Greenaway to arresting officers: "I have been set up"

County Magistrate arrested on drug charges, bites police officer

By JEFF JELLISON
 Reporter Publisher

On Monday, Hamilton County Superior Court 2 Magistrate William Greenaway was charged with three Level 6 felonies. According to court documents, Greenaway was the focus of a four-month narcotics investigation conducted by officers from the Indiana State Police.

Greenaway

A probable cause affidavit states the following:
 On Nov. 4, 2018, two Indiana State Police investigators and a Noblesville police officer met with a confidential informant who provided information concerning a Hamilton County magistrate using methamphetamine.

The informant identified William Greenaway as the magistrate, and that Greenaway was dating a female who had previously purchased methamphetamine from the informant. The informant also told investigators William Greenaway used methamphetamine with his (Greenaway's) girlfriend and was observed using methamphetamine by the informant.

In February, another informant, told detectives she had a personal relationship with Greenaway and had observed him use meth on several occasions. The same informant also told police she had purchased and orchestrated meth transactions on behalf of Greenaway in the past, and that Greenaway used a code word, "Coffee," when discussing meth.

Then on March 20, with the help of the second informant, police conducted a money transaction from Greenaway for the anticipated purchase of meth.

Court documents indicate Greenaway gave the informant $140 in exchange for 2.5 grams of meth that would be delivered later in the day.

The informant then met with Greenaway in the parking lot of the Noblesville Goodwill Store to deliver the methamphetamine.

Police officers conducting a surveillance then attempted to arrest Greenaway. Reports indicate Greenaway allegedly swallowed the meth and bit a State Police officer's thumb during the arrest. Because

Hamilton County judges terminate Magistrate Greenaway

The REPORTER

On Tuesday, the judges of Hamilton County voted to terminate William Greenaway's employment, effective immediately. Last Friday, the judges suspended Greenaway, who has also been suspended by the Indiana Supreme Court, after having been charged with three Level 6 Felony charges related to drugs.

Senior Judge Jeffrey Eggers will begin serving as Hamilton Superior Court magistrate on Monday, April 1. Eggers brings substantial experience to the bench, having served as a senior Judge since 2014 and as a full-time Judicial Officer in Johnson County for 10 years.

Magistrates have duties like judges but are not elected officials. They are hired by judges to assist with county caseloads.

Greenaway swallowed the drugs, he was transported to the hospital where he told police officers he was "set up."

Greenaway explained to officers that the female (informant) told him to hold something as the police were running up to his vehicle. Greenaway told officers he panicked and swallowed it, describing a white crystal substance in a small plastic baggie.

During a search of Greenaway's jacket police found court documents that pertained to the arrest of another individual that reportedly was a previous source of meth for Greenaway. Police did not indicate if that individual had been charged in Superior Court 2, the court Greenaway serves as magistrate.

Greenaway was charged with Possession of Methamphetamine, Resisting Law Enforcement and Obstruction of Justice. Hamilton County Jail records do not indicate Greenaway has been booked in. Court records do not indicate if a bond was set or the amount.

Noblesville awarded $900K from INDOT for road improvements

The REPORTER

The City of Noblesville was awarded $920,715 on Tuesday from the Indiana Department of Transportation as part of the state's Next Level Roads: Community Crossings Initiative. The money will be used to resurface three areas of Noblesville.

"We thank INDOT and the Governor's Office for providing these funds for infrastructure improvements across the state," said Mayor John Ditslear. "This matching grant allows us to address a gateway to downtown, a minor arterial on the west side of the city and a heavily populated subdivision."

Since 2016, INDOT's Community Crossings dollar-for-dollar matching grant (up to $1 million) has awarded $500 million in state funds to support local road and bridge projects around the state.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County. – Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

Bill supporting at-risk youth heads to governor

The REPORTER

Legislation sponsored by three local lawmakers creating a pilot program to support Hoosier children at high risk of becoming juvenile offenders could soon become law.

According to State Rep. Donna Schaibley (R-Carmel), proposed legislation would establish a two-year pilot program in five counties throughout the state to serve as an intervention initiative for children not yet in the court system. These children exhibit extreme behavioral issues that put themselves at risk.

