Fishers learns of Nickel Plate Trail Master Plan

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

The City of Fishers is embarking on a 21-year journey to design and construct the Nickel Plate Trail along what was once the Nickel Plate rail line. Months of work, with input by more than 1,500 local citizens, culminated into the Master Plan unveiled Monday night at Launch Fishers.

Over 200 people crammed into the largest meeting room at Launch Fishers; many were Hamilton Southeastern students involved in the planning and their families. The City of Fishers says more than $250 million in private investment has been announced along the trail, from Hub & Spoke to First Internet Bank.

Fishers City Councilman John Weingardt and Amanda Welu of DELV Design co-chaired the large group involved in sifting through the many ideas submitted for the trail.

"We've spoken to hundreds of community members about their vision for this new kind of trail and the result – a dynamic trail experience not found anywhere in the U.S.," said co-chair Amanda Welu. "As a resident of Fishers, it's been an incredible process to work alongside colleagues and neighbors to bring this vision to fruition; it will be a unique destination for all."

The Trail will feature five segments of uses:

1. 96th Street to 106th Street: Makers Space and Innovation Zone
2. 106th Street through Cheeny Creek: Nature Park Zone
3. Just south of 116th Street through 126th Street: Downtown Active Core Zone
4. 126th Street to 131st Street: Wellness Zone
5. 131st Street to 146th Street: Park and

Another major Carmel street construction season approaches

By FRED SWIFT
ReadTheReporter.com

Those who live or work in Carmel or regularly drive through the community should be prepared for another season of major road construction beginning by April. A list of projects was released to city residents last week.

Within central Carmel the planned projects include seven new roundabouts which will involve at least partial road closures. With construction starting in early summer these roundabouts will be found at West Main Street and Guilford Road, 96th Street and Gray Road, 96th Street and Delegates Row.

Later in the summer a major roundabout will be underway at 116th Street and Range Line Road followed by others on Range Line at 6th Street S.E. and

Cyclist catches second vehicle on Monon Trail

The REPORTER

For the second time in less than a week, someone has been caught driving a vehicle on the Monon Trail.

Last week, The Reporter through our news gathering partner WISH-TV shared pictures of a car driving between 111th and 116th streets.

Now, a cyclist caught video of a vehicle driving on the trail on Monday morning.

Ben Matthews posted video to Facebook showing the vehicle on the trail.

He says this driver also appeared to enter at 111th Street.

"They seemed to realize their mistake after almost half a mile, so they turned around and drove back toward 111th St.," he said in the post.

He said he rides his bike to work most days and that he has never seen anything like this.

"In the thousands of miles I have commuted on or ridden on the Monon, I have never seen someone driving on the Monon (besides the vehicle on the trail.

The master plan calls for a tunnel underneath 116th Street for those using the trail, with artwork and technology planned, adding to the experience in hopes the tunnel would become a destination.

Education Zone

The first trail segment has been financed through a bond issue authorized by the city council as part of the 2019 city budget. That goes from 106th Street to 126th Street.

It was emphasized that this is the master planning stage and the design phase for the trail would come later.

Fishers Mayor Scott Fadness has been one of the trail's biggest advocates. "We're going to create a destination like no other in the country," he said. "We've seen with the Monon (Trail), we've seen with the (downtown Indianapolis) Cultural Trail time and time again how popular those are with residents. We think this is a higher and better use for that asset."

Fadness has also received criticism from groups including Save the Nickel Plate, a group that fought hard to preserve rail use. In the end, the city pushed ahead with a trail conversion and, after getting federal approval, announced the plan Monday.

"It's already attracted over a quarter-billion dollars of investment in our community," Fadness said. "So, it's been wonderful from an economic development standpoint, but also the citizens are going to have a place where they can enjoy and walk and just be a part of our community for many, many years to come."

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about.

But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.)

Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks

House advances Goodrich's bill creating a senior-youth mentor pilot program

SEASON

The REPORTER

The Indiana House of Representatives voted in support of legislation authored by State Rep. Chuck Goodrich (R-Noblesville) that would connect students and senior citizens in local schools through a pilot mentorship program.

Goodrich said he was inspired to author the legislation following conversations with local residents who wanted to help after last year's shooting at Noblesville West Middle School. Through the program, volunteers aged 55 and over would work with students in three school corporations, one urban, one suburban and one rural.

