Westfield Washington Township board votes down parks bond series

The REPORTER

The Westfield Washington Township board on Tuesday voted 2-1 to cancel the parks bond series to acquire land for open green space and natural areas within the township. Board members David Gill and Erica Strahm voted the bond and land acquisition, while board member Danyele Easterhaus voted in favor of both.

This decision comes after the board unanimously approved two real estate purchase agreements on Dec. 20 pending the outcome of the petition drive to approve the bonds.

"I'm confused by this odd move to rescind the bonds," said Westfield Washington Township Trustee Danielle Carey Tolan. "It's disappointing that the will of the people cannot be heard and acted upon through the democratic process set forth through the remonstrance."

The Westfield Washington Township board voted 2-0 on Dec. 12 to move forward to petition in favor of the $15 million park bond series after a remonstrance against the bond was filed. The bonds would have provided funding for land acquisition to preserve open spaces and natural areas, specifically near MacGregor Park, as land became available for sale. The 30-day period in which petitions in favor of or against the proposed park bond was set to begin Jan. 16.

"I'm frustrated by the vote and outcome of today's meeting that ends this process for the public to have their voice heard and the project to acquire land at this time," said Tolan. "Despite this setback, I look forward to continuing the vision set forth in the township's strategic plan and carrying out the desires of the residents of Westfield Washington Township."

More than 40 people attended the board meeting where board member Easterhaus invited them to share their opinions on board member David Gill's motion to rescind the bond. A total of 11 people spoke, with seven people sharing opinions in favor of continuing the petition drive and four people opposed.

The last information fair scheduled for today has been canceled. The Westfield Washington Township Trustee's Office thanks residents for their interest and participation in the process.

Carmel City Council reorganizes for 2019

The REPORTER

This week's meeting of the Carmel City Council was the first of the year for 2019 and the first to be presided over by new leadership. The City Council has reorganized for the new year, electing Jeff Worrell as President and Laura Campbell as Vice President for one-year terms. Outgoing President Kevin Rider was acknowledged for his leadership over the past 12 months with a special plaque Monday night.

In addition to those changes, Anthony Green has been appointed Chair of the Land Use Committee, Sue Finkam was reappointed Chair of the Finance Committee and Kevin Rider was appointed to be the Council's representative on the Carmel Redevelopment Commission, replacing Jeff Worrell.

"We have an exciting year ahead of us in 2019 and I look forward to serving in my new role as President of the City Council," said Worrell, who represents the Southeast District of the City. "I want to thank my fellow Councilors for having the faith in me to serve in this leadership role."

The Carmel City Council is comprised of seven members elected to four-year terms: Two at-large members and five elected members from five districts throughout the city. The City Council constitutes the legislative body of the city. It has power over the city budget and passes city ordinances and resolutions.

The Carmel City Council meets at 6 p.m. on the first and third Monday of each month. They are open to the public. Click here to watch the meetings live online.

Hamilton County receives $500K to fight opioid abuse

The REPORTER

Hamilton County has been awarded two state grants from the Department of Mental Health and Addictions as well as a federal grant from the Bureau of Justice Assistance to help individuals in Hamilton County struggling with opioid abuse.

The federal grant is a two-year grant totaling $490,343. It runs through Sept. 30, 2020. The money is earmarked for the creation of Opioid Quick Response Teams (QRT).

"The QRTs will work with overdose patients that have been revived with Narcan," said Monica Greer, Executive Director for the Hamilton County Council on Alcohol and Other Drugs.

"They will visit their homes within 48-72 hours to check on the individual, identify needs and provide recovery support. The goal of the program is to get the patients into treatment."

QRT members will also canvas communities, going door to door to provide opioid resources to the community. The QRT will consist of a law enforcement officer, firefighter

The Noblesville Police Department is proud to announce the graduation of Lieutenant Eric Cunningham from the 274th Session of the FBI National Academy in Quantico, Va.

Lt. Cunningham graduated from the 10-week training program on Dec. 14. This was the 274th session of the National Academy and consisted of 249 law enforcement officers from all 50 states, District of Columbia, 23 international countries, five military organizations and seven federal civilian organizations.

The FBI National Academy is a professional course of study for U.S. and international law enforcement managers nominated by their agency heads because of demonstrated leadership qualities. The program - which provides coursework in intelligence theory, terrorism and terrorist mindsets, management science, law enforcement communication and forensic science - serves to improve the administration of justice in police departments and agencies at home and abroad and to raise law enforcement standards, knowledge and cooperation worldwide.

The City of Carmel ended 2018 with a $56.8 million operating balance for all funds. This is a $3.6 million increase in the all funds year-end operating balance over the previous year.

"We work very hard to manage the city's finances prudently," said Mayor Jim Brainard. "We approach the budget process much like the private sector in that we perform budget forecasting 10 years out to ensure that we can accomplish our goals and keep our tax rate among the lowest in the state."