"This program could offer much-needed support services like mentoring, mental health counseling and tutoring at no cost to families," Schaibley said. "It is vital to address these behaviors before these children get involved in the juvenile justice system. This way they can be set on a better path toward graduation, a career and a productive life."

The Indiana Supreme Court would implement the program to help juvenile court judges put this plan into action. Other state agencies would assist the courts in connecting youth to appropriate services. State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero) said children could be referred to the program by parents, school staff or police, but participation would be voluntary and confidential.

"This program would be based on a model that has shown success in Hamilton County, known as the Youth Assistance Program," Cook said. "Since it was established in Westfield in 2009, there has been a huge decrease in children being detained, despite the population growth our community has seen in recent years. These encouraging results are exactly why this program should be expanded. We cannot sit by and let children fall through the cracks when there is something that can be done to help them."

According to State Rep. Chuck Goodrich (R-Noblesville), to develop a program that serves the wide variety of needs of all communities, at least one rural and one urban county would be included in the pilot.

"It is not always possible to control the challenges life throws at us, but this program can help provide these children the tools to make productive choices in the future," Goodrich said. "Programs could coordinate with schools and local governments to determine the needs of young Hoosiers, identify any missing support systems and establish a plan."

Governor, INDOT award $115M in Community Crossings road funds

The REPORTER

Governor Eric J. Holcomb and Indiana Department of Transportation Commissioner Joe McGuinness have announced 189 Indiana cities, towns and counties received a combined $115 million in state-matching funds for local road projects through the Next Level Roads: Community Crossings Initiative.

"Indiana's fully-funded, long-term Next Level Roads plan means cities, towns and counties are improving their roads and bridges at levels unmatched in our state's history," Gov. Holcomb said. "Community Crossings projects are crucial to first mile and last mile solutions that companies need when evaluating Indiana to locate their business or expand to create additional jobs."

The Community Crossings Initiative has provided more than $500 million in state matching funds for construction projects. The latest round garnered 229 applications – making the call for projects highly competitive. In response to local requests to help manage project flow, INDOT now accepts applications in both January and July, with a $1 million cap annually per community. An estimated $100 million will be available for communities opting to apply during the 2019 summer call for projects.

"Local leaders are improving the conditions of local roads and bridges all across the state with funding from the Community Crossings Initiative," said McGuinness. "The partnership model with the state sharing in the cost of local projects means Hoosier taxpayers receive great value as communities deliver needed projects."

To qualify for funding, local governments must provide local matching funds, 50 percent for larger communities or 25 percent for smaller communities, from a funding source approved for road and bridge construction. They must also submit an INDOT-approved asset management plan for maintaining existing roads and bridges. State law requires annually that 50 percent of the available matching funds be awarded to communities within counties with a population of 50,000 or fewer. State lawmakers identified long-term funding for Community Crossings as part of House Enrolled Act 1002, passed by the legislature and signed into law by Gov. Holcomb in April 2017.

The list of all communities receiving matching funds in the 2019 winter call for projects is online at in.gov/indot/community-crossings.

Carmel Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 185 endorses Adam Aasen for City Council

The REPORTER

After listening to speeches by both candidates, the Carmel Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 185 has voted to endorse Adam Aasen for Carmel City Council. Aasen is a first-time candidate running in the Republican primary to represent southeast Carmel on the City Council.

Aasen was also recently endorsed by the Carmel Professional Firefighters Union Local 4444.

Aasen said he's honored by both endorsements. He said ensuring public safety is key to keeping Carmel a desirable place to live. Recently, Safewise.com named Carmel the second safest place to live in Indiana.

Aasen's first job out of college was actually as a public safety reporter for the Florida Times-Union in Jacksonville, Fla.

"Nearly every night I went out to homicide callouts, traffic accidents, house fires, shootings and more," he said. "Very early on, I gained an appreciation for the role that first responders play in making our community great."

Aasen has become familiar with local Carmel police through his time as a reporter for Current in Carmel. He praised the Carmel Police Department's efforts to proactively tackle the opioid epidemic and reach out to Carmel youth.

"We have a police department in Carmel that is proactive instead of reactive and their response time is phenomenal," he said.

Carmel reader wants politicians to answer voters' questions

Dear Editor:
Wouldn't it be refreshing if a Carmel city hall politician answered direct questions respectfully submitted by a citizen?

