Forgiveness is a decision

Oh the places you'll go ...

But you need to leave the ugly baggage behind. In other words, forgive and forget.

Wait ... can you seriously forget? The truth is ... no.

We remember the words, over and over.

Our hearts will never forget them and we are never the same.

We were made to feel like we were not enough. We believed in someone. We took them at their word.

A friend. A spouse. A boss. A pastor. Family.

Betrayal has many looks, none of which are pretty.

"I'm sorry," no matter how sincere, does not erase the hurt.

Promises are broken. Words cut to the quick of the tenderest places in our heart.

You say, "But Janet you don't understand!"

Hold my coffee!

Oh, but I do. My heart has the scars and my mind has the memories.

So how do we move on? When can we begin to even consider forgiveness?

What if the person never asks for forgiveness? What do we do with that?

Forgiving someone never means what they did was okay. It wasn't. Read that again.

The truth is that forgiveness is not so much about the offender but the offended.

Forgiveness is making the decision that what they said or did will not define us. We will no longer allow it to wake us up in the morning or tuck us into bed at night.

Forgiveness is a decision we make over and over until we realize what was done to us does not consume us.

Is it ever easy? Well, it hasn't been for me. I've had a few not-so-church-lady-like thoughts.

Sometimes forgiveness has taken years for me to complete. There were times that anger would show up out of nowhere. I would have to remind myself that I would no longer allow someone to control my thoughts and feelings.

I would remember how far I had come. I would tell myself ... nope, not going there.

I remember reading that forgiveness allows you to let go of something you were never meant to carry.

Over the years forgiveness has been given quicker because I know that life is too short to waste my time and effort on people or things I cannot change.

I've even been able to pray for them. Oh yes, let's just say that was way down the road on my journey. Way down.

And oh, the places I've gone. Let's just say that I've gotten new luggage and I've packed it well. The load is lighter and makes traveling through life much easier ... and happier.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County. - Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

You can drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, located at 14701 Tom Wood Way. You can also donate directly to Prevail of Central Indiana by visiting Prevailinc.org.

I love you, mom!

Editor's Note: The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School's 10th grade English class, taught by Abby Williams.

she wishes she could've had what I have when she was younger, she still gives so unselfishly.

My mom is the best mother ever! She has taught me many life lessons and raised me to be the best version of myself. I love her so much! She has always been there for me when it seemed like no one was there. Not only did she provide me with materialistic wants but also with lessons I will remember and live by my entire life. I am so lucky to have her in my life and to be able to call her mom.

My mother also teaches me all the skills I need to grow up and be a sophisticated, independent woman. For starters, I hated cooking when I was younger! But over time my mom made me watch her cook and help mix things together. Now, even though cooking is still not my favorite, I know how to cook for myself and how to make a meal out of whatever is in the fridge (which will come in handy in college!).

Among of one the most important lessons my mom taught me is to love myself. There have been many times when I have run to her crying. She is always standing there with open arms and the best advice. She tells me that I should never cry over someone who does nothing in my life other than make me sad. She tells me it's not possible for someone else to love me if I can't love myself. I love my mom for always believing in me even when I don't believe in myself.

Most importantly, I love my mom for being the greatest, most beautiful mom there is in the world. I'm sure many people feel this way about their mothers, but I truly believe she is one of the best. My mom is my best friend! I know that when I grow up I will remember all of the lessons she taught me and all the memories we have together. When I have children, I will strive to be a mother just like mine! I simply cannot believe I was blessed with just a great mother. Mom, if you're reading this, just know I will never stop loving you and I will try my best to be the best daughter in your eyes. <3

White River Vision Plan unveiling kicks off week-long celebration

The REPORTER

The White River Vision Plan will be unveiled during a press conference at 9 a.m. on June 3, in the Indianapolis Art Center, followed by a week of celebratory events and activities along the White River in Indianapolis and Hamilton County. The final plan is a community-driven effort led by the City of Indianapolis, Visit Indy and Hamilton County Tourism, Inc. along with many other partner organizations to determine enhancements for 58 miles of the White River.

