Rep. Cook receives legislator award from Humane Society

Carmel receives eight proposals for PNC property

The REPORTER

State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero) received the Humane Legislator Award from the Humane Society of the United States for his work promoting animal safety.

Cook was recognized for authoring a 2017 law providing some protections for people who use force to enter a vehicle to save a distressed pet.

"Many people consider their pets to be best friends, but from time to time may accidentally forget them in the car," Cook said. "Those who see a pet trapped in a hot, unattended car and take action to help the animal should not be punished for doing the right thing. As we move into the warmer months, it will be even more important to ensure pets are safe, and as a rule of thumb, never leave your pet in the car for longer than a few minutes."

If Hoosiers see an animal in distress, they must first notify the police before entering the vehicle, and only use a reasonable amount of force to get the animal out. Individuals must then wait with the animal until law enforcement arrives.

"Even when the outside temperature is as low as 72 degrees, within an hour the temperature inside a car can reach up to 116 degrees," Cook said. "Pets exposed to that kind of heat for an extended period of time could have permanent organ damage or even die."

The Humane Society of the United States is the nation's largest animal protection organization and works to combat the most severe forms of animal cruelty and abuse.

The REPORTER

The Carmel Redevelopment Commission (CRC) has opened eight responses to its Request for Proposal to developers seeking to partner with the City in the redevelopment of 1.7 acres at the northeast corner of Main Street and Range Line Road, informally known as the "PNC property."

The Request for Proposal was the first step in the process to redevelop the land into a mixed-use development that will bring more residents, more jobs and more opportunities for small businesses to the Arts & Design District. PNC Bank, which sold the land to the City, will remain on location during and after the redevelopment project. The responses included variations of a combination of for-sale residential, corporate headquarters spaces, public plazas and underground parking.

Previous testing of soil shows ground contamination in this area, which will be remediated as part of this redevelopment project.

The Arts & Design District – which extends several blocks in all four directions from this intersection – is already a thriving, mixed-use community of retail, restaurants, office and housing which brings together a variety of design-related businesses from art studios and galleries to restaurants and professional offices. In close proximity to the Monon Greenway, Carmel High School, Carmel Clay Public Library and the Midtown District, this redevelopment project promises the best views of Carmel's urban core and walkable access to many amenities which contribute to Carmel's recognition as one of America's best places to live, work and play.

The CRC will thoroughly review all proposals before selecting a developer that meets the objectives and terms of the RFP.

The land is now being referred to as "Lot One" as a portion of the site incorporates Lots 1 to 4 of the original town of Bethlehem, Ind., plat. Carmel was founded as Bethlehem in 1837 before officially changing its name to Carmel in 1874.

$25M private development to locate in downtown Westfield

The REPORTER

Last week, leaders from the City of Westfield joined Old Town Companies in announcing a new residential and commercial development in downtown Westfield. The $25 million private development, Union Square at Grand Junction, will be located in the city block between State Road 32 and the Plaza.

Through its collaborative community-focused approach, Old Town Companies plans to develop retail shops, restaurants, market rate apartments and for-sale condos. The phased development will begin in 2020 and will continue over the next three to five years.

"Our goal for Union Square is to create a small village architecturally with buildings that look as if they've been there for 100 years," said Justin Moffett, a partner with Old Town. "Our interest in this site was initially generated by the proposed plans Grand Junction Plaza. It's an outstanding location and with the development of Grand Junction Plaza, we're excited to get started on being a part of the area's transformation."

Last month, the Westfield

Artistic concept provided This concept shows what Union Square at Grand Junction could look like once developed in downtown Westfield.

City Council approved a $35 million funding plan for the Grand Junction Plaza. The project, in development for more than 10 years, has already been a catalyst for economic growth in the city's downtown. The unique six-acre park will feature greenspace, trails, an amphitheater and an ice skating rink. Construction will begin this summer. The city's role, particularly related to parking, in the public-private partnership will be determined as the private sector plans develop.

The announcement kicks off an input-gathering process. Old Town is working with business owners and the Westfield Lions Club to find suitable relocation options within the project or to new locations. In addition to working with the Downtown Westfield Association, Grand Junction Task Group and community stakeholders, Old Town plans to host a series of community workshops in July to encourage public comment on development plans.

In 2018, the City of Westfield and the Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) announced a $15 million road reconstruction project for State Road 32. The project will address congestion and capacity concerns along the SR 32 corridor and will improve accessibility and safety. The reconstruction sets the stage for Grand Junction District, which will be considered Westfield's new "heart of the City."

Hamilton County looking to expand broadband access

The REPORTER

Residents of Hamilton County can help extend broadband coverage to rural areas by downloading a new app created by the National Association of Counties (NACo), of which Hamilton County is a member.

"Access to affordable, high-speed internet is essential to connect people and places and compete in today's economy," says NACo Executive Director Matthew Chase. "This mobile app will help identify gaps in broadband coverage and help guide federal, state, and local decision-making."