"Building positive relationships with our young people can help improve their emotional well-being by giving them another supportive adult they can reach out to," Goodrich said. "By changing the culture in our schools, we can create a safer and more productive learning environment."

According to Goodrich, retired military and law enforcement members see the program as an opportunity to get involved in their community while also offering support to students through positive relationships and helping them develop important life skills.

State Rep. Chuck Goodrich (R-Noblesville) presents his legislation in the House Chamber on Monday to create a senior-youth mentorship program. House Bill 1224 passed unanimously out of the House of Representatives and can now be considered by the Senate.

Schools would have the freedom to determine how to best utilize participants in the program based on the needs of their school. All volunteers would need to be approved through a criminal background check and a child protection index check.

House Bill 1224 now moves to the Senate for consideration. For more information, visit iga.in.gov.

State Rep. Chuck Goodrich (R-Noblesville) represents House District 29, which includes portions of Hamilton County.

at Medical Drive, then yet another at Carmel Drive and Pennsylvania Street.

Other street construction is planned to continue in early spring on a new Monon Boulevard from Main Street to 4th Street S.W., Lowes Way from Keystone Parkway to North Range Line, and Cherry Tree Boulevard from Hazel Dell Road to River Road.

During the summer there will be a reconstruction of Guilford Road from Main Street to City Center Drive. In addition, work will continue on the massive interchange at 96th and Keystone. There will also be several miles of multi-use pathways built along major streets

With the city set on converting most major intersections to roundabouts, Mayor Jim Brainard maintains the headaches brought about by construction and temporary road closures will ultimately be worth it. The costly overall plan is to move traffic more smoothly and avoid future congestion in the community where the population is approaching 95,000.

Carmel Police Department's Lt. Joe Bickel told the Reporter, "Unless a vehicle has a legitimate/legal reason to be on the Monon Greenway, it would be in violation of our city ordinance which could result in a citation or warning."

Bickel defined a legitimate vehicle as a police, fire or parks department vehicle.

"The vehicle in the video appears to be in violation of our city ordinance regarding unauthorized vehicles on the Monon Greenway," said Bickel. "We rarely see vehicles on the Monon Greenway. Carmel Police Officers routinely monitor and enforce city ordinances throughout the year on the Monon. If a pedestrian or bicyclist observes a vehicle on the Monon Greenway, they should move to a safe location, let the car pass and immediately call the Hamilton County Communication Center (317-571-2580) or 9-1-1 to report the incident. They should try to relay as much information as they can regarding the vehicle (description, license plate, direction of travel, etc.)."

Election board considers removing 3 from ballot

By FRED SWIFT
ReadTheReporter.com

The Hamilton County Election Board will meet Thursday to consider removing the names of three municipal candidates from this year's Republican primary ballot. The election board with members Kathy Richardson, Raymond Adler and Greg Purvis have authority to establish the May 7 ballot with only qualified members of the political party.

County Republican Chairwoman Laura Campbell has challenged the three candidates, according to elections office spokesmen. The three are: Noblesville City Council candidates John B. Partlow in District 6, and Brian Landress who filed for council-at-large. Also challenged is Kevin E. Ferguson in Arcadia, District 2.

The three have been notified of the challenges, and may attend the 10 a.m. Thursday meeting to show evidence of their GOP affiliation. None has voted in a Republican primary where a voter declares his intention to support candidates of the party. And, apparently none of the three has contacted party officials who can certify a candidate's connection to the party and still be placed on the ballot, if convincing evidence is offered.

The Thursday meeting to be held in the County Clerk's conference room is a public meeting.

INDOT installing new flashers on State Road 234 at Fortville Pike

The REPORTER

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) will install new flashers in the intersection of State Road 234 and Fortville Pike.

Construction is scheduled to begin late February.

The intersection is already equipped with a four-way stop and flashing red lights on top of the stop signs.

The new flashers also signaling the four-way stop will be installed above the middle of the intersection and will be ready by late spring.

No closures are expected at this time.

The flasher will make the intersection safer by supplementing the stop signs and giving drivers additional warnings to stop.

The Federal Highway Administration says the flashers have proved to reduce speeds on the roads and reduce crashes in the intersection.

