Northern communities must pay for 9-1-1 dispatch services

By JEFF JELLISON
ReadTheReporter.com

Funding for Hamilton County's 9-1-1 Communication Center has been a topic discussed by community leaders for more than a year, according to Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt.

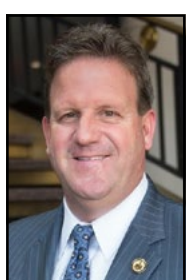

In the past the larger cities of Noblesville, Carmel, Fishers and Westfield have shared that expense.

Now county leaders are calling upon the smaller communities of Arcadia, Atlanta, Sheridan, Cicero, White River Township and Wayne Township to help.

Last week County Commissioners issued a letter to those communities. The letter provided a deadline of Jan. 4 for an Interlocal Agreement that would require the smaller northern Hamilton County communities to pay their share of dispatch services.

Heirbrandt indicated that for 2019 the county was asking the smaller communi-

Megan Wiles seeks second term for Noblesville Common Council

The REPORTER

On Thursday, Megan Wiles announced her candidacy for re-election to the Noblesville Common Council serving the residents of the Sixth District. Wiles is seeking her second term on the Council in order to continue to serve all residents of the City of Noblesville as well as her district.

During her first term, Wiles was elected as Council President during her second year in office and created the Downtown District Committee to help oversee the funds allocated to enhance Noblesville's downtown. Also during her time on Council, Wiles chaired the Economic Development Committee, served on the Finance Committee, the Plan Commission and Architectural Review Board and Nominating Committee and was a liaison to the Parks Board.

As a longtime resident of Noblesville, Wiles says she is dedicated to seeing the history of the Noblesville community and especially downtown preserved while recognizing the need to embrace growth: "I am so proud of the creation of the Downtown District Committee, where I brought together members of the Council along with business owners, the Noblesville Chamber of Commerce leadership, Noblesville Main Street leadership as well as Nickel Plate Arts. This group's charge is to evaluate what we can do to continue to enhance our beautiful downtown. We're just beginning to implement phases of the Downtown Streetscape Plan and I'm excited to see the impact it has."

"As Noblesville continues to grow, we must continue to invest in our infrastructure to insure that we can handle this growth. I'm proud of the work of this current Council to dedicate resources to plan for the future of our community, and there is additional work to be done. I believe it's important that we have experienced Council members serving along with our new

Local teacher granted opportunity to hit new heights

The REPORTER

Thanks to a Teacher Creativity Fellowship Grant through the Lilly Endowment, Jon Kirschner, Hamilton Heights AP economics and U.S. history teacher, realized a dream of traveling through parts of the western United States and Alaska, America's last frontier. Through this opportunity, Kirschner was able to combine three of his favorite things: Running, photography and teaching. Kirschner, whose grant request was entitled, "Running and Flipping through the West," was among the 100 selected from a competitive pool of 520 qualified applicants throughout the state.

"This grant application was not an easy feat," recalled Kirschner, who remained undaunted after his first grant submission request was not accepted the year prior. He recalibrated, continued his research, re-submitted and was successful the second time around.

"I feel honored and lucky to be among those to receive the $12,000 grant," said the 33-year-old Kirschner, who has been teaching at Heights for five years and coaching for over a decade.

As a child, Kirschner was fascinated with all things Wild West. In fact, his middle name came from his parents' love of John Wayne and his movies. Kirschner followed suit, watching those same John Wayne movies with intrigue and desire to experience the terrain, history, wildlife and culture of this part of the country. Listening to the adventures and travel stories of his Uncle Bill, a history teacher and a principal who also held a love of the West, only deepened Kirschner's interest.

Kirschner, also Heights' head football coach and the strength and conditioning coach, said he has been preparing for this opportunity his entire life. With a video camera in hand, he documented through pictures and videos every aspect of his trip which took him through the vast trails and terrain of two of the country's most notable national parks, Yellowstone and Yosemite, and to Alaska's vast wilderness.