"TestIT" (available for iOS and Android) allows mobile users to test their broadband speed from anywhere – helping to accurately identify areas with low or no internet connectivity.

"Believe it or not, there are some places in Hamilton County, even within the city limits, which are below the national average for broadband speed and some that are below the federal minimum standard," said Kenton Ward, County Surveyor and a member of the NACo Board of Directors. "A lack of high-speed internet is hurting small businesses in rural America. It also limits students' ability to get online and for sick patients to get medical consultation locally unavailable."

NACo says outdated broadband mapping techniques limit Congress' ability to accurately identify and fund broadband resources across much of America.

"Our lives and futures have become inextricably tied to technology," says George Kakasuleff, president of the Hamilton County Farm Bureau. "Without access to high-speed internet, many of our rural communities are becoming increasingly isolated and left behind. We need to do a better job of bridging the digital divide."

NACo has also partnered with the Rural Community Assistance Partnership (RCAP) and Rural LISC (Local Initiatives Support Corporation) to fund the new mobile app.

Beck's Hybrids to expand Atlanta facility

The REPORTER

Beck's Hybrids has announced plans to expand production and processing operations at the Atlanta headquarters with a $62 million investment in a new soybean processing facility, seed drying equipment and warehouses that are expected to be complete by 2022.

Since 1992, Beck's has seen tremendous growth, doubling in size every 6.5 years. With new sales territories, new facility locations and new employees, Beck's has not only become the number one selling corn and soybean seed brand in Indiana but the third-largest corn and soybean brand in the United States.

"As we continue to grow and expand, with a footprint now in 11 states, we are driven by the increasing demands of our customers who want more high performing products suited for their acres," said Beck's President Scott Beck. "This investment will allow us to more efficiently process additional units of quality soybeans each year to help meet the needs of our current and future customers."

This expansion at Beck's headquarters will double the processing capacity from three million to six million units per year over the next six years. The 221-by-300 foot facility will feature a seven-story, stand-alone processing tower, five new warehouses for seed and equipment storage, as well as office space. Starting in 2019, the company expects to hire 60 additional employees at this location.

"Indiana is an easy state to do business in," said Beck's CEO Sonny Beck. "And because of that, we decided to build here in our home state. The foresight of the Indiana Economic Development Corporation (IEDC) and Hamilton County officials to upgrade the roadways near our plant will allow us to double the soybean capacity at our headquarters, improve safety and decrease traffic congestion. Not only will this increase capacity and add jobs here in Indiana, but it will also allow us to better serve the needs of all our customers throughout our 11-state marketing area."

In order to support the sales and distribution of the additional soybean production, Beck's will hire additional farmer dealers in Indiana and other states to support farmers throughout the Midwest.

Like grandmother, like granddaughter My mother's purse

After spending a week with my two little grandmunchkins, I recognize that of the six grandmunchkins I have, Leah is perhaps the most like me.

She has inherited my inability to stay on track or stay focused. We both have a tendency to follow the squirrels.

Leah can be in the middle of a conversation and proceed to do a backflip, and then rise up to start a whole new conversation. While there is no way I can do a backflip I have been known to change the direction of a conversation. Sometimes I do it on purpose and sometimes, not so on purpose. I call it Squirrel Syndrome.

Leah's expressions, at the age of six, speak volumes. Her eyes are a tell-all of what she is thinking. Her thoughts are let loose from her lips faster than her little brain can stop them. I understand it all too well. I have been the object of those thoughts.

We were leaving for her gymnastics meet and I struggled to open the door leading to the garage. Leah says to me, "Obviously, Grandma, you have trouble opening doors." I kid you not. She said OBVIOUSLY. I told her, "Obviously, I need coffee."

After her gymnastics meet I suggested we celebrate at the place of her choosing. I hoped it would not be Taco Bell or McDonalds. She said, "How about the gas station?" Yes ... the gas station. Leah said, "Grandma, they have the best snacks." So off we went to the Racetrack Gas Station.

Upon entering, I saw a wall of serve yourself yogurt/ice cream dispensers. It has to be what 6-year-olds dream about. They can then proceed to a smorgasbord of topping delights. The cost is by weight. Who knew gummy bears weigh so much?

It was Wednesday, after school, when Leah got off the bus in tears. The kindergarten bully had made Leah the object of her bullying on the bus. Now if you think that her mother did not go into Mama Bear mode, you are wrong. Emily began her interrogation of Leah as to what transpired, all the while this Grandma Grizzly was fuming. I did not care about the facts I just knew someone had made one of my little cry.

Obviously, some little one had not been taught that part of what you learn in kindergarten is to be kind. Emily was able to calm down both Leah and me.

I later learned that the next day 8-year-old Aiden went into the office of the school safety patrol and explained what happened on the bus. The administrator said it would be addressed.

Aiden is focused on what needs to be done. He has a game plan for every day. He is a rule follower. Aiden has his goals written on paper and taped to his bedroom wall. You never have to ask him twice to do a chore. Obviously, he did not inherit these things from me. He's like an eagle whereas Leah and I are like squirrel chasers.