The general fund operating balance for the year ending 2018 was $11.5 million. This was an increase of the year-end operating balance for the general fund from the previous year of more than $7 million. Much of the money returned to the budget was the result of under spending by City Departments.

Reader notes population vs. debt comparison for three county cities

Dear Editor:
Year-end postings with the Indiana Department of Local Government Finance yield an interesting comparison among Fishers, Carmel and Westfield.

Fishers has about the same population as Carmel (91,832 and 92,198 according to U.S. Census Bureau estimates). Westfield's population is 39,493.

Total debt (according to the Indiana Department of Local Government Finance) is $1.3 billion for Carmel; $420 million for Fishers and $144 million for Westfield.

Per household, Carmel's debt is $38,064; Fishers, $31,500 and Westfield, $12,520. If that exposure were a lien against your property, you can see how you'd net out after selling the same $300,000 home in each town, for instance.

and certified peer recovery coach.

"The recovery coach will be someone who is in recovery themselves," Greer noted. "So, we're hoping they'll be more effective in encouraging patients to seek treatment. A lot of people in these situations want to get help, but when you are suffering from opioid addiction and going through withdrawals, it can be incredibly difficult to stick to the recovery program."

Federal grant money will be used to pay staff as well as to purchase Narcan, provide prevention kits, and create school resource guides, pamphlets and brochures.

The two state grants, awarded by the Indiana Division of Mental Health and Addictions, provide $50,000 each for training QRT members in Westfield and Carmel. The grants run through April 30, 2019. The grants will create a Community Opioid Prevention Effort (COPE) coalition. Members will also compile program data and provide community mapping for areas with a high frequency of opioid abuse. The cities of Westfield and Carmel were selected for these grants because they already have health programs in place to build upon.

"These programs will be a great place to jump off from," Greer said. "The quick response teams in these two cities have been working for a couple of months now, so we'll be able to take what we've learned there and apply it throughout the County with the federal grant in the near future."

Hamilton County first-responders administered 300 doses of Narcan in 2017 alone. Greer hopes these grants will help keep offenders out of jail and off the streets: "We don't want to punish them for their behavior," she said. "We want to get them the treatment they need. We want to save lives."

PREVAIL

Advocating for Victims of Crime and Abuse

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about.

But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.)

Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

You can drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, located at 14701 Tom Wood Way. You can also donate directly to Prevail of Central Indiana by visiting Prevailinc.org.

Fishers forms new Arts & Culture Commission

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

The City of Fishers has taken a major step forward in encouraging the arts and artists with the formation of the Fishers Arts & Culture Commission. The City Council approved the creation of this group and Mayor Scott Fadness appointed its seven members.

Tuesday night, the commission got down to work.

This session was more orientation than anything else, with city staff members explaining how they will support the commission in its work.

Tony Bagato, Director of Planning and Zoning for the city, explained how the commission will be involved in the art work featured in new construction of commercial developments, such as the Flexware building now under construction next to the library and the large development under construction near Interstate 69 and 116th Street, The Yard.

Commission members had a number of questions and listened carefully to the staff briefings.

The commission will vote on a president and vice president at its first official meeting set for March 12.

This commission begins a new era of arts and cultural activism in Fishers. With the downtown Nickel Plate District designated by the state as an Indiana cultural district, there is much to do.

Here are the members of the Fishers Arts & Culture Commission:

- Cecilia Coble, City of Fishers Councilwoman
- David Decker, Owner of ACo and Co-Founder of Hub & Spoke
- Jeremiah Follis,

Teacher at HSE High School, Founder of Olio Productions, and Sculptor

• Kathryn Haigh, Chief Operating Officer at Newfields

• Chris Lingner, Founding Company Member of the Indianapolis Ballet

• Marisol Sanchez, Vice President, General Counsel at Endress+Hauser, Inc. USA

• Jocelyn Vare, Owner of Propeller Marketing, Former President of Fishers Arts Council, Nickel Plate Arts Board Member, and President of Fishers Music Works

Carmel Festival of Ice celebrates art of ice sculpting with three-day event

The REPORTER

Seven of the top ice carvers from around the Midwest will bring their tools and their talents to Carmel this weekend for three days of ice carving competitions and demonstrations as the City of Carmel presents the second annual Festival of Ice, a fun and free event on Friday, Saturday and Sunday at two locations.

Beginning on Main Street Friday night and moving to the Ice at Center Green on Saturday and Sunday, visitors will get the chance to watch the creation of magnificent sculptures come to life right before their eyes – while enjoying hot soups and cold suds from Arts & Design District restaurants on Friday; hot chili from the Carmel Fire Department and a unique ice bar from Danny Boy Beer Works on Saturday; wrapping up the weekend on Sunday with an exciting “carve-off” competition featuring head-to-head, fast-paced carvings on stage at Center Green.

