State of county's northern communities strong, growing

The REPORTER

Last Thursday, representatives from the Arcadia, Atlanta, Cicero and Sheridan town councils gathered at the Arcadia Town Hall to share with members of the Northern Hamilton County Chamber of Commerce the latest taking place throughout their respective communities.

This timely meeting was conducted during Public Service Recognition Week (PSRW), May 5 to 11. PSRW is a week set aside to recognize the work done by government employees at local, state and federal levels. Those public service workers in attendance were recognized and thanked for their dedicated and invaluable service to their communities and country.

"Public service is more than just a job," said Catharine Heller, Member Services Director for the Northern Hamilton County Chamber of Commerce. "For many public servants it is a calling – a way to contribute to our society every day. Some may not be in one of the highly visible jobs, but we depend on each and every one for their work – from our utility workers, law enforcement and emergency personnel, clerks and assistants that support our towns, to postal workers and armed services personnel to

Fishers looks to future of 5G technology throughout city

By LARRY LANNAN

The Fishers Board of Works and Public Safety approved a nonexclusive agreement with AT&T Monday, allowing the communications giant to install small cell towers, paving the way for 5G technology to be available in the city.

City Attorney Chris Greisl told board members the city will establish an engineering standard and AT&T will attach the 5G small cells to city infrastructure, such as traffic signals, street lights, municipal buildings and park structures. AT&T is looking to begin 5G installations in three areas of downtown Fishers. The city will talk with other 5G providers about similar agreements. The board plans on scheduling a work session later this month to discuss the issue of handling city approvals of 5G small cell installations in residential neighborhoods. Mayor Scott Fadness says he is looking for a healthy discussion at the board's work session. "From our conversations with the utility companies and telecom industry, they do desire to deploy a significant number of these [5G small cells] throughout our community," said Fadness. "Some, more than others, have a strong desire to get into neighborhoods. That decision still resides squarely with the Board of Works."

members followed by an interactive Q&A session.

Serving on the town council for what he describes as a “unique” community for close to four decades, Russell said, “Small town America still exists here. The council is looking to bring in more small businesses to their industrial park to help offset the tax base, partner with groups and organizations to bring more viability to its downtown area and keep a strong voice in the state’s 266th Street Interchange project.”

Russell invited members to attend to annual Christmas Tree Lighting on Saturday, Dec. 7 and stay connected to town happenings and updates at arcadiaindiana.org.

Van Hook was pleased to share that funding was secured for upgrades to the town’s wastewater plant, new home construction is underway at the North Winds subdivision, the new Choo Choo Café is now open, Mid-Indiana Marina is set to expand its operations in Atlanta, and Mr. Muffins Trains and the Nickle Plate Express are bringing in a steady stream of visitors to the area. She also shared that the New Earth Festival, now in its 46th year, is the largest (80,000 to 100,000 attendees), longest-running festival in Hamilton County. Some of the money raised from this weekend-long event is allocated to scholarships at Hamilton Heights. For more on Atlanta visit atlantaindiana.com.

In Cicero, Lutz shared how several state grants have benefitted the community from infrastructure to downtown revitalization. Two model M/I homes are nearing completion in what will become a 268-home subdivision at 236th Street and Tollgate Road. The town is also readying East Jackson Street to ultimately connect to Strawtown Koteewi Park as part of the Northern Hamilton County Trail Master Plan. A new ambulance was recently placed into service; the town is working to offer free Wi-Fi in certain locations; The Boathouse, the town’s newest restaurant, has opened to great reviews; and a new partnership has resulted in higher usage at the local ball park. More on this growing lakeside community can be found at cicero.in.org.

In Sheridan, Kinhead shared that Harbor Homes is building a 385-lot subdivision, the old school is being transformed into 32 apartments on three levels, its wastewater and water utilities were sold in December, the Monon Trail is being expanded, improvements are being made to the two major thoroughfares (State Roads 38 and 47), and the town received a special loan from the USDA for stormwater improvements, to name a few. On the horizon are hopes for a local grocery store, new businesses and continuing to prepare for slow, manageable growth. More information about recent activities in Sheridan can be found at sheridan.org.

All were appreciative for receiving the Indiana Department of Transportation Community Crossing grants, which have made recent infrastructure improvements throughout these communities possible. They also gave a shout out to their colleagues on the councils and the town personnel for their dedication and contributions.

