Fishers Mental Health Initiative moves forward

By LARRY LANNAN | LarryInFishers.com

Fishers City Councilman Todd Zimmerman explained how Scott Fadness began talking to him about a mental health initiative the night election returns showed Fadness would become Fishers' first mayor in November 2014. The mayor began laying the groundwork for the Fishers Mental Health Initiative before he took office as mayor, while he was the Fishers Town Manager.

Since 2014, Scott Fadness has been working on moving forward with the initiative. He provided updates from the police and fire departments, the local schools and the city's efforts to publicize the initiative. Fadness gave the quarterly update on the initiative to a packed crowd at Fishers City Hall last Tuesday afternoon.

Fadness

The mayor described recent statistics that show suicide rates are down throughout the world over the past 20 to 30 years, with a few exceptions. The United States is one exception, which shows an increase. Indiana rates very low in the mental health condition of its residents and available assistance to address those mental health conditions, according to Fadness.

Westfield's Grand Junction Plaza funding plan proposed

The REPORTER

Last Monday, Westfield Mayor Andy Cook and city finance leaders introduced a $35 million funding plan to pay for the long-awaited Grand Junction Plaza. The proposed project, in development for more than 10 years, has already been a catalyst for economic growth.

Restaurants and businesses, including Chiba, Field Brewery, Grand Junction Brewery, Rail, Italian House and Greek's Pizza are among those locating and investing in downtown Westfield in anticipation of the Plaza. The introduction of this plan is the first step in getting the funding approved by the Westfield City Council.

"The Grand Junction Plaza is critical to the vibrancy of downtown Westfield," said Cook. "As we look at the city's future, we know it is essential that we have a 'heart of the city.' Grand Park is the centerpiece of the development on the west side of Westfield. The Grand Junction Plaza will be that place where people can connect. It will anchor the east side allowing for a balanced approach to development. The Grand Junction Plaza will be a one-of-a-kind space that will attract people from far and wide and will give our citizen's a sense of pride."

The city says there will be no tax increase for residential property taxpayers through the city's funding plan for the Grand Junction Plaza. The project will be funded with Local Income Tax revenues until that time when revenues from the Tax Increment Finance economic development area will be able to cover costs.

The Grand Junction Plaza was designed by renowned landscape architect

David Rubin. The Grand Junction Task Group, a volunteer citizens group, included the Plaza as an integral part of its master plan designed over the last 10 years. The organization was instrumental in the concept development and design of the Grand Junction Plaza. Last October, the City announced the reconstruction of State Road 32, which was a fundamental element of the Task Group's master plan.

The Westfield City Council is expected to vote on the funding plan later this month. If financing is approved, Plaza construction will begin this summer and be complete in the summer of 2021.

Noblesville Mayor's Breakfast for Scouting sets donation record

The REPORTER

The 24th annual Noblesville Mayor's Breakfast for Scouting continued its trend of increasing amounts as it received a record-setting $63,500 in pledged donations to help offset the costs of programming, supplies and equipment, and training workshops and camps. The breakfast was held last Tuesday at the Hamilton County 4-H Fairgrounds Exhibition Hall.

"The Noblesville community is committed to giving young people the tools and experiences, and the knowledge and faith, to make the world a better place," said Mayor John Ditslear. "By supporting Scouting, we are investing in the future leaders of our city, state and country. We are empowering young people with life skills to be prepared for whatever challenges they may face."

Former Hamilton County Judge Steve Nation served as chairman of the event. In addition to Ditslear, Nation and Crossroads of America Council CEO Joseph Wiltrout speaking, Scouts of different ages talked about their experiences and the values that Scouting has taught them. "President Ronald Reagan told us that freedom is never more than one generation away from extinction and that's why Boy Scouts are so important," said Nation. "It prepares our children with the responsibilities of citizenship and instructs them on how to be an American."

Over Ditslear's four terms, the Noblesville Mayor's Breakfast for Scouting has raised a total of $738,500.

Since 2004, Noblesville has had 224 individuals achieve Scouting's highest rank of Eagle Scout.

"Scouting teaches and instills the values and importance of community service," said Ditslear. "It builds character and sets the foundation in young people to make ethical and moral choices over their lifetime by instilling the values of the Scout Oath and Law - being trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent."

Carmel Clerk Treasurer claims responsibility for finding note

The REPORTER

A thank you note from Carmel Council Candidate Adam Aasen to Carmel Mayor Jim Brainard that was posted on social media has created not only a social media stir, but also a police investigation.

The note was originally reported to have been taken from Brainard's trash, possibly on private property.

A photo of the note was originally posted on social media by Rick Smith, Noblesville.

In a conversation with Reporter Publisher Jeff Jellison, Smith said his social media post stating, "Well, it was all on the down low. After hearing Adam Declared Allegiance to the Mayor

Pauley

I staked out the Mayors trash. It took two weeks of searching but I knew sooner or later I would find it," was sarcasm and not meant to be taken seriously.