“Carmel loves to celebrate the arts, whether it’s a summer day on Main Street or a winter day around the ice rink,” said Nancy Heck, Director of Community Relations and Economic Development. “This weekend is a rare opportunity to witness the art of creating beauty from a simple block of ice. But make sure you come early; these sculptures might not stay frozen for long, thanks to the mild temperatures we’ve been experiencing.”

The professional sculptors, who compete in similar competitions around the Midwest each year, include Greg Butauski, Sunbury, Ohio; Jeff Petercsak, Westerville, Ohio; Lauren Klapeck, White Lake, Mich.; Matthew Stoddart, Lexington, Ky.; Michael Stoddart, Lexington, Ky.; Shannon Gerasimchik, Columbus, Ohio; and Stephan Koch, Daleville, Ind. Several of these pros are making their second appearance in Carmel.

Friday night’s ice carving will take place on select street corners up and down Main Street from 4 to 8 p.m. Knowing the potential for a cold winter night, several restaurants will be offering special “soups and suds” to enjoy. They include Muldoon’s Homemade Irish Stew and a Pint of Guinness ($10 special); Woody’s Library Roasted Tomato Bisque topped with balsamic glaze and All-American Cheeseburger soup topped with oven baked croutons, plus $1 off draft beers; Pint Room’s Chili and Side Salad ($8) and Bier Brewery Wizard Tears IPA ($6); Donatello’s Italian meatball soup with Moretti and Moretti Rossi beer for $4; Agave Chicken Tortilla Soup/Vegetable Soup with Cabernet Sauvignon and Sam Adams Winter Lager; MudBugs’ 15 percent off any gumbos or other entrees or a free order of beignets with any regular entree or poboy purchase.

Saturday morning kicks off at Center Green with “Ice Sculpting 101” where you can sign up and take an actual class to learn the art of sculpting; followed by giant-sized carving demonstrations and competition from noon to 5 p.m.; the Firehouse Chili Cook-Off presented by Citizens State Bank from noon to 3 p.m.; Ice Bar and Luge presented by Danny Boy Beer Works (21 and

Brooks’ biodefense bill passes U.S. House

The REPORTER

On Tuesday, the U.S. House of Representatives voted to pass H.R. 269, the Pandemic and All Hazards Preparedness and Advancing Innovation Act of 2019 (PAHPA), a bill introduced by Congresswomen Susan W. Brooks (R-Ind.-05) and Anna Eshoo (D-Calif.-18) along with Energy and Commerce Committee Chairman Frank Pallone, Jr. (D-N.J.-06) and Ranking Member Greg Walden (R-Ore.-02).

PAHPA is critically important legislation to ensure our nation is better prepared for and able to keep Americans safer in response to natural disasters or biological, chemical, radiological or nuclear threats to our public health and national security.

“Biological threats, such as Ebola, smallpox or the anthrax attacks on Congress after Sept. 11, 2001, can devastate communities, whether occurring naturally or manufactured into weapons of mass destruction by nation states or terrorist organizations,” said Brooks. “PAHPA improves our federal response to public health and national security threats by working to close the gaps in our emergency preparedness and response plans. It ensures we have more medical professionals trained to keep people safe in the event of a natural disaster or if an attack were to take place. It also ensures equipment, such as hazmat suits, masks and vaccines, is available in our Strategic National Stockpiles located across the country. PAHPA was first signed into law in 2006, and I am proud this reauthorization bill reflects extensive feedback from medical and public health preparedness and response stakeholders so we can better prepare for and combat the known threats of today and the unknown threats of tomorrow.”

For a section-by-section summary of the legislation, click here.

To read the text of the legislation, click here.

Brooks and Eshoo are co-founders of the Congressional Biodefense Caucus. The Caucus serves as a platform to educate Members of Congress and their staff on the very real threats our nation faces from a chemical, biological, radiological or nuclear attack or pandemic outbreak. It also aims to identify the existing gaps in our preparedness and response capabilities.

Noblesville City Judge Matt Cook was the first candidate on the first day of filing for office in the 2019 municipal election. But, Cook, the incumbent judge, was far from the only one to show up Wednesday at the county elections office. In all there were 33 hopefuls in line for the May 7 primary. All but one are Republicans.

Three candidates for mayor of Noblesville – Julia Kozicki, Chris Jensen and Mike Corbett – made their plans officially known. They will seek to succeed retiring Mayor John Ditslear.

Noblesville's candidates for other city offices also filing include City Clerk Evelyn Lees, City Council candidates Terry Busby, Pete Schwartz, Rick Taylor, Wil Hampton, Greg O'Connor, Megan Wiles, Brian Ayer, Mark Boice and Darren Peterson.