Whenever Leah chooses an outfit we never know what it will be. While her mommy had her clothes laid out for every day, Leah did not always feel like wearing what her mommy had chosen. One day she came down stairs in high top tennis shoes, a skort and her soccer uniform top. I did not pick that as a battle to fight. I understood her freedom of expression.

I did question Leah when she put on shorts under her dress. She told me that it was a rule she had. Later I saw her doing cartwheels and I understood the rule.

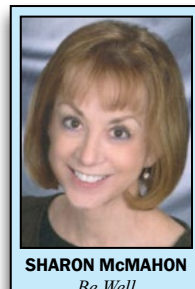

If you are chasing squirrels and doing cartwheels you must wear shorts underneath your dress. If you have the choice of where you celebrate ... go to the gas station. When you deal with bullies, find your big brother who is eagleistic (a Janetism) and he will find a solution. These are rules that Leah lives by.

They are good rules that even a squirrel chaser can appreciate.

Obviously, she is her grandmother's granddaughter. Leah ... enjoy the chase!

Be Well

"How lucky I am to have something that makes saying goodbye so hard."

– Winnie the Pooh

Dear Readers: This is a "rerun" of a column from one year ago, one on which several readers commented. The decision with which I was grappling is included at the end of the column.

I hesitated to select this subject as I usually write about fitness and nutrition, but I do believe that my topic this week addresses an issue that may be both familiar to many and which can affect our peace of mind. I have always been a "decision maker" but must confess that I have wrestled with this decision for many years. I am also usually not a "keeper of things" so this item noted here is unusual in that respect as well.

As a teenager I lost both parents in an automobile accident. I won't spend time in this article discussing that in particular as it does not relate to the issue at hand. Those who know me or have read my column understand that this occurred many years ago.

However an item in my possession nearly 50 years is my mother's purse. (Note: 2019 is the 50th anniversary.) It is not a designer purse, but is somewhat unique in that it is a hand-tooled leather purse which still holds objects which were there at the time she passed away. Now – I really do not intend to be maudlin about it, but I have kept it well protected and have always thought that someday I would like to actually use this purse for myself. Once in while (about every year this time) I take it out of its protective covering and give it a look, then I return it, saying "maybe next year."

Let's review the contents together: A blue wallet which still contains photos of my brother and of me, driver's license, insurance card, nail file, Sears credit card, grocery list, etc. My plan, if it ever comes to fruition, is to empty the purse of its contents, of course, and then have it professionally cleaned and refurbished. It is in good condition and will be attractive when that is done. Although I am not one who believes that objects can attach us to those we have lost, it is a lovely piece that I believe she would want me to use. Carrying her purse would be a tribute to her perhaps and enjoyable for me as well. *See final decision.

My purpose in writing about this is two-fold. First of all while not all of us are mothers, all of us have mothers or mother figures. Many of you, like me, no longer have that person in your life. It is mentally and emotionally healthy to pay tribute to her, to share stories with other family members, and enjoy what you do have in your hearts and your mind to remember her fondly. Secondly, momentos can play a part in that as well. Your mental and physical well-being are inextricably linked; so stay healthy, be well and cherish those who are here and the memories of those who are not.

Will I finally carry my mother's purse? I haven't yet decided! Happy Mother's Day!

Sharon McMahon, CNWC, FlexAbility4u@aol.com

*After much thought, consideration, and advice of a very good friend I have decided to display the purse contents in a "memory box" then have the purse cleaned and refurbished and include in that a photo, a special poem, and a short letter from me (to any future generations!) telling the reader some special memories I have of my mother. But first I plan to carry the purse – at least once!

116th Street, a highway of county history

Thousands of Hamilton County motorists zip along 116th Street daily between the Geist area and Zionsville or points between. Most have little or no idea of the sites along this route that have contributed to the history and culture of Hamilton County.

For those who have an interest in such things, it is perhaps the most interesting 20-mile drive we have. For starters it's 116th that geographically divides Indiana between north and south. You may have thought that line was at U.S. 40, but not so.

Near the east end of 116th is Geist Reservoir, created in 1944 by the Indianapolis Water Company to provide Indy with a dependable water reserve. Forty years later the shoreline was developed into one of the most upscale residential areas in the state. West of Geist, 116th is Main Street in Fishers which was a tiny community of 350 residents until the 1970s when suburban development and expansion of its borders made it the state's fastest growing city with a population of more than 90,000 today.

Further west at White River is the site of Eller Bridge, a Civil War era wooden structure that spanned the river until it was destroyed by fire in 1957. If one looks to the north of the road, a lower roadway can be seen going to the riverbank, and the site of the early covered bridge.

Just across White River the once-popular Northern Beach Park was located on the south side of the road. Its large swimming pool, shaded shelter house and playgrounds attracted families for generations. Developed in the 1920s, it gradually lost its luster in the 1960s and 70s, finally closing in the 80s. A senior living center is now located on a portion of the former park.

