Police confirm two local dentists found shot in Carmel

The REPORTER

An ongoing death investigation in Carmel has revealed two bodies, both female, were found shot in the head.

Emergency personnel were dispatched to Sunrise on the Monon Apartments, just off Westfield Boulevard south of 99th Street, Thursday morning on a report of a cyanide gas odor.

Reports indicate neighboring apartments were immediately evacuated.

Police entered the apartment, identified as the source of the odor, and found two women, identified as Vanessa Parris, 37, and Christalia Bostos, 33, both deceased. Bostos and Parris are believed to be sisters and both were dentists practicing in the Indianapolis and Carmel area.

Investigators believe both women had been dead for several days which created the odor originally reported as cyanide gas.

Police say there was no threat to community and believe the incident to be a murder-suicide.

Hamilton County Coroner John Chalfin confirmed an autopsy was conducted on Friday, but has not released an official cause of death.

Depots, Nickel Plate Express keep rail history alive train has been running again on the Nickel Plate if only for 10 miles or so through northern Hamilton County courtesy of the Nickel Plate Heritage Railroad. The Nickel Plate Express, after a series of popular holiday runs, is set to start a new season in February.

The excursion train gives folks young and old a taste of what traveling by rail is like. But, many don't realize that it was the railroads that gave Hamilton County communities a start toward what they are today.

In the days before paved highways and air travel, it was only the railroad that could transport goods and people to and from their destinations if that destination was more than a few miles away.

In the 19th and early 20th centuries, if a community did not have a rail line, the community was not destined to thrive. A railroad depot was the nerve center of local commerce and communication with the outside world.

Thoughts from a pencil

"The pencil that you hold today is writing your story. Only when you draw your last breath will your story be written in ink."

I wrote those thoughts a few years ago. My husband reminded me of them this past week.

When you think about it, you are given a new pencil every January 1. Does your story look how you planned it? There is a good chance it doesn't.

We plan our life and then stuff happens. Some of it we can control, some we can't.

But the truth is that we, for the most part, control our pencil. Even if we hand it over to someone else, it is our decision. January 1 brings many thoughts to mind, especially questions.

What do I want to change? Do I want this chapter of my life to look like the previous ones? Am I afraid of making changes? Do I dare to pursue my dreams at this point of my life? What am I teaching my children? When is my "old" too old?

Each chapter is left blank until you begin it. Hold tight to your pencil. Let the story be your story and not the story of someone who thinks they know what is best for you.

Roy Johnson will not seek re-election, Mark Hall running to fill District 1 seat on Noblesville Common Council

The REPORTER

Roy Johnson has announced he will not seek re-election, but will retire from the Noblesville Common Council at the end of his current, third term. His last day of service will be Dec. 31, 2019.

Johnson, who served as President of the Noblesville Common Council in 2010 and 2013, has also served on almost every committee in Noblesville city government.

"It has been a tremendous honor to have been trusted to represent District One and all of Noblesville for three terms," said Johnson. "During my time of service, the administration, with the support of all the city departments, has boldly moved Noblesville from a third tier city to a second tier city. Westfield Washington Township board member to call for vote to rescind parks bond approval

Westfield Washington Township

For The Reporter

Westfield Washington Township board member David Gill has said he plans to call for a vote to rescind the board's approval to move forward with the bond series to acquire land for open space within the township.

"I am shocked and saddened to be informed of this odd and unexpected intention to rescind the bonds when we are in the middle of a public information process to provide clear and consistent education to the residents of Westfield Washington Township," said Westfield Washington Township Trustee Danielle Carey Tolan. "To call for the bonds to be rescinded during a remonstrance process is unheard of, and the implications of this decision could hurt future bond ratings and the ability of the township to issue bonds for any future fire, parks or community service projects."

Gill's change of heart comes on the heels of the board's 2-0 decision Dec. 12

This also coincides with the new term of a recently elected board member who strongly called for public input and did not want the decision made solely by the board. The 30-day period in which petitions in favor of or against the proposed park bond may be signed by registered voters or taxpayers in Westfield Washington Township is set to begin Jan. 16.

COUNTY LINE

Within Hamilton County there were once three railroads. None survive although a portion of the Nickel Plate line, as mentioned, is being used as a tourist attraction. Financial assistance comes from the county innkeepers tax.

When the Nickel Plate, the Monon and the Midland were built between 1850 and 1900, these railroads were responsible for transporting everything from mail and freight to farm crops as well as passengers. Small industries and grain processing operations were found in the communities served by rail.