Similarly, most of Carmel's incumbent officials filed on the first day including Mayor Jim Brainard and city council members Bruce Kimball, Sue Finkam, Laura Campbell, Ron Carter, Kevin Rider and Jeff Worrell. Sue Wolfgang filed for clerk. A lone Democrat, Miles Nelson, filed for the Carmel council.

Signing up for office in Fishers were City Clerk candidate Jackie Bowen and council candidates Eric Moeller, Brad DeReamer, Mike Colby, David George, Cecilia Coble and Todd Zimmerman.

Westfield Clerk Treasurer Cindy Gossard and councilman Jim Ake filed, as did Sheridan town council hopeful Daniel Bragg.

Filing continues until noon on Feb. 8.

Mike Corbett files as candidate for Noblesville mayoral election

The REPORTER

Mike Corbett filled out paperwork Wednesday morning to officially enroll as candidate for Noblesville Mayor in the 2019 Republican primary.

“What an honor to raise my hand and declare my candidacy,” said Corbett. “I’m looking forward to a stimulating and informative campaign season.”

Corbett launched his campaign in September based on five core principles:

1. A commitment to the people of Noblesville to make their city government more transparent, inclusive and responsive.
2. A commitment to maintain small town values, emphasizing responsible development, a preference for locally-owned businesses, and a dense and thriving urban core.
3. A recognition that historic preservation isn’t something to be tolerated but something to be celebrated and promoted as an economic and cultural development strategy.

4. A sense of urgency in infrastructure development, gaining ground that’s been lost over the past decade.

5. A healthy respect for the taxpayer, who is currently paying some of the county’s highest taxes.

“The outpouring of support since our campaign launch has been truly remarkable,” said Corbett. “People are ready for change.”

The primary is May 7.

Background

Mike Corbett has been involved in Noblesville affairs for more than a decade as a citizen, volunteer and business owner. He’s a member of the boards of directors for Noblesville

Main Street and Noblesville Preservation Alliance and a former director for Hamilton County Area Neighborhood Development (HAND) and Promising Futures (Hamilton Centers Youth Service Bureau). He’s a current member and former president of the Noblesville Midday Rotary Club and serves on the Southwest Quad Action Team.

Corbett is a graduate of the Hamilton County Leadership Academy and the Noblesville Schools Ambassador Program. He was honored last year as one of United Way’s 100 Heroes. He holds a BA in Broadcast Journalism and an MBA.

Corbett’s company, Hamilton County Media Group, publishes the Hamilton County Business Magazine and the Welcome to Hamilton County Community Guide.

Chris Jensen files as candidate for Noblesville mayoral election

The REPORTER

On Wednesday, surrounded by family, Chris Jensen officially filed to be on the Republican ballot for Mayor of Noblesville in the May 2019 primary.

“I have been overwhelmed and humbled by the support we have received since announcing this candidacy in June,” Jensen said. “Residents of Noblesville are excited about a fresh new vision for our city’s next chapter and I am ready to continue working to earn your vote. With your support, we can continue to build a Noblesville that invests in infrastructure, develops a strong workforce, protects and enhances our historic downtown and transforms how we approach public safety.”

Jensen is a lifelong Noblesville resident and serves as a member and past president of the Noblesville Common Council. He serves on the board of the Noblesville High School Alumni Association and Nickel Plate Arts.

Jensen and his wife, Julie, are volunteers and members at Grace Church in Noblesville. They are both Butler University graduates and are parents to CJ, Vivian and Hank.

Fishers City Councilor Todd Zimmerman files for re-election

The REPORTER

Todd Zimmerman announced on Wednesday he will seek another term on the Fishers city council. He filed with the Hamilton County clerk and will run at large.

As 2018 Fishers City Council President, Zimmerman helped Fishers become one of the most fiscally responsible cities in the state, invested in teachers and passed funding to improve the city’s roads. He says his leadership on the council and in the city has been foundational to the economic success across the city.

Zimmerman has played an integral role support Fishers’ initiative for mental health. He established the InterFaith Mental Health Group to bring a variety of faith based leaders together. The goal of the group is to help find solutions and support for Fishers residents struggling with various mental health issues.

Fishers’ teachers are a top priority for Zimmerman. Along with Councilor Eric Moeller, Zimmerman co-founded the Zimmerman/Moeller Fund to support teachers in the Hamilton Southeastern School Foundation.

In his next term, Zimmerman will continue to build upon his work with Fishers’ mental health initiative. To Zimmerman, the future of Fishers includes opportunities for all residents to come together to address and battle mental health. In addition, Zimmerman also will maintain Fishers’ fiscally sound position and looks forward to the continued downtown development and economic opportunities for the city.

Zimmerman is energized by the growth in the city, saying, “I moved to Fishers when I was only 16 years old and remember shopping with my mom at Archers Grocery. I love calling Fishers my home and am excited for its future.”