A mile or so further west is the Flowing Well, an artesian well drilled 117 years ago by natural gas prospectors. Instead of gas, they hit water which has been spouting to the surface ever since. Folks visit the well often to take jugs of the pure well water. With a modern wellhouse, a small city park dedicated to the pioneer families of the area now surrounds the Flowing Well.

Right across the road is the White Chapel Church. Built in 1853 for a Methodist congregation, it now functions as a non-denominational community church. Its adjoining cemetery holds the graves of some of the area's early settlers.

A half mile west is the former Mattsville general store. Mattsville, named for Matt Richardson, was what could be called 'a wide place in the road' where the store and a few homes were located before subdivisions overwhelmed the area. The store, at the junction of 116th and Haverstick Road, now a private residence, also housed a post office for several years prior to 1930.

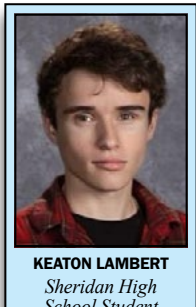

Next comes Woodland Country Club at 116th and Keystone. It was created in 1951 by golf master Bill Diddel who lived in a log cabin which he had relocated to the property. The cabin has been expanded by later

There is no such thing as an assault rifle

Editor's Note: The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School's 10th grade English class, taught by Abby Williams.

There is no such thing as an assault rifle. Even though it is a commonly used term, it is incorrect both literally and grammatically.

"Assault rifle" is a media term used to attract attention, and this incorrect term has been normalized for any tactical style rifle. The rhetoric coming from anti-gun government officials and left-leaning media sources is too often flawed and uneducated. More concerned with pushing their political agenda than gaining a thorough background on firearms and shooting practices, they have used the term "assault rifle" repeatedly even though it is incorrect, for several reasons. The media and left-leaning government officials are more concerned about generating fear and grabbing eyes to headlines rather than using proper terminology and giving a proper analysis.

KEATON LAMBERT
Sheridan High School Student

Assault is defined by the Merriam-Webster dictionary as "a verb or noun, to violently attack or a military

"Assault rifle" is a term that makes no sense for "assault" is being used as an adjective. This term was generated by the media and adopted by anti-gun senators because the word assault itself gives off a negative connotation in general. In any context, assault is generally viewed as a negative thing, so when it is identified with tactical rifles it can mislead people and they will perceive it as a negative thing.

The term "assault rifle" is often used to describe rifles that have at least one of these features: An adjustable stock, vertical fore grip, quad rails for mounting things such as flashlights and laser, a muzzle brake or compensator and even a bayonet mount. However, these rifles are classified as tactical rifles. They give users more versatility and practicality while operating their firearm.

Many will argue that tactical rifles are military rifles that were designed to be used against people. This, however, is a false assumption. First and foremost, a tactical rifle is not a military grade firearm by any means. A tactical rifle was made for civilian use, not for military personnel. The M16 and M4 military rifles series is not available to the civilian public without a year-long background check, government clearance and hours of paperwork. Tactical rifles were invented to better aid the firearm operated on the range to be more versatile. Versatility does not equal lethality.

As a young, avid shooter, it upsets me to see the tools for a sport I love to be given such a negative connotation by the media and government, while the beneficial side of firearms is ignored entirely since it doesn't fit a political narrative. I have shot several tactical rifles of different variations and calibers, and none of them was ever used against another human being.

The term "assault rifle" is incorrect from a literal and grammatical standpoint. The term is a way to instill a negative connotation into tactical rifles for political and controversial reasons. It is used to propagate fear to an uneducated public.

OneZone issues statement on HSE school board vote

Submitted by MO MERHOFF

OneZone President

Former governor Joe Kernan was ending his comments before over 100 business people at a state chamber luncheon on Indiana's future. "One thing I hope you'll remember. I'm teaching some classes at my alma mater and let me tell you something about the next generation - they won't tolerate intolerance." He got a standing ovation.

Fishers is a community that's taken that seriously. The Stigma-free Fishers campaign brought together police, fire, school, community and health representatives, and together, they're making a difference. Fishers has been on so many "best of" lists, it's almost expected. Fishers is a positive, open, welcoming community.

That's why HSE schools' recent vote on its discrimination policy is so baffling. Of course, inclusion is important to students, parents, teachers and administrators. But it's important to business too.

Human Capital has become the most crucial factor in economic development, and inclusion is a significant business issue. Businesses are looking for the best and the brightest and our communities have to send a clear, consistent message about who we are - vibrant, entrepreneurial, open and accepting to all.

Merhoff

OneZone, representing over 1,400 business, felt strongly that it was time for Indiana to pass strong hate crimes legislation. For the same reasons, we agree with Mayor Fadness' comments on the recent HSE School Board vote, and urge the board to reconsider their statement and include those most vulnerable. Let's not leave any doubt about who we are.

Westfield Washington Township's MacGregor Park turns 10 years old

The REPORTER

MacGregor Park officially opened to the public in May 2009. The park has grown and flourished over the past decade and Westfield Washington Township is excited to invite the community to celebrate this 10th anniversary from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, May 18.