Telegraph and eventually early telephone lines followed the rail right-of-way and made a railroad station telegraph office among the most important place in town.

In Hamilton County two of these old depots survive and now serve as historical museums in Carmel and Arcadia. These modest board-and-batten frame buildings are well over 100 years old. Many newer residents don't even know what these structures are.

The Carmel depot, aside the Monon Trail, is home to the Carmel Clay Historical Society. Rotating exhibits are displayed there. The Arcadia depot is the Arcadia Arts and History Center, and is located along the Nickel Plate tracks.

These depots are the last vestiges of a bygone era when the railroad was king, and along with the Nickel Plate Express, are reminders of the big part that trains played in developing the communities they served.

Sometimes I have looked around and wondered what others will say about what I am about to write when it comes to my story. The older I get the more daring I become. In other words, don't touch my pencil. It's mine.

My story looks very different than what I thought it would look like when I was 20 and looked ahead to when I was 60. Yes, 60 looked old back then.

At 48 I changed careers. At 58 I found my prince charming in the waiting room of the car dealership where I work.

What if I had not been brave enough to walk into Don Hinds Ford and ask for a job selling cars? What if I had not said "yes" when Chuck asked me out to lunch? What if I just decided I was too old to take a chance?

My story would look very different from what it does today. Yes, I held tightly to that pencil. Yes, I made the decisions and feared that I would fail, that I would get hurt again. But I did it all ... afraid.

My story looks like that which would be written for a Hallmark movie, a really good one.

I took hold of MY pencil and allowed my story to flow from my heart as well as my gumption.

Never think you are too old to write a new chapter. Never be afraid to fail because there is also a chance you will succeed and a new happiness will be found. There is beauty and adventure in the blank pages you have yet to write upon.

Never think your pencil can change someone. History is evidence of future actions. Giving someone a second chance is one thing. Giving them nine or ten is another thing. Hold tight to your pencil and write down what you want your life to look like.

Your pencil gives you power over fear. Your pencil has a beautiful story to write. Never stop writing. Never let anyone control your pencil. Never allow negative thoughts to be written by your pencil.

Guard your heart and guard your pencil from those who wish to control you.

You have so much to write. You have a new pencil. There are beautiful and powerful words yet to be written.

It's your pencil. It's your life. Write well my friend, it's not written in ink ... yet.

PARKS BOND

cannot actively participate in the process and funding for this project will be eliminated.

"Mr. Gill's contrarian decision to call for a vote to rescind the bonds could have lasting negative impacts on our community and future quality of life," said Tolan. "As the previous township trustee, Mr. Gill's 16-year administration set into motion the future vision for parks and open spaces in the township, and I hope to continue that vision."

In 2010, as Westfield Washington Township trustee, Gill authored the Parks Master Plan. In 2012, he worked to establish a Cumulative Building Park Fund for the purchase of land and development of park land which later failed in legislation. In addition, Gill contributed to and approved the 2016 Westfield Washington Township Strategic Plan & Parks Open Space Master Plan, which included exploring land acquisition and expanding park amenities – the same open space initiative he is now opposing.

The Trustee's Office encourages township residents to attend the next information fair on Monday evening to learn more about the open space initiative.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about.

But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.)

Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

- Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

You can drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, located at 14701 Tom Wood Way. You can also donate directly to Prevail of Central Indiana by visiting Prevailinc.org.

Tourism generated more than $820M in 2017 visitor spending

The REPORTER

Visitor spending in Hamilton County continues to grow, and in 2017 visitors added more than $820 million to the local economy. That's an 11.1 percent increase from 2016 when visitors spent $738.2 million, according to the Economic Impact of Tourism study just released by Rockport Analytics.

The study, in partnership with the Indiana Office of Tourism Development, measures county-level impact on tourism and found visitor spending has grown locally every year since 2012, and exponentially in the past five years.

Hamilton County Tourism President/CEO Brenda

Myers said the numbers reflect the increased opportunities, attractions and businesses in Hamilton County.

"A healthy local corporate/office base, a dynamic and growing group market, and attractions such as Grand Park, Conner Prairie and Ruoff Home Mortgage Music Center among others contribute greatly to the local economy and this tremendous growth in tourism," Myers said.

Hamilton County Tourism also invested heavily in a multi-layered marketing campaign in Chicago with TV, radio and print ads. This is in addition to social media promotions and earned media efforts locally and beyond.

The study also found visitor spending was mostly on food, beverage and retail. In addition, tourism supported 11,553 jobs including those at hotels, restaurants and attractions.

