the little groceries, lived next door.

Mack Bentz and his wife owned one and when I was a little girl I would visit their house on 12th Street ... which I now own.

If you take a tour of Old Town you should be able to recognize them.

Wayne Street has one. Walnut Street has one. Anyone growing up in the 60s and 70s in Noblesville will remember Roudy's on South Tenth and Crask on Division Street.

One thing I do know is that many a mom sent many a kid "to the grocery" to

Art will once again grace Fishers City Hall in 2019

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

Another year is upon us and the Fishers Arts Council (FAC) has already laid out plans for the artwork to be on display during 2019 at City Hall.

A total of 12 exhibits in all are to be displayed by artists from Fishers and the surrounding area, including a Senior Showcase in April. Each exhibit will feature a free evening reception during which the public has the opportunity to interact with the artists. This season looks to expand the viewing hours as well.

The exhibits feature print making, photography, calligraphy, fine art to abstract art. While some months focus on a particular theme such as "A Youthful Perspective of Black History: America," "Trails & Rails," "Scenes of Indiana" and "Winter Wonderland," many of the exhibits are designed to showcase the artist without the limitations of a particular theme.

FAC hopes this expands opportunities for artists to showcase their work without requiring them to adhere to a particular theme. The goal of FAC is always to expand opportunities for the artist to share their work with the Fishers community. FAC believes this format promotes that goal.

Here is a more detailed look at the plans for 2019, as provided by the Fishers Arts Council:

Serenity & Abstract:

Colors So Subtle; Colors So Free

- Begins Jan. 2; ends Jan. 29
- Location: The Art Gallery at City Hall – daily from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Free.

This exhibit will feature artwork by Matthew Hurdle and Diane Tracey Lehman. Matt is a Fishers artist who creates contemporary landscapes and dreamscapes in acrylic on canvas. His works grow from imagined places and uses multiple layers of color, alternating soft and bold brushstrokes and textured canvas to evoke a feeling of calm and serenity.

Diane, a resident of Peru, studied art at East Carolina University, concentrating on the human figure and painting. After 20 years of precise portrait work, requiring significant detail, she moved to a more free-form art expressing herself through abstraction. Today, she paints what she feels, "Masses of scribbles, bold strokes of color, scrapes, platters, drips, whatever it takes to express the emotion of a moment. Nothing preconceived because each moment is different."

Free public reception from 6 to 8 p.m. on Jan. 11 at The Art Gallery at City Hall, Fishers.

A Youthful Perspective of Black History in America

- Begins Feb. 1; ends Feb. 27
- Location: The Art Gallery at City Hall – daily from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Free.

This exhibit will feature Fall Creek Junior High School Art and History departments and feature large self-portrait installation inspired by artist Kehinde Wiley, commissioned to paint former President Obama and his wife, Michelle. Wiley is a modern painter who captures the spirit of his subject matter.

The exhibit also will feature historical scenes recreated through the eyes of famous artists, such as Vincent van Gogh. Finally, be prepared to learn the history of Black America and those who forged that history.

Additionally, a video presentation will be provided by film maker Demetrius Witherspoon.

Free public reception from 6 to 8 p.m. on Feb. 8 in The Art Gallery at City Hall, Fishers.

Disabilities Awareness Exhibit and Program

- Begins March 5; ends March 28
- Location: Conner Prairie and The Art Gallery at City Hall – daily from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Free.

The exhibition will feature artwork from a variety of artists, including disabled artists, a resource area and music by Fishers Music Chorus and Miss Indiana. Art will be on display all month at various Nickel Plate Business District businesses, Conner Prairie and The Art Gallery at City Hall.

Free public reception from 6 to 9 p.m. on March 8 at Conner Prairie.

Senior Showcase

- Begins April 2; ends April 27
- Location: The Art Gallery at City Hall – daily from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Free.

