Westfield remembers slain
Deputy Marshall 50 years on

Gov. Eric Holcomb will headline local
Lincoln Day banquet

The REPORTER
On Monday evening, Westfield Mayor Andy Cook and several members of the Westfield Police Department honored former Westfield Deputy Marshall David Brown, who was killed in the line of duty on Jan. 11, 1969.

Brown was shot and killed while checking on a suspicious vehicle containing two people behind Westfield High School.

During the stop Brown had one of the men sit in the front passenger seat of his patrol car. As Deputy Brown spoke to him the man attacked him inside the car and disarmed him. The man then fatally shot Brown before both suspects fled the scene.

When the dispatcher was unable to contact Brown with the reply, a second officer was sent to check on him. Upon the second officer's arrival, Brown was found shot to death in his patrol car. During the stop Brown had written down the vehicle's license plate number.

Both suspects were apprehended later at an apartment in Indianapolis. It was later determined that Brown had interrupted the men stealing a pig from a field behind the high school. The man who shot Brown was sentenced to life in prison, where he later died.

Gov. Eric Holcomb will be the headline speaker at the biggest political rally of the year, the Republicans' Lincoln Day Dinner. It has been scheduled for March 15 at the 502 East Event Center in Carmel, says County GOP Chairwoman Laura Campbell.

The event is where party faithful and candidates meet to view the political landscape and see who's who on the current scene. This being a city election year, one can expect to find mayors and other city officials and hopefuls for local office in attendance. Major donors to the Republican Party are also found at the gala.

Holcomb's appearance will likely boost the size of the crowd, but it may also depend on how many contests develop for each office at stake in the crucial May 7 GOP primary.

Relatively few candidates other than incumbents have filed thus far. Sixty-five municipal offices are at stake in this year's election.

Holcomb has completed his first two years of his first term. Polls show his performance thus far to be popular with most Hoosiers. The Lincoln Day celebration was originally designed to honor the nation's first Republican president. It is observed in virtually all counties in Indiana and many communities around the country. Abraham Lincoln spent his formative years as a Hoosier resident.

Democrats hold a similar annual banquet honoring early Democratic presidents Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson. The date for this event has not yet been announced.

Ice sculptors, chili cooks turn
Carmel into winter wonderland

The Carmel Festival of Ice held this past weekend on Center Green featured carving demonstrations by professional ice carvers, a fast-paced carve-off competition, carving classes, an ice bar presented by Danny Boy Beer Works, a kids play area, skating, a live DJ and a firehouse chili cook-off presented by Citizens State Bank. (Above) Carmel City Council President Jeff Worrell (right) and wife Shari Worrell (left) have so much Carmel pride they just had to share a little with our event photographer. "Great event for those with mittens and boots to get out of the house and experience winter in a fun way," said Jeff Worrell. "Great job by the city bringing another unique experience for our residents." See Pages 3 and 4 for more photos from the Festival of Ice, or visit ReadTheReporter.com.

Sheridan Community Schools recognized as national Advanced Placement Honor Roll District

The REPORTER
Sheridan Community Schools was recently recognized as a national Advanced Placement (AP) Honor Roll District by the College Board. Sheridan was one of only 12 districts in the State of Indiana to receive this honor. In addition, only 373 districts across the U.S. and Canada were recognized on the ninth annual list published by the organization.

In order to be placed on the AP Honor Roll, a school district must simultaneously increase access to AP courses to a broader number of students while maintaining or improving student performance on AP exams given at the end of every course.

Fishers Mayor Fadness' outlook for 2019: Jobs

As 2019 began, Fishers Mayor Scott Fadness sat down with me at City Hall to record a podcast interview, looking back on 2018 and looking forward to 2019. In the latter part of the past year, there were many developments announced.

One was the $157 million project to be undertaken by Browning Investments, including developments on the south side of 116th Street and on the north side just west of City Hall. The south side project will include a new headquarters building for First Internet Bank. A new hotel will also be a part of the plans.