Guests will be able to work on a craft in the large shelter, follow scavenger hunt clues through the trails and attend interactive presentations with Hamilton County Soil and Water Conservation District (HCSWCD) in the small shelter. Free Kona Ice will be available to the first 100 visitors between 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

The Township encourages residents to plant native trees and shrubs, so the first 50 families that bring in an invasive plant species or show a picture of one that was removed from their property will receive a coupon code for $10 off a native tree or shrub from the HCSWCD's native plant sale.

Two local schools compete at We the People National Finals . . .

HSE, Fishers earn Top 10 recognition

The REPORTER

Over 1,200 high students and 56 teachers from throughout the nation participated in the 2019 We the People National Finals, and two local high schools earned Top 10 recognition.

Hamilton Southeastern High School's team, taught by Janet Chandler, placed seventh nationally and Fishers High School's team, taught by Elizabeth Pateroster, finished eighth.

Classes qualify for the National Finals by placing first in their state competition or through wild card availability.

During the National Finals students participated in simulated congressional hearings. Students testify as constitutional experts before panels of judges acting as congressional committees scoring the groups through a performance-based assessment. Each class is divided into six groups based on the six units of the

We the People: The Citizen and the Constitution high school textbook.

Each hearing begins with a four-minute opening statement by students and is followed by a six-minute period of follow-up questioning during which judges probe students' depth of knowledge, understanding and their ability to apply constitutional principles. The format provides students an excellent opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding of constitutional principles while providing the 72 judges with an excellent means of assessing students' knowledge and application to historical and current constitutional issues.

While in Washington, D.C., students had the opportunity to explore our nation's capital, learn about government beyond the classroom walls, and meet with elected officials and other dignitaries.

Hoosier Crossroads Conference track and field meets

Southeastern girls defend their championship

The Hamilton Southeastern girls track and field team defended its home turf last Tuesday by winning the Hoosier Crossroads Conference meet.

The Royals scored 131 points, pulling away from what had a tight battle with rival Fishers in the early stages of the meet. The Tigers were second with 105 points.

Southeastern coach Julie Alano said that her team was trying some different things, as the Royals prepare for the sectional, which they will enter as defending state champions.

"We're just trying to figure some things out for the tournament and make sure we're ready to go there," said coach Julie Alano. "But we also like to win the conference meet. It helps with the school and the overall trophy, the all-sports trophy, so we also like to win this meet for the school."

Southeastern got individual victories from Regan Wans in the 400 dash, Lulu Black in the 3200 run, and the 4x100 and 4x400 relays.

The Tigers picked up two victories, both from Ella Scally. The freshman was first in the 100 dash and set a new meet record in the long jump of 18 feet, 5.75 inches. Southeastern's Tierra Sydner was second at 18 feet, 2.25 inches, also under the old record.

Noblesville finished fifth as a team, winning three events. Shelby

Tyler was first in the high jump and pole vault, and the Millers also took the 4x800 relay. Noblesville's time of 9:27.76 is currently the best in the state.

County boys set four new records, two for Malone

The teams that competed in the Hoosier Crossroads Conference boys track and field meet Friday at Avon not only shared the wealth when it came to winning events.

They also shared the wealth when it came to setting records. Five new records were set at the meet, including four by Hamilton County teams.

Brownsburg won the meet with a team score of 129 points. Fishers was the runner-up with 112 points, and the Tigers also won five individual events. Fishers led off with a new record in the 4x800 relay, which Drew Smith, Jake Brattain, Jaylen Castillo and Ethan Meyer finished in 8:08.76.

Meyer picked up two more wins as the meet went on. He placed first in the 1600 run, then was part of the Tigers' winning 4x400 relay with H.L. Lewis, Jaylen Castillo and Keefer Soehngen. This was Soehngen's second win of the meet, as he took first in the 400 dash. Hayden Tobias won the shot put.

"We ran what we were seeded to run, so we had a pretty good day," said Fishers coach Nate Warnecke. "Of course you hope to win as a team, but we came up a little short to a fantastic Brownsburg team."

Hamilton Southeastern finished in third place with 94 points. The Royals were led by the sensational Noah Malone, who set new meet records in winning both the 100 dash (10.62) and 200 dash (21.81).

Noblesville finished fifth with 64 points, and also picked up a new meet record. Travis Hickner set a new mark in the 3200 run with his time of 9:39.15. Andrew Herman was also a Millers winner, taking the high jump.

"I think we're in a good spot going into the month of May," said Noblesville coach Bill Kenley. "We got some big ones coming up, county and then of course

Millers crush Shamrocks, take series

By RICH TORRES
NOBLESVILLE – Justin Keever wasn't too happy with his baseball team's current trend. Last Monday night, the host Noblesville Millers responded and corrected course with a sound 14-2 victory in five innings over rival Westfield.

Seniors Cade Nelis and Brady Walden combined for seven RBI behind three hits, and junior Ethan Imel added two more RBI, hitting atop the Millers' order, as Noblesville erupted for nine runs in the first inning to secure its second straight win.