In his response letter printed in this newspaper, city council president Jeff Worrell un-answered two questions posed by Mike Shaver: What has the council done to enforce guarantees on a $20 million bond to Pedcor Cos. for five buildings promised in 2015 to be built by 2019? And, please provide documentation supporting any actions the council took to enforce the guarantees.

Worrell let two cats out of the bag in not answering either question. He reported on the status of seven, not five, ghost buildings yet to be built. And, he said $63,958.01 had been repaid on the bond. That's 3.2 percent over four years – a rate that would take more than 31 years to pay (interest not included).

We still don't know what's been done by way of enforcement and what proof the council has of any action at all.

With responsiveness like that to simple questions, one can only live in dread and fear of the response to an even simpler question: What is the council doing about the city's $1.3 billion debt (as it reported to the Indiana Department of Local Government Finance)?

Mark Hall: It's time for Noblesville, County councils to work together

Dear Editor:
For the last several years and long before deciding to run for office, I watched all the Noblesville's and Hamilton County's elected officials in action, attending dozens of public meetings. I listened to speeches and read what they wrote. I watched how they served, watched votes and then compared it to what was said. This letter isn't about what I observed, rather it's about what I didn't see and how we can improve the overall local government of Noblesville in a real and meaningful way.

As citizens of Noblesville, we have local city government led by the Mayor and the Common Council comprised of six district and three at large council members. We have local Hamilton County government led by three County Commissioners and the Hamilton County Council comprised of four district and three at large council members.

What we don't yet see is purposeful coordination between the two councils. The two local governing bodies whose decisions impact life in Noblesville significantly don't talk much. With tens of millions of dollars on the table, it's time for Noblesville's Common Council to send a member to represent our city and work with the Hamilton County Council to jointly address the challenges faced by the citizenry of Noblesville. It's a simple idea whose time has come.

According to Hamilton County Council members, no city in the county sends a local government representative as a liaison to represent their individual cities' interests in the county government. It is a certainty that the executive branches of city and county government communicate, however, the elected officials who approve or disapprove spending (the respective councils) don't have direct purposeful or official communication channels. Noblesville can lead the way by putting our own advocate as the city's liaison to the Hamilton County Council. I propose that advocate be a member of the Noblesville Common Council.

Rick McKinney, who serves as an at large member on the Hamilton County Council, responds to the idea this way: "Purposeful coordination between the city and county councils helps all our constituents." He continued by saying, "The county major bridge budget is largely available to Noblesville given its proximity to the White River. It would serve the people of Noblesville well to have a solid city and county council partnership that can coordinate efforts to make government projects more efficient and cost effective."

As a candidate for Noblesville Common Council, my research reveals a few projects that can greatly benefit by regular representation of Noblesville's interests at the county financial approval level. This is not intended to be an all-inclusive list but more a representative sample of projects that have big impacts on our city.

1) Bridges in Noblesville are paid for by the county, but the roads leading to the bridges are paid for by the city. Any new bridge associated with the Pleasant Street expansion will require purposeful coordination and negotiation with the County Council. Bridge renovation for Logan Street or upgrades to other Noblesville bridges will require the County Council's cooperation, funding and planning assistance.

2) The intersection at 146th Street and Allisonville Road is under consideration for major renovation. Who will incur the estimated $36 million expense and who will advocate for Noblesville as the County Council evaluates and puts plans in place?

3) Currently, 9-1-1 fees are paid by individual cities. Will or should these fees be replaced by a new income tax in the future? If yes, what should the city do with the money freed up from this annual expense?

4) Where will the new Noblesville Police headquarters building be located? Can we partner with the county to make this a quicker and better reality for our first responders?

5) County-owned property in Noblesville doesn't increase Noblesville's tax revenue. Let's do work together to turn some of the county-owned property from zero tax base into revenue generating.

6) State Road 37: Where will the estimated $12 million for Noblesville's portion of the construction expense come from? Noblesville is in part responsible for the road construction from north of 146th Street to State Road 32.

The administration that we elect in 2019 will take on not only the immediate, everyday challenges, but also the items above which will require planning and additional funding not currently available. They will need and deserve our support and encouragement. At the same time, the new administration must be mindful of and have an eye towards cooperation with the Hamilton County Council and State government.

