Rep. Cook receives legislator award from Humane Society

The REPORTER

State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero) received the Humane Legislator Award from the Humane Society of the United States for his work promoting animal safety.

Cook was recognized for authoring a 2017 law providing some protections for people who use force to enter a vehicle to save a distressed pet.

"Many people consider their pets to be best friends, but from time to time may accidentally forget them in the car," Cook said. "Those who see a pet trapped in a hot, unattended car and take action to help the animal should not be punished for doing the right thing. As we move into the warmer months, it will be even more important to ensure pets are safe, and as a rule of thumb, never leave your pet in the car for longer than a few minutes."

If Hoosiers see an animal in distress, they must first notify the police before entering the vehicle, and only use a reasonable amount of force to get the animal out. Individuals must then wait with the animal until law enforcement arrives.

"Even when the outside temperature is as low as 72 degrees, within an hour the temperature inside a car can reach up to 116 degrees," Cook said. "Pets exposed to that kind of heat for an extended period of time could have permanent organ damage or even die."

The Humane Society of the United States is the nation's largest animal protection organization and works to combat the most severe forms of animal cruelty and abuse.

OneZone issues statement on HSE school board vote

Submitted by MO MERHOFF

Former governor Joe Kernan was ending his comments before over 100 business people at a state chamber luncheon on Indiana's future. "One thing I hope you'll remember. I'm teaching some classes at my alma mater and let me tell you something about the next generation – they won't tolerate intolerance." He got a standing ovation.

Fishers is a community that's taken that seriously. The Stigma-free Fishers campaign brought together police, fire, school, community and health representatives, and together, they're making a difference. Fishers has been on so many "best of lists, it's almost expected. Fishers is a positive, open, welcoming community.

That's why HSE schools' recent vote on its discrimination policy is so baffling. Of course, inclusion is important to students, parents, teachers and administrators. But it's

Mayor Ditslear applauds Noblesville Common Council

It has been an honor and privilege to serve the City of Noblesville for nearly 16 years as mayor – and there is much work to be done as I close out my time in office this December. I am thankful that working alongside my administration and staff have been the elected members of the Noblesville Common Council, the city's legislative branch and fiscal body.

We may not always agree on every decision, but I would like to thank each member of the Council for helping make Noblesville the success it is today. They care deeply for our community and fight for what is best for the citizens they represent. They give countless hours of their time and expertise to examine, discuss and decide on important matters that move our city forward.

At the start of the most recent term in 2016, we kicked off a capital improvement plan that has seen significant progress completing trails and roundabouts while the first phase of construction on Finch Creek Park is due to be completed this year. And we moved forward with design and planning of the Pleasant Street extension, which we look forward to sharing with the community.

We made so much progress that in 2018 we announced the next set of priorities with the Noblesville NOW capital improvement plan. Construction is underway on the third phase of the Midland Trace Trail and on the Logan Street Pedestrian Bridge. Work is set to begin in May on our first downtown apartments in 100 years with a 300-space parking garage to support our downtown merchants.

Speaking of downtown, the heart of our community has been in good hands with today's Council. Façade grants, new streetlights, alley activation and the streetscape master plan have all been made possible thanks to the leadership of your Council and with input gathered from the public. Just a short walk from the square, we've made improvements in Southside Park and opened the new Federal Hill Commons urban park and amphitheater. And we're preparing for a major transformation of Seminary Park. Yes, the heart of historic Noblesville is stronger than ever and will continue to beat long into the future.

Likewise, Council action has strengthened the financial security of our community with approval of key economic development projects – but only after careful examination through the public process to ensure any city incentives supported worthwhile private investment. This included recent projects like:

- BorgWarner, which selected Noblesville for its new $15 million, 100,000 square-foot tech center with $13 million in new personal property and 300 high-wage jobs;
- SMC Corporation for a $67 million expansion of its existing facility for 2.5 million square feet of total space, doubling its manufacturing capabilities and adding 92 new jobs; and most recently,

Carmel receives eight proposals for former PNC property

The REPORTER

The Carmel Redevelopment Commission (CRC) has opened eight responses to its Request for Proposal to developers seeking to partner with the City in the redevelopment of 1.7 acres at the northeast corner of Main Street and Range Line Road, informally known as the "PNC property."