State Representative Tony Cook (R-Cicero) was present and shared a brief update on what he described as an interesting but productive legislative session. Of the 1,300 bills presented, 293 passed. Rep. Cook said he was pleased and honored to be involved in four of the priority bills that passed. The bills included three involving education and one on workforce development. He co-authored a bias crime bill and a veterans bill. Indiana continues to be among the top five business-friendly states in the country. He shared his appreciation to his constituents for their continued input and support, crediting citizen input for two bills that recently passed.

Northern Hamilton County Chamber of Commerce President Wade Wiley commented that it was clear to see that public servants are working very hard on citizens’ behalf from Representative Cook and local councils to all the public personnel in-between.

“Our local government workers truly have the best interests of its community and all those who live here,” said Hamilton Heights Superintendent Dr. Derek Arrowood. “They are the silent heroes in our communities. These men and women are a special breed of individual whose dedication, passion and tireless efforts help make our communities a better place to live, work and play.”

“We are appreciative of the difference these public servants make in our schools and communities every single day,” added Sheridan Middle School Principal Kent Davis.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn’t something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don’t often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we’re breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County. – Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

You can drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, located at 14701 Tom Wood Way. You can also donate directly to Prevail of Central Indiana by visiting Prevailinc.org.

No injuries during small fire at Fishers assisted living facility

At 8:16 p.m. on Sunday, Fishers fire fighters responded to a small fire in a maintenance room at the Meadow Brook Assisted Living facility, 11011 Village Square Lane. With early detection by alarms and a call to 9-1-1 by the alarm company, the fire was quickly put out and residents were sheltered in place without injury. Fire fighters remained on the scene as smoke was cleared from a hallway in one wing. Investigators were on scene to determine cause of fire. Damage is limited to the room of origin with some smoke damage in the hallway. No residents were expected to be displaced.

to Purvis that he was requesting the board to issue subpoenas and hold a full evidentiary hearing in this matter or for the board to ask the county's prosecutor to do it. "Somebody needs to get to the bottom of this," said Weingarten.

Present at the meeting were attorneys Joseph Chappelle, representing Brainard's campaign; Tim DeLaney, representing former Glynn campaign manager Dan Hennessey; and David Brooks, representing Laura Campbell and the Hamilton County Republican Party.

Brooks pointed out inconsistency in what Weingarten had brought to the election board.

"Mr. Weingarten has provided inconsistent testimony; he submitted an article claiming there was this $140,000 number and now it's $40,000," said Brooks. "He says he's talked to Fred Glynn, yet he didn't bother to ask him any questions you need to know. Given that it is hearsay, he didn't ask him (Glynn) to show up and give any evidence at all ... The amount of evidence in front of you at this point is woefully inadequate for you to reach a conclusion that there is a substantial reason to believe that an election law violation has occurred."

Chappelle told Election Board members, "Long-standing Indiana law would be, in an administrative hearing such as this, a decision cannot be based solely on hearsay. The only evidence that has been presented to this body is an article printed in the Carmel Current."

Brooks called Weingarten's complaint frivolous and asked board members Ray Adler, Kathy Williams and Greg Purvis to dismiss the complaint.

Purvis, the only Democrat on the election board, said, "This hearing was not meant to be a full evidentiary hearing. It was my understanding it was to be a probable cause hearing."

Purvis, when referring as to whether the election board should move forward on Weingarten's complaint, said, "I think we risk violating the public's trust. I think we should have a full evidentiary hearing, even if it turns out to be a 'nothing-burger' at the end ... I very much oppose to sweeping this under the rug without having a full evidentiary hearing."

Purvis motioned for the board to conduct a full evidentiary hearing. The motion did not receive a second and died.

After Purvis' motion failed, Election Board President Ray Adler said, "I want to make a comment to the press. The term bribe is a hot button that has nothing to do with anything that happened in this case and I would hope the press would not use that term. It doesn't do anything to add to the academic debate. I think by uniform agreement of the five lawyers in the room it doesn't apply legally."

Williams followed Adler's comments by saying, "I would like to make a motion that we dismiss this complaint due to no probable cause existing at this time." Adler seconded.

The board voted 2-1 not to move forward with Weingarten's complaint, with Purvis voting against Williams' motion.

Carmel's Center for the Performing Arts announces upcoming season

The REPORTER

The Center for the Performing Arts will span the spectrum in its upcoming 2019-20 Center Presents Season sponsored by Allied Solutions, kicking off with more than 40 concerts and other events – including some new concepts – and promising more to come.