Carmel Clerk Treasurer Christine Pauley told The Reporter she originally found the note in a small public trash can, then passed it along to someone else. She said she does not know how it came to be photographed and posted by Smith.

Pauley said the note was in a public trash can on city property, not on private property as has been alleged.

Carmel Police chose not to comment about an ongoing investigation.

"Celebrating Black History Through You" on February 25

I was in college before I heard of Black Wall Street.

Black Wall Street was a neighborhood on Greenwood Avenue in Tulsa, Oklahoma in the early 1900s where African Americans had created a self-sufficient infrastructure with a prosperous business community. The area was over 36 square blocks with 600 black owned businesses. It had its own grocery store, barbershop, doctors, real estate offices, schools and newspaper. The community supported its own churches and had 21 restaurants. Six of the black business owners owned their own planes at a time when the entire state of Oklahoma only had two airports. It was a fascinating and highly successful community for more than two decades.

I never heard of it until I was an African American studies minor in college. I had also never heard of the Tulsa Race Riots, the largest massacre of non-military Americans in the history of our country.

The Tulsa Race Riots would wipe out Black Wall Street and kill more than 300 people. 800 more were injured and 36 city blocks were devastated and burned by an angry white mob that descended on Greenwood Avenue. It was a coordinated attack on the ground and kerosene bombs from planes in the air. This attack would leave more than 9,000 people homeless.

Not a single lesson on it in my lifetime.

I heard it mentioned in one of my black studies classes in college and would go on to research it myself. Why had I never heard of this before? Why wasn't the largest non-military killing of Americans not mentioned in my history books?

The Great Migration: When more than 6 million blacks migrated from the south and its segregationist laws to the north and awaiting opportunity. An important event in U.S. history. After all, I had learned about Europeans settling in the West.

The horrific Tuskegee Institute Experiment, where 600 black men were unknowingly enrolled in a study for syphilis that would take some of their lives and infect their families when they were inhumanely held from a cure.

Henrietta Lacks was an African American woman that died from an aggressive form of cervical cancer in 1951 and her cells were harvested without her permission. HeLa has become one of the most important cells in history and is responsible for countless cures and vaccinations, including polio and HPV, yet I never heard her mentioned in science.

Shirley Chisholm. Granville Trailer Woods. Ida B Wells. Mary McLeod Bethune. I could fill this page with names that belong in our history books.

February is Black History Month. Without the focus on Black History during the month of February, these stories simply haven't been told. The impact of people of color on our country has been largely absent from our traditional history books. While I pray that changes and our schools nationwide begin to adapt a more inclusive curriculum, we must be intentional in teaching our children a true picture of American history.

The African American history even right here in Hamilton County is so rich and I encourage you to research it as a family. There are several events in our city to expand our thinking and celebrate alongside our neighbors in the month of February. On the 16th and 17th you can view Black Panther at the Noblesville East Public Library. Conner Prairie, in partnership with Asante Children's Theatre will look at the achievements of and challenges of black Hoosiers by playwrights of color on the 16th and 23rd. On the 27th at the Noblesville East Public Library you can take a look at the relationship between the white settlers in this area and an African American fur trader named Pete Smith that helped them navigate their first year here.

The Noblesville Diversity Coalition looks forward to 'Celebrating Black History Through You' at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 25 at Ivy Tech. In honor of Black History Month, the evening will highlight the arts as created and interpreted by our own community. Essays, spoken word, dramatic expression and performances from local students and adults will bring an awesome energy to the evening. Mr. Kinetik, Butler University Men's Basketball emcee and creator, writer and recorder of funky sounds will guide us through a memorable evening reflecting Black History.

All ages are welcome for what is sure to be a memorable event.

Noblesville receives excellence in financial reporting award

The REPORTER

The City of Noblesville has been awarded the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting in recognition of the city's comprehensive annual financial report (CAFR). This is the 19th consecutive year that the city has received the honor.

The Certificate of Achievement is presented by the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada and is the highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting.

"The city received its first recognition in 1988," said Mayor John

Ditslear

Spalding

Ditslear. "I want to thank former clerk-treasurer Janet S. Jaros and O.W. Krohn and Associates for helping to build the tradition started in 1999 and continued to this day by subsequent controllers Mike Hendricks and Jeff Spalding."

The CAFR is judged by an impartial panel to meet the high standards of the program, which includes demonstrating a constructive "spirit of full disclosure" to clearly communicate its financial story and motivate potential user groups to read the report.

"The CAFR is a fair and accurate reporting of how much money the city has and its major financial obligations," said Spalding. "It provides transparency to financial markets and prospective developers and exists mainly to better position the city to attract private investment."

Noblesville Council approves bond issuance for new development . . . Levinson project design approved

The REPORTER

The Noblesville Common Council approved two separate projects last Tuesday that will strengthen the downtown and redevelop a substantial parcel on a major corridor east of State Road 37.