Breakdown of each leg of the journey

"Yellowstone National Park was all about the wildlife," said Kirschner, who will be forever grateful for the opportunity to visit this place and cannot wait to return with his son (Owen, age 3) and daughter (Emerson, set to arrive in April).

"If you want to see the wildlife that makes us who we are as a nation, go to Yellowstone," said Kirschner. "Yosemite in California was more than my wife and I could have imagined in the awe and splendor of its physical geography. You name it - Yosemite Valley, El Capitan, Half Dome - no matter where you went in the park it was a never-ending panoramic view of pure beauty. Alaska is on another playing

DISPATCH

Arcadia Town Board member Mitch Russell said that's an additional $8,423 dollars out of this year's budget.

The letter sent by the commissioners also referenced the possibility of the county paying 75 percent of the northern Hamilton County towns' and townships' dispatch service for the year 2020. Commissioners, in the letter, pointed out that decision would ultimately rest upon the Hamilton County Council. What was not stated in the letter was what happens after 2020. Russell said his town could eventually be billed nearly $84,000. That is approximately 64 percent of Arcadia's total budget.

"Unfortunately, this is not a permanent fix and other options will need to be looked at to assure our public safety needs are properly funded in the future," said Heirbrandt.

"The population of northern Hamilton County needs to take notice in what the commissioners are doing in charging for these services," said Russell.

Arcadia did not meet the deadline set in the letter: "Our next Town Board meeting will be on Jan. 7. We will likely approve the 2019 Interlocal Agreement.

We are behind the 8 ball with the possibility of losing our dispatch services because the commissioners did not give us enough time to research our options."

The Town of Cicero on Thursday evening held an emergency meeting to meet the Commissioners' deadline. Cicero Town Board members unanimously approved the Interlocal Agreement that will require they pay $13,413.82 this year.

Cicero Town Board President Chris Lutz told the Reporter, "Due to the inherent public safety impact of the subject matter of the agreement – the provision of 9-1-1 dispatch services – and the fact that the town did not receive the county's letter requesting a decision by Friday, Jan. 4 until Wednesday, Jan. 2, the Town Council felt it was necessary to hold an emergency meeting to vote on whether to adopt the agreement."

Lutz indicated the County sent the letter last week but, due to an error in the address that was utilized, it didn't reach Cicero until Wednesday.

"I was pleased to hear that the 9-1-1 Interlocal Agreement was approved by the Town of Cicero. This is something we have been discussing for almost a year and a half with the northern Hamilton County towns and townships. I appreciate the continued communication with the local leaders and their passion to prioritize public safety for their community," said Heirbrandt.

The Communication Center services seven police departments, the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office, and nine fire and EMS agencies. Last year the Center handled more than 400,000 phone calls and logged nearly 350,000 calls for service.

The 9-1-1 Communication Center currently has an advisory board comprised of representatives from Noblesville, Westfield, Carmel, Fishers and a Hamilton County Commissioner. Each are voting members. Commissioner Christine Altman said a sixth advisory seat without voting privileges is assigned to a person representing the smaller communities. Altman said the smaller communities have never filled the position.

The Advisory Board is an issue with Russell. "If we are going to pay for services like the four larger cities and the Sheriff's Department, each of the smaller communities should have a voting member on the board."

"With the inclusion of the towns and townships in the contract for service, the 9-1-1 Executive Board has discussed converting the advisory seat (one seat representing the smaller communities) to a voting seat, and I believe that that will be done upon the entities entering into the contract," said Altman. "We believe that our Communications Center, systems and staff are one of the best in Indiana if not nationally. This unified system has proven to be efficient and we believe provides the best public safety for our residents and those visiting the County. The County has worked hard to ease the initial financial commitments for entities who choose to participate while the communities review appropriate methods to fund the service."

White River Township has already signed the Interlocal Agreement; however, Sheridan, Atlanta and Jackson Township, like Arcadia, have yet to sign.