The White River Vision Plan kicked off in May 2018 and included 12 months of research, discovery and development by core team members from Agency Landscape + Planning, RATIO Architects, DAVID RUBIN Land Collective, Applied Ecological Services, Engaging Solutions, Heritage Strategies, HR&A, Land Story and Christopher B. Burke Engineering.

Community members and residents also played an imperative role in shaping the plan by participating in interactive online surveys and attending nearly a dozen community feedback meetings.

The final plan will highlight areas along the river slated for new destinations, recreational assets, restoration and preservation. Areas were chosen based on ecological, economic, historical and cultural significance and important nearby neighborhoods.

To celebrate the release of the White River Vision Plan, a series of activities and events will take place June 3 through 7. Click here for a detailed list of events, including times, dates and locations.

"We are excited to unveil this historic plan which will include community feedback that has been genuinely included into the plan," said Emily Mack, director of the Department of Metropolitan Development for the City of Indianapolis. "The process has made the bond between Marion and Hamilton counties even stronger and has opened our eyes to the possibilities when communities come together for a common purpose."

"The White River has now become part of everyday planning through this project and the dedication of the consulting team," said Hamilton County Tourism, Inc. President and CEO Brenda Myers. "The focus to make this a community-based initiative cannot be understated and the authenticity and inclusiveness shown during this process is unparalleled to other projects that came before it."

Plan extra time, know before you go for holiday weekend traffic

The REPORTER

Though the weather hasn't always felt like it, summer is right around the corner. Memorial Day weekend traditionally marks the ceremonial start to summer as travel season ramps up. Whether you're attending the Indianapolis 500, va-tioning, visiting family and friends or just passing through, INDOT urges drivers to plan extra travel time, to stay informed on road conditions and to drive safely.

Road work suspended

Where possible, highway maintenance activities and construction projects will halt work during the holiday weekend to increase mobility and safety. INDOT directs its contractors to pull back barriers and barricades to the safest extent possible to accommodate the anticipated increase in holiday travel. Some restrictions and reduced speed limits will remain in place due to ongoing road construction, including:

Northern Indiana

- On I-94 in Lake County, the ramp connecting to northbound I-65 remains closed.

- On I-65 in Lake County, traffic is one lane in each direction on the bridge over Central Avenue, north of I-94.

- On I-65 in Lake County, traffic is two lanes in each direction between U.S. 30 and U.S. 231.

- 101st Avenue remains closed over I-65 in Lake County.

- Bridge work on SR 49 has lanes closed in Porter County from U.S. 30 to Division Road.

- In LaPorte County, traffic is one lane each direction east-west at the SR 2 and U.S. 20 intersection, which is closed to north-south traffic.

- The U.S. 35 bridge in downtown La Porte is one lane in each direction.

- U.S. 30 is one lane in each direction at SR 17 in Marshall County.

- SR 23 is one lane controlled by a temporary signal at the bridge over Potato Creek in St. Joseph County.

- On I-69:
  - In Grant County, lane restrictions and crossovers between mile marker 263-271 in both directions with no northbound re-entry at SR 18 (mile marker 264).

- In Allen County, lanes closed for bridge work between mile markers 300 and 310.

- In Steuben County, lanes closed at mile marker 340 with lane shifts at mile 345.

Central Indiana

- Watch for brief lane closures on I-74 between Waynetown and Crawfordsville for bridge construction, between mile markers 25-39 in Montgomery County.

- There will be NO construction work after noon on Friday in Central Indiana. Crews will be off the Indianapolis interstates the entire weekend. No lane restrictions or closures will be in place.

Know Before You Go

Motorists can learn about highway work zones and other traffic alerts at indot.car-sprogram.org, 1-800-261-ROAD (7623) or 511 from a mobile phone or by using the INDOT mobile app.

Indy 500 Traffic

Race fans driving to Indianapolis 500 festivities this weekend should plan their routes to the track and designate a sober driver home. The Indianapolis Motor Speedway provides directions, transportation options and general race information at this link.