The final public approval step was completed for the Levinson, a $24.3 million mixed-use project, including the first new downtown apartments to be built in more than a century. The council also passed the bond financing for a $31 million redevelopment project on the northeast corner of 146th Street and Promise Road.

The Levinson includes 73 market-rate and 10 affordable-rate studio, one- and two-bedroom modern apartments with a rooftop deck and contemporary amenities; 5,100 square feet of commercial space; and a four-level, 300-space parking garage. A minimum of 200 spaces will be available for paid public parking – a net gain of 130 parking spaces over the lot's current availability.

The council also approved an issuance of bonds to incentivize the 38-acre redevelopment of the northeast corner of 146th Street and Promise Road. A large portion of the site is currently being used as an auto salvage business. Jackson Development LLC plans to transform the ground into 200,000 square feet of office/flex buildings in what will be known as the Campus Center Business Park. The project also features 80,000 square feet of commercial and retail space in the area known as The Shoppes at Campus Center.

"This project opens up the potential redevelopment of the 146th Street corridor between State Road 37 and Corporate Campus," said Mayor John Ditslear.

HSE nondiscrimination policy prososal sent back to committee once again

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

For at least three years, the Hamilton Southeastern school board has postponed a decision on the wording of a nondiscrimination policy, and last Wednesday, after a spirited discussion by speakers from the public and among board members, the board decided to once again send the proposal back to the school corporation's policy committee. There was also talk of the board members undergoing training to better understand nondiscrimination issues throughout the school district.

Jennifer Chavez appeared unhappy when she was told her presentation would be limited to three minutes, but she shared her entire planned speech with LarryInFishers. She believes board members should receive annual training on a number of issues, including equity and/or diversity issues, and her most pointed comments were about the board's lack of enforcement in their own code of ethics.

The recommended language before the school board Wednesday from the policy committee cites state and federal statutes and says the following: "The school corporation will not discriminate in its educational or employment activities on any basis prohibited by applicable federal or state laws."

Some board members did not find that wording strong enough, arguing that language means something to the school community. Board Member Julie Chambers wants specific language with protections for sexual orientation and transgender students and employees.

"If our district is going to talk about mental health, we cannot leave this out," Chambers said.

The board voted unanimously to send the nondiscrimination policy language back to the policy committee.

State Department of Education bestows highest award . . .

Heights earns 'Performance Qualified High School' status

The REPORTER

Hamilton Heights High School (HHHS) has been rated an "A" school and has received the status of a "Performance Qualified High School" for the 2019-2020 school year by the Indiana Department of Education and the Office of School Accountability & Accreditation. This is the highest performance and improvement category by the Indiana Department of Education.

To be eligible for the Performance Qualified High School Program, a high school must receive an "A" for the previous school year. A high school remains designated as a Performance Qualified High School until it either receives a "C" or lower for one school year or receives a "B" or lower for two consecutive school years. The purpose of establishing the Performance Qualified High Schools program is to provide flexibility to schools that meet the criteria. These high schools can then provide curriculum, instruction, programs and educational innovations designed to help engage students in greater ways than what is required of the schools.

One of the requirements of a Performance Qualified High School is that the instructional day consist of at least six hours of instructional time and 180 student instructional days. However, a school that is eligible for the Performance Qualified High School program may exercise some flexibility around these instructional time requirements if the total number of instructional minutes provided in a school year meets the required timeframe.

Noblesville fireworks return to Forest Park

The REPORTER

The Noblesville Fourth of July Planning Committee has announced several changes and ways for individuals, organizations and businesses to be a part of another fun and patriotic Fourth of July parade and fireworks festival.

The free Fireworks Festival, presented by IDI Composites, Inc., will take place at Forest Park. Construction transforming the intersection of Field Drive and Cumberland Road into a roundabout will close that area during the summer and caused the committee to look at an alternative site. The festival is expanding two hours and will last from 4 to 10 p.m. The grand finale will be the fireworks display at 10 p.m. Viewing will be available throughout the park.

New this year, the committee has created areas with booth space inside the park to showcase the community. These opportunities are available for local artists, merchants, businesses and nonprofits. Forms are available now at NoblesvilleFireworksFestival.com.

Interested in volunteering? Organizers are in need of more volunteers than previous years. Organizations can earn in-kind trade of discounted rates for facility rentals. Organizations with at least 10 volunteers and reaching 20 hours of service can earn a free four-hour court or shelter rental redeemable Monday through Thursday, excluding tournament rentals and holidays. Individuals and families also are encouraged to participate if interested.

The only changes to the parade is the start time, which is 2:30 p.m.

This year's theme is "Stars & Stripes Forever in Noblesville." Entry forms for those interested in participating in the parade are available at NoblesvilleFireworksFestival.com.