Commissioners have asked those communities to present a written plan on how dispatch services will be handled in their communities in the event no agreement is reached.

administration in January of 2020 and beyond," said Wiles. "I look forward to working with our new Mayor to help Noblesville continue to grow in a fiscally responsible manner. This is an exciting time to help lead Noblesville forward and I look forward to serving the residents of the Sixth District and all of Noblesville."

In her professional career, Wiles serves as the Executive Director of Riverview Health Foundation, where she works to build resources to support programs and projects that benefit patients and their families at Riverview Health. She is also a member of the 29th Richard G. Lugar Excellence in Public Service class, one of 20 women selected for this program in the state of Indiana.

Wiles and her husband,

Greg, are the proud parents of Garrett and Grace, both high school students. Wiles is a graduate of Noblesville High School and Ball State University, and also serves as a member of the Conner Prairie Alliance, the women's organization that operates the Apple Store at Conner Prairie. Wiles and her family are members of St. Michael's Episcopal Church.

The Sixth District includes the southeast area of Noblesville, including newer neighborhoods of Blue Ridge Creek, Chapel Villas, Flagstone Woods, Summerland Park, Turnberry at the Park, Waterman Crossing, as well as the Corporate Campus and Hamilton Town Center.

Wiles will seek re-election in the 2019 Republican primary on May 7.

PREVAIL Advocating for Victims of Crime and Abuse
www.prevailinc.com

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about.

But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.)

Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

- Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

You can drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, located at 14701 Tom Wood Way. You can also donate directly to Prevail of Central Indiana by visiting Prevailinc.org.

Carmel arts grants will benefit 25 organizations

The REPORTER

The City of Carmel has awarded 25 local arts organizations with $1,336,060 in grants from the City's 2019 Arts Grant Program. This year marks the 17th anniversary of the City of Carmel's financial support for local arts, which amounts to roughly 1 percent of the city budget each year. Since 2004, more than $11.5 million has been allocated to support local arts programs.

"It is our mission as a City to invest our money wisely in order to improve the quality of life, helping us to attract new economic development and private investments in our city," said Mayor Jim Brainard. "Studies by the Americans for the Arts show typical visitors to an event spend close to $30 per person, per event, in addition to the cost of admission."

According to the most recent statistics from Visit Hamilton County, it is estimated that visitors that stay in Carmel spend about $332 million annually in lodging, food and beverage, transportation and attractions purchases and contribute significantly to the overall county tourism impact.

For every dollar spent in Hamilton County, 90 cents stayed local, contributing to the gross domestic product here. Visitor spending supports 11,553 jobs in Hamilton County and helps generate nearly $100 million in state and local taxes, saving local residents $779 per year in taxes they would otherwise need to pay for the same services.

This year's grant recipients field. Whether I talk about the wildlife or physical geography, Alaska holds a special place in my heart. The song by John Denver called Alaska and Me (John Denver: "Here's to Alaska, here's to the people, here's to the wild, and here's to the free!!") best describes my experience in Alaska. I hiked in Denali National Park, landed on a mountain Glacier (17,000+ feet in elevation), flew around Mt. Denali, rode ATVs through Alaskan backcountry and took a day trip through Kenai National Park starting in the port town of Seward, Alaska."

Taking it back to the classroom

Kirschner brought back a plethora of educational opportunities from his travels to supplement many of his current chapters. "The lessons and information from this once-in-a-lifetime experience have helped me to bring history and geography to life for my students through a first-person account," he pointed out.

"I have taught a lesson in U.S. history concerning the impact John Muir, The Sierra Club and 26th U.S. President Theodore Roosevelt had on the development of the National Park System and the opportunity I had to see these places in their entirety today," said Kirschner. "From a geographical standpoint I have discussed the differences in climate zones and the differences in the mountains out west versus the mountain ranges in the eastern United States. From an economic focus I have used the examples of the money I spent on the trip, about budgeting, and the taxation process I experienced as a part of the trip. Economically, I discussed with students when you are on the go constantly you come to realize how little financially you can live on and the major changes that you need to make to your lifestyle when you no longer have the normal amenities used to in our daily lives at home. Finally, from a strength training standpoint discussing the physical and mental preparation for the races, especially in the mountains, and the toll constant hiking and running in altitudes of 6,000 to more than 10,000 feet has on the body."