The Request for Proposal was the first step in the process to redevelop the land into a mixed-use development that will bring more residents, more jobs and more opportunities for small businesses to the Arts & Design District. PNC Bank, which sold the land to the City, will remain on location during and after the redevelopment project. The responses included variations of a combination of for-sale residential, corporate headquarter spaces, public plazas and underground parking.

Previous testing of soil showed ground contamination in this area, which will be remediated as part of this redevelopment project.

of Jim Brainard

It's Your Money...

...and Jim Brainard knows it.

Mayor Brainard has held the line on taxes, proposed conservative budgets and fought for job growth, economic development and a quality of life second to none.

Strong Fiscal Leadership

Jim Brainard has a proven track record of holding down taxes. Today most Carmel residents are paying less in property taxes than they were twenty years ago. Carmel has the lowest tax rate of any Indiana city its size or larger.

Job Creation and Economic Development

As Mayor, Jim Brainard has fought tirelessly to promote job creation, economic development and redevelopment of our downtown which continues to diversify our tax base, keeping our tax burden on homeowners low.

Balanced Budgets

Jim Brainard is a fiscal conservative that has streamlined government and protected our tax dollars. The City of Carmel had a cash balance of over $56 million dollars in the bank at the end of 2018, well more than almost all other cities in Indiana.

kinds of investments to keep the District vibrant," said Mayor Jim Brainard. "This project in particular will help those east of Range Line Road on Main Street, bringing with it more activity from sunrise to sunset with a mix of office workers and residents."

The Arts & Design District – which extends several blocks in all four directions from this intersection – is already a thriving, mixed-use community of retail, restaurants, office and housing which brings together a variety of design-related businesses from art studios and galleries to restaurants and professional offices. In close proximity to the Monon Greenway, Carmel High School, Carmel Clay Public Library and the Midtown District, this redevelopment project promises the best views of Carmel's urban core and walkable access to many amenities which contribute to Carmel's recognition as one of America's best places to live, work and play.

The CRC will thoroughly review all proposals before selecting a developer that meets the objectives and terms of the RFP.

"Receiving eight high-quality responses from respected developer teams is very exciting for this high-profile corner," said CRC Executive Director Henry Mestetsky. "The mix of public plaza space, new corporate headquarters, for-sale residential, and beautiful architecture will be transformational for the City."

The land is now being referred to as "Lot One" as a portion of the site incorporates Lots 1 to 4 of the original town of Bethlehem, Ind., plat. Carmel was founded as Bethlehem in 1837 before officially changing its name to Carmel in 1874.

Previous public-private partnerships along Main Street include the Sophia Square building, Anthony's Chop House, Evan Lurie Gallery building, the mix-use building at the southeast corner of Main and Range Line anchored by California Closets, the Monon where Bazbeaux and Muldoon's are located, Townhome buildings near the 4th Street roundabout and a few blocks south of Main, the Indiana Design Center.

Human Capital has become the most crucial factor in economic development, and inclusion is a significant business issue. Businesses are looking for the best and the brightest and our communities have to send

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County. – Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

You can drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, located at 14701 Tom Wood Way. You can also donate directly to Prevail of Central Indiana by visiting Prevailinc.org.

Identifying deadly health issues

As lawmakers, we consider many factors when proposing new bills. Often, the best legislation is inspired by Hoosiers and the issues they face every day. This session, I was moved by the stories of families advocating for legislation to strengthen healthcare and screening standards in Indiana.

CHUCK GOODRICH
State Representative

When left untreated, infants who suffer from it have a life expectancy of two years, and once symptoms appear, it is too late for treatment. Bryce's shortened life highlighted the need to screen newborns for these diseases, and through this law, Indiana hospitals can catch and treat these additional diseases more quickly. Those babies diagnosed and treated early have better chances of living longer, healthier lives.

Another piece of legislation I supported to help save lives is "Josslyn's Law." The law is named after Josslyn Gee, an infant who lost her life to sepsis, which can be caused from a small infection or mosquito bite and appears as flu-like symptoms and can be fatal if left untreated.

After we heard heart-breaking testimony from Josslyn's family and the Sepsis Alliance, it was clear that new guidelines were needed to ward against sepsis. Josslyn's death could have been prevented but her condition went unnoticed until it was too late. This legislation would create the Sepsis Treatment Protocol Task Force to develop best practices and recommendations to the Indiana State Department of Health. Improving sepsis management by creating reporting requirements for hospitals, gathering information about treatment and determining best practices will help save lives.