Other findings from the report include:

- Tourism generated $70 million in total federal taxes and $98.6 million in total state and local taxes;

Local taxes included $26.6 million in local property taxes.

- Overall, local taxes generated by tourism positively impact $779 per household in the county on average.

- Of the $820.1 million in direct tourism spending in the market, 34 percent was spent on food and beverage; 32 percent on retail; 16 percent on recreation and entertainment; and 12 percent on lodging.

The Rockport study uses several sources of data including Longwoods International, a panel survey of 600,000 households each year, and government sources such as the Bureau of Labor Statistics and the Indiana Office of Fiscal & Management Analysis. Private data is also used from Smith Travel Research, the industry's lodging sector data generator.

Carmel seeks to fill openings on two boards

The REPORTER

The City of Carmel is seeking interested persons and nominations for appointments to two government boards – the Carmel Plan Commission and the Carmel Clay Parks & Recreation Board. These positions offer the opportunity for residents to take an active role in the community and in Carmel city government.

The Carmel Plan Commission helps manage the city's growth and development, as well as helps the City Council develop and update City Ordinances, the Comprehensive Plan, the Thoroughfare Plan and other long-range plans for housing, transportation, neighborhood development, parks, commercial development and public facilities. Nine voting members serve on the Carmel Plan Commission. Terms are for four years.

The Plan Commission meets at 6 p.m. on the third Tuesday of every month in the Chambers of City Hall. In addition each member of the Plan Commission, except the President, is a part of either the Commercial or Residential Committee. These committees meet at 6 p.m. on the first Tuesday of every month in the Caucus rooms of City Hall.

The Carmel/Clay Board of Parks and Recreation (Park Board) was established in August 1991 through an Interlocal Cooperation Agreement between the City of Carmel and Clay Township and serves as the policy-setting body and fiduciary guardian for Carmel Clay Parks & Recreation.

In 2019, the Park Board will review and adopt the new Parks and Recreation Master Plan, which will guide future development and management of the nationally accredited and Gold Medal-winning park system through 2024. The Park Board consists of nine voting members appointed based on their interest in and knowledge of parks and recreation. The current opening is a mayoral appointment for a four-year term.

Regular meetings for the Park Board are at 6 p.m. on the second Tuesday of every month in the Monon Community Center, Multipurpose Room A. There are typically two to four additional meetings each year for topics ranging from general board training to planning input sessions.

Interested persons should send their resume and cover letter explaining why they want to serve on the Plan Commission or the Park Board to Sharon Kibbe (skibbe@carmel.in.gov) by Monday, Jan. 28.

Noblesville Diversity Coalition calls for passage of hate crimes bill

Dear Editor:

Criminals are holding Hoosiers hostage with a powerful weapon – hate.

The Noblesville Diversity Coalition joins the bipartisan coalition, Indiana Forward, in support of hate-crime legislation that is clear, inclusive and effective. The bill proposed by Representative Tony Cook (R-Cicero) that our members support would allow for stricter sentencing for convicted offenders who target victims based on their race, ethnicity, religion, national origin, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation and disability.

Contrary to the misperception that passage of this bill would create special protections for one group over another, the fact is, every single Hoosier falls into the categories that a bias-crime law can protect. For example, we all have a race, an ethnicity, a gender identity, etc. And because of this, we would all be equally covered.

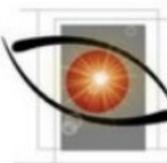

The problem of hate is very real for Hoosier communities like ours. In the last year alone, Hamilton County has experienced crimes that would qualify for stricter sentencing, such as the vandalism targeting a Jewish synagogue in Carmel and the vandalism of high schools in Noblesville and Westfield with racist threats of violence aimed at people of color.

It's important to note that such a law would in no way prohibit free speech as some opponents fear. In January 2018, a video shared on social media showed a Noblesville teenager wearing a Nazi flag draped over his shoulders as he shouted racial and ethnic slurs in Forest Park. If a law was already in place, this teenager would not face stricter sentencing or any criminal charges for that matter – because there was no crime committed. His video, while disturbing, would be protected free speech.

It's true that stricter sentences will not prevent every crime motivated by bias. Just as stricter sentences do not prevent every murder. But judges consider motivation when sentencing criminals who commit murder. The same should be true for hate crimes.

It's time for Indiana lawmakers to take a stand and provide equal protection so all Hoosiers can feel safe – wherever we live, work, learn and worship. We join with Governor Eric Holcomb and fellow Hoosiers across the state urging the Indiana General Assembly to pass bias-crime legislation.