Brooks introduces fixes to ongoing VA challenges

The REPORTER

Representatives Susan W. Brooks (R-Ind.-05) and Derek Kilmer (D-Wash.), co-chairs of the Bipartisan Working Group (BPWG), have reintroduced a bipartisan package of fixes to ongoing challenges faced by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) in delivering quality care to veterans. The solutions stem from a series of Government Accountability Office (GAO) studies that uncovered problems at the Veterans Health Administration (VHA).

Last Congress, members of the BPWG met with the GAO to learn more about their oversight of VA healthcare programs and the VA's ongoing efforts to adopt best practices. So far, the VA has failed to fully implement hundreds of GAO recommendations for improving access to care and management of VHA facilities.

"Supporting our nation's both male and female veterans and working to ensure they receive better access to the services and care they've earned is a priority on both sides of the aisle," said Brooks. "The Accountability for Quality VA Healthcare Act works to improve the VA's broken system so that we can better serve our veterans. I'm proud the Bipartisan Working Group is dedicated to solving problems together and providing our veterans with the care they deserve."

"We owe it to those who have served our nation to not let partisanship or gridlock get in the way of providing veterans the care they have earned," said Kilmer. "The Bipartisan Working Group is committed to finding consensus and solving problems, like those that have been plaguing the VA. I'm proud to have worked with my colleagues from both parties on this legislation."

The Accountability for Quality VA Healthcare Act (HR 1125) would require the VA to implement some of the highest-priority recommendations identified by the GAO, including:

- Physical security at VA medical facilities: This provision creates a pilot project that would bolster security at VHA facilities.

- Align VA facilities with the needs of veterans: This initiative requires a report from the VA Secretary within 90 days of enactment that evaluates facilities across the department and whether they need to be changed to better help veterans.

- CBOC leasing handbook: This directs the creation of an updated handbook on best practices to ensure that the process for opening new outpatient clinics runs smoothly.

- Improve Access to Care for Our Female Veterans Act: This section ensures the VHA conducts thorough inspections of medical facilities to make sure they have necessary medical supplies and equipment for women, who represent nearly 15 percent of the Armed Forces currently serving.

- Veterans wait times: This initiative revamps the

Brooks

VHA's scheduling department. It would require a routine assessment for scheduling needs and a clear strategy on how to retain employees in this space and make sure technology is up to date.

- VA nursing recruitment and retention improvement: This section establishes an annual report that would provide information on whether the VHA is hiring and keeping enough qualified nurses.

Founded in 2011, the Bipartisan Working Group is an informal member organization that seeks to address policy problems in a respectful and open-minded fashion. Meeting once a week, representatives from both political parties build relationships across the aisle by supporting member initiatives, discussing each other's perspectives on pending legislation and developing solutions to mutually identified issues.

Representatives Brooks, Kilmer, Mike Kelly (R-Pa.), Seth Moulton (D-Mass.), Stephanie N. Murphy (D-Fla.), Scott H. Peters (D-Calif.), John Rutherford (R-Fla.), Daniel Webster (R-Fla.), and Ann M. Kuster (D-N.H.) are the primary sponsors of the legislation.

Carmel's small business owners deserve more respect in City Hall

Dear Editor:

Small businesses are the engine that drive Carmel, and they deserve more respect than they are getting under the current city administration. As a Hamilton County Councilor, I am privileged to hear the stories of everyday residents waking up at the crack of dawn to pursue their own version of the American Dream. Turning on the lights, the computers and finding the energy each day to go out on a limb to pursue your dream takes true grit and courage. Nowhere is that more evident than here in Carmel.

Since the rails of the Monon Railroad were laid here in 1882, small business has lifted our city and repeatedly pushed it into each new promising generation. Today, those same businesses remain our key to a tomorrow that is filled with even more opportunity and promise than today. The small businesses of Carmel were built without sweetheart developer handouts, pay taxes without asking for government subsidies and meet the needs of our citizens without the safety net of a government bailout. They play a critical role in our past, present and future. These businesses deserve our respect, and more importantly, our city's attention once more.

I have talked to countless small business owners who feel that they are being left behind and even squeezed out by the current city government, which pursues a policy of forced growth and government intervention. These policies, in turn, produce endless construction, artificially inflated rents and special interest payouts. Our small businesses too often get left behind.