Zimmerman is an active member of the community as a youth basketball and baseball coach and a Youth Mentoring Initiative mentor.

Zimmerman is currently a commercial insurance advisor for Brown & Brown Insurance where he focuses on loss prevention and asset protection. He attended Anderson University and lives in Fishers with his wife of 19 years, Nikki, and three sons Joshua, Elijah and Benji.

Fishers City Councilor Eric Moeller files for re-election

The REPORTER

Fishers City Councilor Eric Moeller has announced he is seeking another term representing Fishers’ North Central council district. He officially filed with the Hamilton County Clerk on Wednesday.

Over the past four years, Councilor Moeller has been a steady voice for fiscal responsibility and advancing residents’ quality of life in the city. Moeller was Chair of the City Council Finance Committee when Fishers achieved a AAA bond rating status. Fishers is one of only a few cities in the state to receive this top rating.

Working with At-Large Councilor Todd Zimmerman, Moeller helped create the Zimmerman/Moeller Fund at the Hamilton Southeastern Schools Foundation to support the city’s teachers.

“Listening to what our residents want and collaborating to find solutions, we have been able to achieve important outcomes for Fishers,” said Moeller. “From supporting our schools and our teachers – to investing in infrastructure and amenities – we are making this a better city to live, work and play.”

Moeller says he is eager to help Fishers continue to be an innovative and vibrant city.

“The next four years are critical as we work to strengthen our impact with neighborhoods. I want to find ways the city can partner with HOAs to assist with public safety needs, neighborhood improvement and beautification projects.”

Moeller continued, “As we continue to improve city services, I believe we will see positive impacts from rebuilding Fishers Fire Stations 91 and 93, launching the Geist Waterfront Park, and the Nickel Plate Trail.”

Moeller is currently Assistant Vice President of Finance at FORUM Credit Union and holds a B.S. in Finance from IUPUI and an M.B.A. from Anderson University. He lives in Fishers with his wife, Beth, and two kids, Sophie and Joshua. As a family they enjoy using and visiting the Fishers Parks and the Hamilton East Public Library.

Noblesville City Councilor Wil Hampton files for re-election

The REPORTER

A new year brings the 2019 election cycle into full swing and on Wednesday District 4 Common Councilman Wil Hampton wasted little time in officially signing up to enter the race for the seat he currently holds.

“I really love representing our neighbors in District 4,” Hampton said. “I want to keep working to help shape the future of our great city.”

The Noblesville neighborhoods in this district include parts of north 10th Street, Potters Woods, Fairfield Farms, Westridge, Dove Nest, Whitcomb Ridge, Morse Pointe and South Harbour.

Hampton admits he likes “the grass roots part of this job” the most: “See a problem, fix it.” Hampton continued, “Have a question, find an answer. I believe that’s why we sign up for this. It’s an honor to serve our community.”

Hampton, a Republican, is currently the Vice President of the nine-member council and is also the chair of the economic development committee. Other committee assignments over the first three years of his term include the finance committee, public safety, roads and parks. Hampton has also served as the council liaison for the city court and public safety, as well as the Noblesville Planning Commission.

It’s been a busy three years. His accomplishments include: The Levinson downtown living/parking project, Finch Creek Fieldhouse, improved infrastructure, and new trail projects including the Little Chicago Road Trail that helped connect many west side residents to the Midland Trace.

Hampton is also very proud that crime rates have fallen and he points directly to the establishment of the POP Unit (a specialized unit this current council helped bring to NPD in 2016) within the Noblesville Police Department as a major factor. “I will continue to work on growth and progress while protecting the hometown charm we all love,” Hampton said.

Hampton, a longtime sports-caster on television and radio with WISH-TV 8, the Indianapolis Colts and Ball State University, is currently a Client Development Specialist for The ELAM Group and 21ology, two Noblesville businesses that are housed together in the old Federal Hill School building in the heart of District 4. Hampton also continues on the administrative team for NewDay Network, an addiction recovery center. Hampton has served on the Noblesville Schools Education Foundation since 2007 and was the chairman of the Educate Noblesville PAC that led to school expansion and brought IVY Tech to Noblesville. He was also in the inaugural class of Miller Ambassadors.

Hampton is an active member of Our Lady of Grace Church (OLG) where he teaches religious education. He has also coached youth sports since 1999 for CYO, Noblesville Youth Baseball, Noblesville Babe Ruth and Noblesville Boys and Girls Club.

His wife of 31 years, Becky, is OLG’s Coordinator of Elementary Religious Education. They have three children, John, Will and Maggie, all Noblesville High School graduates.

