County jail overcrowding solved Carmel's Music on the Monon moves to the Gazebo tonight

Hamilton County held a ribbon cutting for its expansion of the county's current jail Friday morning.

The $13.5 million project added over 100 beds and allows for future expansions as needed. The jail was built 25 years ago to hold 296 inmates. It currently holds nearly 400 inmates.

"We are adding 126 beds in this facility," Sheriff Dennis Quakenbush told The Reporter. "As of today, we have a little over 400 inmates. This will put us at a 537-bed capacity. We have the ability to add capacity in the future if we need to, but there are no current plans to in the works."

A change in state law in 2016 added to the county's woes. House Bill 1006 requires lower-level felons to serve their terms in county jails rather than state prisons.

Quakenbush said there are multiple reasons this project, which was begun under Sheriff Mark Bowen, was necessary.

"The two primary factors are the exploding growth and success of Hamilton County – the number of people coming here over the last 20 years – and those prisoners who would be housed at the state level, due to House Bill 1006, are now being housed here in our facility," Quakenbush said.

While 537 beds may sound like a large number, relative to other parts of Indiana, that is a low number. Hamilton County Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt said he is proud of how small the county jail is, relative to the population of Hamilton County.

"For a county of this size the inmate population is very low," Heirbrandt told The Reporter. "When I travel all 92 counties throughout the state for my regular job, I look at the size of this jail, which was at 296 beds before the expansion. Having a population of almost 300k – that's efficiency at its best!"

Heirbrandt and Bowen both credit collaboration between various agencies as key to keeping crime low in the community.

"I think a lot of it is the collaboration between the commissioners, the Sheriff's Office, the prosecutor and the judges all working together to make this happen," Heirbrandt said.

"The probation department and community corrections obviously play a big part in that," Bowen said. "Hamilton County is blessed to be able to have a good working relationship with all of those entities to try to do the right thing and make sure we are serving folks' needs and taking care of the underlying issues that need to be dealt with when it comes to making sure we are getting them on the right track and getting them the help that they need to try to prevent them from having to go to jail."

When asked about the challenges law enforcement faces in keeping the crime rate, and thus the inmate population so low, Bowen pointed to the secondary effects of

 Hamilton County Commissioners Mark Heirbrandt, Christine Altman and Steve Dillinger cut the ribbon on Phase I of the Lowe's Way project in near perfect unison.

Commissioners cut traffic woes, now you can get there from here

The REPORTER

Motorists in and around US 31 and 146th Street now have a traffic fix that should make getting to and from the area easier.

This project began seven years ago with a call from then newly sworn-in Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt. During the ceremony, Altman told the crowd that Heirbrandt had been stuck in traffic on Smokey Row Road and called her, saying he'd found a serious problem the commissioners needed to fix. Now, after innovative financing and cooperation from INDOT, the city of Carmel and Hamilton County, driving in this area just became a great deal less frustrating.

Hamilton County officials held a ribbon cutting on Friday at a new ramp that will allow motorists to access southbound Keystone Parkway from 146th Street by traveling south on Lowe's Way.

Back in 2002, the county constructed a northbound off ramp from Keystone Parkway to 146th Street via Lowe's Way, but improvements to US 31 between Interstate 465 and State Road 38 eliminated access to US 31/Keystone Parkway from Greyhound Pass, forcing motorists to use a more circuitous route. The first phase of this construction project will fix that.

"The long and short of it is you can't get there from here," said Hamilton County Commissioner Christine Altman. "For years motorists have had to find work-arounds to get where they're going. This project will give them a straight shot to southbound Keystone."

Phase I of this project also connects the northbound Keystone Parkway ramp from 136th Street to the northbound Keystone ramp to Lowe's Way/146th Street and changes the existing signal at the entrance to Lowe's Way to a roundabout.

The Indiana Department of Transportation and the Indianapolis Metropolitan Planning Organization foot nearly half the cost of the $10 million project. Hamilton County covered the remaining cost with local TIF funds.