Carmel Rotarians open year at Sullivan's

By DENISE MOE
For The Reporter

The Carmel Rotary Club held its first get-together of the year on Jan. 3 at Sullivan's Steakhouse, 3316 E. 86th St., Indianapolis. John Stanley, who served as president of the club for 2017-2018, is general manager of Sullivan's and provided exceptional appetizers.

Jon Walker, of Centier Bank, succeeded Stanley as president of the club. The presidential terms last one year and turn over following CarmelFest, the annual Fourth of July festival organized by Carmel Rotary. Shell Barger, a realtor, succeeds Brad Sexauer as Vice President for the club.

Rotary held many events in 2018. In addition to CarmelFest and the Fourth of July parade, the club hosted Bourbon Fest, which raised money for international programs, and Rock with Rotary, which raised money for community nonprofits.

Rotary helped build a playground last year in Home Place and participated in a Habitat for Humanity build. Grants were given to projects such as a car seat program and a literacy program for adults with disabilities.

Rotary meets weekly at noon on Fridays at the Woodland Country Club, 100 Woodland Lane, Carmel, just off 116th Street east of Range Line Road. Any interested members are invited. Doors open at 11:30 a.m.

Occasionally meetings are moved to different locations, so check Carmel Rotary's Facebook page for updates.

'Trucks Park Here' system debuts making Indiana interstates safer

The REPORTER

The Indiana Department of Transportation on Friday announced the launch of the Trucks Park Here system, a multi-state, regional effort to make interstate travel safer by creating a network of safe, convenient parking areas for truckers with the ability to collect and share real-time parking availability with drivers through dynamic message signs, smartphone applications and traveler information websites.

Although access to safe and convenient parking areas for trucks is essential for a robust freight transportation network, truck drivers consistently have difficulty finding areas to safely rest. Drivers who have not located parking before reaching their hours of service limits are often forced to park illegally or unsafely, often on the shoulders of highways, on and off-ramps, or at abandoned facilities.

"Freight movement is critical to Indiana's economy with more than 1.5 billion tons transported through our state each year," Indiana Department of Transportation Commissioner Joe McGuinness said. "With much of that freight moving through Indiana on our highways, providing real-time information to truckers on where to find safe parking at the end of their shifts is one of the most effective ways we can preserve safety for all motorists. INDOT is proud to join seven other states in making interstate travel safer across our region."

A 2013 study found that 83 percent of drivers routinely took longer than 30 minutes to find parking. It is estimated that the search for safe, convenient parking annually costs the country $4.4 billion and increases CO2 emissions by 3.3 million tons.

According to the National Transportation Safety Board, 30 to 40 percent of semi-truck related accidents are the result of driver fatigue. By using this system, drivers can monitor parking availability and make better-informed parking decisions as they near the limit of their federally mandated hours of service.

"A fatigued driver can be as much of a threat on the road as an intoxicated driver," said Indiana State Police Superintendent Doug Carter. "Helping professional drivers make informed decisions of when and where they can safely park and rest helps make Hoosier roads safer for every motorist."

INDOT will feature

19 sites in the Trucks Park Here system along Interstates 65, 69 and 70. These routes are among some of the most important corridors in the U.S. with truck volumes already exceeding 25,000 trucks per day and expected to grow. These high truck volumes create congestion at parking sites, making it difficult for truck traffic to easily locate safe, convenient parking during peak rest hours.

Trucks Park Here uses existing intelligent transportation systems (ITS) infrastructure and capabilities, along with emerging vehicle detection and data collection technologies, to monitor the availability of truck parking. It provides real-time information through multiple platforms to commercial vehicle operators for over 150 parking sites across the Midwest. Since over-the-road truck drivers typically travel at least 500 miles in a day, they will benefit most from this seamless system unbound by state lines and capable of future expansion to additional freight corridors and states.

Along with Indiana, Trucks Park Here sites will be deployed along major interstates in Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Development of the Trucks Park Here system began in 2016 and was funded in part by a $25 million Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery (TIGER) grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation of which Indiana received more than $4.1 million. INDOT also contributed nearly $609,000 in state matching funds.

AG Hill announces multistate settlement with for-profit education company

The REPORTER

For-profit education company Career Education Corp. (CEC) has agreed to reform its recruiting and enrollment practices and forgo collecting more than $556.5 million in debts owed by 195,136 students nationally. This agreement is part of a settlement with Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill and 48 other attorneys general. The Assurance of Voluntary Compliance filed Wednesday caps a five-year investigation.

