Noblesville school shooter's parents deny responsibility

The REPORTER

The parents of a 13-year-old opened fire in a Noblesville West Middle School classroom say they could not foresee their son's actions and deny any responsibility for them.

The boy's parents, Kevin and Sarah Moore, responded to a lawsuit filed in Hamilton County Superior Court 1, brought by the parents of Ella Whistler, seeking damages for her injuries suffered in the May 25 shooting.

According to a report by news gathering partner WISH-TV, the shooter's parents said they are not personally responsible for the girl's injuries and that their son and Noblesville Schools may both bear some responsibility. They also say that if the court orders them to pay any damages, they should be offset by the amount the Whistlers have already received from other sources such as insurance and donations.

Court documents indiboy who cate the firearms used by David Moore were kept in a gun safe in a storage closet that David Moore had access to.

The Whistlers allege Kevin Moore and Sarah Moore knew or should have known their son had unusual and potentially violent propensities, disconcerting attraction to and obsession with firearms and violence and that their son suffered from mental and psychological disorders. The suit further alleges that David Moore took pleasure in violence in others and lacked empathy and that he had the capacity to commit violent acts.

The Whistlers feel Kevin Moore and Sarah Moore should have taken reasonable steps to prevent access to their firearms, ammunition and other weapons.

David Moore admitted to the attack during a juvenile court hearing on Nov. 14 and was ordered to be held in a state juvenile detention center until he's 18 or deemed rehabilitated.

Newly elected Superior Court 1 Judge Mike Casati has not yet set a trial date for the suit.

ern (HSE) school board has cleared the way to install solar panels in three school buildings this year. Work will begin as early as April, with full installation expected this summer.

The three buildings that will use the solar system are Sand Creek Elementary, Sand Creek Intermediate and the HIJ (Hamilton Southeastern Intermediate and Junior High).

Bob Rice, Energy Management Director for HSE Schools, told board members the savings in electricity means the project will pay for itself in 11 years. The solar project will be financed through a four-year bond issue that will not trigger a tax After increase, per HSE Chief Financial Officer Mike Reuter.

> The $2.8 million contract was awarded to the private firm AMERESCO, which has done similar projects for schools on the east and west coast, and solar projects for local governments in Indiana.

Rice told the board this project will produce more than cost savings over time, students will be able to learn about solar energy as part of the school curriculum. He also touted the reduction in the carbon footprint, as well as awareness among students of jobs in the solar industry.

The board vote to approve the project was unanimous.

Defense leads Royals to long-awaited championship

By RICHIE HALL

FISHERS - Defense wins championships, and Hamilton Southeastern's defense brought it a long, long awaited girls basketball sectional championship on Saturday night.

The Class 4A No. 1 Royals won their first sectional since 2007 (and fourth overall) by beating Carmel 47-34 in front of a large and screaming crowd at the Southeastern gym. With the victory, the Royals earned a trip to play in the Kokomo regional next Saturday.

It's worth the wait of one more week for a process that began last summer.

"We started back in June," said Southeastern coach Chris Huppenthal. "I told our kids, we weren't going to win a sectional championship in February, we were going to win it starting right now. And from Day 1 in June, when we got together in the summer, these kids had a goal to focus. And we told our kids in the locker room before we came out that we had a passion and we had a commitment to come out here to play with some fire, to play with some enthusiasm. That's what our kids did. Played with a lot of energy."

That energy and passion began spilling out with under two minutes left in the game, when the Royals players realized that they were going to win.

"It just means everything," said senior Malea Jackson. "This is what we've been working towards since the end of last season. This is our one goal that we've been going for. It's just a great feeling, I can't even put it into words. We've become such a family and to win this together, it's just the best feeling in the world."

Carmel was the three-time defending sectional champion coming into the game, so the Greyhounds weren't going down without a fight. They kept it close with the Royals in the first quarter, which ended with a layin by senior Reagan Hune and Carmel leading 10-8. Junior Sydney Parrish offense based on the defense," said Jackson. Mackenzie Wood both pulled four most wins for the Royals since 2007.