One recent example spells out the point perfectly. Carmel just recently purchased the Monon Plaza. That property was appraised for $11 million, but the city paid $15 million. The city will then give this property away for free to a private developer that promises to develop it the way that the Mayor directs. With the new development, rents are expected to go from $15-$18 per square foot to an eye-popping $28 per square foot. A majority of the business in that plaza will not be able to afford these new rents and will inevitably be forced to close or move to less-desirable locations. Mayor Brainard was recently asked about this, and responded "Well, the businesses that want to stay could always take less square footage."

Who is the Mayor to make this determination and why is government getting involved in the local market at all? Isn't the free market a better judge of what business should go where? Shouldn't the developer pay the $15 million instead of us taxpayers? Finally, shouldn't our small businesses at least get a chance to fight on an even playing field? I believe these questions are fair ones, and the answers to them are evident.

As your next Mayor, I promise to put Carmel's small businesses back in the city's spotlight. I will give them an even playing field and make sure that the rules apply evenly to everyone. I will stop the practices of special interest deals, city-controlled development and fiscal irresponsibility. I promise to wake up every morning, just like those small business owners do, and fight to ensure your tax dollars are used properly and that Carmel's small businesses lead us into our next chapter – a chapter which will prove to be our best one yet!

The cost of Fishers' vacant buildings

Dear Editor:

Frozen and busted water line

On Feb. 10, I was driving north on State Road 37 when I noticed what, upon first glance, appeared to be melting snow or ice running off of the former RAM Restaurant & Brewery near 126th Street. It only took me a moment to realize that the water I was seeing was actually a frozen and busted water pipe in the ceiling of the building.

I quickly redirected myself to the parking lot of the building and attempted to identify and contact the property owner to notify them of the problem.

Who is the responsible party?

The real estate sign that advertises the building for sale has a name and phone number listed on it, so I tried dialing the number to reach the agent listed on the sign. However, the automated system told me that there was no one by that name in the directory.

Next, I redialed the corporate number to listen for additional options and instead chose their emergency property maintenance hotline.

The lady who answered asked for a property address, which I provided. We spent 15 minutes trying to identify the address in her system, but with no luck. She eventually said that there was nothing she could do because she couldn't even find the property by name or address in her system.

So who is currently responsible for this property in case of an emergency?

Without any other place to turn, I called the non-emergency number for the Fishers Fire Department Station 91. They were courteous and quick to respond. Upon arrival they quickly gained access to the building.

Thank you Fishers Fire Department for your quick a professional response!

What is the cost of letting buildings sit vacant?

In my experience today, I witnessed three different costs attributed to this mishap, which could have been avoided if the building was occupied and utilized:

1. Hundreds of gallons of city water running onto the ground.

2. Significant water damage repair now needed on the property.

3. Fire protection costs to shutoff the water.

4. Other costs?

Focus on redevelopment of existing facilities

As mayor, I will emphasize and encourage private investment of money (as opposed to public spending) towards redevelopment, re-purposing and utilization of existing properties. While it can be exciting to rally behind the rapid growth and expansion of a city hyper-focused on new development, the growing cost to taxpayers is consistently increasing and could soon culminate in a sharp increase if we don't find ways to be more resourceful in the future.

Let's work together to develop a more sustainable Fishers that not only continues to attract more jobs and enterprise all around the city, but positions itself for a stable and prosperous future for all residents.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And it came to pass afterward, that he went throughout every city and village, preaching and shewing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God: and the twelve were with him, And certain women, which had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities, Mary called Magdalene, out of whom went seven devils, And Joanna the wife of Chuza Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others, which ministered unto him of their substance. And when much people were gathered together, and were come to him out of every city, he spake by a parable: A sower went out to sow his seed: and as he sowed, some fell by the way side; and it was trodden down, and the fowls of the air devoured it. And some fell upon a rock; and as soon as it was sprung up, it withered away, because it lacked moisture. And some fell among thorns; and the thorns sprang up with it, and choked it. And other fell on good ground, and sprang up, and bare fruit an hundredfold. And when he had said these things, he cried, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear. And his disciples asked him, saying, What might this parable be? And he said, Unto you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God: but to others in parables; that seeing they might not see, and hearing they might not understand. Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God.