The exhibition will feature artwork from seniors at Hamilton Southeastern and Fishers high schools and will be a judged exhibit with cash awards or scholarships.

Free public reception from 6 to 8 p.m. on April 26 in The Art Gallery at City Hall, Fishers. Held in conjunction with Hope for Happiness on Central Green.

The Art of Print Making

- Begins May 5; ends May 29

was that I drive 45 minutes and I meet the world! I've met people from Scotland, Wales, France, Lithuania, Cuba, Ireland, The Netherlands and all over. That's what really got me. Being close to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, where else can you go hang out with 200,000 people and get paid for it?"

Jones was a young athlete in Noblesville, playing baseball in the city league and later in high school from 1976 to 1980. He also ran track and cross country and even played a year of football on the team that was runner-up at the state level.

Jones told The Reporter about a humorous moment from his baseball days.

"When I was playing baseball at 13 years old, we were the Bad News Bears before the Bad News Bears came out," Jones told The Reporter. "In the city league in baseball you play every week. We lost every regular season ballgame, but when we went to the tournament, we won the city championship 7-0. The championship game was at North Elementary School. We were tied 20-20. I hit a ball that rolled almost over to Monument from Harrison. I hit first base. I hit second base. My mom, Constance Jones, jumps out of the stands. As I round third base she is running with me down the third-base line. I hit the plate, she gives me a hug, the rest of the team comes out and we win 21-20."

According to Jones, that story was on the front page of the Noblesville Ledger, which Don Jellison was running at the time.

Jones said he was close with Jellison. He laughed as he told The Reporter, "Don used to put me in the box scores when I was playing basketball with my 2.2 average."

Jones also grew up with Hamilton County Reporter Publisher Jeff Jellison. The partnership between The Reporter, Tom Wood and Prevail is one more reason he is proud part of the Tom Wood family. Jones has long been a supporter of community outreach programs.

"Esther Lakes was one of my teachers in high school," Jones said. "She is one of the driving forces of Prevail. I attend the Nazarene church and St. Vincent de Paul bought the building in front of our church, remodeled it, and are working out of there. Transformation [Center for Healing] is another shelter. One of my customers from Starbucks, Laci Giboney, started that not-for-profit to help women with drug addictions, who are being battered and who are having some problems with life. I keep up on the community-based outreach programs to see if I can help in any way I can."

Bragg started trying to get Jones to work with him in 2009, when he was working with a dealership on the east side of Indianapolis.

"I said, 'It's too far for me to go, Mike,'" Jones explained. "I want to stay around Noblesville because that's where I was born and raised. This is where I raised my family and I'm still here in the community."

Now that Bragg is at Tom Wood Volkswagen of Noblesville, Jones was happy to come on board.

"Mike and I have been trying

to move Noblesville forward by helping out in the community," Jones said, "letting them know we are here for the community. We work with Prevail. We were born and raised here. We both have lived here our whole lives. We have raised our kids here, and Mike will always be a 'Nobletuckian' like myself."

Jones said he wants to help people enjoy the time they spend looking for a new vehicle.

"I'm here to help Noblesville, Hamilton and surrounding counties to enjoy buying a car," Jones said. "Instead of the headaches and stress that come with it, I'm going to make it a very pleasant and enjoyable experience to purchase a vehicle - new or used."

As part of the Tom Wood family and part of the Hamilton County community, Jones is here to stay and ready to help.

"I want long-term customers," Jones said. "I want to build my family. If that's around the Tom Wood family, that's even better. I just love people. To be in sales you have to love people."

You can reach Mark Jones at Tom Wood Volkswagen Noblesville by calling (317) 853-6948.

pick up whatever was needed. We were rewarded with a nickel or dime, from returning pop bottles, to pick up some penny candy. I saved my extra money for Grandpa's Candy Store at the corner of Harrison and 10th streets. Oh my goodness, the smells that came from that tiny store, owned by the Cullens. Homemade everything sweet!