Musical highlights include Songbook Series evenings with Johnny Mathis, Rita Moreno, Ben Vereen and Michael Feinstein; a joint appearance by Mary Chapin Carpenter and Shawn Colvin; return visits from soul diva Gladys Knight and country star Trisha Yearwood; jazz from the Brubeck Brothers, Snarky Puppy violinist Zach Brock and the Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra with Wynton Marsalis; and classical sounds from the cutting-edge COLLECTIF9 and premier flute duo Sir James and Lady Galway.

For “something completely different,” Monty Python’s John Cleese will share hilarious anecdotes and observations in quintessential British style, and comedy legends Steve Martin and Martin Short will bring a band of top-notch bluegrass pickers to back their buddy act. Piaf! The Show is an acclaimed multimedia tribute to France’s greatest popular singer. And Napoleon Dynamite stars Jon Heder and Efrén Ramirez will conduct a live Q&A after a screening of the cult classic on the Center’s new HD video system.

President/CEO Jeffrey C. McDermott said the new season builds on the success of the 2018-19 schedule, which has seen 11 sold-out performances at the Palladium and first-time patrons accounting for 50 percent of ticket purchases. The current Center Presents season closes May 29 with neo-soul singer-songwriter India.Arie.

“We’ve done our best to craft a new season that everyone in the community can enjoy,” McDermott said. “In terms of the quality, the variety and the sheer scope of this lineup, I think we will surpass expectations and provide some amazing experiences for the people of Central Indiana.”

Also new this year is the multi-genre Encore Series, with artists to be announced throughout the season. Due to the nature of concert booking cycles, McDermott said, these added performances tend to feature bigger names from the fields of pop, rock, country and comedy.

Subscription packages for the Center’s Classical, Jazz and Songbook Series are on sale now, offering up to 20 percent savings from the regular ticket price, among other perks. Create Your Own Series packages offer similar benefits for the purchase of any four or more performances from the schedule, including Pop/Rock, Country, Holiday, Family and Passport Series events.

Series subscribers also are eligible for:

- Discounts up to 20 percent on other Center Presents performances
- Immediate purchase access to the entire 2019-20 Season, before 2019 single-event sales to the general public begin in August (2020 single-event tickets go on sale in November.)

AG Hill warns of scams while traveling in Indiana

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill is warning Hoosiers and visitors in Indiana to be on the lookout for scams targeting house rentals this Memorial Day Weekend and during the week of the Indianapolis 500 race.

The Consumer Protection Division (CPD) is encouraging vigilance by renters, homeowners and those purchasing tickets to the Indy 500 race.

Hill urged those attending the Indy 500 to be on alert for fraudulent tickets and other scams related to race weekend. High-profile sporting events are prime targets for scammers.

Here are some tips on avoiding ticket scams:

- Buy tickets from a trusted vendor or the official website.
- Only use a credit card to purchase tickets; never use cash or wire money for tickets you've found online.
- Be wary of advertisements with extremely discounted prices. If it seems too good to be true, it probably is.

In addition to ticket scams, those traveling in Indiana should be aware of fake rental listings and always consult Google maps and images to confirm that the rental property you are booking really looks like the photos posted online.

Anyone looking to rent their properties on Memorial Day Weekend should also be on the lookout for scams. The counterfeit check scam is among the most common reported to the CPD. Scammers might contact the homeowner acting as a prospective renter and offer to pay above the listing price, asking the homeowner to transfer any excess amount to a third party. These scammers will provide a counterfeit check, defrauding the homeowner if they agree to forward the excess funds.

The Consumer Protection Division encourages homeowners and prospective renters to follow these steps to avoid rental scams:

- Pay by credit card for all online transactions. If the listing is fake, you can file a dispute with your credit card provider and receive a refund within 90 days.
- Do not open links taking you outside websites you know to be legitimate. Scammers will often email links with payment instructions that take you outside of the payment services of legitimate websites with which you are familiar. This is a phishing attempt to steal credit card information.
- Never pay with gift cards or wire transfers.
- Search the images of posted rentals on images.google.com by clicking the camera icon in the search bar and then pasting the URL of the posted rental image into the search box. Results showing a listing for the same property with a different address may indicate a scam.

Hoosiers are encouraged to contact the Office of the Attorney General about any suspected scams or scam attempts. You can file a complaint by visiting indianaconsumer.com or calling 1-800-382-5516.