Noblesville Common Council candidate

Letter to the Editor

Fred Glynn: A return to fiscal discipline is key to Carmel's future

Dear Editor:
$76 million boutique hotel. $5 million carousel. $15 million for the Monon Square.

With each new term comes a fresh cascade of ambitious programs by our current Mayor to entice and excite residents, thus averting their eyes from the looming debt crisis that awaits Carmel.

The list of "payfors," to use a bit of Washington jargon, grows more slowly. We'll pay for this how, again? Don't worry about it – just keep enjoying all that Carmel has to offer. Don't worry about the fiscal impact because Carmel's rising budget deficits and debt levels don't much matter to everyday citizens. Heck, even the Mayor himself enjoyed a 6.55 percent salary increase in the 2018 city-approved budget.

That's a scary drift of thought, and it should set off alarm bells for all of our residents. Vast increases in debt will ultimately compromise Carmel's ability to maintain its current array of projects, let alone add new ones, and threaten our standard of living. Want proof? Look no further than Standard & Poor's 2017 downgrade of Carmel's long-term credit rating. Standard & Poor's, the nation's respected credit worthiness firm, cited the City's $300 million in additional debt over a three-year period to justify the reduction.

It is a myth that we cannot have a vibrant city, efficient government and fiscal health. I know because we've done it as a County Councilor. Hamilton County has maintained world-class parks, expanded courts, fully-funded public safety, and kept pace with a population growing at the fastest rate in the state. All of this has been done while saving a staggering $3 million in rainy day funds. That is how good government works.

The county has achieved its fiscal health with disciplined budgeting, tempered use of debt-based financing, vision and principled leadership. As your mayor, I will worry less about paying developers and more about paving roads. Reducing debt and imposing discipline on our city's spending will not reduce Carmel's greatness. In fact, it will unleash a whole new potential in our city – one in which market forces fuel our development instead of manipulated growth that supports the mayor's personal ambition.

A mayor cannot just think about today. A mayor must have the vision and strength of character to think about our children and grandchildren. As debt and spending increase, taxes will eventually and undoubtedly have to follow. Maybe not today, maybe not tomorrow. But sometime – likely after our current elected officials are gone – the next generation of Carmel residents will live under the consequence of our choices.

I ask for your vote. In return, I will pledge to make the decisions necessary to return Carmel to a AAA credit rating, and ensure we leave a city as promising for our children as it has been for us.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

But some of them said, He casteth out devils through Beelzebub the chief of the devils. And others, tempting him, sought of him a sign from heaven. But he, knowing their thoughts, said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and a house divided against a house falleth. If Satan also be divided against himself, how shall his kingdom stand? because ye say that I cast out devils through Beelzebub. And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your sons cast them out? therefore shall they be your judges. But if I with the finger of God cast out devils, no doubt the kingdom of God is come upon you.

Luke 11:15-20 (KJV)

Get more bang for your buck with these spring home improvements

StatePoint

The warmer weather means it's time to start thinking about home improvement projects. Whether you're getting your home in tip-top shape for your own enjoyment, or getting it ready to put on the market, not all home improvement projects are created equal when it comes to return on investment (ROI).

Here are top areas on which to focus:

Interiors

The kitchen is the heart of the home and it's one of the best areas to renovate in terms of ROI, according to Remodeling magazine's annual Cost vs. Value Report, which puts the price tag of the average minor kitchen remodel at $22,507, with 80.5 percent of the cost recouped upon resale.

To give the kitchen an updated appearance, replace the flooring, countertops, sink and faucet.

A fresh coat of paint in a trendy shade, such as Living Coral, Pantone's Color of the Year, can add a vibrant pop of color to energize any kitchen.

Not looking to go that bold? Consider an accent wall, or stick to a classic palate of gray and white in terms of cabinets and countertops. White on white is also a popular new style for kitchens and bathrooms.

Other features home buyers are paying close attention to are laundry rooms and such energy-saving elements as Energy Star appliances and windows, according to the survey "What Home Buyers Want in 2019" by the National Association of Home Builders.

Curb appeal

The popularity of outdoor projects remains strong and it's for a good reason.