Then there was the announcement of a new $14 million Hub & Spoke building on 106th Street near the planned Nickel Plate Trail. It will house several private firms and provide badly-needed training facilities for those pursuing a career in the building trades.

According to Fadness, a couple of new office buildings are coming to the Municipal Complex, including one already under construction near the library.

So, I asked the mayor what Fishers residents can expect in the way of new developments in 2019? His answer was interesting: Fadness expects his focus to be on creating jobs in the city in the coming year.

"You have to build the physical environment, and I think we have enough in the pipeline that will really change the trajectory of our city for the good," Fadness said, "but now it's really getting back to the blocking and tackling of recruiting companies, bringing more jobs to our city."

Fadness points to vacant spaces around the city that could attract employers. The old Roche building, once a bank call center, visible from Interstate 69, is ripe for job creation, according to the mayor. He also believes the I-69 corridor will be ready for growth once The Yard is constructed.

The mayor did throw in one cautionary note: He has been proven wrong in the past when predicting real estate growth will stabilize in Fishers, but as he sees it now, his focus is on growing jobs.

The mayor also talked about the issues facing the commercial area of the city

"Being recognized as an AP Honor Roll district is a fantastic honor for our students, teachers, school and community," said Sheridan High School Principal Rick Davis. Now that Kroger says it will remodel the current grocery and not build the new facility, the city is back to the drawing board. Fadness says the city is working constantly on developing that area of the city, but timing is everything in allowing such developments to happen.

PREVAIL

Advocating for Victims of Crime and Abuse

www.prevailinc.com

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about.

But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.)

Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

- Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

You can drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, located at 14701 Tom Wood Way. You can also donate directly to Prevail of Central Indiana by visiting Prevailinc.org.

No fair-weather friends of firehouse chili at Carmel's Festival of Ice

Carmel Fire Department Station 45 won the chili cook-off for the second year in a row at this past weekend's Festival of Ice presented by Citizens State Bank. According to The Reporter's meteorologist Paul Poteet, 7.5 inches of snow fell on Carmel over the weekend. That makes firehouse chili sound like an even better idea!

Keys to make a difference: Listen, affirm, ask, do

On Monday, Jan. 7, I sat in a room filled with close to 100 people from our community that came together to think about ways we can collectively make a difference.

JEN TOWNSEND
Noblesville
Diversity Coalition

I remembered the last time I sat in this space with community members and hearing many stories of others – stories of unfair treatment in our community. Stories that are painful. I then remembered the last time we were with Cornelius Minor and his conversation about “isms” being systemic and how we can each do something small to make a difference in the system. Then, sitting here again, we listen to words of wisdom from Cornelius, a Brooklyn educator, who has experienced a lot as he travels the United States and the world to think about ways to fight for equity and access for all.

Mr. Minor reminds us that as a community, we have the power to be inclusive of all. As responsible citizens we must cultivate trust, respect and honesty to make all feel welcome and included. We have all experienced times we've felt included and times that we have felt powerless. How do we replicate the feeling of inclusiveness for others and what did we need from others when we felt powerless? What would have been helpful?

Our first step in continuing to cultivate an inclusive community is to listen. Listening does not mean we have to agree, yet we do need to believe people when they tell us their stories. When we say it can't be true, it robs them of their truth. Once we listen, we then affirm. We say, we hear you.

We see you. By affirming, again you are not agreeing, instead you are saying I understand this is your reality. This is your truth. Next, we ask the question, “Is there anything I can do for you?” Then we must act. When someone feels powerless, we must step in and be their proxy. We must take action on their behalf.

It sounds easy: Listen, Affirm, Ask, Do; yet in many situations this feels so hard. It's hard because our system often constrains us in the decisions we make. Our system can silence us. Speaking our truth or someone else's truth can be daunting.

This is not something we can do alone. Recently I heard a TedTalk by Luvvie Ajay on “Get Comfortable with the Uncomfortable.” In her talk she discusses the importance of being the first domino. When you notice something is not right, then be that person who speaks up and when you do, others will follow.