"I was really disappointed in how we performed in Game 1, and the guys came out and played with some energy in Game 2, and this one doesn't count in the HCC standings, but it's good to get the win, put some runs up," Keever said.

The Millers lost their series opener against Westfield 3-2 at Grand Park on Friday before splitting with an 11-4 victory on Saturday. During Monday's series finale, which had no impact on the Hoosier Crossroads Conference standings, the Millers didn't slow down at the friendly confines of Dunker Field.

Noblesville (11-8, 6-2) laced six hits, drove in 12 runs and led 10-0 after two innings, while Matt Peek and Ethan Leslie limited the Shamrocks (7-5, 5-3) to five hits and two runs overall through five innings pitched.

Peek tossed three, five-hit frames, and Leslie pitched a near two innings of perfect relief with three strikeouts.

"They just came in with the mindset to throw strikes and pitch to contact. It worked out for them," Imel said. "At the plate, we're really sticking to our approaches and trying to do damage in the count and just grind it out and not let them beat us."

Imel, the team's starting catcher, did his part for the HCC frontrunners, finishing the game 2-for-2, including a pair of hits in the bottom of the first as the Millers sent 12 batters to the plate.

Imel opened the game with a single to left field and later drove in two runners with a ground-rule double and one out after the Millers loaded the bases three times in the first inning.

The Noblesville dugout looks on as the Millers prepare for their at-bat in the first inning during the Noblesville-Westfield game last Monday at Don Dunker Field. The Millers beat the Shamrocks 14-2.

25 runs in the past two games.

"It was pretty embarrassing on the mound to be honest. The last I checked we had 10 walks, three hit batsmen and committed five errors on top of that," Shamrocks coach Ryan Bunnell said. "Really no excuses. We were just really, really bad tonight, and whatever the reason is, we have to figure that out because you can't do that."

The Millers discovered their offense behind six hitters scattered throughout the lineup with at least one RBI each.

Nelis went 2-for-3 with three RBI. He drove in the Millers' first run with a bases-loaded single in the first inning and drove in two more with a double in the bottom of the fourth.

Walden had an RBI walk in the third and an RBI single in the second after a bases-loaded fielder's choice in the first.

"Last week we started out slow. I think we had two hits against Franklin Central. We've been working a lot at practice, staying disciplined, getting pitches that we can drive and it helped a lot," Walden said.

The Millers lost 5-1 to Franklin Central on April 22, which they followed up with a loss to Westfield before turning the offense around.

"We've been putting up some runs, but they gave us a lot. They had a hard time throwing strikes tonight and catching the ball, but we'll take it," Keever said.

Noblesville drove in runs in every inning and plated three runs in the bottom of the fourth to end the game by mercy rule in the top of the fifth.

Tyler Smitherman finished 1-for-3 with two RBI for Westfield with a two-run double in the top of the third, but the Shamrocks had few answers against Peek and Leslie.

"We're better than this, and we have to learn to come with a consistent effort and performance level," Bunnell said. "We certainly didn't do that tonight. It kind of started on Saturday to be honest. We jumped up three runs, and then we weren't really good on the mound on Saturday either."

Noblesville turned a 3-0 deficit on Saturday into a 6-3 lead and eventual 11-3 advantage to split the series.

"Ultimately, yeah, in the grand scheme (this game) doesn't count in the conference standings, but we've got to compete and perform a lot better than we did tonight," Bunnell said.

The Millers came out ready, compiled eight at-bats before the Shamrocks recorded their first out. Zach Gruver and Peek had RBI in the first inning for Noblesville. The Shamrocks sent four pitchers to the mound to quiet the Millers, but Noblesville loaded the bases eight times in the game.

"I thought we played really good defense tonight, and I thought Matt and Ethan Leslie, who came early, threw strikes," Keever said. "(Westfield starter Parker Bard) was struggling to find the zone a little bit, but Ethan kind of broke it open with that bases-loaded double. He's put some great at-bats together for us tonight. We like him there (hitting No. 1) because he gets on base."

Bard lasted 1.0 inning before getting pulled with three walks surrendered, a hit batter and two strikeouts.

"We lost one to Westfield in the first game, so we kind of used that as a reality check, kind of find who we are," Walden said.

Noblesville won a thriller at Don Dunker Field last Tuesday, scoring two runs in the eighth inning to beat Columbus North 7-6.

The game was tied at 5-5 after the regulation seventh inning. The Bull Dogs scored one run in the top of the eighth, but the Millers got the win when DJ Owens doubled in Cole Barnes and Lucas Williams.

Noblesville scored all of its other runs in the first inning. Cooper Miles batted in Camden Nagel and Owens (who hit a double), then Nelis doubled home Miles. Nelis scored on a fielder's choice from Zach Gruver, then Barnes' fielder's choice got Brady Walden home.

Owens, Miles and Nelis all had two hits, Miles joined the other two in hitting a double. Miles also pitched the eighth inning, which gave him the win. Jared Michael threw five strikeouts in relief.