According to the Cost vs. Value Report, the biggest bang for your buck in 2019 will come from replacing a garage door. The report says the average price is $3,611, and 97.5 percent of it is recouped when the house is sold.

Other outdoor projects with high ROI include adding manufactured stone veneer to the exterior (94.9 percent), adding a wood deck (75.6 percent) and replacing siding (75.6 percent).

Looking for a simpler way to make an impact? Sprucing up the landscape by planting flowers or bushes or even just clearing the yard of debris will make a big statement.

No matter what updates you end up making, it's always a good idea to notify your insurance agent.

"Certain upgrades may change the value of a house, so homeowners need to make sure they're properly covered," says Bob Buckel, vice president of product management, Erie Insurance. "There are a few things to look for. Ask your agent about guaranteed replacement cost policies that can cover the cost to rebuild a home in today's dollars following a covered loss."

Some upgrades may also make you eligible for discounts, Buckel adds, especially if they make the home more secure.

"For example, Erie Insurance offers certain safety discounts such as for installing smoke alarms or an automatic sprinkler system."

Now you have a checklist of DIY projects to focus on this spring. But before you start, take a moment to assess which ones are worth your time and money.

Guerin Catholic wins season opener

Guerin Catholic used a solid pitching performance from Matt Parenteau to win its season opener, beating Frankton 4-1 at the Eagles Nest.

The Golden Eagles scored two runs each in the fourth and fifth innings. Max Engelking scored the first on a bases-loaded walk, then Keenan Taylor's sacrifice fly sent home Luke Godfrey. In the fifth inning, Godfrey singled in Braden Reel, then Engelking got home on a Gavin Morrow sacrifice fly.

Meanwhile, Parenteau took care of business on the mound, throwing 11 strikeouts in five and two-thirds innings, while giving up three hits. King pitched the remaining inning and a third, striking out two.

"I thought we were really clean," said Guerin Catholic coach Rich Andriole. "I thought defensively, we made the plays we had to make. Our pitching was real good. Our strike percentage was real high and I thought they controlled the pace and the tempo of the game."

The Golden Eagles are next in action Wednesday, April 3, hosting Bishop Chatard in a Circle City Conference game.

Late surge sends Millers to win at Cathedral

A late surge propelled Noblesville to a season-opening win at Cathedral on Monday.

The Millers used two big hits to take the lead, then cruised to a 5-1 victory over the Irish, last year's Class 4A runner-up. In addition, Noblesville got an outstanding pitching performance by Clay Holzworth.

The scoring started in the top of the fifth inning, when Lucas Williams and Cooper Miles both drew walks to get on base. With two outs, DJ Owens sent a double into left field to get both runners home. Owens was soon scored himself, as Matt Peek smacked a triple into center field. Two hits, Millers lead, 3-0.

Cathedral got a run back in the bottom of the fifth, cutting Noblesville's lead to 3-1. But the Millers struck again in the seventh inning, with Owens hitting a sacrifice fly to score Williams, then Peek singled in Cole Barnes. The Irish loaded the bases in the bottom of the seventh with two outs, but Barnes caught a fly ball to end the game.

Owens and Peek both had two hits for the game. Meanwhile, Holzworth was dominant on the mound, throwing 15 strikeouts in six innings while allowing only three hits. Miles pitched the seventh inning, striking out two.

Noblesville will make its annual trip to Tennessee later in the week, playing against some of the top teams in that state. The Millers will play at Blackman on Thursday for their first game of the trip.

Tigers win at Homestead

Fishers opened its 2019 season with a 2-1 victory over a solid Homestead team Monday at the Spartans' field.

Both teams combined for 18 strikeouts while only allowing four hits (two from each team). The Tigers threw seven different pitchers, each for one inning and combined to allow no earned runs on two hits, while striking out 11. Fishers' pitchers did walk four and hit one batter. Jon Vore started the game and pitched a perfect inning with two strikeouts. Jack Minns also pitched a perfect 1-2-3 inning in the sixth in front of Nick Lukac who struck out the side in the seventh for his first save of the season. Anthony Castellani, Michael Hart, Tristan Baker, and Daniel Owens also pitched in the game.