"The trip has been one of the most remarkable experiences of my life," Kirschner reflected of his three-week adventure. "As in most people's lives the day they get married and see their children born are top moments of their lives, and for me that's no different. Beyond those moments this trip is next on my list of life's most memorable. It was a blessing to have been able to share two-thirds of this journey with my wife, Brittany (Yellowstone and Yosemite). Most people have a bucket list of places they want to go, do, etc. Mine is a little different in that I my bucket list includes seeing the following animals in the wild: Gray wolf, grizzly bear, black bear, and a bull elk."

Two found dead in Carmel apartment

The REPORTER

The Carmel Police Department and the Hamilton County Coroner's office are conducting a death investigation after two people were found dead.

According to investigators, police were notified at approximately 10 a.m. on Thursday by maintenance workers who found two deceased females in an apartment located in the 1500 block of Starcross Lane.

Hamilton County Coroner John Chal-

fin has identified the two as Vanessa Paris, 37, and Christalia Bostos, 33. Both are believed to be sisters and lived at the apartment.

Chalfin had not released a cause of death at press time; however, investigators would not confirm or deny the incident to be a murder-suicide.

A spokesperson for the Carmel Police Department indicated they are continuing their investigation and there is no safety concern to the community.

Noblesville Common Council members answer questions about tax incentives

Dear Editor:

In a very connected, competitive and modern economy, businesses today make data driven location decisions. The data is typically provided by consultants who specialize in assisting businesses in assessing alternative choices.

In other words, companies will not simply "show up and set up shop" because a city has built a new business park.

Businesses will consider non-financial community assets in their decision making process. Some of these factors might include climate, cost of living, education, parks and arts. Also, with technology communities can be evaluated expeditiously with a few keystrokes and touch of a button.

However, when businesses are growing, they look to local government to support their long-term capital commitments in the community. Therefore, it follows businesses utilize competition amongst cities to maximize their return on investment in the community.

Modern economic development strategies of attracting, retaining and expanding businesses involve tax incentives. Incentives, particularly tax incentives, can appear to be corporate welfare. However, cities do not simply "give" money to corporations. Cities weigh the expected long-term benefits and tax revenues to be generated against expected costs, including incentives, to determine whether an incentive package is viable and in the best interests of the taxpayers.

If a new business buys a tract of land and builds a building on it, the building increases the city's property tax base. The improvements made add to the city's assessed value by converting an unimproved parcel with a low tax value, thus increasing the city's financial capacity and supporting the existing credit rating.

If that business expects to hire new employees, a majority of these new employees will consider relocating to the city as a result of their employment. They are all potential homebuyers or renters and consumers who will patronize the local merchants and businesses in the community. The city will also receive more user fee revenue and local income tax from new residents.

Such benefits are considered along with costs the city will incur due to business activity, such as infrastructure upgrades or expansions and additional city employees.

A business may propose the city allow it to pay a reduced amount of property tax for the first few years after relocation. It should be noted here there are restrictions on this activity which is meant to insure there is a positive impact on the assessed value of the City. Generally speaking, these tax phase-ins are declining over a period of time which allows the city to collect a certain amount of property tax during the phase in.

This helps the business lower its tax liability when migration, start-up and operating costs are the highest.

The City Council has established committees (Economic Development and Finance) which thoroughly review projects and requests for incentives. This includes, but is not limited to, economic analysis, legal opinions and consideration of the existing business climate. Furthermore, the city has in place incentive policies and guidelines which allows the city Administration to provide businesses information upfront, is transparent to citizens and focuses on incenting desired business growth.