Clenna June Barker

July 19, 1967 – February 12, 2019

Clenna June Barker, 51, Noblesville, passed away on Tuesday morning, February 12, 2019 at Riverview Health in Noblesville. Born July 19, 1967 in Noblesville, she was the daughter of Marvin Dale and Effie Jane (Bowman) Barker and Sandra Joy (Mason) Hart.

After graduating from Tipton High School, Clenna proudly served her country with the United States Air Force from June 10, 1986 until June 10, 1995. Making the most of her time in the service, she took advantage of every opportunity to further her education, earning both her Bachelor of Science and Master of Business Administration.

Administration.

Along with a tireless work ethic and a constant desire to keep learning, Clenna also had a servant's heart. For many years she worked in the Family and Social Services Administration's Disability Determination Bureau, helping countless individuals navigate their way through a system that can be daunting.

When she finally had some time to herself, time to herself was exactly what she wanted. Somewhat of a homebody, she loved getting lost in her own space. Whether it was sitting down with a good book (preferably one of the Classics, but also a good mystery now and then) or geeking out on the computer (taking on all who dare challenge her gaming skills), she was in her element. She was also a collector. She enjoyed adding to her coin collection as well as knick-knacks and other memorabilia from her youth. When her health allowed, she loved camping and working in the garden.

Family held a very special place in Clenna's heart. Blessed with a great love for music and the gift of a beautiful singing voice, she felt very honored, and fortunate, to be able to delay her entry into the service long enough to be able to perform at her sister Joanie's wedding.

Clenna is survived by her step-mother, Effie Jane (Bowman) Barker; two sons, Kyler Bartlett and John Bartlett, both of Colorado; one daughter, Lilli Bartlett of Colorado; four brothers, Chris Lee Barker, Kirklin; James E. Barker (Angela), Fortville; Ferlin Ogden of Tennessee, and Billy Hutt of Tennessee; and two sisters, Joanie S. Isenhower (Craig), Sheridan; and Sky Hutt of Tennessee. Clenna is also survived by her three canine best friends, Ginger, Hera and Pepper. Hanging out with her dogs was most definitely her favorite thing to do in the whole world.

She was preceded in death by her father, Marvin Dale Barker; her mother, Sandra Jane (Mason) Hart; and by her brother, Teddy Ogden.

Services with Military Honors were held on Monday, February 18, 2019 at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan, with visitation prior to the time of service.

In honor of Clenna's love for animals, memorial contributions may be presented to either the Hamilton County Humane Society or to the animal rescue organization of your choice.

About the Grammys

After a five-hour marathon of watching the golf tournament, until the skies darkened and play was halted after the 16th hole, Chuck asked me what I wanted to watch.

JANET HART LEONARD
From the Heart

"Let's check out the Grammys."

I was more interested in the fashion than the music. The fashion did not disappoint.

I think Moses could have been the designer of many of the dresses that the women wore. You know, he parted the Red Sea and believe me, those necklines were parted for miles. One slight sneeze and the cameras would be in trouble with the powers that make and control the obscenity and wardrobe malfunction rules.

Chuck asked me if I would know any of the singers and musicians. A few.

I do enjoy the music of some of the contemporary singers. Lady Gaga. Bruno Mars. Alicia Keys. Ed Sheeran. To name a few ... a very few.

While I grew up with country music, I know very few of those who are on the Top 10 today. I'm more of a Patsy Cline, Martina McBride and Noblesville's own Steve Wariner kind of a listener.

Back to the Grammys.

I'm not sure what most of the rap singers were saying. That was probably a good thing.

A gal who I thought was named Cardio was actually Cardi B. I struggled to understand the lyrics to her song "Money." I honestly thought she was singing "I gotta p**p."

When I looked up the lyrics to her song, I blushed. To say the least, I was shocked and appalled. I will refrain from writing them in this column for fear of not knowing what some of the lyrics actually mean. The lyrics, I do understand, are not rated PG.

I know I am old fashioned, conservative and an old school music lover but I really showed my age watching the Grammys. I'm glad that I understood very little of the words they were singing.

I can sing along with most lyrics of the 60s and 70s rock and roll songs that I grew up hearing. It's hard to imagine my grandkids singing the lyrics of the songs they listen to today when they are in their 60s.

The dancing on the Grammys made my hips hurt. I hope these young dancers know a good chiropractor when they are older. They will need one. As my mother would say, they gyrated like they had a bee in their britches. Not all their parts will be able to be replaced when they are worn out.

Back to the fashion. I was raised that you do not show your lady parts in public, let alone wear pants depicting them. Had my mother seen the dancing of Janelle Monáe's dancers wearing vagina pants she would have had a come apart. A not-so-pretty come apart. Let's just say that the song "Pynk" made me blush a bit. Actually, I felt my cheeks turn red. The cheeks on my face. Sheesh, I feel the need to explain more than I should.

Anyway, these are my thoughts this week. I think I'll stick to watching golf. It's a lot less painful and much easier on the ears. And that my dear friends ... is a wrap!

What is the meaning of music?