Summer concert series kicks off Thursday at Ruoff music center

The REPORTER

Concert season at Ruoff Home Mortgage Music Center starts this week with concerts featuring Slayer on Thursday, May 16 and The Who on Saturday, May 18.

More than 20,000 fans attend some of the more popular concerts creating a rapid, short-lived influx of traffic. Motorists traveling in the area of the concert venue should expect increased traffic, generally beginning about two hours before concert time. Evening concerts usually end between 10:30 and 11 p.m. creating another brief period of traffic congestion.

Access to Hamilton Town Center and other businesses and restaurants as well as traffic at Exit 210 (Campus Parkway) of Internet 69 may be affected by concert traffic. Please note that Greenfield Avenue at Howe Road is currently closed for construction.

Law enforcement is stationed around the music center on concert days to facilitate traffic flow through the area. Please plan to leave early, especially during larger concerts, and practice patience and courtesy during potential traffic congestion. Traffic from the north is encouraged to use State Road 38 and Olio Road or Boden Road.

In addition to deputies and officers assisting with traffic around Ruoff Home Mortgage Music Center, the Hamilton County Traffic Safety Partnership regularly patrols the area to promote traffic safety, especially compliance with Indiana's seatbelt and impaired driving laws. Please remember to buckle up and if using alcohol, do so responsibly.

The Traffic Safety Partnership comprises the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office, Carmel Police, Cicero Police, Fishers Police, Noblesville Police and Westfield Police, along with assistance from the Indiana State Police and the Hamilton County Prosecutor's Office.

Rita Ruth Kallas
May 25, 1932 – May 9, 2019

Rita Ruth Kallas, affectionately known as Ruth, 86, Noblesville, passed away on Thursday, May 9, 2019 at Harbour Manor Care Center in Noblesville. She was born on May 25, 1932 to Lawrence and Eula (Duncan) Wells in Big Stone Gap, Va.

Ruth grew up in Big Stone Gap during the Great Depression. She was the second youngest of nine children, growing up in a tight-knit family with parents who instilled in their children the importance of hard work and the love of family. Ruth's family remained her most treasured possession throughout her life, and she always looked forward to the next meeting or conversation with the people she loved.

After finishing school in Virginia, she moved to Columbus, Ohio, to spread her wings and find her purpose. After working and living in Columbus for a time, her fearless nature and adventurous spirit stirred in her a desire to see more of the world. With her courage in tow and not much else, she made the fateful decision to take a cross-country voyage with her brother Glenn who was in the Marine Corps at the time, stationed in Los Angeles, Calif. It was during this time while living and working in Los Angeles that she met a young Navy Corpsman named George Kallas at a USOC dance. George was stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif., after just returning home from the Korean War.

Ruth and George saw each other as often as they could after that first fateful meeting until George's enlistment ended, and he returned home to Pennsylvania to finish his college degree which had been interrupted by the war. From that point on, a long-distance relationship ensued that ultimately led Ruth to move back east to be closer to George. They were married on June 22, 1957, near Ruth's childhood home in Big Stone Gap and ultimately settled in Erie, Pa., where they welcomed all four of their children into the world. In 1978, George was transferred to Noblesville with his company, GTE, and he and Ruth spent the remainder of their lives as residents of Noblesville.

In life, Ruth was a devoted and loving wife, mother and grandmother, as well as a great-grandmother. She loved taking trips back to her childhood home to see her family in Big Stone Gap – especially in October when the Smoky Mountains were transformed by the changing of the leaves. She also loved the newness of spring when she could pursue her love of gardening, planting her favorite flowers and making her home a beautiful place for others to enjoy. For a time, she worked as a professional floral designer in Noblesville.

But above all else, she enjoyed spending time with her family and was the happiest when she had a baby on her lap or in her arms. She was appreciated by many for her kindness and generosity. She was loved by family and friends alike and was an informal 'mom' to her children's friends as well. She loved them by providing a warm and loving home to all who entered.

Ruth was an excellent cook which she owed to her childhood on the farm and was known for never letting anyone leave her house with an empty stomach. She welcomed more than one needy soul into her home during hard times, and she was a gracious hostess to those who needed a little help, shelter or warmth beneath her roof.

Ruth was a Christian woman, and she practiced her honest Christian values by caring for and supporting those less fortunate. She made monthly donations to multiple children's, homeless and veterans organizations.