Our economic development director and administrative staff spend considerable amounts of time vetting and crafting incentive programs and determining if a particular project should be incentivized. The director gathers input from other local officials, including Council members, other businesses, civic organizations, school officials and the Chamber of Commerce. The City's legal counsel, Controller and Mayor also review these proposed incentives and provide input before they are submitted to the City Council for consideration.

As a result, projects that are approved are expected to provide additional value to the community in both tax base increases and employment.

When tax incentives are considered, what does Noblesville stand to gain by businesses relocating, staying or expanding? A larger assessed value, lower tax rates and new revenues over time to fund a variety of improvements to be made throughout the community.

The full proposal for any business incentive proposals can be found on the city website, cityofnoblesville.com, and, as always, Council members are available to answer your questions.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And there was one Anna, a prophetess, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aser: she was of a great age, and had lived with an husband seven years from her virginity; And she was a widow of about fourscore and four years, which departed not from the temple, but served God with fastings and prayers night and day. And she coming in that instant gave thanks likewise unto the Lord, and spake of him to all them that looked for redemption in Jerusalem. And when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, to their own city Nazareth. And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom: and the grace of God was upon him. Now his parents went to Jerusalem every year at the feast of the passover. And when he was twelve years old, they went up to Jerusalem after the custom of the feast. And when they had fulfilled the days, as they returned, the child Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem; and Joseph and his mother knew not of it. But they, supposing him to have been in the company, went a day's journey; and they sought him among their kinsfolk and acquaintance. And when they found him not, they turned back again to Jerusalem, seeking him. And it came to pass, that after three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions. And all that heard him were astonished at his understanding and answers. And when they saw him, they were amazed: and his mother said unto him, Son, why hast thou thus dealt with us? behold, thy father and I have sought thee sorrowing.

'Hawks hold off Tri-Central, end losing streak

Is the new year bringing a new dawn, a new day for the Sheridan boys basketball team?

One thing's for sure: The Blackhawks were feeling good after holding off Tri-Central 46-44 Friday night at Hobbs Memorial Hall in a Hoosier Heartland Conference game. The victory ended a five-game losing streak for Sheridan, after a 3-0 start.

"Ultimately, we needed to get a win," said 'Hawks coach Chris Schrank. "We've been on a little bit of a streak there, shooting ourselves in the foot, like I've said in a couple of games before. We did enough here to get a 'W.'"

"We needed to break that losing streak we were on. It's good for us to grind these out. Hopefully we'll win one here, somewhere, that will be a little easier for us. We needed to feel what that was like again."

Sheridan got off to a solid start against the Trojans, leading 10-3 after the first quarter and 22-16 at halftime. Drake Delph scored 13 points in the half, including two 3-pointers.

Sheridan extended its lead to 33-25 after three quarters. Tri-Central came back and got to within two late in the fourth period, but the 'Hawks were able to hang on. Jesse Kolb helped out with a big basket during the game's final minute, while Nick Burnell had six points in the quarter.

Delph finished the game with 20 points, while Burnell scored 10. Kolb grabbed six rebounds, with Burnell collecting five.

"We seem to get one guy, one and a half there where a guy has a good game," said Schrank. "Drake tonight had a really good game, played well. We've been that way the last couple games where we'll get one guy. We need to get everybody going at the same time. Guys contributed at the end there that we needed to. We told them at the start of the season we're going to count on those guys to do a lot for us."

The 'Hawks are 2-2 in the HHC and 4-5 overall. Sheridan is back in action tonight, hosting Fountain Central at 7:30 p.m.

'Hounds return to action with win at Center Grove

After nearly three weeks, Carmel was finally back on the court.

The Class 4A No. 2 Greyhounds played at 4A No. 8 Center Grove Friday in a big Metropolitan Conference game. Carmel used a third-quarter run to take control and beat the Trojans 47-37, keeping its perfect record intact at 8-0.

The 'Hounds led 20-18 at halftime, but then outscored Center Grove 15-7 in the third quarter, and that would be the difference in the game. Three Carmel players reached double figures, led by Andrew Owens, who threw in three 3-pointers on his way to 13 points.