Dolly Chugh, author of “The Person You Mean to Be” as well as Brene Brown in her book “Dare to Lead” share similar messages as Ajay and Minor. We cannot sit in silence, instead we need to find courage to speak up and do this work with others. It is our collective responsibility to deconstruct systems that keep people marginalized and give them power. We cannot be bystanders in other people's powerlessness. We need to listen to people who have been rendered powerless and recognize it may not be an issue that can be “solved” yet we can take it to those that have power to begin to make a difference. We can take it to organizations that will be able to help and move us forward as a community.

It is our hopes that the Noblesville Diversity Coalition (NDC) is an organization that can help problem-solve with others to make a difference and foster inclusiveness. We have grown from a committee to a coalition knowing that many want to be involved and therefore the larger we are in our efforts the more effect we can have on our community. We each love Noblesville. We live here for many reasons, the people, the businesses, the schools, the square, the churches, etc. We need to share our experiences of inclusiveness as well as experiences of marginalization in order to grow together.

NDC will be sharing more about our organization and ways you can become involved in the next few months. We want you to get to know us and we want to get to know you. Together, we will make a difference in our community.

Jen Townsend serves on the Noblesville Diversity Coalition and she is the Director of Learning for Noblesville Schools.

Sue Wolfgang looks to become Carmel's first City Clerk

The REPORTER

Sue Wolfgang has filed for election to become Carmel's first City Clerk. With Carmel's transition to a second-class city, the elimination of the position of Clerk-Treasurer means fiscal management will move to an appointed controller and the record-keeping for both the city and court will be managed by the City Clerk.

Wolfgang is a lifelong resident of Carmel and has worked for the city for more than 21 years. During this time, she served as the court reporter and assistant court clerk in Carmel City Court during her first 10 years and has served as the employee benefits manager in human resources for more than a decade.

The new City Clerk position will be responsible for the management of both city and court records, including agendas and minutes for city meetings, court dockets and filings, responding to requests for public information and the management of all court receipts and transactions.

"I love Carmel – what it is and what it will become," said Wolfgang. "I've served the city for more than two decades and now look forward to serving the citizens in a new way. I believe my experience as a public servant provides a unique knowledge and perspective on problem-solving, as well as insight into the importance of accuracy and transparency in every level of government."

Wolfgang serves on the Fountain Square Committee, the non-profit organization responsible for summer concerts at Carmel City Hall. She also serves on the board for the Carmel-Clay Historical Society. Wolfgang has one daughter, Kelsey, who works in management at Conner Prairie, teaches improvisational comedy to children and is active in local theater.

Fishers City Councilor Pete Peterson files for re-election

The REPORTER

Fishers City Councilor Pete Peterson has announced he will run for re-election in the Southeast district. He filed Tuesday morning with the Hamilton County clerk.

During his time as councilor, Peterson has consistently advocated for entrepreneurs and encouraged technology growth in the city. His dedication led to the introduction of Launch Fishers, a co-working space designed for entrepreneurs, and the new Internet of Things (IoT) Lab.

Alongside creating new opportunities for entrepreneurs to thrive, Peterson and his fellow councilors oversaw unprecedented investments in the city. Their success brought over $500 million in economic development and over 2,000 new jobs to the City of Fishers. This landed Fishers with national recognition as one of the "Best Places to Live in America" by Money Magazine.

Peterson is proud to have completed the neighborhood trail system with new pedestrian bridges around Geist.

"Increasing our residents' quality of life is essential to Fishers' success. I decided to serve because I wanted to contribute to making Fishers a smart, vibrant and entrepreneurial place to live," said Peterson. Peterson's plans for improving the quality of life around the Geist area is not finished yet. In his next term, he plans to finish the new Geist park, improve safety and the water quality of the lake. This will be a crucial project as the lake continues to attract more and more visitors each year. Peterson also plans to advocate for amenities along the Geist park area by pushing for better signs, lighting and landscaping.

Peterson also looks forward to new development projects across the city. These projects include the new First Internet Bank expansion to the downtown area, the Yard, a new restaurant development opening this spring, and two new fire stations for the city.