On grocery day, usually Friday, my mom would head to Regals grocery - now Alexander's Ice Cream - the tiny store with, I think three or maybe four aisles and green carts. I remember the sound of the carts on the wooden floor. Chad Phillips worked there after he closed his neighborhood store. Curly Swank was the meat cutter who knew exactly how every housewife in town wanted her beef and pork cut.

Eventually the A&P and Standard Grocery took over and the little neighborhood groceries were closed. Several of them became residences with a little creative remodeling. Nothing will ever compare to Kenley's Grocery on South 10th Street where I got my first job as a cashier. That was in the 70s.

Well, I've taken you to the grocery on a tour down memory lane. I'm making my grocery list to head to one of the big stores. Grocery shopping will never be the same. I miss the days where you walked in and everyone in the store knew your name and helped you find just what you needed.

Our needs were fewer back then. Funny how we found everything we needed in just a few aisles. I miss those aisles.

More than 400 toys given to area children

The REPORTER

The Carmel Mayor's Youth Council wrapped up its annual Holiday Toy Drive just before Christmas, collecting more than 420 toys for area children.

A special event on Dec. 14, hosted by Carmel High School, brought together nearly 300 National Junior Honor Society students from all three Carmel Clay middle schools, each providing a toy for the drive. Members of the Mayor's Youth Council also contributed toys, as well as wrapping paper and other supplies.

Participants took part in a package-wrapping station, created holiday cards and enjoyed cookies donated by Kroger, while also learning about the Mayor's Youth Council and its community outreach programs. The toys were then delivered to the Merciful H.E.L.P. Center and distributed to families it assists in Hamilton County.

"We were thrilled to see so many middle school students participate in our annual event," said Youth Council member Zoe Jensen.

About the Carmel Mayor's Youth Council

Mayor Jim Brainard's Carmel Mayor's Youth Council is a youth led organization comprised of high school students who wish to make a tangible impact on the City of Carmel. Throughout each term, members organize charitable events, participate in numerous volunteering initiatives and stay involved in local government.

When did Indy get its first radio station?

The REPORTER

1887 – The Indiana General Assembly began the session in the new Statehouse in Indianapolis. The building, under construction since 1878, had not officially opened. However, the chambers for the Senate and House of Representatives were ready for use.

1900 – Service began on an Interurban line from Indianapolis to Greenwood to Franklin and back. Riders could purchase six tickets for 25 cents. By 1910, every city within a 120-mile radius of Indianapolis could be reached by electric Interurban cars.

1921 – Francis P. Hamilton launched the first Indianapolis radio station. The first studio was in Hamilton's garage on North Alabama Street. Mayor Samuel "Lew" Shank spoke on the air for the first broadcast.

1921 – John C. Ruckshaus, president of the Columbia Club in Indianapolis, announced that his organization would play a major role in the upcoming inauguration of President Warren G. Harding. It was noted that Harding would be the first President in history to ride to his inauguration in an automobile.

1938 – Tests were conducted on a new device that could measure alcohol by means of a breath test. Developed by Indiana University biochemist Dr. Rolla N. Harger, the "drunkometer" was first used by the Indiana State Police on New Year's Eve 1938.

1970 – Indianapolis adopted "Unigov," which expanded the city's boundaries to include nearly all of Marion County. Overnight, the Indiana capital went from the 26th to the 11th largest city in America.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another; Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us. And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

Girls basketball

Royals start hot, keep cool, beat Panthers

By RICHIE HALL
INDIANAPOLIS - The color blue - Royal blue - is often associated with ice. But a hot flame can also be blue.

The Hamilton Southeastern girls basketball team wore its Royal blue when facing the host of the North Central Classic on Saturday afternoon, and played on both sides of the temperature spectrum. Class 4A No. 2 Southeastern started off the game with a super-hot shooting performance, then was cool in the midst of a comeback by the 4A No. 5 Panthers in the second half.