Hampton can be reached at whampton5@gmail.com and is excited to hear from anyone who has questions or wants to get involved with his 2019 campaign.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

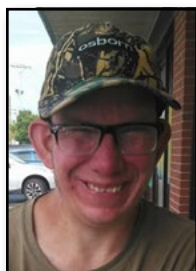

Then said he to the multitude that came forth to be baptized of him, O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come? Bring forth therefore fruits worthy of repentance, and begin not to say within yourselves, We have Abraham to our father: for I say unto you, That God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham. And now also the axe is laid unto the root of the trees: every tree therefore which bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire. And the people asked him, saying, What shall we do then? He answereth and saith unto them, He that hath two coats, let him impart to him that hath none; and he that hath meat, let him do likewise.

Greyhounds hold firm against Cathedral's pressure

By RICHIE HALL
CARMEL - There's little doubt that Carmel's Wednesday showdown with Cathedral at the Eric Clark Activity Center was one of the more physical game the Greyhounds have had all season.

Class 4A No. 2-ranked Carmel had to contend with the 4A No. 4 Irish's pressure for the entire contest. But thanks to balanced scoring and a superb night from the free throw line, the 'Hounds won 71-56, keeping their unbeaten record intact at 10-0.

"This game was hard to get into a flow," said Carmel coach Ryan Osborn. "It's a good home win for us. Our schedule doesn't get easier."

The Greyhounds never trailed in the game, scoring the first four points on a basket from Andrew Owens and two foul shots by John Michael Mulloy. That was enough to allow some separation for Carmel in the first quarter, although Cathedral cut the lead to one point on two occasions. But both times, the 'Hounds hit a 3-pointer to get the lead back to four - Karsten Windlan's trey put Carmel up 9-5, then Andrew Owens sent one in to give the Greyhounds a 14-10 lead.

Ross Welch hit two free throws with 4.8 seconds left in the first quarter to put the Irish within 14-12, then hit a floater early in the second to tie the game at 14-14. That would be the only tie of the game, as Carmel went on an 8-0 run after that. Owens scored on a layin, Luke Heady made a pair of foul shots, then Mulloy added four points to complete the run.

Mulloy wound up with eight points in the period, and the 'Hounds needed every one of them to stay ahead. Cathedral continued to press, but could never get any closer than one point. Owens hit a 3 with seconds left in the half to give Carmel a 31-26 halftime lead.

The game stayed close until the middle of the third quarter. The Irish were within 38-35, but the Greyhounds broke it open with a 10-0 run. Windlan scored the final seven points of the run, putting Carmel up 48-35.

"I thought the guards did a good job of Carmel's Karsten Windlan scored 20 points for the Greyhounds in their 71-56 win over Cathedral Wednesday at the Eric Clark Activity Center. The victory keeps Carmel unbeaten this season at 10-0.

having better spacing and better patience," said Osborn. "We fought their pressure in the first half, and they do a good job of getting up and pressuring, speeding you up. I thought we played into their hands in the first half, just speeding us up and forcing us into some quick shots that were contested in the lane.

"But in the second half, I thought overall our spacing and our patience were better, which led to, in most times, Karsten with the ball in his hands and a little bit more space. But I thought Karsten did a good job of making good decisions."

Carmel led 48-37 going into the fourth quarter. Cathedral kept pushing, with its star guard Armaan Franklin scoring 15 points in that period. But by then the Irish were fouling, and Carmel got it done from the line, making 16 of 20 free throws in that period.

There were a large number of fouls called in the game - Cathedral had 28, Carmel had 23. Overall, the 'Hounds were 30 of 37 from the line.

Windlan led the scoring with 20 points, while Owens added 18. Mulloy was especially dominant, with a double-double of 19 rebounds, 17 points, plus three blocked shots. Heady scored all nine of his points from the free throw line, with Robert Fry coming off the bench to play tough and add three points. Freshman Peter Suder scored four points.

"They all gave us something at different points in the game," said Osborn. "I thought Luke did a great job of handling their pressure and being smart, getting to the free throw line. Robert came in and had a spurt in the third quarter. I thought he was aggressive and confident, got in the line a couple times."

Carmel will host Bishop Dwenger on Saturday evening. The game will be an hour earlier than normal, with the junior varsity at 5 p.m. and the varsity at 6:30 p.m.

Carmel girls overwhelm Anderson

The Carmel girls basketball team shrugged off a slow start to overwhelm Anderson 88-55 in a Wednesday away game.

The Indians led the Greyhounds 20-19 after the first quarter. Carmel then scored 23 points in each of the next three periods, while holding Anderson to 35 points during that time. The 'Hounds led 42-33 at halftime.

Macy Berglund had an exceptional game, scoring 22 points on 9-of-9 shooting from the field and a 4-of-4 performance from the free throw line. Kate Clarke added 13 points, with Bridget Dunn and Reagan Hune both pouring in 12 points.

Dunn led the rebounds with nine, with Riley Pennington collecting five rebounds. Carmel had 23 team assists; Kiara Gill dished out five, while Sophie Bair and Tally Seitz each handed out four.