CEC agrees to forgo any and all efforts to collect amounts owed by former students living in the states participating in the agreement. In Indiana, 2,702 students will get relief totaling $5,622,489. Nationally, the average individual debt relief will be about $2,852. CEC has also agreed to pay $5 million to the states. Indiana's share will be $2,750.

CEC is based in Schaumburg, Ill., and currently offers primarily online courses through American InterContinental University and Colorado Technical University.

CEC has closed or phased out many of its schools over the past 10 years. Its brands have included Briarcliffe College, Brooks Institute, Brown College, Harrington College of Design, International Academy of Design & Technology, Le Cordon Bleu, Missouri College and Sanford-Brown.

A group of attorneys general launched an investigation into CEC in January 2014 after receiving several complaints from students and a critical report on for-profit education by the U.S. Senate's Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee.

The attorneys general alleged that CEC pressured its employees to enroll students and engaged in unfair and deceptive practices. These practices included making misleading statements or failing to disclose information to prospective students on total costs, transferability of credits, program offerings, job placement rates and other topics. As a result, some students could not obtain professional licensure and incurrred debts that they could not repay nor discharge.

Robert McKenna, former Washington state attorney general and current partner at the San Francisco-based law firm of Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe, will independently monitor the company's settlement compliance for three years and issue annual reports. Under the agreement, CEC must:

- Make no misrepresentations concerning accreditation, selectivity, graduation rates, placement rates, transferability of credit, financial aid, veterans' benefits or licensure requirements.
- Not enroll students in programs that do not lead to state licensure when required for employment, or that due to their lack of accreditation, will not prepare graduates for jobs in their field. For certain programs that will prepare graduates for some but not all jobs, CEC will be required to disclose such to incoming students.
- Provide a single-page disclosure to each student that includes: a) anticipated total direct cost; b) median debt for completers; c) programmatic cohort default rate; d) program completion rate; e) notice concerning transferability of credits; f) median earnings for completers; and g) the job placement rate.

• Require students before enrolling to complete an Electronic Financial Impact Platform Disclosure, which provides specific information about debt burden and expected post-graduation income.

• Not engage in deceptive or abusive recruiting practices and record online chats and telephone calls with prospective students.

CEC shall analyze these recordings to ensure compliance. CEC shall not contact students who indicate that they no longer wish to be contacted.

• Require incoming undergraduate students with fewer than 24 credits to complete an orientation program before their first class that covers study skills, organization, literacy, financial skills and computer competency. During the orientation period, students may withdraw at no cost.

• Establish a risk-free trial period. All undergraduates who enter an online CEC program with fewer than 24 online credits shall be permitted to withdraw within 21 days of the beginning of the term without incurring any cost. All undergraduates who enter an on-ground CEC program shall be permitted to withdraw within seven days of the first day of class without incurring any cost.

CEC has agreed to forgo collection of debts owed to it by students who either attended a CEC institution that closed before Jan. 1, 2019, or whose final day of attendance at AIU or CTU occurred on or before Dec. 31, 2013.

Former Students with debt relief eligibility questions can call toll free at 844-783-8629 or email cecquestions@careerred.com.

Make sure your insurance protects from winter havoc

The REPORTER

The cold winter season is here and with it often comes personal injuries on ice and an increase in automobile accidents due to slick conditions on the roads. The Indiana Department of Insurance reminds you to review your insurance policies and to consider these tips during the cold winter storm season.

What to do if you are in an automobile accident

- Call the police.
- Call your insurance agent or company to report the incident as soon as possible. Ask your agent what documents, forms and data you will need. To take the stress out of filing a claim after an accident, use WRECKCHECK. It's a free smartphone app that walks you through the process of gathering information following an accident. You can then email the report directly to your insurance agent. WRECKCHECK is available for Apple and Android devices as well as in PDF form.

- Obtain the following information: The names, addresses, telephone numbers and driver's license numbers of all persons involved in the accident, and any witnesses.

- Record the time, date, location, road conditions, make and year of vehicles involved, apparent damages and injuries, and your version of what happened.

- Take notes each time you talk with your insurance company, agent, lawyers, police or others involved in the situation. Write down the dates, times, names and subjects you talked about, as well as any decisions or promises made.

- Ask your insurance company if you have coverage for a rental vehicle if your car is not drivable. Save all receipts and bills, including those from renting a car or having your car towed and/or stowed.