Westfield splits HCC series with Zionsville

Westfield got a nice bounce-back win on Thursday, sailing past Zionsville 11-1 in a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game played at Grand Park.

The Shamrocks began with two runs in the top of the first inning. Trey Anderson scored the first run on an RBI groundout by Tyler Smitherman. Bryce Dorton got home on a fielder's choice by Zach Collins. Westfield added another run in the third inning, with Luke Hutson getting home after Austin Wessel hit a sacrifice bunt.

The 'Rocks opened up the game in the fifth inning, scoring six runs. Kyle Pepiot singled in Dorton, then Smitherman and Hutson scored on an error. Pepiot got home on a wild pitch. Jack Lawrence hit a double, Payton Tamm was walked, and both were sent home by a base hit from Anderson.

Westfield scored a run in each of the last two innings. Collins brought Dorton in with a sixth-inning single, and Collins hit a sacrifice fly to score Anderson in the seventh.

"Credit to the kids," said Westfield coach Ryan Bunnell. "They really came out and were able to flush Monday." The Shamrocks lost to Noblesville on that day, so it was a satisfying comeback win.

"A lot of guys, they crumble under that, and that takes them into a deep valley," said Bunnell. "But these guys, to their credit, they've been great at practice. They've had really good practices this week. And we're battling weather and all that, and you don't know whether you're going to be in or out till the end of the day. And there's just a lot of distractions this time of year. A lot of credit to them for coming out and having good practices this week and then putting together a performance like today."

Dorton finished the game 3-for-4 at the plate, including a double, while Collins and Pepiot each batted 2-for-3. Parker Bard pitched six innings for the win, striking out eight and allowing four hits. Eli Patchett finished the game with a perfect seventh inning.

Westfield dropped the second game of the series with Zionsville on Friday, falling 4-0 in a home game.

The Shamrocks had eight hits. Tamm had two doubles, with Anderson and Dorton also getting two hits.

"We had a few opportunities, but just couldn't get the big hit," said Bunnell. "We made several mental mistakes that contributed to our lack of production tonight. It's frustrating, we're still struggling to find consistency. We're making some of the same mistakes we made early in the season still and that's preventing us from finding consistency. We have to find a way to eliminate those mistakes and become consistent with our productivity or we aren't going anywhere in the tournament. This group has it in them, they just have to figure out how to be the same team every day."

Southeastern scores sweep of Noblesville

Hamilton Southeastern swept Noblesville last week in a Hoosier Crossroads Conference series.

In the first game, the Royals scored early and late, and that got them past Noblesville 7-4 in a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game Thursday at Ken Seitz Field.

Southeastern got three runs in the first inning. Cole DeWael smacked a triple to right field, and was promptly doubled home by Greyson Droste. Brayton Harrison came up next, and his base hit brought in Droste. Harrison scored on Jack DeWolf's RBI groundout.

The Millers got one run back in the second inning, when Zach Gruver got home on an error. The score remained 3-1 until Noblesville took the lead in the fifth inning with three runs. Ethan Imel doubled Cole Barnes home, then DJ Owens tied the game with a sacrifice fly to score Lucas Williams. Miles came up next, and his center field hit brought in Camden Nagel, putting the Millers in front 4-3.

Stout

DeWael.

Harrison was 3-for-4 at the plate, while Eggers also hit a double. Michael Dillon got the pitching win, striking out eight over six innings.

Williams had two hits for the Millers. Clay Holzworth went five and two-thirds innings, throwing six strikeouts.

Southeastern completed the sweep of Noblesville Friday, winning Game 2 of the series 12-0 at Don Dunker Field.

The Royals scored their first two runs in the second inning. Jake Huston led off with a double, and was batted in by Jack DeWolf. Cam Bolling batted in Jake Stout for the second run.

Southeastern followed that with four runs in the third inning, both on two-RBI singles. Matt Buckingham's center field line drive scored Greyson Droste and Huston, then Bolling batted in Stout and Buckingham.

DeWolf singled in Huston for a fifth-inning run, and DeWael scored in the sixth inning when Brayton Harrison reached on error. The Royals added four more runs in the seventh: Tyler Rhoades scored after Anthony Eggers drew a bases-loaded walk; DeWael doubled in Caden Ruhnow and Bolling, and Harrison batted in DeWael.

DeWolf and Bolling were both 3-for-4 at the plate, while Huston had two doubles. DeWael and Droste both had two hits. Tyler Schweitzer pitched six innings for the win, tossing 10 strikeouts against four hits.

Cooper Miles and Cade Nelis both had two hits for Noblesville.

Southeastern lost two games against Northern Indiana teams on Saturday.

The Royals dropped their first game to Penn 8-4. The Kingsmen scored four runs in the top of the fourth inning, which Southeastern answered with three runs in the bottom of the inning. Jack DeWolf led off the inning with a double, then Jake Stout came in to run for him. Stout eventually scored on an error, then Anthony Eggers singled in Cam Bolling. Eggers later scored on a wild pitch.