Peterson is currently the Director of Business Development at RQAW. He moved to Fishers in 2003 and lives with his wife, Rachel, and children, Carly and Cole.

Obituary

Allan Devaux Michael
November 25, 1933 – January 11, 2019

Allan Devaux Michael, 85, passed away on Friday afternoon, January 11, 2019 at his home in Sheridan. Born November 25, 1933 in Camden, Ind., he was the son of the late Merle E. and Della G. (Hanna) Michael.

Not too long after graduating with the Sheridan High School Class of 1953, Allan enrolled in one of Chrysler’s four-year tool and die making apprenticeship programs that were being held at Arsenal Tech. About halfway through the program, Allan went to serve his country with the United States Navy. Upon returning home from the service, Allan would finish his apprenticeship. That program was the beginning of a 35-year career with the Chrysler Corporation before taking his retirement on November 25, 1988.

Allan enjoyed hunting, fishing, canoeing and shooting trap. He also enjoyed bowling with his league in Frankfort. He was a Colts fan and racing fan, following both NASCAR and Indy Car throughout the years. His most favorite activities, however, were those that he was able to participate in with his family. Qualification day at IMS was one of those activities. He also loved doing things with his late wife Patty. She and Allan loved going square dancing and playing euchre. They played regularly with many of their friends from church. Traveling was another favorite family activity. They would often go on cross country camping adventures when the kids were young. In their later years, Patty and Allan traveled to Florida for the winter months. This was a tradition that they enjoyed for 21 years.

Allan was a member of the Sheridan Wesleyan Church and also attended the Terhune United Methodist Church where he taught Sunday School and served as Sunday School Superintendent for many years.

Allan is survived by his two sons, Steven D. Michael (Annette), Sheridan; and Jeffrey L. Michael (Donna), Frankfort; four grandchildren, Steven Michael Jr. (Cheyanne), Jeffrey A. Michael, Christina Koehler (David) and Elizabeth Olovich (Richard); three great-grandchildren, Sophia Olovich, McKenna Koehler and Layla Koehler; and by his sister-in-law, Winnie Lou (Harris) Michael, Terhune.

He was preceded in death by his parents; one son, Brian Scott Michael; two brothers, Daniel Michael and Dale Evan Michael; and by the love of his life, Patricia Joan Michael, on July 15, 2018. She and Allan were married at the Terhune E.U.B. Church on June 6, 1954.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. on Friday, January 18, 2019 at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan. Burial with Military Honors will follow at Hills Cemetery in rural Clinton County. Rev. Kevin Bragg and Rev. Rick Birden will be officiating. Visitation will be held from 4 to 8 p.m. on Thursday, January 17, 2019 at Kercheval Funeral Home.

Brooks votes to reject white nationalism, white supremacy

The REPORTER

On Tuesday, the House of Representatives voted to pass H. Res. 41, a resolution rejecting white nationalism and white supremacy. Congresswoman Susan W. Brooks (R-Ind.-05) provided the following statement:

“Hateful expressions of intolerance are contradictory to the values that define our country. It is absolutely unacceptable for a Member of Congress to support any person, group or organization representing or promoting racist or bigoted ideologies. I voted unequivocally to reject white nationalism and white supremacy in the House today, and I commend the Steering Committee and Leader McCarthy on their decision to remove Rep. Steve King’s Committee assignments for the 116th Congress.”

Documentary films about the White River to premiere Thursday at Nickel Plate Arts

The REPORTER

Three new films about the White River – and the lives it touches – will premiere at 6 p.m. on Jan. 17 at Nickel Plate Arts in Noblesville. The films, funded by Indiana Humanities, build on the award-winning Next Indiana Campfires program, which focused on the White River in 2018 and will continue to do so in 2019. The films will debut in a series of public events in January and February before being available to stream online in March.