Check your automobile insurance for liability limits to make sure you have adequate protection against injury or damage in case you or one of your drivers causes an accident, whether it's a minor fender bender or a multi-car incident. To protect your vehicle, you should consider having the appropriate level of collision and comprehensive coverage to pay for damages to your own vehicle.

What to do if damage to your home occurs

- Call your insurance company or agent with your policy number and other relevant information as soon as possible. Cooperate fully with the insurance company, and ask what documents, forms and data you will need.

- Take photographs/video of the damage.

- Make the repairs necessary to prevent further damage to your property (i.e., cover broken windows, leaking roofs and damaged walls). Do not have permanent repairs made until your insurance company has inspected the property and you have reached an agreement on the cost of repairs.

- Save all receipts, including those from the temporary repairs covered by your insurance policy.

- If your home is damaged to the extent that you cannot live there, ask your insurance company if you have coverage for additional living expenses incurred while repairs are being made. Save all receipts to document these costs.

Your homeowners or renter's policy also can protect you against common winter debacles. If someone slips on ice on your property and is injured, your homeowners policy will pay for some medical expenses, but ask your insurance provider if you have adequate liability limits. A standard homeowners policy also will provide coverage, subject to your deductible, if your home suffers damage during a winter storm or a house fire. If you rent, your landlord may be responsible for keeping ice from the sidewalks, but check your lease carefully as the landlord may have transferred that responsibility to you.

What damage to your home is covered?

Damage caused by wind, wind-driven rain, trees or other falling objects, and the collapse of a structure due to weight of ice or snow are all covered under most standard homeowners policies. Frozen pipes as the result of extreme cold might not be covered if the damage is due to negligence, such as failing to maintain an adequate temperature in the house when the ability to do so is there. Check your policy and call your insurance agent or company if you need clarification or have specific questions.

What damage to your home is not covered?

The following events are typically not covered by the standard homeowners insurance policy:

- Interior water damage from a storm, when there is no damage to the roof or walls of your home

- Damage as the result of a flood

- Removal of fallen trees (if the trees do not land on and damage your home)

- Food spoilage due to a power outage

- Water damage from backed-up drains or sewers.

Some insurers offer endorsements (i.e., additional protection that may be purchased) for certain coverages not covered under the standard homeowner policy. Check with your agent or company to determine your needs.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And he said unto them, How is it that ye sought me? wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business? And they understood not the saying which he spake unto them. And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subject unto them: but his mother kept all these sayings in her heart. And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man.

Noblesville overcomes Muncie Central in overtime

By CRAIG ADKINS

The Noblesville Millers hadn't played a game in eight days and it seemed like they left off right where they stopped from their outstanding play in the Noblesville Holiday Tournament last week.

On Saturday night, they faced a Muncie Central squad that was both experienced and youthful and were able to come out on top in overtime against the visiting Bearcats, 47-44.

The Millers started the game at their own tempo and style of play and it worked in their favor, for a majority of the game.

It was a methodical start for both teams, but that comes with the territory when you change your game plan and scheme differently than what you're normally used to.

"We were already prepared for this. It's not the first game we played like this this season. We knew what they were about. If you get behind them, they're going to hold the ball. They're going to sit in a zone the majority of the night. We were in control of the game towards the end. We just didn't make the shots we should've made at the end and a defensive lapse would force them to get the win," said Muncie Central head coach Chandler Thompson following Saturday night's loss at Noblesville.

Noblesville led 6-3 after one period, but the Bearcats didn't score their first points until freshman Reggie Bass sank a long three from near the volleyball line as time expired.

Both teams woke up offensively in the second, but it was how they did that made the second quarter as crucial as it was.

Zack Johnson made it 8-5 with his second basket, but four consecutive free throws by Bearcats' leading scorer Victor Young helped them take a 9-8 lead, but that obviously didn't last long.

An Eagan Keever-Hill charity stripier tied it 9-9 and the Millers jumped back out in front 12-9 on a long three from the right wing by Jordan Schmidt.

Bass got more comfortable outside the arc, tying it at 12 and 15, sandwiching those treys with Keever-Hill draining one from downtown for 15-12. The '63 senior gave Noblesville a 17-15 edge that would be their last for a while.

Dylan Stafford pulled Muncie Central back ahead 18-17 on his first three from the left corner and after Young made a 19-foot jumper, the Bearcats took a 20-19 lead into halftime.