"They played so hard," said Greyhounds coach Erin Trimpe. "We had a game plan and in the first half, we really fought defensively. We executed it. But Hamilton Southeastern, they're so good. They're so solid in their sets and what they're running. They didn't panic when we got a couple stops. You have to give them a lot of credit for the way they handled themselves tonight."

The Royals will play the winner of the DeKalb sectional in the first semi-final at Kokomo next Saturday morning. The DeKalb championship was decided on Monday between Fort Wayne Northrop and Fort Wayne Carroll after press time. Homestead and Zionsville will play in the second semi-final, each team having won their respective sectional on Saturday.

Patient Greyhounds run past Millers in first round

By RICH TORRES FISHERS - Patience.

Last Tuesday night, coach Erin Trimpe stressed its importance as her Carmel girls basketball team's persistence was tested during the opening round of Sectional 8 at treys in the fourth, however, provided the Hamilton Southeastern.

Locked in three ties in the first half, including a 20-20 stalemate at halftime the rest. against the short-handed Noblesville Millers, the Greyhounds had two choices.

Either they could stick to the game plan or fold under the weight of their first-half shooting woes. The Greyhounds opted for the former, leading to a decisive 18-point fourth quarter en route to a 48-33 victory.

'We kept stressing to our shooters to keep shooting. For our post players to keep crashing the boards and give us two or three chances to get some shots up," Trimpe remarked. "I thought in that fourth quarter we hit shots. It helps when you hits shots. It definitely makes a difference."

With a large target on their backs as the defending sectional champions, the Greyhounds found their offensive rhythm in the final 16 minutes to advance to Friday the sectional semifinals.

Senior Reagan Hune finished with a team-high 13 points on 6-of-12 shooting, while 5-10 senior Macy Berglund had 10 points and seven rebounds.

Carmel shot 32 percent from the field in the first half, but once the third quarter began, that percentage soared to 54 for the second half.

The Greyhounds opened the third quarter with an 8-2 run and added a 9-0 run to start the fourth behind three straight 3-pointers, which finally broke down the Millers' stubborn 2-3 zone.

In the first half, execution alluded the Greyhounds. Carmel went 1-for-12 from 3-point range and were 1-for-14 after the third quarter. The Greyhounds' string of spark they needed.

Their defense and rebounding handled

Noblesville, which was down three starters and five varsity players due to season-ending injuries and illness, battled, but struggled to answer late as the Greyhounds' shooting heated up.

During their regular-season meeting on Nov. 20, Carmel cruised past Noblesville 74-44. This time around, the Millers banded together and nearly pulled off the upset.

"We only have seven kids, so our game plan is to play a 2-3 zone. And we've done a really nice job," Millers coach Donna Buckley said. "We just wanted to make sure we rebounded and made them take long jumpers. Last time we played them, they shot lights out. That was really the difference. They didn't shoot nearly as well this time, but they started to hit some late."

The Millers kept stride with a gamehigh 14 points from senior Mallory Johnson and eight points from sophomore reserve Makenna Mundy, who went 4 of 5 from the floor.

Senior Maddie Knight added seven points, but the Greyhounds neutralized the Millers on the boards, grabbing 19 defensive rebounds. Carmel out rebounded Noblesville 30-20.

"We might not be the buffest of teams, but we have a lot of really good length and "I thought our post did a good job of a lot of really aggressive players that can Noblesville turnovers, including nine in the second half, which fueled the Greyhounds rally and 9-0 run in the game's final 3:38.

We like to pressure people. We like to try to cause some disruption and I thought our guards, especially up top, did a really good job of not allowing them to see over the top," Trimpe said. "We know Noblesville is a good team, and we know they have some phenomenal seniors. Their guards create so well, and we knew they would be prepared for us and have a good game plan."

Their defensive pressure led to 16 had to keep pushing through. The game plan they came in with really threw us off," Trimpe said. "We tried to make some halftime adjustments and the girls came out and executed those well."

> The Millers will lose three seniors to graduation this offseason, but with five juniors returning and a talented junior high class coming in, Buckley sees a turnaround coming soon. Prior to this year, the Millers had a string of six straight winning campaigns.