Hoosier healthcare can be improved with both pieces of legislation. As a father myself, it is horrible to imagine losing one of my children because a serious disease went overlooked. With a stronger focus on identifying these diseases sooner, we can help others live healthier and longer lives.

If you have any questions or comments on these bills or other issues, please do not hesitate to contact me at h29@iga.in.gov or 317-232-9833.

Two local schools compete at We the People National Finals . . .

HSE, Fishers earn Top 10 recognition

The REPORTER

Over 1,200 high students and 56 teachers from throughout the nation participated in the 2019 We the People National Finals, and two local high schools earned Top 10 recognition.

Hamilton Southeastern High School's team, taught by Janet Chandler, placed seventh nationally and Fishers High School's team, taught by Elizabeth Paternoster, finished eighth.

Classes qualify for the National Finals by placing first in their state competition or through wild card availability.

During the National Finals students participated in simulated congressional hearings. Students testify as constitutional experts before panels of judges acting as congressional committees scoring the groups through a performance-based assessment. Each class is divided into six groups based on the six units of the We the People: The Citizen & the Constitution high school textbook.

Each hearing begins with a four-minute opening statement by students and is followed by a six-minute period of follow-up questioning during which judges probe students' depth of knowledge, understanding and their ability to apply constitutional principles. The format provides students an excellent opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding of constitutional principles while providing the 72 judges with an excellent means of assessing students' knowledge and application to historical and current constitutional issues.

While in Washington, D.C., students had the opportunity to explore our nation's capital, learn about government beyond the classroom walls, and meet with elected officials and other dignitaries.

Since 1987 over 33,000 students and 1,000 teachers have participated in the National Finals.

National Winner: Colorado, Denver East High School; teachers: Susan McHugh and Matt Fulford

- Second Place: California, Amador Valley High School; teacher: Stacey Sklar

Chalfin issues support to Pete Schwartz for Noblesville Council

Dear Editor:

I would like to lend my support to Pete Schwartz, candidate for Noblesville Common Council.

I have known Pete for over a decade and find him to be a very conscientious and dedicated person. I have dealt with him in various roles, first as an automobile salesman and later as a realtor. My dealings with Mr. Schwartz have found him to be of sterling character and an innovative thinker.

If we are to continue to improve Noblesville, we need persons of this ilk to carry us forward and govern our city in a fashion that benefits all citizens. I feel that Pete Schwartz is such a person and hope you lend him your support.

Letter to the Editor

Corbett sets the record straight

Dear Editor:

Regarding the letter from Rich Breyer (Noblesville voter wants Corbett to tell the truth) in yesterday's Reporter, the letter is full of misinformation. I'd like to set the record straight.

Mr. Breyer says I "disguised" contributions but that's not true. I reported these contributions from individual citizens of Noblesville (plus one from Indianapolis and my mom who lives in Colorado) exactly as the law demands. Had these been businesses seeking influence and donating from their corporate accounts, the business names would have been clearly recorded. You don't find those records in my financial reports because, as I've always said, I don't take money from special interests or people that do business with the city. That was as true before the campaign as it is today.

Here's the truth. Money I've received from:

- Unions: $0
- PACs: $0
- Law firms: $0
- Corporate lobbies: $0
- Politicians: $0
- City contractors: $0
- Out of state: $500 (from my mom)

Claim: My family and my business donated (directly or in-kind) $8,500 to my campaign.

This is wildly inaccurate; the number is $3,500, $5,000 less than the reader claims. Here's the breakdown:

My mom has supported me not only with her love and wisdom but with a generous gift of $500. As a young man I learned that if your mother doesn't support what you're doing you should take a long hard look at the path you're on.

I donated $3,000 (in kind) from my business. If I won't contribute to my own campaign how can I ask others to do so? The record is clear on this and so is my conscience.