The Greyhounds are 8-9 and host Kokomo tonight in a make-up game that was originally scheduled for Dec. 27, but was postponed after the explosion at the high school.

'Blazers beat Burris, clinch PAAC North title

Li Snyder

University sailed to an 85-33 win at Muncie Burris on Wednesday, in a game that clinched an undefeated Pioneer Conference North (4-0) division championship for the Class 1A No. 3 Trailblazers.

University led 23-1 at one point in the first quarter, before the Owls came back to 25-10 by the end of the period. The 'Blazers then led 51-18 at halftime, and eventually landed five players in double figures.

Lily Snyder scored 17 points, nailing three 3-pointers in the process. Lucy Snyder and Jenna Blakley noth added 13 points, with Blakley also hitting three 3s. Brooke Andrus added 12 points and Jhordan McGuire scored 11. Maddi Sears had three 3s for nine points.

With the win, University will play PAAC South champion Greenwood Christian at 2:30 p.m. Saturday for the overall conference championship. But before that, the 'Blazers will host Beech Grove at 7:30 p.m. tonight. University is now 16-1 for the season.

Carmel wins dual at Westfield

In an all-county wrestling dual meet, Carmel beat Westfield 39-22 Wednesday at The Rock.

It was a back and forth meet, with the Greyhounds trailing 22-19 before winning the final four matches. Carmel got pins from Kyle Holman at 138 pounds and Joe Theriot at 145, then Gabe Davin won at 152 by a technical fall to clinch the match. Garrett Sharp took the 160-pound bout by decision to finish things off.

Earlier, the Greyhounds won five matches to take a 19-6 lead. Suhas Chundi won a 22-9 major decision at 106, this after Jack Heldt, Zach White and Jonathan Williams were decision winners. Cameron Bacon received a forfeit.

Kyle Saez started the meet with a pin at 170 pounds. Later, the Shamrocks won four matches in a row, including a pin by Carson Eldred at 120. Milo Merkel won a major decision, then Dylan Driver and Brady Drlik each got decision victories.

Southeastern wins exciting Senior Night dual

The Hamilton Southeastern wrestling team won its Senior Night dual meet over Lawrence North 34-30 on Wednesday.

The Royals trailed 20-9 at one point during the meet, but came roaring back during the upper weights: Pins by Andrew Irick at 220 pounds and Crae Kunkleman at 285 put Southeastern ahead 21-20.

Sam Crousore won a major decision in the 106-pound bout, then Jake Lemieux scored a pin at 120. The Royals led 31-30 going into the final match, and Reece Luhmann decision win at 138 pounds sealed the team victory.

Jackson Williams won by pin at 152, then Ronan Hiner scored a decision victory at 160.

The Royals will travel to Franklin Central on Saturday for the Hoosier Crossroads Conference meet.

Carmel girls soccer team honored on MaxPreps Tour of Champions

The Carmel High School girls' varsity soccer team finished No. 4 nationally for their 2018 season. The announcement was made by MaxPreps, the online high school sports leader and a CBS Sports.com site. MaxPreps ranks over 16,000 girls' varsity soccer teams each year.

"The MaxPreps Tour of Champions presented by the Army National Guard honors the very best high school teams in the nation," stated Andy Beal, president and founder of MaxPreps. "To qualify, you must be highly ranked nationally by MaxPreps; and you must also win a state championship. Those are tough qualifications considering there are nearly 16,000 teams competing in high school varsity soccer. Congratulations to the Carmel Greyhounds on their amazing achievement. MaxPreps and the Army National Guard are honored to recognize you for your hard work and amazing work on the field."

Carmel finished their 20-1-2 season with a 2-1 win over Homestead in overtime to claim the school's 10th IHSAA Class 3A Girls Soccer State Title, 15th overall. The Greyhounds finished the year at No. 1 in the entire state of Indiana and is one of 10 girls' soccer teams being honored on the 14th annual MaxPreps Tour of Champions presented by the Army National Guard, which is in its eighth year honoring soccer. The football team was previously honored in 2016.

In his 28th year as head coach, Coach Frank Dixon recorded his 11th state title this season and attributes it to his experienced seniors. "As with most successful interscholastic teams, senior leadership was the most important part of accomplishing our goals this year."

Leading scorer, Kelsie James helped launch the Greyhounds ahead of the competition with 11 goals and 10 assists on the season. James had help from her team with

The Carmel girls soccer team was honored Wednesday as part of the MaxPreps Tour of Champions. The Greyhounds won the Class 3A state championship and finished fourth nationally in the MaxPreps rankings.

18 different players recording at least one goal and 19 players adding at least one assist. The defense was strong, only conceding five goals all season. Numerous individual accolades were awarded and many players have either signed a National Letter of Intent or verbally committed to play with collegiate teams.