INDOT traffic management staff will be on duty during the race, monitoring traffic cameras and congestion, coordinating with law enforcement, and posting information to dynamic message signs. INDOT's Hoosier Helpers freeway service patrol sponsored by State Farm will assist all weekend in keeping traffic flowing.

On Sunday, May 26, INDOT encourages through travelers to avoid race traffic on I-465 and I-65 on the west side of Indianapolis.

Drive safely

The Indiana State Police and local law-enforcement agencies are participating in the national Click It or Ticket mobilization through June 2. Officers are joining thousands of law enforcement agencies across the country in conducting high-visibility patrols encouraging drivers and passengers to buckle up.

Seat belts save lives. In 2017 alone, seat belts saved an estimated 15,000 lives. If all passenger vehicle occupants age 5 and older had worn their seat belts that same year, it's estimated another 2,500 lives could have been saved.

Overtime police patrols are paid with National Highway Traffic Safety Administration funds administered by the Indiana Criminal Justice Institute (ICJI).

The REPORTER

1840 – William Henry Harrison launched his campaign for President at the Tippecanoe Battlefield near Lafayette. More than 30,000 supporters attended the festivities, which included bands, floats, speeches, songs, refreshments and the introduction of the slogan, "Tippecanoe and Tyler, Too." The event set the tone and style of most future presidential campaigns.

1851 – The Indiana State Board of Agriculture was organized, with Governor Joseph Wright as president. Members began making plans for the first Indiana State Fair, which would be held in October of the following year.

1910 – Orville and Wilbur Wright visited the Indianapolis Motor Speedway to make plans for a six-day aerial show coming up in June. The brothers brought several of their "flying machines" to the show, and one of their pilots, Walter Brookins, set an altitude record of 4,928 feet.

1918 – Herb Shriner was born in Toledo, Ohio. As he often stated, his family "moved to Indiana as soon as they heard about it." He grew up in Fort Wayne and became a radio and TV personality. He played the harmonica and told homespun tales of small town life in the Hoosier State. Popular nationwide, he was often compared to Will Rogers. His sons, Will and Kin, also went into show business.

1949 – WFBM went on the air as the first television station in Indiana. Broadcasting on Channel 6, the first day's programming included live coverage of the Indianapolis 500 Mile Race. The station continues today as WRTV.

1977 – Janet Guthrie became the first woman to drive in the Indianapolis 500 Mile Race. An aerospace engineer from the University of Michigan, she was also the first woman to drive in the Dayton 500. She qualified for three Indy 500 races, with a best finish of ninth in 1978.

AG Curtis Hill joins coalition in support of disabled veterans' student loan forgiveness

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill on Friday joined a group of 52 attorneys general in urging the U.S. Department of Education (DOE) to automatically forgive the student loans of veterans who became totally and permanently disabled in connection with their military service. The bipartisan coalition issued its letter as the country prepares to honor fallen troops on Memorial Day.

Last year the DOE identified more than 42,000 veterans as eligible for student loan relief due to a service-related total and permanent disability. Fewer than 9,000 of those veterans had applied to have their loans discharged by April 2018 and more than 25,000 had student loans in default.

The letter calls on the DOE to develop a process to automatically discharge the student loans of veterans determined by the Department of Veterans Affairs to be eligible for such relief. While the automatic discharge process is in development, the letter proposes the DOE should halt debt collection efforts targeting disabled veterans and clear their credit reports of any negative reporting related to their student loans.

"The men and women who have risked their lives to serve our country deserve the best care because of their service," Hill said. "If a veteran is no longer able to pay their student loans due to a disability obtained while in service, they should under no circumstance be required to pay back student loans."

Under federal law, the DOE is required to discharge the federal student loans of veterans determined by the Department of Veterans Affairs to be unemployable (or totally and permanently disabled) due to a service-connected condition. Although the DOE currently requires disabled veterans to take affirmative steps to apply for a loan discharge, those steps are not required by federal law.