Here are details on the other three contributors Mr. Breyer cites:

Richard Vonnegut

I got to know Richard while working with Save The Nickel Plate. He runs an Indianapolis-based non-profit, which advocates for converting abandoned railroads to trails and was a huge force in the development of the Monon trail. Ironically, he opposes the city's plans to convert the Nickel Plate Railroad to a trail, recognizing the value of an intact track from Noblesville to Indianapolis. He and I both recommend a rail WITH trail. We are both cyclists that support trail development. He is concerned about a "breach of ethics" in the handling of the Nickel Plate Railroad. Richard does no business with the city and donated as an individual because it was a personal endorsement of our shared interests and beliefs, not an attempt by a non-profit organization to influence a candidate.

Jae Ebert

Jae is a fourth-generation Noblesville resident and has been a personal friend of mine for over 10 years. We first met through the Noblesville Preservation Alliance and bonded over a shared love of Noblesville's history. Jae does own an engineering company but he's no developer. He does construction administration and design consulting for hospitals, schools, libraries and so forth. Drawing any comparison between Jae and the kind of outside developers and civil engineering firms that voters are taking issue with is dishonest and misleading. Jae's only "special interest" is in seeing this city, which he and his family have called home for generations, return to the people and start down a path of openness and transparency.

Jason Spartz

Jason is another Noblesville resident and personal friend of mine. He invests in real estate, not unlike thousands of other citizens, but that hardly qualifies him as a "developer" in the context that term has been used during the campaign. He has had contracts with the city, but as opposed to collecting from the city, he pays the city. He buys the rights to farm open land the city owns, which allows the city to collect some revenue from land that would otherwise earn nothing. I'm not going to drag his spouse or anyone else's family into this debate. Who Jason is married to has absolutely nothing to do with this campaign. Jason supports me because he believes in my campaign. That's why his name is on the report and not someone else's.

Setting the record straight

When I talk about corporate or special interests, I've been clear that I mean money that comes from businesses based elsewhere, run by people who don't live here and don't pay local taxes, but who seek lucrative contracts with the city by funding the campaigns of people they expect to treat them well if elected. That system works to the advantage of those businesses but not necessarily to that of the taxpayer. My campaign does not seek those kinds of donations and would reject them if offered. None of these campaign contributions fit that profile.

Some people say that is just the way politics works and big money from out of town always rules the day, but my campaign is asking people to envision a better way. I believe that if we elect candidates who aren't encumbered by those relationships, who are free to make decisions beholden only to the citizens, we'll get better governance in city hall.

I am confident that Noblesville residents see how those relationships are holding us back and will vote for a fresh start.

You can find this letter of explanation and my campaign finance reports on my website at mikecorbettformayor.com/finance. You can also call me at 317-985-6427 or email me at mike@mikecorbettformayor.com if you have any questions or concerns about my campaign.

State Police award five for outstanding service

The REPORTER

The Indiana State Police held an awards ceremony Friday, April 26 at the Indiana Government Center. Superintendent Douglas Carter presented numerous awards to troopers and civilian employees from across the state. Four of those recipients are troopers from the Indianapolis District which patrols Hamilton County.

DUI Life Award

Trooper Cameron Bottema

Trooper Bottema received recognition for removing 184 impaired drivers off Indiana roadways in 2018. Bottema's superior expertise, knowledge, ability and work ethic were vital in keeping local communities safe with this critical enforcement effort. This led Trooper Bottema being the top DUI enforcer within the Indiana State Police and exemplifies the unsurpassed professionalism and integrity expected of an Indiana State Trooper.

This is the second year in a row Bottema received this award. In the past three years he has arrested 531 impaired drivers.

Life Saving Award

Senior Trooper Scott Probasco

At approximately 2 p.m. on Dec. 26, 2018, Senior Trooper Scott Probasco was dispatched to a report of a person shot on Interstate 465 northbound near the 21 mile marker.

Upon arriving at the scene, Probasco located the driver of a crashed vehicle who was also suffering from a bullet wound to the leg. Probasco recognized the amount of blood and its bright red coloring as arterial bleeding and quickly acted, placing a tourniquet on the victim. Senior Trooper Probasco remained with the victim providing first aid until Emergency Medical Services arrived and was able to transport the victim to St. Vincent Hospital. Without this swift action the victim would have continued to lose blood and possibly his life.

Senior Trooper Probasco is to be commended for his extraordinary conduct in saving the life of a fellow human being.

Commendation Award

Trooper Larry Miers & Sergeant Corey Berfield

At 3:03 p.m. on April 1, 2017, several units responded to a serious personal injury crash on Interstate 465 northbound at the 43.6 mile marker. The crash scene involved two vehicles – one vehicle contained two people who were both unconscious.