The result was a victory for Southeastern over North Central, by the score of 55-44. It was the first time HSE had beat the Panthers since Feb. 10, 2007.

"It just feels really great," said Southeastern senior Amaya Hamilton. "This is one of the biggest wins I've ever had at HSE personally, and it's just really exciting to win as a team and I'm really proud of everyone doing their jobs."

The Royals were hotter than the sun in the first four minutes of the game, nailing five straight 3-pointers to take a 15-1 lead. Malea Jackson had the first basket, followed by Sydney Parrish. A free throw from NC's Jasmine McWilliams interrupted the run, but after that, Hamilton, Parrish and Jackson each made one triple, firing up the HSE crowd and themselves.

"I thought our kids' movement on offense initially against their zone and against their man-to-man defense was as good as we've had all year, which led to some easy opportunities for us," said Royals coach Chris Huppenthal. "When you get easy opportunities, you hope to make some more than we miss, and we made quite a few more than we missed."

Parrish hit one more 3 at the end of the first quarter, and that gave the Royals a 20-7 lead. A quick 6-0 run but HSE ahead 26-9, with Jackson making a layin, Tayah Irvin hitting a pair of free throws, and Parrish scoring on a layin.

Those six points would be the only scores for the Royals in the second period, as North Central began a 17-0 run that stretched well into the third quarter. The Panthers poured in 10 of those points in the second period, starting with 3-pointers from Rikki Harris and McWilliams.

Southeastern led 26-19 at halftime, then North Central finished the run with seven unanswered points to tie the game at 26-26. Harris and Meg Newman both hit layins, then McWilliams tied the game with a 3.

Parrish expected to see a comeback from the Panthers.

"They're an amazing team," said Parrish. "What can you expect? You expect them to. A 15-1 lead, that doesn't happen against North Central. You know they're going to come back. So we expected it and we were ready. We knew it was coming."

Despite the Panthers' comeback, the Royals never allowed them to take the lead in the game. Irvin scored on a putback to end the run and put HSE ahead 28-26. Freshman Ramiah Elliott tied the game again with a layin, but Parrish answered back with four straight points (a 3-pointer and a free throw).

Newman and Elliott both made baskets to tie the game once more at 32-32, but Southeastern used an 8-0 run to get out of trouble, and would hold the lead for the remainder of the game. Jackie Maulucci drained a 3, Molly Walton scored on a layin, then Hamilton hit another 3. Southeastern finished the game with nine 3-pointers.

Huppenthal credited the character of his team for holding firm after North Central made its run.

"When they got that close, that's when leaders got to take over, and I thought our leadership really started to show," said Huppenthal. "Amaya Hamilton was a presence inside. Tayah Irvin, defensively, ramped it up. Sydney Parrish did what she does. Malea Jackson, she hit some big shots today. You kind of lean on your leaders. I think their character showed through a lot today in that third and fourth quarter."

A basket by Hamilton put Southeastern up 44-35 at the beginning of the fourth quarter. Harris made two back-to-back layins to get NC within five, but that would be as close as the Panthers would get. The Royals scored the last six points of the game, all from free throws by Parrish, who went 6-of-8 from the line in the game's final 36 seconds.

"We usually, in the past, have had trouble coming back from deficits or when the other team makes runs," said Hamilton. "But this time we just stuck together as a team and we did what we needed to do and didn't get frustrated or nervous," she said.

Parrish finished the game with 25 points, including four 3-pointers. Jackson added 11 and Hamilton 10; both seniors made two 3-pointers.

Parrish also collected nine rebounds, with Maulucci grabbing seven and Irvin pulling down five. Maulucci handed out five assists.

Harris led the Panthers with 18 points, while McWilliams scored nine.

The Royals are 16-1 and will play at Warren Central on Thursday.