Ruth is survived by her daughters, Kimberly Melrose and Carol Kallas; sons, David Kallas and Craig (Elizabeth) Kallas; grandchildren, Melissa (Scott) Cook, Kevin Melrose, Joshua Melrose, Emily (Kevin) Karimi, George Kallas and Blair Kallas; great-grandchildren, Olivia and Rory Cook and Kennedy and Kaden Karimi; and son-in-law, Jeff Melrose. She is also survived by her sisters-in-law, Mary K. Fleming, Greendale, Wis., and Bess K. Martin, DuBois, Pa.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by her husband, George Kallas; and all eight of her beloved siblings.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, May 15, 2019 at Randall & Roberts Fishers Mortuary, 12010 Allisonville Road, Fishers, with visitation from 11 a.m. to the time of service. Andy Baker will officiate. Burial will be at Oaklawn Memorial Gardens in Indianapolis.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint; Saying, There was in a city a judge, which feared not God, neither regarded man: And there was a widow in that city; and she came unto him, saying, Avenge me of mine adversary. And he would not for a while: but afterward he said within himself, Though I fear not God, nor regard man; Yet because this widow troubleth me, I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me. And the Lord said, Hear what the unjust judge saith. And shall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night unto him, though he bear long with them? I tell you that he will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless when the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?

Girls track and field sectional

Royals win fourth in a row, seven schools get individual champs

By RICHIE HALL
FISHERS - This year's edition of the Hamilton Southeastern girls track and field sectional was arguably one of the more balanced sectionals on record.

The athletes at the event performed accordingly, with great performances from all of the competing schools. That included individual sectional champions from seven different schools.

In the team standings, the host Royals won again, using their solid depth to score 143 points. This marks the fourth straight sectional title for Southeastern, its longest streak of consecutive wins. Overall, HSE has won 13 team sectional championships.

Southeastern won the most individual events with seven, including two in record time. Senior Tierra Sydnor was part of both new records: She set a new mark while winning the long jump, breaking her own record with an effort of 18 feet, 8.5 inches. At the conclusion of the meet, Sydnor joined Olivia Burgess, Mya Hammons and Regan Wans to claim the 4x400 relay. The Royals team finished the race in 3 minutes, 54.72 seconds, beating a record that had stood for 15 years.

"It was our goal tonight to run 3:53, and I think we came close to it, so I'm pretty happy about that," said Sydnor. The team will have another chance to reach that mark next Tuesday at the Lafayette Jefferson regional. All top three finishers automatically qualify for the regional, along with anyone who meets or betters the state standard in an event. Several runners from all county schools are likely to get callbacks to the regional as well.

Sydnor finished with three event wins, also placing first in the 300 hurdles.

The freshman Wans also picked up an individual win, taking the 400 dash. Maddie Mirro paced the 800 run, while Lulu Black ran away with the 3200 run. Mirro and Black were also part of the first-place 4x800 relay, joining Annice McFarland and Ellie Pedersen.

Southeastern's 4x100 relay finished second, with Olivia Burgess, Mya Hammons, Sydnor and Alyssa Barker running under the state standard time. Other top three finishers (and regional qualifiers) for the Royals are Barker in the 100 and 200 dashes, Burgess in the 200 dash, Halle Hill in the 1600 run, Kennedy Drish in the pole vault and Jehnea Mirro in the long jump.

"Plenty on to regionals, lots of good spots there," said HSE coach Julie Alano. "800, Maddie Mirro did well. 200, we went 2-3, those two are both running well. Just lots of good spots. We like to have someone score in every event. We didn't quite do that tonight like we did last week, but still a good night."

In addition, Ella Wilhelm finished fifth in the pole vault, but her vault of 11-2 was right on the state standard, giving her a ticket to the regional next week.

"We knew she could, it was just getting it together," said Alano. "I think the weather helped tonight, too. Great weather, and so they both cleared."

Fishers finished in second place as a team, scoring 110.5 points. Freshman phenom Ella Scally led the way, winning three events.

Scally was first in the 100 and 200 dashes, then joined Myah Donaldson, Gabrielle Lewis and Grace May to take the 4x100 relay. Scally also advanced in the long jump, placing second.

Other regional qualifiers for the Tigers are Teresa Kraft in the 3200, Katie Folta and Arianna Kelley in the 300 hurdles, the 4x800 relay team of Abigail Carter, Vera Schafer, Emma Gillespie and Elizabeth Barrett, and Allison Casey in the pole vault. Fishers is likely to get several callbacks as well.

"Things went really well," said Tigers coach Andrew Belloli. The coach said Scally "had another outstanding night," as she totaled over 30 points.