Senior Trooper Corey Berfield arrived on scene and observed several citizens attempting to assist the two critically injured vehicle occupants. Berfield immediately went to his trunk and retrieved his issued automated external defibrillator (AED). It was determined that the female passenger was seriously injured and needed immediate CPR which required her to be removed from the vehicle.

Realizing that the passenger door was jammed shut as a result of the collision, Senior Trooper Berfield took control of the scene and had the driver carefully removed so they could retrieve the female passenger. Once outside the vehicle, Berfield placed his AED on the female and the AED advised against shock. Sergeant Berfield began chest compressions while Trooper Larry Miers began rescue breathing.

Both Sergeant Berfield and Trooper Miers continued CPR until Emergency Medical Services arrived and transported the critically injured female to Methodist Hospital. Unfortunately, due to the injuries sustained in the crash the 14-year-old female succumbed to her injuries later that evening.

The Registered Nurse present at the scene and later at Methodist Hospital remarked that in over 40 years she has rarely witnessed and/or participated in more qualify and professional CPR in all her work days and countless CPR efforts.

Trooper of the Year 2018

Trooper Joseph Malone

The 2018 Indiana State Police Trooper of the Year is Trooper Joseph Malone from the Indianapolis District.

Trooper Malone's supervisor, Sergeant Shawn O'Keefe said, "Trooper Malone is a highly motivated trooper, with a work ethic second to none. He displays a high level of competency, and is extremely dependable and self-motivated. Trooper Malone always presents a positive and professional image of himself and the Indiana State Police. He is the consummate shift partner, always willing to assist fellow troopers and other law enforcement agencies both on-duty and off-duty."

The criteria used to select the trooper of the year goes beyond statistics, however in 2018 Trooper Malone, who works the afternoon shift, had the following:

- 215 people arrested with 851 different charges
- 35 Operating While Intoxicated arrests
- 1553 Traffic Citations issued
- 332 Warnings
- 36 Child Restraint Tickets issued

Trooper Malone is a 1995 graduate of Deptford Township High School in New Jersey. After high school Malone joined the United States Army where he served as an Infantryman and Ranger, with combat tours to Iraq, Afghanistan, Bosnia, Egypt, Philippines and Korea during his 20-year military career. Joseph now lives in Johnson County with his wife and two children.

So far in his two-and-a-half year career with the state police, Malone has been selected as a member of the Honor Guard, the Tactical Intervention Platoon and has recently completed crash reconstruction school. Trooper Malone is also a key participant in the Indianapolis RightFit Program sponsored by the Indianapolis Indians. This program provides after school activities for four Indianapolis schools, consisting of public safety personnel, military and other community members.

Indianapolis District Commander Jeff Payne said, "Malone's numbers are impressive, but his presence within his community goes far beyond statistics. Not only is he a great police officer, more importantly he is a great person."

Rep. Brooks helps introduce fair housing bill in U.S. House

The REPORTER

On Tuesday, U.S. Representatives Susan W. Brooks (R-Ind.), Brad Schneider (D-Ill.), Brian Fitzpatrick (R-Pa.) and Jennifer Wexton (D-Va.) introduced legislation to extend clear and consistent non-discrimination protections for LGBTQ people in housing on the basis of

"sexual orientation" and "gender identity" as protected characteristics under the Fair Housing Act which currently mandates non-discrimination for housing on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, familial status, or disability.

H.R. 2402, the Fair and Equal Housing Act of 2019, would include equal protection under the law for all people in our country, including when purchasing or renting property. I am proud to lead this common-sense, bipartisan bill, the Fair and Equal Housing Act of 2019, so that anyone, regardless of their race, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, handicap, familial status and national origin is treated fairly and equally under the law as they buy or rent a place to call home."

Brooks

"Housing discrimination and prejudice of any kind, towards anyone, is wrong," said Brooks. "It is a fundamental American value enshrined in our Constitution to ensure

Settlement brings Indiana more than $136M this year to combat smoking

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill announced on Wednesday that Indiana this year has received more than $136 million from tobacco product manufacturers under the Master Settlement Agreement (MSA).