University beats Guerin Catholic for Hoosier Hysteria trophy

University won the McDonald's Hoosier Hysteria Tournament on Saturday, beating host Vincennes Lincoln 61-46 in the semi-finals and Guerin Catholic 55-50 in the championship game.

The Class 1A No. 4 Trailblazers got off to a solid start against the Golden Eagles, leading 14-8 after the first quarter and 31-20 at halftime. Guerin chipped away at the lead in the second half, but University was able to hold on for the victory.

Jacob Sager led the 'Blazers with 12 points, while Max Greenamoyer and Camden Brown both added 11 points. Sam Mervis and Nate Shatkowski both corralled seven rebounds, with Sager grabbing five.

Bernie McGuinness led the Golden Eagles with 16 points and nine rebounds, with Matt Parenteau adding 11 points. Kameron Osswald handed out four assists.

In the semi-finals, Joe Martin scored 19 points to lead University past Lincoln. Quinn Steiner scored nine points, followed by Greenamoyer and Sager with eight each. Brown scored six points, Mervis had five, Korey Ash-Simpson added four and Shatkowski scored two.

Guerin Catholic beat Evansville Harrison 69-65 in its semi-final game. The Golden Eagles trailed 46-43 after three quarters, but came back by scoring 26 points in the fourth period.

McGuinness had an outstanding game with 22 points, eight rebounds and five assists. Kian Sills and Joseph Bobilya each added 15 points; Sills hit three 3-pointers and handed out four assists.

University is 12-1 and plays at Tindley on Friday. Guerin Catholic is 6-5 and hosts Bishop Chatard Friday as part of a Circle City Conference girl-boy doubleheader.

Royals sweep Bloomington South Panther Invite

The Hamilton Southeastern swimming and diving team swept both divisions of the Bloomington High School South Panther Invite on Saturday.

The Royals girls dominated their meet, scoring 822 points. The meet was conducted in a college events format, which meant there were some different races. Southeastern's girls got double victories from Abby Harter in the 50 and 200 backstrokes, while Hannah Pugh took the 50 butterfly and the 100 individual medley. Other HSE wins came from Sarah Ballard (diving), Ellie Pedersen (200 freestyle), Abby Harter (50 backstroke), Molly Robinson (50 breaststroke) and all three relays.

Southeastern's boys team won with 687.5 points. Nathan Barr took the diving, DJ Rogers paced the 50 breaststroke and Connor Harrison won the 100 IM.

Tigers beat Louisville teams, girls win Panther Invite Fishers picked up a pair of dual wins over Louisville teams on Saturday.

The Tigers girls beat Sacred Heart Academy 99-84. Hannah Pratt was a double winner in the 50 and 100 freestyles, while Morgan Booth finished first in the 100 free. Fishers also won the 200 and 400 freestyle relays.

The Tigers boys defeated Louisville Trinity 119-66. Aaron Frolo paced the individual medley and 500 free, while Trevor Adcock won the 50 free and butterfly. Other event winners were Nic Silva in the backstroke, Cory Jacocks in the breaststroke, and the medley and 400 free relays.

On Friday, Fishers competed in the ninth annual Panther Invite at North Central. The Tigers girls won a close meet, scoring 471 points to runner-up Chesterton's 454 and third-place Franklin Community's 442. Fort Wayne Carroll scored 437. Pratt won the 100 and 200 freestyles.

Fishers' boys placed fourth with 336.5 points; Chesterton won with 620. Frolo was victorious in the 500 free.

The Tigers girls junior varsity team won with 642 points, picking up several wins: Kylie Terpening in the 200 free, Emily Pfeifer in the 50 free, Anna Meyer in the 100 free and Amy Nguyen in the breaststroke.

Fishers swept all three relays: Meyer, Pfeifer, Nguyen and Abby Miller won the medley relay; Pfeifer, Ashley Wyatt, Terpening and Nicole Rueff won the 200 free relay; and Miller, Wyatt, Terpening and Rueff won the 400 free relay.