Editor's Note: The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School's 10th grade English class, taught by Abigayle Williams. This column was originally published in the Sunday, Feb. 17 edition of The Reporter.

JACK HAWES
Sheridan High School Student

I really started thinking about this question when I found a video by YouTuber Adam Neely. He did a video titled "What does music mean?" In the video he discusses this question and ways to interpret and answer it.

There are many meanings to this phrase and also multiple ways to interpret it. The intended way is what is music trying to tell you. The simple answers are whatever you want it to and/or absolutely nothing. If you take these answers, it doesn't require much thought. Delving into it deeper is more fun. So let's begin.

The first and most obvious thing in understanding music would be to look at the lyrics of a song for meaning, but if it doesn't have any lyrics then you can't use that. This also doesn't entirely answer the question. This just tells you the topic of the lyrics. You could also say that the meaning can be found in the notes. Pythagoras of the ancient Greeks was the first to research relationships between notes and frequencies. He found that simpler ratios were easier on the ears and less dissonant, or more pleasant, and happier. The more complicated ratios are more dissonant, or less pleasant, and usually sadder.

He found these by attempting to find the relation between the planets and other celestial bodies. Anything made by humans is merely an attempt to recreate the perfect sound of those celestial bodies. While the ratios themselves are still used and thought of as correct in western music, the ratios between the planets themselves were wrong. This means that the music of the spheres, as it was called, ended up being wrong.

The next sensible thing to go to would be what emotions are being portrayed with music. This is also the easiest solution to go to. In metal music, my favorite and one of the easiest for this example, the emotion is almost always either angry, sad, or mysterious.

The ways these emotions are shown are always different, but very similar in the ways they are achieved. Anger is portrayed best in screams or harsh vocals. The way the artist chooses to do this is literally always different because everyone's voice is different. Due to this, people will have different ranges and variations on techniques. Some of the coolest and most common are gutturals, growls and whistle tone screams.

Sadness is portrayed usually with cleaner vocals and/or cleaner instrumentals. This can also be shown with screams but these are less used for conveying sadness. The song "Habitual Gloom" by For The Likes of You is one of my favorite examples of singing used to show helplessness and sadness. During the verses there is screaming, but a different vocalist sings during the choruses. He has a more helpless and almost whiny tone.

To achieve a mysterious sound, it is similar to how sadness is achieved. Usually a clean guitar is all that is used. One of my favorite songs to use this is "Midnight" by Joe Satriani. He uses a clean tone with some reverb to help get the sound he needs. He uses very fast riffs with some odd chords to finish the curious and mysterious sound.

As a musician, it isn't as hard for me to sense these differences and determine how they are achieved. Usually it's tones or effects used like delay or distortion, but not all music has to have a meaning or anything behind it and not everyone hears it.

This has been seen forever, but many think that now it's at its peak. With modern music many people will say, "Who cares if the lyrics aren't sensible, the beat is good," or, "The vibe from the beat is good, so the song is good." This is a very simple way of conceptualizing the question, but gives a good example and almost answers the question; however, that answer brings us back to the beginning with, "Music means whatever you want it to."

Maybe next time you listen to music you will think about what the meaning is or what it could be.

Royal domination: Southeastern beats Crown Point for first-ever state finals trip

By RICHIE HALL

LA PORTE - Before the Royals take to the court, Hamilton Southeastern girls basketball coach Chris Huppenthal and his staff tell his team two words: "Be us."

Now, cut to last Saturday afternoon at La Porte, where the Royals played an outstanding game to earn a first-ever trip to the IHSAA state finals.

"This is us," said Huppenthal.

Southeastern won the Class 4A north semi-state at La Porte by dismantling Crown Point 61-28. The No. 4-ranked Bulldogs came into the game undefeated, but the No. 1-ranked Royals had control of the game from the first quarter onward. Southeastern will now play No. 10 Lawrence North at 8:15 p.m. Saturday at Bankers Life Fieldhouse for the 4A state championship. The Wildcats beat Castle 50-40 to win the 4A south semi-state championship.

"I'm kind of numb right now," said Huppenthal. "I'm waiting for someone to pinch me and let me know what happens."

*pinch*

"I'm here," said Huppenthal. "It's just been a great feeling this whole week."

"It feels awesome," said senior Malea Jackson. "It's like, indescribable. It's like a once in a lifetime chance and I'm just so happy to spend it with the team that I have. We're just a family and it's awesome to be able to experience this with them."

Crown Point's only lead of the game was at the start, when the Bulldogs' Ellie VanDeel made a free throw during the first minute of the game for a 1-0 lead. But after that, it was all Royals. Southeastern was blistering in the first quarter, nailing five 3-pointers in that period.

"That was really great for us," said senior Amaya Hamilton. "I know that we all had nerves and everything, but after we see that first shot go in, I think that that helps a lot, and just getting the nerves to go away and just getting the energy up."