Phase II of the project is scheduled to start next month and should be complete in June of next year. It will connect the new ramp constructed in Phase I with a roundabout at Range Line Road which will create a new connection for motorists wanting to drive east or west between Range Line Road, Keystone Parkway, and Lowe's Way.

Fishers Council Connect centers on transportation, economic development

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryinFishers.com

The Fishers City Council Connect meeting on Wednesday saw its largest crowd since the sessions began earlier this year, with more than 20 people gathering at the Reserve in the Hamilton Trace complex, a senior citizens residential facility.

Council President Rich Block and Vice President Eric Moeller answered questions from the audience for about 90 minutes. Transportation and economic development issues took center stage, but one central issue was the lack of an up-to-date printed map of the City of Fishers. The councilmen promised to look into that.

There were a number of senior citizens on hand and they asked about Fishers' status as a senior-friendly city. AARP announced in early 2018 the naming of Fishers as Indiana's first age-friendly city.

One citizen asserted that Fishers motorists' behavior is not good, with speeding a regular thing along main arteries such as 116th Street. The councilman pointed to the recent actions standardizing neighborhood speed limits at 25 mph. They promised to raise awareness of the speeding on main streets with the police department.

On the transportation issue, the councilmen said the bus running during rush hours between Fishers and downtown Indianapolis several years ago had plenty of ridership when gasoline prices edged up to $4 a gallon, but when prices went down to near $2.50 a gallon ridership declined to the point where the bus operation was canceled. The city will continue to study mini-transit operations to navigate within the city if that becomes feasible.

Questions were raised about a developer buying homes just west of the Chatham Tap restaurant along 116th Street, with development possible but none announced at this time. Councilman Block responded that those homeowners received a very good price when selling those homes, and added all that property is not now within the Fishers city limits.

Another Council Connect session will be scheduled during July or August, with the date, time and place to be named later.

the drug problem. “For Hamilton County, like most counties across the state it is theft and burglary,” Bowen said. “Often what we are seeing is the systemic issue with the opioid and drug epidemic. People are stealing from each other in order to support the habits.”

Heirbrandt said another part of the low crime rate is found in Hamilton County’s focus on rehabilitation.

“We do a really good job of identifying some of the inmates who get in here who, even if they go through community corrections, need help with job placement,” Heirbrandt said. “Some lose their jobs because of this [incarceration]. We work with them and try to get them back into society.”

The jail expansion includes five cell pods with 38 prefabricated steel cells consisting of two and four-man cells. The expansion also includes an interior recreation area, classroom and medical support area. Existing space within the old jail will be designed to accommodate dining space for community corrections participants. Construction began in April 2018. Inmates will be moved to the new facility on July 8.

The jail expansion is powered by the solar project.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County. - Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

You can drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, located at 14701 Tom Wood Way. You can also donate directly to Prevail of Central Indiana by visiting Prevailinc.org.

Shaffer breaks down costs of Monon Trail amenities

Dear Editor:
The summer sun beating down on Carmel's $34 million Monon bike and jogging trail upgrades won't bother many folks. Thoughtful City Hall spendthrifts are installing two benches for $1.2 million and five umbrellas for $23,500. Comfortably seated and shaded Carmelaks will enjoy fun stuff projected on a video screen and wall structure costing $584,500. All of this thanks to the profligate politician's $139.8 million 2016 lease rental bonds. How lease rental will be generated by benches and umbrellas is yet to be reported.