Reached in 1998, the MSA imposes prohibitions or restrictions on tobacco advertising, marketing and promotional programs. The agreement was reached by the attorneys general of 46 states and six U.S. territories to resolve lawsuits against the four largest tobacco manufacturers seeking to recover billions of dollars in state health care costs due to smoking-related illnesses.

"The Tobacco Master Settlement Agreement remains the largest civil settlement in U.S. history," Hill said. "The result is that our residents are better protected from the disease and death caused by smoking. With Indiana remaining above the national average in percentage of smokers, we must keep working to become a healthier state."

Since the MSA's inception, Indiana has received nearly $2.7 billion and will continue to receive payments in perpetuity. For more information on quitting smoking, call Indiana's Tobacco Quit line at 1-800-QUIT-NOW.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Then drew near unto him all the publicans and sinners for to hear him. And the Pharisees and scribes murmured, saying, This man receiveth sinners, and eateth with them. And he spake this parable unto them, saying, What man of you, having an hundred sheep, if he lose one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he find it? And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders, rejoicing. And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying unto them, Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep which was lost.

Golden Eagles take care of Park Tudor

Guerin Catholic got its bats going in the fourth inning, and that sent the Golden Eagles to an 11-5 winner over Park Tudor Wednesday at the Golden Eagles' field.

Guerin Catholic scored one run each in the second and third innings. Dominic Ferrucci scored the first run on an error, then Nate Bingman got home when Jordan Schaaf drew a bases-loaded walk. That tied the game at 2-2, and the Panthers doubled in a run in the top of the fourth to lead 3-2. But with two outs in the bottom of the fourth, the Golden Eagles scored eight consecutive runs.

Keenan Taylor scored on a wild pitch to tie the game. Max Engelking singled in Luke Godfrey, which put Guerin Catholic in front for good. The bases were loaded, and the next batter, Schaaf, got hit by a pitch. That got Braden Reel in to score.