The Tigers scored their only two runs within the first three batters of the game. JJ Woolwine was hit by a pitch to lead things off. Woolwine stole second and advanced to third on Lukac's single to left center field. After Lukac stole second to put runners at second and third, Kiel Brenczewski delivered an RBI single to left to score Woolwine. Lukac was held at third on the play as the throw from left field went all the way to home plate. Brenczewski attempted to take second base on the throw home, but was thrown out by the catcher. Lukac raced home as Brenczewski was thrown out for Fishers' second run. The Tigers would be held hitless the rest of the game with only two more base runners reaching, one on a dropped third strike and one on an error.

Fishers returns to action this weekend when it travels to Tennessee for the Tigers' annual Spring Break Trip.

'Rocks drop opener to Castle

Westfield dropped its season opener on Tuesday, falling to Castle 9-3 in a game played at Grand Park.

The Knights led 5-0 midway through the sixth inning. The Shamrocks got on the board in the bottom of that inning when Zach Collins batted in Trey Anderson. But Castle tacked on four runs in the top of the seventh to lead 9-1.

Westfield added two runs in the bottom of the seventh. Parker Bard scored Tyler Smitherman with a sacrifice fly, and Anderson got Quentin Markle home on a fielder's choice RBI.

Bard and Kyle Pepiot both hit a triple, with Anderson smacking a double.

"After all the work we put in this offseason, wish we would have played better tonight," said Westfield coach Ryan Bunnell. The coach said a "lot of little things added up to be way too much for us. It's only game one, wish we would have played better and that's on me, but we will fix those little things fast."

The 'Rocks will begin Hoosier Crossroads Conference play tonight at Grand Park, hosting Franklin Central.

Sixth-inning scores send Guerin Catholic past Herron

Guerin Catholic broke free from a tight game in the sixth inning, scoring two runs to get Past Heron 7-5 in a Tuesday home game.

The Achaeans scored three runs in the top of the first inning. The Golden Eagles got on the board in the second with two runs: Ana Macha singled in Annabelle Bork, then Macha later scored on an error.