Over the last year, Indiana Humanities focused its Next Indiana Campfires program on the White River watershed and the larger question of how Hoosiers relate to water and to each other across watersheds. To explore these connections further – and to document a particularly exciting moment for Indiana waterways – Indiana Humanities selected local filmmakers to create three short films about the White River. The films are each between 11 and 15 minutes in length. A trailer is available to watch at IndianaHumanities.org/CampfiresFilms.

Through the films, viewers will meet volunteers, artists, activists, farmers, engineers, developers, city officials, hikers and parents. They’ll paddle downstream with Friends of the White River, tunnel under the city with Dig Indy and soar overhead with the great blue herons of our region. The filmmakers were chosen through a competitive RFP process initiated earlier this year (see below for more information on the films and the filmmakers).

At the free launch party, Indiana Humanities, in partnership with Hamilton County Tourism, will screen the films and hold a Q&A with the filmmakers.

Attendees can enjoy snacks and beers compliments of Upland Brewing. Reserve a free ticket at campfirefilms.eventbrite.com.

Work on a two-county White River Vision Plan coincides with the release of the film.

“The planning team has met with hundreds of individuals who live near or are passionate about this river during this planning period. Nothing we have done in the visioning process captures the community conversations about this river as these three films have,” said Hamilton County Tourism President & CEO Brenda Myers. Leah Nahmias, director of programs and community engagement at Indiana Humanities, said, “We are excited to debut these films, made in Indiana by Hoosier filmmakers, which show views of the river and perspectives on the White River watershed you never knew existed. We hope they awaken new appreciation of the White River and spark meaningful conversations about its future.”

The films and filmmakers include:

• Braided with the Current by Katelyn Calhoun and Hannah Hodges: Katelyn Calhoun has spent the past five years in Indianapolis creating documentary content. She is currently in pre-production for an Appalachian Trail short documentary, (Tr)alias. Hannah Hodges co-founded and runs Hodges Marketing Solutions, a digital marketing agency, with her husband Mark. She is involved in the Indianapolis film community and has a variety of experience ranging from work on documentaries and narrative shorts to corporate videos and live events. Most of her favorite moments, both personally and professionally, occur outside enjoying nature.

• Onward Ever: The Becoming of Indiana’s White River by Brandon Walsh: Brandon Walsh is an Indy-based video producer. His narrative short films have screened at a number of festivals across the Midwest, and he has made national award-winning commercial work with the advertising agency CVR.

• White River: Perspectives by Hannah Lindgren: Hannah Lindgren is a visual storyteller who works for The Story Shop in Pendleton and hails from the northeast side of Indianapolis. She specializes in telling the stories of nonprofits, causes, small businesses and communities through short videos. This is her fourth documentary film.

In March, the full-length films will be available online, along with a discussion toolkit designed to help people talk about the ideas they raise with neighbors, students, friends and family. Indiana Humanities will also be offering stipends to community groups who host public screenings and discussions of the films in 2019 and 2020. Learn more at IndianaHumanities.org/CampfiresFilms.

Next Indiana Campfires Films is supported by Nina Mason Pulliam Charitable Trust and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation. This initiative was made possible in part through the “Democracy and the Informed Citizen” initiative of the Pulitzer Prizes.

Learn about natural childbirth, midwives

The REPORTER

St. Vincent Carmel Women’s Center is hosting a free community seminar to answer questions about natural childbirth and midwives. The seminar will take place from 6 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 24 in the Community Room on the first floor of St. Vincent Carmel Women’s Center, 13420 N. Meridian St., Carmel. Please use Entrance 3.

Bethany Monte, Certified Nurse Midwife and Dr. Amy Moon, OB/Gyn, will be presenting and will answer questions about birthing options available at St. Vincent.

According to WebMD, natural childbirth, which women have experienced for centuries, is undergoing a renaissance of sorts as a growing number of women are electing to have a midwife shepherd them through the delivery at home or in a birthing center.

A midwife is a trained health professional who helps healthy women during labor, delivery and after the birth of their babies. Midwives may deliver babies at birthing centers or at home, but most can also deliver babies at a hospital.

And Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness, Being forty days tempted of the devil. And in those days he did eat nothing: and when they were ended, he afterward hungered. And the devil said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, command this stone that it be made bread. And Jesus answered him, saying, It is written, That man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God. And the devil, taking him up into an high mountain, shewed unto him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time. And the devil said unto him, All this power will I give thee, and the glory of them: for that is delivered unto me; and to whomsoever I will I give it. If thou therefore wilt worship me, all shall be thine. And Jesus answered and said unto him, Get thee behind me, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.

Girls basketball

Carmel keeps up the pressure, beats Fishers

By RICH TORRES

CARMEL – When the calendar flipped two weeks ago, so did the mentality for the Carmel girls basketball team.

Stuck at 6-8 prior to the new year with eight games left on the regular-season schedule, the Greyhounds' resolution for 2019 was momentum, and so far they're right on track.

Winners of three straight, Carmel pushed its streak to four in row on Tuesday night, defeating potential Class 4A Sectional 8 foe Fishers 68-41 to claim its fourth victory in five games.

"It's amazing what we've done this year, coming from a really good team last year, and everyone doubting us and saying that Carmel wasn't going to be as good without certain seniors that graduated," Greyhounds senior Reagan Hune said. "I think we really bought into our roles and have really stepped up. Now, we're just excited to finish the season out."

The defending sectional champion Greyhounds (10-9) are upping the ante with the state tournament two weeks away and the postseason draw this Sunday, and it starts with defense.

Up 8-0 to start against Fishers (11-9) before the visiting Tigers tied the game 11-11 by the end of the first quarter, Carmel applied the pressure to open the second quarter, leading to a decisive 18-0 run.

"When we faced them in previous years, just like tonight, we focused on jumping on them early and making a statement," Hune said. "We just have to keep the ball rolling heading into the sectional season."

Hune was one of three double-digit scorers for Carmel, which shot 50 percent from the field and erupted for a 23-point second quarter and another 22 points in the fourth.

Sophomore Bridget Dunn had 13 points with three rebounds, and Hune posted 12 points with two steals and three rebounds. However, it was freshman Kate Clarke, who stands 6-0, that provided the spark.

A former starter that has cemented herself as the Greyhounds' first reserve off the bench, Clarke contributed immediately, scoring seven points in the first 1:28 of the second quarter en route to a game-high 14 points.

"Any more the sixth man is very under-appreciated and not understood, and Katie has come out from the bench and has really done a lot of good things for us. It's not easy to be pulled from the starting lineup and understanding the reasoning for it and what we're looking for," Carmel coach Erin Trimpe said. "She came out tonight and really put on a show. We love seeing that from her."

Clarke shot 6-of-11 from the field and hauled in six rebounds to go with three assists. She buried a 3-pointer to kickoff the Greyhounds' key run. Her second long-range dagger put Carmel ahead 27-11 as Fishers went scoreless the first five minutes of the second quarter.

Lydia Stullken ended the Tigers' drought with a bucket at the 3:00 mark and cut the Greyhounds' lead 31-17 with three straight conversions in the paint. Stullken paced Fishers with a team-high 12 points and 10 rebounds.

Tamia Perryman had 11 points and five rebounds for Fishers, while Carmel's defense disrupted Tigers' leading scorer Katie Burton, who entered averaging 12.6 points per game. Burton finished with seven points on 3-of-6 shooting.

"We knew she was a phenomenal player that not only creates for herself but for her teammates. She does such a great job at that, so we really worked at practice the past few days on how to deny her the ball," Trimpe said. "We kind of did it by committee."

The Greyhounds' defense kept the Tigers' under 35 percent from the field and forced nearly 20 turnovers.

A 10-3 run in the third quarter increased Carmel's lead to 20 points. The margin reached 27 points after a Lauren Gartenhaus 3-pointer late in the fourth.

"We let them fight back in the first quarter, which we talked about in pregame; those runs are going to happen, and we withstood it," Trimpe said. "We came out in that second quarter, and that was a very impressive effort by all of our girls. We went deep into our bench tonight and asked a lot of our girls, especially on the defensive end."