John Michael Mulloy and Karsten Windlan each added 10 points. Peter Suder led the Greyhounds' rebounding with nine, followed by Owens with seven and Mulloy with six.

Carmel will play at the Eric Clark Activity Center tonight, hosting Westfield at 7:30 p.m. It will be the first time since Nov. 30 that the Greyhounds have played at home. Carmel's game with Anderson has been re-scheduled to Tuesday, Jan. 22. It was originally to be played last week, but was postponed after the Dec. 26 explosion at the high school.

Golden Eagles pick up first conference victory

Guerin Catholic picked up its first Circle City Conference win of the season on Friday, beating Bishop Chatard 60-54 at the Eagles Nest in the Golden Eagles' annual Samaritan's Feet game.

Guerin had a great defensive performance in the first quarter, holding the Trojans to three points, while scoring 10 points of its own. Chatard came back in the second period, but the Golden Eagles still led 23-18 at halftime. The Trojans were within 40-36 after three quarters, but a 20-point fourth period sealed the game for Guerin Catholic.

Kian Sills and Joseph Bobilya both scored 15 points, with Bobilya nailing three 3-pointers and Sills making two. Bernie McGuinness earned a double-double with 12 points and 11 rebounds. Bobilya handed out four assists and Sills blocked two shots.

The Golden Eagles are 1-2 in the conference and 7-5 overall. They host Bishop Luers at 4 p.m. today.

Cunningham

The Guerin Catholic girls basketball team dropped the first game of a girl-boy doubleheader to Bishop Chatard 59-40 Friday at the Eagles Nest.

The Golden Eagles led 9-6 after the first quarter, but the Trojans came back to take a 17-15 lead by halftime. Chatard then poured in 24 points in the third period while holding GC to 11, giving the Trojans a 41-26 lead and control of the game.

Guerin coach Jeff Buckner was pleased with how his team has been performing in the first half of games, but noted that "we got to find a way to match that intensity in the second half. We're starting the games well and we end them well, it's that third quarter we're kind of struggling with right now."

Nicole Cunningham scored 19 points for the Golden Eagles, including three 3-pointers.

Guerin Catholic is 4-12 and will play at Harrison on Tuesday.

Huskies stopped by Tigers on buzzer-beater

Hamilton Heights played an incredible game at Class 3A No. 2 Northwestern on Friday.

Unfortunately, an incredible shot won the game for the Tigers.

Northwestern and Heights were tied at 65-65 with seconds left in the fourth, when the Tigers' Cameron Austin hit a buzzer-beater to give his team a 68-65 win. The basket kept Northwestern undefeated at 9-0, and handed the Huskies their first loss in Hoosier Conference play this season.

Heights led 22-18 after the first quarter, with AJ Field hitting two 3-pointers on his way to 10 points. The Tigers defense allowed the Huskies just four points in the second period, and allowed Northwestern to come back and lead 28-26 at halftime.

Both teams poured in the points in the third quarter, which ended with the Tigers up 51-50. Gus Etchison got hot in that period, scoring 13 points. The game remained close in the fourth quarter, until it was finally decided by the last-second basket.

Etchison finished the game with 28 points, including three 3-pointers, and four assists. Field reached double-double status with 20 points and 10 rebounds. Brent Pennington pulled five rebounds.

The Huskies are 2-1 in the conference's East Division and 7-4 overall. Heights will play tonight at Twin Lakes.

Hot shooting, clutch plays send University to victory at Tindley

The University Trailblazers used a hot shooting first half and some clutch play to come away with a 63-52 road win over Indianapolis Tindley.

"The kids handled some adversity very well tonight" said Blazers coach Brandon Lafferman. "This is the first time we've won here. This is a very difficult place to get a win."