Hamilton was a big part of Southeastern's first-quarter energy. The 6-foot-2 Duquesne University commit hit two early 3-pointers to help the Royals out to a 12-2 lead. A third 3-pointer put HSE ahead 15-4. In all, Hamilton scored 11 points in the first quarter.

"We do our roles, and not everybody's going to score all the time," said Jackson. "But when you are hot, we're going to get you the ball. Amaya was just amazing today, I'm so proud of her. It's just a great contribution throughout the team."

Junior Syndey Parrish made a 3 at the end of the period to put the Royals up 23-7. Southeastern then scored two quick baskets in the beginning of the second (Parrish and Jackson both made layins) to get the lead to 27-7. Crown Point would continue to battle valiantly during the game, but the Bulldogs were simply overmatched by Southeastern.

"What they did today is what they've done all year," said Huppenthal of his team. "We thought coming up here, our schedule was going to be the difference in this game, and I think it ended up playing that way.

The Hamilton Southeastern girls basketball team won the Class 4A La Porte semi-state last Saturday, beating previously undefeated Crown Point 61-28. The Royals earned a first-ever trip to the IHSAA state finals with the victory, and play Lawrence North for the state championship this Saturday.

Visit bit.ly/2SHyADr to see more images.

We've played some of the best teams in the state of Indiana."

The Royals have played a difficult schedule, taking on not only their regular opponents from the tough Hoosier Crossroads Conference, but also challenging teams like North Central, Warren Central and Lawrence North.

"They prepare you for this moment," said Huppenthal. "Our kids played like they have all year. We didn't do anything different."

The Royals maintained their 20-point lead at halftime, going into the locker room with a 37-17 advantage. Jackson had back-to-back baskets late in the quarter, and junior Bailee Poore came off the bench to finish the period with a layin.

"You never know when your name's going to get called," said Huppenthal. Poore came in during a moment when the Royals were in foul trouble, and she gave her team some good minutes.

"She hustles and she got in there," said Huppenthal. "She got her opportunity and her moment to shine. She took advantage of it."

Southeastern continued to roll in the second half, leading 52-27 after three quarters. The balance continued in that period, as five different players scored. Parrish scored five points, while junior Jackie Maulucci helped out with four points. Junior Lydia Self put HSE up 52-25 with a layin.

"They're awesome players," said Maulucci of her teammates. "I've seen them play for almost my whole life, and I know they can do big things. They put a lot of hours into the gym. Seeing the results here on the court today, it makes me feel good and I'm super proud of them."

Southeastern's defense revved up in the fourth quarter, when it only allowed the Bulldogs one point. That allowed the Royals to clear the bench, which in turn gave more players a chance to contribute. Freshman Makayla Hinshaw made two free throws, and junior Lauren Morris hit a layin to end the game.

"Every single girl on this team has a role and that's what contributes to our success," said Hamilton. "We all know our roles and are willing to do it to the best of our ability. So that's what's taken us so far."

Hamilton and Parrish both scored 14 points, with Jackson adding eight. Tayah Irvin made all three of her field goal attempts for six points.

Molly Walton and Parrish each pulled five rebounds. Jackson dished out five assists, with Maulucci handing out four. Parrish made four steals and two blocked shots, while Hamilton had three blocks.

The Royals are now 26-1 for the season.

Jackie Maulucci scored six points for Southeastern during its semi-state win over Crown Point.

'Blazers fall to Vincennes Rivet in semi-state

A tough second quarter did No. 3 University in Saturday, as the Trailblazers fell 61-50 in the Class 1A Jasper semi-state to undefeated, No. 2 Vincennes Rivet.

The scoring pace started slowly, as it took 2:27 for the game's first bucket, as junior guard Maddi Sears gave University (24-3) an early 3-0 lead from deep. It would prove to be the Trailblazers' only lead, though, as over the next three minutes, Rivet (29-0) clawed ahead with six consecutive free throws — four from junior guard Tia Tolbert, and two from senior forward Grace Waggoner.

The stretch was a preview of what was to come in multiple ways — Waggoner and Tolbert would ultimately combine for 41 of their team's 61 points, and how they scored would prove consequential, with both senior forward Jhordan McGuire and junior center Lindsey Syrek finding themselves in foul trouble early. Yet despite a plethora of turnovers and foul trouble to their key bigs, University used solid marksmanship to stick around through the quarter mark — senior guard Lucy Snyder, senior guard Jenna Blakley and Sears all hit 3-pointers in the final 2:30 of the quarter, meaning the Patriots' lead was just one, 13-12, after one.

But the Trailblazers weren't so lucky to stick around in the second.

Rivet started the quarter on a 5-0 spurt, but arguably, the two biggest plays came when the Trailblazers had the ball. With 5:52 left in the second, McGuire picked up her third foul while driving to the hoop on a 50/50 call, with Waggoner sliding over to take what was deemed a charge. Just 30 seconds later, after the Trailblazers had gotten a stop, Syrek was hit with a foul.