"On the track, almost everyone had an amazing day," said Belloli.

Noblesville had an amazing day as well, placing third with 90 points. Shelby Tyler led the way for the Millers, dominating the high jump and finishing second in the pole vault.

Tyler won the high jump with a leap of 5-11, nine inches higher than second place. After that, Tyler went 11-6 in the pole vault - "I think that's the fifth time I've tied my PR," said Tyler. Western Boone's Grace Huckstep won that event with an 11-10 vault; both easily cleared the state standard.

"The goal was to get out of the sectional in both events, which I did," said Tyler. "But I'm also reaching for those higher heights just to prepare me for higher competition."

Noblesville had several regional qualifiers, and a few more should get callbacks as well. Also advancing to Lafayette are Maria Anderson in the 400, Lindsey Wormuth in the 100 hurdles, the 4x400 team of Anderson, DeLaney Boles, Bella Sharples-Gordon and Noelle Dennis, and the 4x800 team of Anderson, Sharples-Gordon, Aubrie Deal and Anna Hazelrigg.

Carmel placed fourth with 84 points. Phoebe Bates had another solid outing for the Greyhounds, winning in the 1600 run and placing second in the 3200 run.

Other Carmel athletes advancing on to the regional are Riley Pennington in the 100 dash, Emersen Carlisle in the 400 dash, Olivia Elkin in the 100 hurdles, the 4x100 relay team of Aaliyah Thompson, Pennington, Kiara Gill and Flora McKay, and the 4x400 relay team of Abbey Grogan, Thompson, Abby Kaufman, Mahalet Zeruesenay. The Greyhounds should also get some callbacks as well.

Hamilton Heights and Lebanon tied for fifth place with 47 points each. Maria Mitchell tied for second in the 800 and 1600 runs, while Kelsie Smith finished third in the high jump, all ensuring a spot at regionals. A handful of Huskies are also likely to get callbacks.

Westfield scored 43 points and had two sectional champions. Senior Zoe Pentecost won the shot put with a personal best of 39-4, and also placed second in the discus, advancing her to the regional in both events. Pentecost beat the state standard in the discus with a throw of 125-9.

"It feels really good," said Pentecost. "I've put in a lot of work and been consistent for a while, and having a breakthrough feels really good."

Haley Boehm cruised to victory in the 100 hurdles, finishing over a second ahead of second place. The Rocks are likely to get callbacks as well.

Sheridan scored 22.5 points, with Becca Merritt leading the way. The junior won the discus event, breaking her own school record again with a throw of 141-10 - over 16 feet above the state standard.

Merritt also placed second in the shot put, so she heads to regional in both events.

"I think threw very, very well," said

Merritt. "I surpassed my goals that I've made this year three times."

Heather Barker finished fourth in the high jump, but her effort of 4-10 could get her a callback.

Guerin Catholic scored 20 points. Ellie Schroeder placed third in the 800 run, giving her a spot at the regional.

Shamrocks pick up two big victories

Westfield scored a pair of good wins to start the week.

Webster

The Shamrocks sailed to a 12-3 win Monday at Kokomo. Westfield scored three runs in the top of the first inning and never trailed.

Bryce Dorton and Tyler Smitherman each had three hits, with Smitherman batting in six runs, including a pair of two-run singles. Trey Anderson and Maximus Webster both had two hits. AJ Bunnell pitched two innings for the win.

Shamrocks coach Ryan Bunnell said his team did a good job of putting good at-bats together after a tough loss Friday against Hamilton Southeastern.

"It isn't an easy thing to rebound after a disappointing loss, and our guys did a nice job of that tonight," said Bunnell.

Westfield beat Avon 2-0 in a Tuesday Hoosier Crossroads Conference game. The Shamrocks scored a run in the first inning when Smitherman singled in Dorton, then got another run in the sixth inning when Jack Lawrence's left field hit got Payton Tamm home. Lawrence had two hits.

Parker Bard struck out 10 in four and a third innings for the win. Mason Cox got the save.

"Parker Bard and Mason Cox gave us great outings on the mound," said Bunnell. "Bard did a great job battling without having his best stuff, he still made big pitches he just wasn't as efficient as he has been. Mason gave us another outstanding relief appearance. He's done such a nice job coming out of the pen for us, fills up the zone when we need it."

Westfield is 8-5 in HCC play and travels to Avon today for its conference finale. First pitch is at 6 p.m. A win will keep the Shamrocks in contention for the HCC championship. Westfield is 12-8 overall.