Confidence was pretty high all night long Muncie Central. After all, their head coach led them to the 1988 IHSAA boys basketball state championship, along with assistant coach Cedric Vanleer, and he was a big part of Ball State's 1990 Sweet 16 run, not to mention former NBA star Bonzi Wells, who played 12 seasons as a pro before retiring. That alone in their back pocket should build confidence amongst the Bearcats.

Muncie Central had it in their minds that they could get business done on the road after a big home win over Lafayette Jeff on Friday, 81-74.

They controlled the third on an 11-6 run and it was Victor Young's leadership and scoring that helped guide the Bearcats to a 31-25 lead after three periods.

Young scored five of those 11, along with four from Lamar Akins off of the bench.

Slowly, but surely, the Millers crept their way back and were able to tie it early in the fourth on six straight points, four from the hands of Johnson and Keever-Hill the other two to knot it 31-31.

Stafford canned an open three from the right side for 34-31, but here came the Millers right back.

Zack Johnson took a pass down low on the block from Jordan Schmidt, cutting it to one again at 34-33.

Keever-Hill returned the favor to Johnson, taking the pass and backing down his defender into the paint, putting a short jumper down for a 35-34 lead.

The Bearcats clawed back on top with Reggie Bass converting an and-1 to put Muncie Central up by two at 37-35.

The Millers went up 38-37 on a Johnson three. Nip and tuck, back and forth was the story of the fourth.

Dylan Stafford gave the Bearcats a 40-38 lead late in the fourth, but Johnson was able to tie it 40-40 on another pass on the baseline from Keever-Hill that would force overtime.

"That's what happens when you're led by a senior led team. Those guys are experienced and we're inexperienced. We had guys that played varsity last year, but they're still young, inexperienced, so this is a teaching moment for them," stated Bearcats head coach Chandler Thompson on his Noblesville's experience and his team's mix of experienced and inexperienced players.

"They were denying our wings, so Eagan had to go one-on-one and he made a nice bounce pass back to Zack and Alex Hunt. Great execution on a lot of guys' part and Eagan was certainly a big part of that," said Noblesville head coach Brian McCauley on Eagan Keever-Hill's tremendous guard play under pressure all night long.

The overtime belonged to the Millers, no matter what Muncie Central brought into it.

Johnson started it with sinking a pair of free throws. Bass would tie it 42-42 with his own trip to the line.

The turning point of overtime was when Johnson fed a pass to Alex Hunt on the right block. Hunt went up for the shot, converting the layup and got fouled. He made the free throw to go up 45-42.

Muncie Central would get back within one at 45-44 on Young's 10-foot jump shot.

Hunt came to the rescue again to seal the deal. Keever-Hill dropped a pass down to Hunt and he put in his second field goal, scoring all five of his points in the extra period, giving Noblesville a 47-44 win in overtime.

"I'm really proud of our effort tonight. This is a huge confidence builder. To beat a good, athletic team, I'm really proud of them," stated McCauley on his team's overall effort.

The loss splits the weekend for Muncie Central (4-7) and they'll get back to North Central Conference play on January 11, hosting Richmond (7-7).

The Bearcats were led by a team-high 14 from the frosh Reggie Bass. He was joined in double-figures by Victor Young with 13 and Dylan Stafford added nine.

Noblesville (7-5) has won three of its last four and will get back to their Hoosier Crossroads Conference schedule, hosting Zionsville (9-3) on January 11 as the second game of the girls/boys varsity doubleheader.

The Millers were led by Zack Johnson's game-high 19, along with Eagan Keever-Hill's 12 points and eight assists.

Owens scores 32 in Carmel's win over Westfield

A sensational shooting performance from senior Andrew Owens propelled Carmel to a win in its first home game in several weeks on Saturday.

The Class 4A No. 2 Greyhounds beat county rival Westfield 76-50 at the Eric Clark Activity Center, their first game there since Nov. 30. Carmel slowly built its lead over the course of the game, going up 18-9 after the first quarter and 42-26 at halftime.

Owens led the way for the 'Hounds, scoring a career-high 32 points. He hit a 3-pointer in the first quarter, then let loose in the second period for 19 points, including four triples. Owens then added 10 more points in the third quarter; with two more 3s, Owens totaled seven long-range baskets for the night.

"I thought I shot it well," said Owens. "My teammates got me open." Owens said he felt confident in the game, after a good performance against Center Grove on Friday.

John Michael Mulloy added 18 points and also led the boards with seven rebounds. Owens pulled five rebounds. Karsten Windlan dished out seven assists.

"I thought we shot the ball well," said Carmel coach Ryan Osborn. "I thought out execution was good."