With the foul count 8-1, University played most of the remainder of the second quarter with McGuire on the bench and Syrek working to make sure she didn't pick up a fourth foul. It proved disastrous for University, as the Patriots stretched that 5-0 spurt into an 18-3 quarter, taking advantage of the foul trouble to get putbacks at the rim. While the Trailblazers generally handled Rivet's full-court press, a couple key turnovers late in the quarter helped move the deficit from a manageable 10 to 14, with Rivet adding a bucket with 25 seconds left in the half to lead 31-15 at the break.

Coming out of the break, University began to chip away at the Rivet advantage. Free throws from Lily Snyder and a bucket from Syrek cut the deficit to 12 two minutes into the half, and by the time two more minutes had elapsed, the lead was down to 10 on a Sears 3. With 1:23 left in the quarter, University closed within seven, 41-34, on Sears' fourth 3-pointer of the game — the junior guard led the Trailblazers with 17 points.

Big third quarter helps Millers beat Golden Eagles

By RICHIE HALL

NOBLESVILLE - The Noblesville and Guerin Catholic boys basketball teams haven't played each other often, but when they do get together, it makes for some exciting games.

Last Tuesday's game between the two teams at The Mill was another good one. The Golden Eagles got off to a great start, then the Millers came back with an outstanding third quarter. Noblesville then held off a fourth quarter Guerin run to win 44-41, giving the Millers their fourth victory in a row.

"Everybody contributed and it was a huge, huge win for us, because Guerin Catholic's a very good team," said Noblesville coach Brian McCauley. "They've been in every game. They had a lead with 61 seconds to go against North Central, at North Central.

"It was a tough battle and we knew it would be," said McCauley.

The first quarter began with some early basket-trading, the Golden Eagles went on a 10-2 run that stretched into the start of the second quarter. Kian Sills hit a 3-pointer to open the run, with Matt Parenteau also contributing three points (a layin and a free throw). Eagan Keever-Hill's layin was the last score of the first period, but a basket by Bernie McGuinness put GC up 14-6 to begin the second quarter.

Jordan Schmidt hit a 3 for the Millers, and that was answered by Joseph Bobilya's 3 for the Golden Eagles. Noblesville scored five quick points to cut Guerin Catholic's lead to 17-14; Alex Hunt made a putback and Xavier Hines nailed a 3. But the Golden Eagles answered again: Matthew Gillis hit a layin and McGuinness drained a 3, putting Guerin Catholic up 22-14 at the break.

Following halftime, the Millers played what McCauley said was the best quarter of basketball his team had played all season. Noblesville outscored the Golden Eagles 17-2 in the third period.

"We were 8-of-8 from the field in the third quarter," said McCauley.

Zack Johnson made back-to-back layins, then Hunt took a steal in for a dunk. Hines' jumper tied the game, and Keever-Hill got the Millers on top with a layin. McGuinness made two free throws with 2:48 left for GC's only points of the third, but Noblesville promptly scored seven more points: Schmidt hit a jumper, Keever-Hill made a 3 and Johnson's layin put the Millers ahead 31-24.

"I think our guys battled for three of the four quarters," said GC coach Bobby Allen. "We obviously came out in the third quarter and we couldn't stop them."

Noblesville held the lead for the entire fourth quarter, twice going up by 11 points. Schmidt's two free throws gave the Millers a 39-28 advantage with 4:01 to play. The Golden Eagles started to chip away at that point, with Luke Godfrey hitting a 3-pointer, then McGuinness converted a traditional three-point play with 1:12 left to get GC within 41-38. But two free throws from Johnson with 21.6 seconds left gave Noblesville a 43-38 lead, and the Millers were able to hang on.

Schmidt and Johnson each scored 10 points, while Keever-Hill and Hunt both added nine points. Hines collected four rebounds.

"All in all, tremendous second half," said McCauley.

McGuinness scored 12 points for Guerin Catholic, with Sills adding 10, including two 3-pointers. McGuinness pulled six rebounds, with Sills grabbing five and also handing out four assists.

"Once they got that big lead on us, I'm proud of our guys for not giving up. We could've very easily given up and we battled back, had a chance to win it at the end," said Allen.

In later games, Noblesville was dealt a tough loss at Avon Friday night, 47-43.

The Millers led 9-6 after the first quarter, with Johnson scoring seven points. Noblesville held that advantage going into halftime, leading the Orioles 18-15. But Avon outscored the Millers 15-2 in the third quarter to take a 30-20 lead.

"We really struggled offensively in the third quarter," said McCauley. "We had too many turnovers that led to transition points for Avon."

The Millers made a furious comeback in the fourth, scoring 23 points, but the Orioles held on for the win. Hines scored nine points in the fourth, including a pair of 3-pointers. Johnson led Noblesville with 16 points, while Hines scored 13.

Noblesville battled its way to a win at Fort Wayne Northrop on Saturday, by the score of 56-50.