'We've come a long way. We've really grown up this year. We lost three varsity kids to ACLs, one kid to concussion. Our rebounds for Carmel. Freshman Kate starting point guard just went down the past four games," Buckley said. Millers get solid victory over Mount Vernon

By RICHIE HALL

NOBLESVILLE - There were three ingredients to Noblesville's 48-38 Zack Johnson scored three points, with victory over Mount Vernon on Saturday afternoon.

First, take one solid first half of play that saw the Millers make effective scoring runs to get some separation over the Marauders. Then add a third quarter of Noblesville keeping its composure when Mount Vernon made its run, and top it off with a fourth quarter of solid free-throw shooting.

Mix together in The Mill for 32 minutes, and you come out with a win.

"That's the game in a nutshell," said Millers coach Brian McCauley. "We got off to a tremendous start."

After some initial back and forth that saw Noblesville trail 7-6 midway through the first quarter, the Millers made a quick 6-0 run to take the lead and hold it for the duration of the game. Xavier Hines scored the first four points in that run, then Alex Hancock's layin made it 12-7.

The Marauders' Jacob Frank interrupted the run with a 3-pointer, but the Millers set the tone for the fourth quarter to give Noblesville a 14-10 free throws just nine seconds into the lead. That basket also started a 7-0 run; Eagan Keever-Hill making a putback in between. Jordan Schmidt later hit a 3-pointer, and Hancock continued his strong first-half play with another basket. That gave Noblesville a 24-12 lead. The first half ended with the Millers up 26-17; Hines added a rebound basket.

Noblesville made 14 of 15 foul shots in the fourth period: Johnson, Schmidt and Keever-Hill all went 4for-4, while Alex Hunt was 2-for-3. Hunt also had an important basket with around two minutes left in the game to put Noblesville up 38-29, effectively sealing the win.

Tigers take over in second half, beat 'Rocks

If there's one thing the Fishers boys basketball team can do, it's win under tough circumstances.

The Tigers traveled to Westfield for a Thursday Hoosier Crossroads Conference game, and slowly took control in the third quarter to grab a 63-53 win over the Shamrocks at The Rock. Fishers got the win despite having two players out, and is now 5-1 in conference play, second to Zionsville's 6-0 record.

Tigers coach Matt Moore noted that it was the third game in a row his team held an opponent under 55 points. The coach said it was a grind it out game, but Fishers seems to thrive in that situation.

"Those aren't the prettiest sometimes, but those are games that we can win," said Moore. "And we've been able to win those a lot this year."

Westfield led 15-12 after the first quarter. The Shamrocks had five different players score in that period, with Chris Chin and Caleb Welch both getting four points. Josiah Matthews had seven points, including a 3-pointer, to keep the Tigers within striking distance.

Fishers made its move in the second quarter, outscoring the 'Rocks 16-9 to take a 28-24 lead. It was Willie Jackson's turn to shine in that period, and he poured in 11 points.

The Tigers then turned it up in the third quarter, scoring 19 while holding Westfield to nine, going up 47-33. Jeffrey Simmons, who has quickly established himself as one of the better freshman players in the state, threw in 14 points.

With losing Terry, it hurts us because of his versatility. said Moore. "But at the same time, I think Luke steps in and does a great job. When Justin Long, who was sick tonight, is in there, he can do some things. Tonight I think Manny Davis, if we had a game ball to give, we'd give it to him just for his effort, his ability to stay on the floor and help make plays." Welch scored 19 points for the Shamrocks, with Zach "There's an outside chance we get him back for the end Banks adding 10 points. Chin totaled eight points, and Camden Simons scored six. Braden Smith, also one of the better freshman players in the state, led Westfield in rebounding with eight, in addition to five points and four assists. "I thought we did a lot of good things the first half," said Shamrocks coach Shane Sumpter. "I thought we rebounded well, I thought we kept them out of the lane. The second half, a lot of those things disappeared is basically what happened. They came out strong the second half. They got a little bit of fire. They really hurt us inside. Jeff Simmons hurt us inside. We gave up a lot of offensive rebounds the second half and we struggled to score. Give Fishers a lot of credit. Defensively, they're really good. We just dug ourselves a hole."