Senior Zach Banks scored 17 points for Westfield, hitting three 3s along the way, and also handed out four assists. Freshman Braden Smith scored 15 points, including four 3s. Benji Welch collected four rebounds.

Carmel remains undefeated at 9-0 and hosts Cathedral on Wednesday. The Shamrocks travel to Hamilton Southeastern on Friday for a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game with the Royals.

Shamrocks grind out win at Hamilton Heights

Westfield won a defensive battle at Hamilton Heights Saturday afternoon, by the score of 27-20.

The Huskies led for most of the game, going up 7-2 after the first quarter and 11-6 at halftime. Heights was still up 17-11 after three quarters, but the Shamrocks took over after that, dominating the fourth quarter.

Westfield got it done from the free throw line, making 12 of 16 foul shots in the fourth period. Jade Shipley went 7-of-8, while freshman Olivia Robey was 2-for-2. Shipley and Ava Henson were tied for the Shamrocks' leading scorer with nine points each.

Alyssa Crockett pulled six rebounds, and also blocked two shots. Henson had three blocks.

"We tried to make some adjustments at halftime where we could flash up in the high post, hit that high post, maybe hit a diagonal, do some different things," said Westfield coach Ginny Smith. "More than anything else, just try to get people moving."

"The kids were incredible," said Smith. "They never let down, they never gave up. We never thought we were not going to win that game. We were just playing from behind the whole time. I thought it was a great team effort."

Lauryn Wiley led Heights with eight points, including two 3-pointers. Bayleigh Runner led the rebounding with seven, while Wiley collected six rebounds.

"We're not about moral victories, but a lot of credit to Westfield and their girls, their coaching staff," said Huskies coach Keegan Cherry. "There in the second half, particularly late, they got into us. That pressure bothered us, we turned the basketball over, I think seven, eight times there. When your margin of error is slim, you can't have those stretches."

The Shamrocks are 14-4 and will play at Greenwood on Tuesday. The Huskies are 7-9 and also on the road Tuesday, playing at Western in a Hoosier Conference game.

The Hamilton Southeastern boys (above) and the Fishers girls (below) were the team champions at the Hoosier Crossroads Conference swimming and diving meet, which took place Saturday at the Tigers' aquatic center.

Royals boys, Tigers girls win HCC championships

It was another split decision Saturday for the Hamilton Southeastern and Fishers swimming and diving teams, this time at the Hoosier Crossroads Conference meet, which took place at the Tigers' aquatic center.

Fishers won the girls meet, while HSE won the boys meet. Both schools also won multiple events in each division, and are now starting the process of preparing for the sectional, which is less than four weeks away.

"We just had one goal, and that was to try to treat the Thursday dual meet and today's conference meet as a warm-up for sectionals," said Royals coach Andy Pedersen. "So we had one goal, and that was to be better today than we were on Thursday. I thought across the board, on the girls and the guys side, that we were better than we were Thursday. So we were super proud of the kids for that. They showed up ready to go and they were tough to race today."

"Based on what the objectives were, the expectations, I thought they swam great," said Tigers coach Joe Keller of his team.

Keller also said that his team was treating this meet as a prelim-final type of event, which is the same format as the sectional.

"We didn't want to really try to take any kind of rest, reprieve," said Keller. "We wanted to just come in and have to race tough, and for them to race tired. So with that said, I was really pleased with their performance."

The Tigers' girls scored 487 points to Southeastern's 409. Noblesville finished fifth with 189 points and Westfield was sixth with 182.

Hannah Pratt was a double winner for Fishers, taking the 200 and 100 freestyles. Ellen Fero finished first in the 50 free, with Sam Hietpas winning the 500 free. The Tigers also won the 200 and 400 freestyle relays.

Southeastern started the meet with a victory in the medley relay, then collected a win from Hannah Pugh in the individual medley. Sarah Ballard also won diving for the Royals; that event took place on Friday.

The Royals' Sammy Huff picked up a win in the breaststroke. The Shamrocks' Macy Hoaglan finished third in the 200 free.

In the boys meet, Southeastern picked up the team championship with 427 points, followed by Fishers with 367. Westfield finished sixth with 187 points, and Noblesville was seventh with 170.

The Royals swept all three relays, and also got a diving victory from freshman AJ Ricafort. Meanwhile, the Tigers got a double win from Aaron Frolo in the 200 and 500 freestyles.

Jack Wolfred led the Millers with runner-up finishes in the 50 and 100 freestyles. Cameron Clayton finished third for the Shamrocks in the breaststroke.