The score remained 4-3 until the seventh inning, when Penn added four more runs. The Royals got one more run: Eggers hit a lead-off double, then Cole DeWael batted him in. Eggers and DeWael both finished the game with two hits.

Southeastern lost its second game to Plymouth 11-2. The Royals scored one run each in the first two innings. Harrison singled in DeWael for the first score, then Jordan Millikan batted in Caden Ruhnow in the second inning.

Huskies swept by Lewis Cass

Hamilton Heights was swept by Lewis Cass last week in a Hoosier Conference series.

Roth

Heights dropped the first game of the series with 6-2 last Tuesday at the Huskies' field. Both teams got on the board in the fourth inning. Heights scored when Erik Malott led off with a single, then Sam Fulton tripled him home.

But the Kings scored in the next three innings, including three runs in the sixth. The Huskies scored their second run when Lucas Letsinger doubled in Alex Roth.

"We just couldn't get anything going offensively," said Heights coach JR Moffatt. "Rodebaugh is a really good pitcher, he will pitch for the Boilers in West Lafayette next year. We had him in a couple of tough spots and he worked his way out of it. There's a reason he's headed up there."

Malott finished the game with two hits. Fulton pitched five and a third innings, striking out five.

"No shame in losing to a good team and Cass is really good," said Moffatt. "On the flip side I didn't think we fought very hard. We have a couple of kids gone on a school business trip and another that got hurt today and only played a couple of innings, with that, it opens opportunities for other guys. I would think that would create a lot of enthusiasm but for some reason we were just flat."

Heights lost the second game of the series on Wednesday, falling 10-0 in five innings at the Kings' field. With the win, Cass claimed the Hoosier Conference East Division title.

The Huskies had five hits, with Sam Fulton going 2-for-2 and Alex Hewitt hitting a third-inning double.

"Lewis Cass is a good solid veteran team," said Moffatt. "They have a chance to make a tournament run at season's end. They just don't let you breathe, you can't relax or they get you. They hit the ball throughout their lineup."

The 'Hawks got two more runs in the fifth inning, with Speck and Drake Delph getting home after Jake O'Hara reached on error. Speck got on base with a double. In the sixth inning, Spencer hit a sacrifice bunt to get Noland Buckner home, then Smith's sacrifice fly scored Corbin Went.

Big-hitting week sends Millers to three wins

The Noblesville softball team has had a big-hitting week, especially from Ella White. The sophomore hit four home runs - two in each game - during the Millers' wins over Mount Vernon 12-5 last Monday, and Hamilton Southeastern 5-4 last Tuesday. Noblesville then beat Hamilton Heights 6-2 on Friday.

Noblesville and Southeastern were tied at 4-4 going into the bottom of the seventh inning. White was the first to bat, and she wasted no time, hitting a 3-2 pitch over the center field fence. With that, the Millers had a walk-off win.

Both teams scored a run in the first inning. The Royals' Abby Taylor led off with a double, then Jordan Rager singled her home. Noblesville tied the game when Julia Furiak singled in Chloe Tragesser.

Southeastern added three runs in the second inning. Ava Aguilar singled home Libby Ratliff, then Nicole Lang's right field hit got Emma Chase and Aguilar in to score.

White hit her first home run of the game to lead off the third inning, cutting HSE's lead to 4-2. In the fourth inning, Tragesser doubled home two runs, scoring Abigail Harvey and Abby Brown. The score would stay tied at 4-4 until White's second homer.

Tragesser also got two hits. Maddie Taylor pitched a complete game for the win. Aguilar had two hits for the Royals.

On Monday, Noblesville had 17 hits in its victory over Mount Vernon. The first was a big one: White hit a two-run home run in the first inning. Harvey later hit a two-RBI single to score Minett and Kyleigh Lowry.

In the second inning, Minett hit a sacrifice bunt to send Tragesser home. Furiak batted in White; Tragesser and White both hit doubles. Moore singled in Minett, then Harvey batted in Lowry, who was running for Furiak. When the dust settled, the Millers led 8-0.

Noblesville added two runs each in the fourth and the fifth innings. In the fourth, White scored on a passed ball and Harvey singled home Lowry. In the fifth, White hit her second two-run homer of the game.

White finished the game 4-for-5, while Tragesser, Furiak and Harvey all had three hits. Rylie Moore had two hits. Taylor got the pitching win, throwing three innings with five strikeouts.

On Friday, Noblesville pulled away from the Huskies in the later innings to win. The game was moved for the Huskies' field to the Millers' field, but Heights was still listed as the home team.

The Huskies scored the first run in the bottom of the first inning; Hayley Greene singled home Bayleigh Runner. Noblesville got two runs in the top of the third when Rylie Newcomer scored on a passed ball and Lauren DeRolf got home on a wild pitch. Heights tied the game in the bottom of the third, with Greene hitting a sacrifice fly to score Abby Ross.

The Millers got the lead for good in the fourth inning when Taylor doubled in