University established control of the game midway through the first quarter and led 26-15 after one behind ten points from junior Joe Martin. The Blazers stretched their lead to 43-31 at halftime and eventually took a 49-34 lead three minutes in to the third quarter. From there the Tigers clawed back in to the game, cutting the lead to 54-44 after three quarters. University managed only two points in the final three and a half minutes of the third - a pair of foul shots by senior Nate Shatkowski off an offensive rebound.

Shatkowski snapped a six-minute field goal drought for University on a put back with 5:46 left in the game and the Blazers still had a ten point lead at 56-46. A pair of Tindley baskets pulled the Tigers within 56-50 before Martin fed junior Jacob Sager for a layin with 3:12 left.

Tindley scored with 2:49 left to cut the lead to 58-52 before the teams turned up the defensive intensity. After a University turnover, Tindley had a chance to make it a one possession game. Shatkowski pulled down the biggest rebound of the game with 1:23 left, wrestling the ball away following a Tindley miss. University ran the clock down to 30 seconds as Tindley needed to commit three fouls to send University to the line.

Martin made a free throw for a 59-52 lead before Sam Mervis stole a pass and went in for a lay-in to ice the game at 61-52 with 21 seconds left. Camden Brown made two foul shots with eight seconds left for the final margin

"Nate Shatkowski was huge off the bench tonight" continued Lafferman. "He played good defense and helped us take care of the ball in the fourth quarter. Nate had a huge rebound at a very key time in the game. Sam Mervis and Joe Martin played good floor games as we took care of the ball in the fourth quarter."

Max Greenamoyer led University with 14 points. Martin had 13, Shatkowski nine, Sager eight and Brown seven as the Trailblazers featured balanced scoring. University was 22 for 40 from the field (55 percent) and 12 of 16 at the foul line.

The Class 1A third-ranked Trailblazers improved to 13-1 on the season. Tindley falls to 5-7.

University is next in action Friday night at Cardinal Ritter. The Trailblazers and Raiders have played five straight tight games that have been decided by a total of 19 points. The teams have played two overtime games and one three overtime game in that stretch. Ritter has won three of the five games and outscored University 334-333. The teams did not play last year after the game was postponed due to weather and could not be rescheduled. With the home court advantage factored in for Ritter

"That's a hell of a shot, Pacers head coach Nate McMillan said of Oladipo's dagger. "I don't know if he called bank on it, but I'll take it. You got to make plays and he felt it."

"I mean, he [Oladipo] had it going, so we wanted to just keep trusting him," Pacers forward Thad Young added. "He's our star. He's our guy."

It looked like the the Pacers had it wrapped up in regulation, leading by six with just 45.9 seconds left, but the Bulls stayed alive thanks to some long, desperate 3-pointers.

Bojan Bogdanovic split a pair of free throws to give Indiana a 105-102 lead with 14.3 seconds remaining. Lavine then tied the game from beyond the arc, and with just a few seconds left, Victor Oladipo was unable to get a shot off, sending the game to overtime.

Oladipo finished with 36 points and seven rebounds. Domantas Sabonis had 23 points and 12 rebounds off the bench.

Lavine scored 31 for Chicago, and Markkanen added 27 points and nine rebounds.

The glass was kind to Victor Oladipo and the Indiana Pacers Friday night, as the star guard banked in a long, game-winning 3-pointer with under a second to play in overtime to lift the Blue & Gold to a 119-116 win.

Before the game-defining shot, Indiana had its back against the wall, down 113-110 with 1:12 left. Oladipo and Myles Turner hit triples on back-to-back possessions to put the Pacers up 116-113 with 30.7 seconds to go.

But the Bulls weren't finished. Lauri Markkanen tied things up with a 3-pointer of his own, but he left Oladipo 9.3 seconds.

On what would be Indiana's final possession, Oladipo pulled up from well beyond the arc in the middle of the court and banked it in with 0.3 remaining in overtime.

The Bulls had one more chance, and Chicago's Zach Lavine made what appeared to be a game-tying triple, but after review, the referees said he didn't get it off in time, giving Indiana the victory.