The result opened the passing lanes on offense with 14 assists overall. Sophie Bair had six assists and three steals. Hune and Macy Berglund both has two steals. Mackenzie Wood added nine points and nine rebounds.

"We have really started to stress how that defensive end can turn into the offensive game we want to play," Trimpe said. "And it got us some really good transition opportunities."

Fishers travels to Avon on Saturday, followed by consecutive home games next week against 4A No. 10 Lawrence North and Franklin Central.

Carmel hosts 4A Pike on Friday night in a Metropolitan Interscholastic Conference matchup before ending the regular-season on the road at Cathedral on Monday and at league rival Ben Davis on Jan. 25.

"We're at a place that I love, and I told them, once we got through winter break when we looked at our schedule and broke things down, how important it was going to be to roll into sectional with a couple of wins under our belt," Trimpe said. "It's been fun to see them buy into that and take that momentum."

The University girls basketball team won its first ever Pioneer Conference championship on Monday by beating Greenwood Christian Academy 72-33. This makes the Trailblazers the first ever girls team to win a PAAC title.

‘Blazers win PAAC title, return home to beat Golden Eagles

The University girls basketball team is sprinting to the finish line.

The Class 1A No. 3 Trailblazers are playing their final games of the regular season this week, and not letting up the busy pace. University has already competed twice this week, and won both games: The 'Blazers won their first ever Pioneer Conference championship by beating Greenwood Christian Academy 72-33 on the road Monday, then returned to the U Center on Tuesday to defeat county rival, Class 3A Guerin Catholic 56-39.

University had no trouble with Greenwood Christian, leading 13-4 after the first quarter and 36-13 at halftime. Trailblazers coach Justin Blanding said the team had some motivation for wanting to win the conference title.

"We really wanted to win," said Blanding. "Our kids came out and played hard. They wanted to be the first girls team here to win the PAAC, so they did that. I was happy for that."

The 'Blazers were led by junior Lindsey Syrek, who earned the first triple-double in school history while playing against GCA. Syrek finished the game with 19 points, 13 rebounds and 11 blocked shots.

"When she really asserts herself and plays hard for 32 minutes, she's capable of numbers like that," said Blanding. "That's something we've been challenging her on is just playing harder. She did that. She's a rim protector. She pulled down those rebounds. She's getting stronger."

Jenna Blakley added 14 points, while Jhordan McGuire scored 13. Blakley and Brooke Andrus both made two 3-pointers.

Rather than have a letdown, University kept the momentum going in its Tuesday game with Guerin Catholic. The Trailblazers raced out to a 21-6 first-quarter lead, then were up 33-15 at halftime. The Golden Eagles played even with University in the second half, but the Trailblazers' early lead carried them through.

Both teams were missing key players, as Andrus was injured and forced to sit out. GC's Paige Bennett was sick and had to miss the game.

"With Guerin, they play so hard," said Blanding. "They're so quick and athletic. It can throw you off a little bit. Our offense was rushed a little bit because they sped us up."

Blanding credited University's seven seniors for using their experience to win the game.

"They just knew what to do," he said.

Syrek had another tremendous game with 24 points, with McGuire, one of the seniors, scoring 14 points. Syrek and Blakley both drained two 3-pointers.

Nicole Cunningham led Guerin Catholic with 12 points.

"They were able to get us early, down and it took a while for our girls to ramp it up a notch, knowing we were playing a really good team," said GC coach Jeff

Buckner. "And that's what we talked about in the second half was, we could either come back out and get better against a good team, or we could let it continue the way it was."

"We dug ourselves such a hole that it was going to be tough to get back into it," said Buckner. "But I thought they came out in the second half and played really, really well."

The Golden Eagles are 4-15 and will host Brebeuf Jesuit Friday as part of a Circle City Conference girls-boys doubleheader.

University is 19-1 for the season and will wrap up the regular season by hosting Tri-West on Thursday. The Bruins, another 3A team, are 14-5 for the season, and Blanding said they are "very, very good."