The attorneys general note that the federal government has taken some steps to make it easier for eligible veterans to secure student loan relief. According to their letter, however, an automatic discharge process that gives individual veterans an opportunity to opt out for personal reasons "would eliminate unnecessary paperwork burdens and ensure that all eligible disabled veterans can receive a discharge."

The letter supporting automatic student loan discharges for totally and permanently disabled veterans received support from enough attorneys general to become formal policy of the National Association of Attorneys General. This designation is reserved for letters and comments supported by at least 36 Attorneys General.

"Proposals for automatic discharges with opt-out rights have bipartisan support in Congress and among leading veterans' advocacy organizations," the letter states. The veterans groups supporting such proposals have included: Vietnam Veterans for America, Veterans Education Success, The Retired Enlisted Association, High Ground Advocacy, and Ivy League Veterans Council.

The letter closes by urging the DOE to "take action to better protect those who once protected the nation. Our veterans deserve nothing less."

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And some of the Pharisees from among the multitude said unto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples. And he answered and said unto them, I tell you that, if these should hold their peace, the stones would immediately cry out. And when he was come near, he beheld the city, and wept over it, Saying, If thou hadst known, even thou, at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! but now they are hid from thine eyes. For the days shall come upon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and keep thee in on every side, And shall lay thee even with the ground, and thy children within thee; and they shall not leave in thee one stone upon another; because thou knewest not the time of thy visitation. And he went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought; Saying unto them, It is written, My house is the house of prayer: but ye have made it a den of thieves. And he taught daily in the temple. But the chief priests and the scribes and the chief of the people sought to destroy him, And could not find what they might do: for all the people were very attentive to hear him.

The Hamilton Heights softball team gathers around home plate to congratulate Hayley Greene (right) after she hit a two-run home run during the Huskies' sectional game with Yorktown Saturday at the Heights' field. The Huskies rallied to tie the game after being down 5-0 before the Tigers won 8-7.

Huskies rally before falling to Yorktown in sectional final

Hamilton Heights hosted the softball Sectional 24 championship game Saturday morning, and it turned out to be a microcosm of the Huskies' season.

Heights found itself down early to Yorktown, but rallied to tie the game by the sixth inning. The Huskies were then in a position to win with the bases loaded in the seventh inning, but the Tigers were able to hold off Heights 8-7 to win the sectional title.

First-year Huskies coach Ken Olovich said this Thursday night, but repeated it on Saturday: "We battled back all year long. We were 1-11 and we battled back to winning 10 of our last 14."

Yorktown led 5-0 going into the bottom of the fifth inning, which is when Heights scored three runs. Faith Hittle got hit by a pitch, then moved to third on Bayleigh Runner's base hit. Alayna Baber hit a right field sacrifice fly to bring in Hittle. That brought up Hayley Green, and she smacked a home run over the center field fence, getting the Huskies within 5-3.

The Tigers scored two runs in the top of the sixth to jump ahead 7-3, then got two outs on Heights. But the Huskies rallied again, tying the game at 7-7. Alayna Baber drew a bases-loaded walk to bring Hittle home again, then Greene's walk scored Sydney Buffum. Adyson Baber singled in Runner, then Belle Neiling hit a single to score Kylie Woodriddle, who was running for Alayna Baber.

"This game here, we were down 5-0, we could've quit," said Olovich. "We don't do that."

In the seventh inning, Yorktown again jumped on top by scoring a run. Heights loaded the bases with two outs: Hittle was walked to lead off the inning, then moved to second on Runner's base hit. Alayna Baber drew a walk to move Hittle to third and Runner to second, but the Tigers got a strikeout to finish the game.

"From where we are at 1-11 to perhaps one pitch away from winning the sectionals, I'm pretty happy with these girls," said Olovich.

Adyson Baber had three hits for the Huskies, while Runner got two hits. Heights finished its season 10-16, and while it graduates seniors Adyson Baber and Lia Williams, that means everyone else returns for next year's team.

"We're going to be something to deal with next year," said Olovich.