The Millers led 15-13 after the first quarter, with Johnson scoring eight points and Schmidt chipping in five. The Bruins came back to lead 24-22 at halftime, but Noblesville grabbed the lead back in the third quarter, which ended with the Millers leading 38-36. Schmidt threw in three 3-pointers during the third.

In the fourth, Noblesville outscored Northrop 18-14.

Johnson poured in nine points, giving him a total of 26 for the game. Schmidt finished with four 3-pointers and 16 points.

"It was a great team win tonight," said McCauley. "After having a tough game last night on the road, we came back and beat a very good Fort Wayne Northrop team on their home floor. Our players showed a lot of mental and physical toughness. It was a great night for the Millers as our 9th, junior varsity and varsity teams won."

Noblesville is 13-9 and will host Perry Meridian on Friday for its regular-season finale.

Guerin Catholic is 11-10 and will host Anderson Tuesday, then play at Seecina on Friday.

'Rocks win on Senior Night' 'BLAZERS

Westfield won its Senior Night game on Saturday, beating New Castle 61-53 at The Rock.

The game was a showcase for two Shamrock seniors: Zach Banks and Caleb Welch each scored 22 points. Welch was outstanding from the field, making 9 of 11 shot attempts, including three 3-pointers. Banks went 6 of 6 from the free throw line, in addition to an 8-of-14 effort from the field.

Westfield trailed 14-13 after the first quarter, but pulled ahead 27-24 by halftime. The 'Rocks outscored the Trojans 17-12 in the fourth period to clinch the win and held New Castle's leading scorer well under his season average.

Braden Smith pulled six rebounds; both he and Mason Brooks added five points.

In earlier games, the Shamrocks beat Western Boone 72-60 last Tuesday at

The Rock. Smith had an outstanding game, scoring 25 points, including five 3-pointers. Banks nailed three 3s on his way to 17 points, with Caleb Welch adding 17 points, including two 3s. Benji Welch pulled five rebounds and blocked two shots.

Westfield found itself on the wrong end of a last-second shot Friday night, as the Shamrocks fell at Franklin Central 58-57.

Banks put Westfield up by two late in the game, but the Flashes hit a 3-pointer with under 10 seconds left to get the win. Banks led the Westfield scoring with 19 points. Caleb Welch contributed 18 points and five rebounds, while Smith had 16 points, five rebounds and four assists. Benji Welch also handed out four assists.

Westfield plays at Mount Vernon on Tuesday.

Once the Trailblazers cut it to seven, though, the Patriots held tough and kept University at arm's length. The Rivet lead was 45-37 after three quarters, and an early 3-pointer in the fourth stretched that lead back to 10. University quickly answered through a Syrek bucket, and a McGuire 2 with 6:13 cut it back to a seven-point game. But the teams kept exchanging buckets, which didn't help matters. Sears and McGuire answered Rivet buckets to move the score back to seven, before McGuire fouled out with 3:07 left and the score 52-45.

The Patriots split a pair of free throws with 1:57 left to extend their lead to 53-45, but Syrek answered to bring the game to its closest second-half margin, 53-47, with 1:39 left. University fouled Tolbert, who missed the front end of the 1-and-1, meaning the Trailblazers could make it a one-possession game with a 3-pointer.

University didn't get a shot, though, as a Blakley pass was tipped and stolen by Rivet. Waggoner raced down to the other end for a transition layup, pushing the lead to eight, before the Patriots salted away a return to the state championship game at the line.

The Trailblazers finish the season having set a program record for wins (24) in a season where they captured their first conference championship, back-to-back sectional championships, and the school's first girls basketball regional since 2009. While they lose four starters and seven total seniors from this year's squad, the Trailblazers will return Sears and Syrek (who scored 13 points on Saturday) to lead them into the 2019-20 season.

Noblesville's Jeff Eads inducted into Hamilton County Basketball Hall of Fame

Noblesville's Jeff Eads has been inducted into the Hamilton County Basketball Hall of Fame. Eads was honored during halftime of last Tuesday's Millers-Guerin Catholic boys basketball game.

Eads played for Head Coach Dave Nicholson, graduating in 1979. Eads was a three-year varsity player and was a key factor in turning the Noblesville basketball program into a winner. Eads played center even though he was just 5 feet, 11 inches tall and was named to the All-County, All-Sectional and All-Conference teams for two years: 1978 and 1979.

He scored 835 points during his career and was the leading rebounder his senior year.

Jeff is the son of Mary Lantzer and the late Russ Eads. Jeff and his wife of 35 years, Alice, are the proud parents of Jessica Pruitt, a teacher with Noblesville School System, and Michael. They have two grandsons, Emmett and Graham Eads. They all currently reside in Noblesville.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about.

But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.)

Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

- Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

You can drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, located at 14701 Tom Wood Way. You can also donate directly to Prevail of Central Indiana by visiting Prevailinc.org.