When asked what it means to be honored by MaxPreps and the Army National Guard, Dixon stated, "It is a great honor to be selected as one of the best teams in the country. As a US Army veteran who served in Vietnam alongside Army National Guard troops, I am very appreciative of their sponsorship of the tour along with MaxPreps."

Indiana Army National Guard Staff Sergeant Kimo Anderson presented Coach Dixon and the girls with the Army National Guard national ranking trophy on Wednesday evening prior to a boys' basketball game. Along with the trophy, the team received a banner for their success.

"The Army National Guard embodies teamwork and a commitment to community and country. Just as your team joins together to defeat adversity and claim the victory, the Army National Guard stands in solidarity to protect our local communities and the United States of America as a whole," said Captain Charlton Grant. "On behalf of the Army National Guard, I am honored to recognize this nationally ranked championship team for their dedication, perseverance and teamwork."

MaxPreps Computer Rankings are used to determine team rank for the Tour of Champions. The system utilizes the huge number of game results stored in the MaxPreps database. Generally, the more a team wins the higher the ranking, but the system takes into account quality wins (against other highly ranked opponents), margin of victory, and strength of schedule. Playoff games are weighted 2.1 times a regular season game.

Pacers fall behind in second quarter, lose to Celtics

By GREG RAPPAPORT

Courtesy nba.com/pacers

On the second night of a back-to-back in Boston, the Pacers were left behind in the second quarter by the Celtics and were unable to battle back, falling 135-108.

After Domantas Sabonis knocked down a pair of free throws with 5:21 remaining in the first half to make it a five-point game, the Celtics pressed down on the gas and never let up, outscoring Indiana 20-10 to build a 15-point lead at the break.

In the third quarter, Indiana used a series of Celtics turnovers to convert on offense, but Boston's attack — led by Marcus Morris and Jaylen Brown, who each had 22 points — was relentless, outscoring the Pacers 37-27 in the third quarter to take a 25-point lead into the fourth as Boston cruised to the win on Wednesday night at TD Garden, their fourth straight victory.

"It just looked like we were gassed tonight," Pacers head coach Nate McMillan explained. "We didn't win a quarter. We knew they would come out fast, and they did. Came out very aggressive, attacking us. We weren't able to establish anything defensively against this group."

The game featured heavy amounts of frustration from Thaddeus Young, Bojan Bogdanovic, and Pacers head coach Nate McMillan, who all received technical fouls for arguing with the officials.

There was no shortage of reasons to be frustrated either, as Boston opened up the fourth quarter by jumping ahead 113-84 on a layup from Terry Rozier, marking the most points the Pacers had trailed by all season.

Adding to the problems for the Pacers was an incredible display of shooting from Boston, as the Celtics knocked down 14-of-32 shots from beyond the arc to keep the Pacers from ever mounting a comeback.

"It's just a tough loss, man," said Victor Oladipo, who finished with 17 points. "Unfortunately, it happens. They beat us good today, so credit them. They played well!"

Indiana was once again without the defense of Myles Turner, who missed his third straight game with a sore right shoulder. The Pacers are now 1-2 without him on this road trip and have allowed opponents to surpass 115 points in all three games.

To start the night, the Pacers struggled to find their rhythm, making just two of their first seven attempts from the field as Boston surged to an 18-8 lead. Out of a Pacers timeout, Indiana began to find its comfort zone on offense, getting 4-of-8 3-point shots to fall as they cut it to a 29-23 Celtics lead at the end of the opening quarter.

With the second frame underway, the Pacers' second unit began to slice into Boston's lead, as Tyreke Evans provided a number of crafty buckets to tie the game at 35.

But from there, the Celtics capitalized off a series of Pacers turnovers, outscoring Indiana 13-6 to regain their lead. In the final moments of the half Indiana attempted to rally back, but free throws proved problematic for the Pacers as four straight misses at the line kept the Celtics safely ahead, taking a 68-53 lead into the break.

To start the second half, the Pacers defense began to step up, forcing five quick turnovers that led to a Celtics timeout as Darren Collison delivered a layup to make it a 79-65 Boston lead with 6:00 left in the quarter.

Moments later, however, Boston's offense caught fire again, with Gordon Hayward sinking a three to cap an 8-0 sprint to extend their lead back to 20.

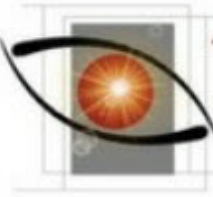

The rest of the period essentially ended the night for the Pacers, as 3-pointers from Jaylen Brown and Terry Rozier, combined with technical fouls from Nate McMillan and Thaddeus Young, allowed the Celtics to extend to a 105-80 lead entering the fourth quarter, where they safely cruised to the win from there.

"We just have to get back to defending the ball," said McMillan. "The last five quarters we've played we've played we've given up 30-plus points, in our last five quarters. We know we are better than that."