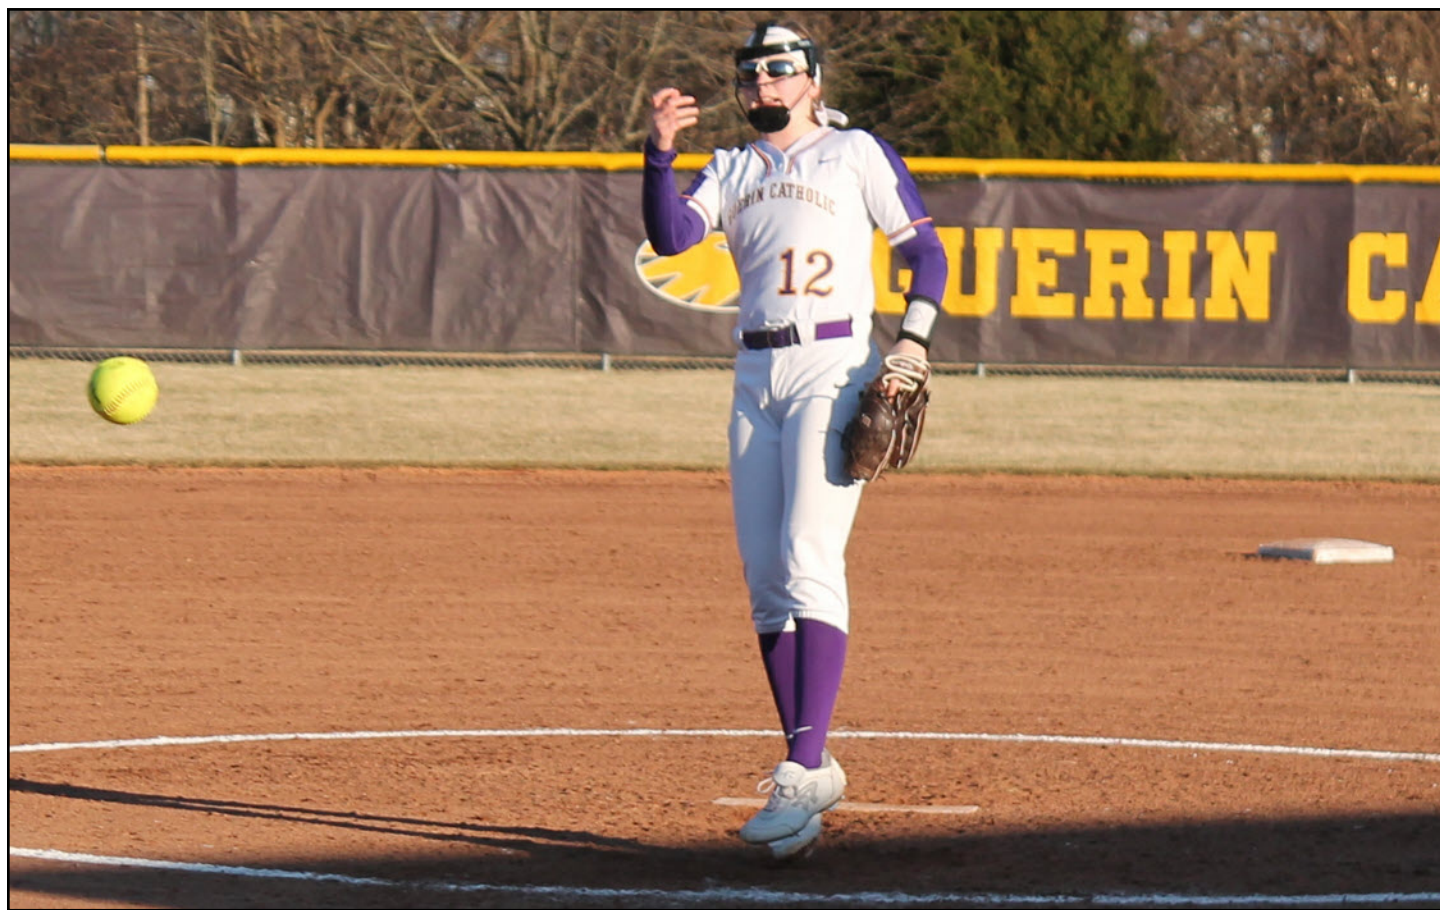

Guerin took the lead in the third inning with three more runs. Izzy Kemp doubled in Hanna Bills, then scored on an error. Lucy Schenk's double advanced Victoria Flores to third, and Flores stole home seconds later.

Herron tied the game with two runs in the top of the fourth inning. The Golden Eagles got the lead for good in the sixth inning, starting with a single by Macha. She advanced to third when Aliyah Dorsey cracked a double, then Macha stole home. Madelyn Buckner bunted and reached on error, allowing Dorsey to score.

Macha, Dorsey, Kemp and Schenk all had two hits. Kemp got the pitching win.

"I thought our girls played really well in a close game," said GC coach Jeff Buckner. "We have a really young team. For them to battle, getting down early, take a lead, give up the lead, keep fighting and eventually come out with a win is really positive, and that's a 2-1 win in the first game of the year, and this one a 7-5. Playing in those close games is going to pay off later."

The Golden Eagles are 2-1 and will play three games this weekend in Clarksville, Tenn.

FAST swimmers to participate in Central Zone Select Camp

The Fishers Area Swimming Tigers announced that Fishers natives Kyle Ponsler and JoJo Ramey have been selected to participate in USA Swimming's Central Zone Select Camp. The elite camp features 56 emerging swimmers from the area and will be held at the University of Cincinnati from May 23 to May 26.

"We are extremely proud to have both Kyle and JoJo representing the Fishers Area Swimming Tigers at the Central Zone Select Camp," said FAST Head Coach Joe Keller. "This honor reflects the hard work they put into training each day and moves these athletes one step closer to realizing their goals."

The four-day camp will feature five long course workouts that these elite swimmers will participate in. While the camp is competitive, athletes will also have the opportunity to learn from professionals about post-race recovery, psychological training skills, nutrition and race strategy.

The top 28 male and 28 females in the Central Zone are selected for the camp. Swimmers are selected based on 2018 Long Course Meters (LCM) IMX point scores, where the fastest athlete in each event, ranging from age 12 to 13 for girls and 13 to 14 for boys, are invited to the camp.