Huskies battle back before falling to Harrison

Hamilton Heights senior AJ Field scored 24 points for the Huskies during their Tuesday game with Harrison.

After getting down early, Hamilton Heights fought back in the fourth quarter before falling to Harrison 63-61 in the Huskies' final home game of the season.

The Raiders led 20-16 after the first quarter, with senior AJ Field scoring 10 of those points, including two 3-pointers. The second period was marked by two distinct runs, one by each team. First, Harrison began the quarter by making a 10-2 run to go up 30-18.

Heights came back after that, outscoring the Raiders 13-4 in the remainder of the period to cut their lead to 34-31 by halftime. Gus Etchison scored seven points in the quarter, while Kray Leininger added six points.

"We didn't play well early," said Huskies coach Chad Ballenger. "We shot ourselves in the foot. We didn't shoot very well early and got ourselves in a hole, but worked hard to come back."

The Huskies continued to roll in the third period, taking a 49-46 lead by the end of the quarter. Field scored nine more points, including two more 3s.

The Raiders stayed within striking distance, and took the lead back in the fourth period. Harrison led 61-56 during the final minute of the game before one last push by Heights. Etchison scored five points in the game's final 30 seconds, including a layin with 8.6 seconds left. The Huskies got one last shot after the Raiders missed the front end of a one-and-one, but it didn't go.

"You're in situations that you learn from, so now we can come back in practice and show on film and show late in the game, this is what we want," said Ballenger. "And these are the things we want to do. How we want to attack the rim. You got to learn from those type of situations."

Etchison finished the game with 25 points and three 3-pointers, with Field scoring 24 while draining four 3s. Field also collected six rebounds. Hudson Hochstedler dished out six assists and made four steals.

Heights finished the regular season 14-8. The Huskies will now play in the New Castle sectional, playing Muncie Burris next Tuesday, Feb. 26. Ballenger said his team has watched the Owls "a little bit," and will be in attendance at their Thursday game against Blackford.

"We're going to go watch them Thursday night and see a little bit more and then we're watching film," said Ballenger. "So we'll be ready. It's one game at a time."

'Blazers rally falls short against Greenwood Christian

A furious late rally came up just short as University dropped a 57-55 decision to Greenwood Christian on Senior Night at the U Center.

A cold shooting performance in the middle periods of the game put the Trailblazers down 42-31 entering the fourth quarter. The deficit reached 13 on two occasions and University still trailed 52-42 with less than two minutes remaining. Jacob Sager pulled the Blazers within eight, scoring at the rim off a Max Greenamoyer pass. Sam Mervis then stole the ball and found Greenamoyer for a three pointer with 1:24 left to make the score 52-47.

The Cougars made both ends of a one-and-one with 61 seconds remaining before Quinn Steiner hit a three with 55 seconds remaining to cut the lead to 54-50. Greenwood Christian made two more free throws before Mervis hit a pair of charity tosses with 28 seconds left to pull University within four again. After the Cougars split a pair of foul shots, Steiner made his fifth three pointer of the game with eight seconds remaining. The Blazers were out of time outs and could not stop the clock. The Cougars were granted a timeout with one second left without inbounding the ball. The Blazers were unable to steal the inbound and Greenwood Christian escaped with the win.

University got off to a fast start with seniors Steiner, Eric Major, Nate Shatkowski and Eyal Friedman joining Mervis in the starting lineup. The Blazers led 8-2 and 18-12, but the Cougars pulled within 20-17 after the first with a basket at the horn. Steiner hit a trio of three pointers in the first quarter.

University took a 22-17 lead 10 seconds in to the second quarter on a Joe Martin driving basket, but the Blazers scored just four more points the rest of the period and another buzzer beater by the Cougars had University facing a 32-26 deficit at the half.

The third quarter was not any better for University, as the Blazers mustered just one field and five total points in the quarter.

"I was proud of the fight our guys showed tonight during the fourth quarter," said University coach Brandon Lafferan. "Congratulations to Coach Marlin and his team on the win. They are going to be a tough out in the tournament."

Steiner led University with 15 points. Mervis had 11 points and Martin 10 to give University three players in double figures.

Greenwood Christian improved to 12-10 on the season, while University falls to 18-4. The Trailblazers will close the regular season Thursday night at Indianapolis Bishop Chatard.