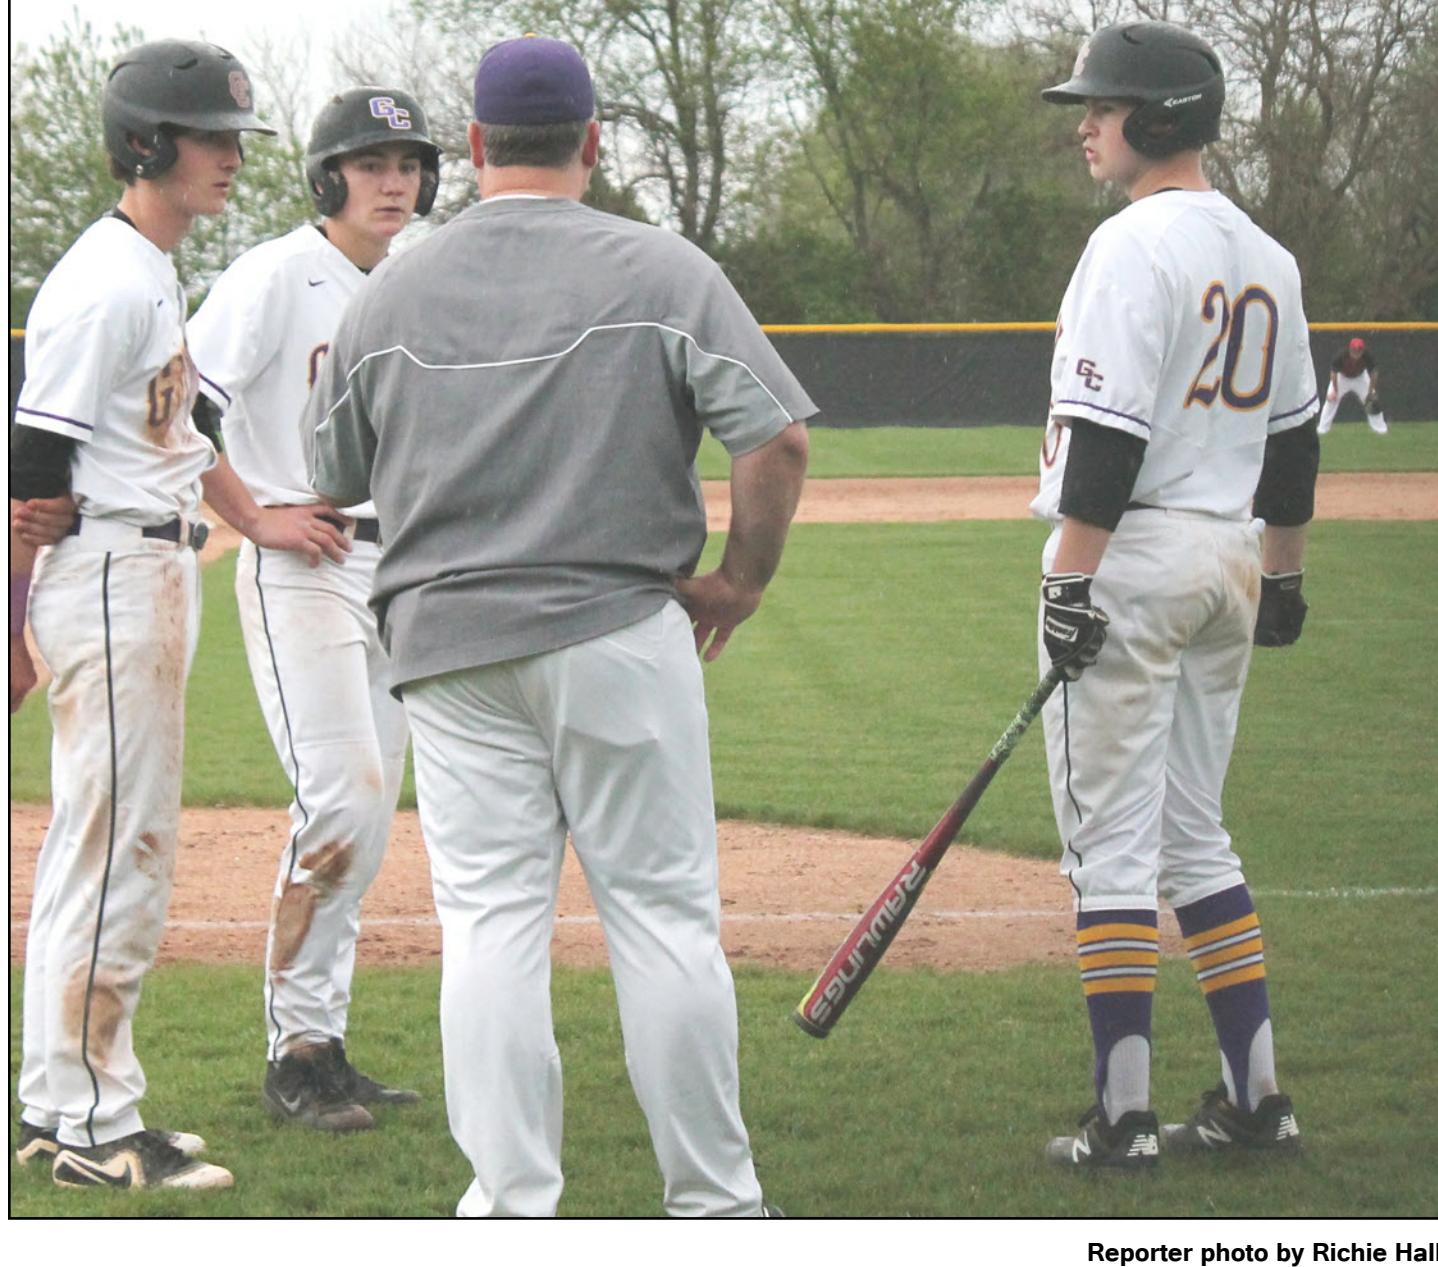

Wes Gingerich was next, and he sent a two-RBI hit into center field, getting Lewandowski and Engelking home. Taylor then smacked a double into left field, bringing Schaaf and Gingerich home. Finally, Taylor scored when Ely reached on an error, giving the Golden Eagles a 10-3 lead.

"It was good," said GC coach Rich Andriole. "There were obviously areas that I wish we had played a little better in."

Guerin Catholic scored one more run in the sixth inning, when Taylor doubled home Gingerich. That was Taylor's third double of the game. Reel and Gingerich both had two hits.

Ely got the pitching win, throwing the fourth and fifth innings in relief.

The Golden Eagles are 14-2 and play Friday at Jasper.