"They can blow us out," said Blanding. "They have that kind of firepower. So we've got to be prepared. We've really got to know our personnel and just come out and play."

Noblesville's Olivia Mangin placed fourth in the all-around with a score of 29.625 (a point higher than her last competition), she also had the highest event score and place by taking third in vault with 8.60.

"Olivia has been competing the same vault for a few years now, and it is certainly a vault that she does well, and it is a solid score for us that we can count on," said Noblesville coach Jody Ramey.

Mangin also finished fourth in the balance beam and sixth in the uneven bars. Cailey Hurst took sixth in the floor exercise. Other highlights included freshman Kiley Reisner making a "beam stick" in her routine and senior Rachel Glasener competing in the uneven bars with a new skill.

While Ramey said the team had "lots of work to do to improve with our missed connections," there were still positives to take from the meet - "we did improve in certain areas from last competition and I was proud of the small victories," she said.

Noblesville is scheduled to compete at the Northwestern Invitational on Saturday.

Myles Turner returns, scores 18 in Pacers' win

By GREG RAPPAPORT
Courtesy nba.com/pacers

After missing four games with a sore right shoulder, it wouldn't have been surprising if Myles Turner needed a few games to find his rhythm. Turned out, he just needed a few quarters.

Turner caught fire in the third, making all four of his shots in the frame as the Pacers turned an 11-point halftime lead over the Phoenix Suns into a rollicking 23-point advantage, cruising to the 131-97 victory on Tuesday night at Bankers Life Fieldhouse.

In his return to the court, Turner posted an impressive 18-point, six-rebound performance, helping power the Pacers past the Suns in the second half to tip off Indiana's five-game homestand with a convincing victory.

"He's the best shot blocker in the league," said point guard Darren Collison after the game. "Consciously, as the opposing guard, you're always worried about where he's at on the court. Myles has been there for us all season long."

Indiana (29-14) was also aided by the offense of Bojan Bogdanovic and Tyreke Evans, who each notched a game-high 20 points in the #PacersWin.

The Suns (11-34) — who struggled to find offense all night — were led by T.J. Warren, who scored 18 points in the defeat.

It was all Boganovic to start the game for the Pacers, as the sharpshooting small forward scored Indiana's first 10 points, then assisted Thaddeus Young on the fastbreak to put Indiana up 12-6 early.

Even after a Phoenix timeout, the Pacers continued to roll offensively, closing the opening quarter on an 11-2 run that was capped by a buzzer-beating shot from Cory Joseph to put Indiana up 38-19.

To begin the second quarter, the Pacers quickly got themselves in foul trouble, allowing the Suns to open up the quarter with eight free throw attempts.

The Suns steadily drew the score closer in the second, getting it down to just seven when rookie Deandre Ayton powered through three players to convert a layup to make it 50-43.

But from that point forward, the Pacers were able to push it back to double-digits, carrying 62-51 lead into the halftime locker room despite a steal and slam from Suns swingman Kelly Oubre Jr. to close the quarter.

To open up the second half, Turner helped power the offense, scoring five quick points as part of a 7-2 sprint to start the third quarter, forcing a Suns timeout just 2:28 into the period.

Out of the stoppage, it looked as if Phoenix might be working its way back into the game, getting an and-1 from Warren and a putback from Ayton, but veteran guard Darren Collison had other ideas.

DC converted on back-to-back 3-pointers from the corners, then collected a steal at the top of the key and took it straight to the rack, capping off a one-man 8-0 run to put Indiana up 77-58 with 7:50 remaining in the third quarter.

Things only got worse for the Suns from that point forward, as Indiana continued to pile it on, at one point taking a 26-point lead on a 3-pointer from Bogdanovic.

By the end of the quarter, Indiana had outscored Phoenix 34-22, taking a comfortable 96-73 lead into the fourth.

From there, the Pacers were able to close out the game with primarily reserve players on the floor as they collected their 29th victory of the season.

"We have to take it one game at a time," Collison said. "We're playing some really good teams here on out, we have to stay humble, stay locked in, stay focused."