Letter to the Editor

Good: "Couldn't disagree more" with former Treasurer employee

Dear Editor:
This letter was originally sent on April 8 to the Indy Star, in response to their April 4 article about the lawsuit against the Hamilton County Treasurer. The Star never printed my response. Prompted by the Hamilton County Reporter's June 27 article, I submit my original response to The Reporter with an additional postscript.
Fellow taxpayers, you and I have reasonable expectations of accuracy and accountability that some current and former employees of the Hamilton County Treasurer's Office find offensive. Recently, a fired former employee publicly expressed that mistakes, like misapplying your tax payments, are no big deal.
I couldn't disagree more.
When mistakes lead to a taxpayer's property being wrongfully sold in a tax sale, I find that a big deal and the former employee's comment reprehensible. Some current employees complained in the paper about "unreasonable demands for promptness and accuracy." Apparently, showing up to work on time and accurate tracking of your tax payments is just too demanding on them.
While I am not a defendant in the legal action taken against Hamilton County, you may have noticed that I am the target of spurious allegations. I will not succumb to bullying tactics and sacrifice your performance expectations for the convenience of a few.

Never in my 30 years of employment with the Treasurer's Office, including two terms as Treasurer, have I found such disregard for integrity and such a callous attitude toward your property as was displayed by former and current employees in the public comments they made in the newspapers.
In conclusion, fellow taxpayers, I pledge to do whatever I can in my capacity as chief deputy to continue enforcement of the state mandated internal controls of our office. Whatever resistance I face, it will not deter me from insisting on the highest quality of customer service that you've come to expect. Whatever personal attacks I am besieged with, I will handle behind the scenes. As far as public assaults on your rights as taxpayers, I will not let them go unchecked.
P.S. It was Ms. Byer who accepted a late payment from a county employee and gave it to another employee to post as on time. She got caught and is apparently trying to deflect her actions onto her supervisors.

The REPORTER

Deer hunters can sign up for the chance to hunt on land owned by participating landowners with the new Deer Hunt Registry system administered by DNR's Division of Fish & Wildlife.

The Deer Hunt Registry connects deer hunters with landowners, golf courses, parks, land trusts, farmers and communities. The registry will provide interested parties with a list of hunters in the area willing to help.

Hunters will be able to sign up for the chance to hunt starting Monday, July 1.

The Deer Hunt Registry system is replacing the former Hunters Helping Farmers program and incorporating the Community Hunter Access Program (CHAP). Click here to learn more about CHAP.

Please note that signing up on the Deer Hunt Registry does not guarantee additional hunting opportunities or placement in a managed hunt.

For more information or to sign up, see on.IN.gov/deerhuntregistry.

Apply for reserved hunt

Also starting July 1, hunters can apply online for a reserved hunt at on.IN.gov/reservedhunt.

The online method is the only way to apply. Applicants must possess a hunting license valid for the hunt for which they are applying. Applications must be completed by the application deadline.

Hunters will be selected through a random computerized drawing. A link to view drawing results will be posted at on.IN.gov/reservedhunt within two weeks after application deadlines. An email will be sent to applicants when results are posted. Applications for the following hunt open July 1:

• Dove Hunt Draw: Application must be completed by July 29. Applicants may select desired date and property. TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Now upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulchre, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them. And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre. And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus. And it came to pass, as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments: And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spake unto you when he was yet in Galilee, Saying, The Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again. And they remembered his words, And returned from the sepulchre, and told all these things unto the eleven, and to all the rest. It was Mary Magdalene and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women that were with them, which told these things unto the apostles. And their words seemed to them as idle tales, and they believed them not.

Luke 24:1-11 (KJV)

Dorothy Helen White

November 28, 1923 – June 26, 2019

Dorothy Helen White peacefully went home to be with Jesus on Wednesday, June 26, 2019 at Wellbrooke of Westfield. Born November 28, 1923 in Tipton County, she was the daughter of Clinnie C. and Stella M. (Johnson) Watson.

On October 26, 1941 she wed Wayne Eugene White in Holy Matrimony at the East Union Christian Church. They were married 67 years before his passing in 2009. Both were lifelong members of East Union.

Dorothy was a lifelong devoted wife and mother. She was a housewife and also worked as a beautician in her home. For many years she assisted in the Kokomo office of Donald W. White DDS. She always greeted people at the office as family and as if she had known them forever.

A devoted Christian, Dorothy lived her life as an example to others, her passion was people and she loved her church family. Dorothy was a very social person and never met a stranger. She strove to find the good in everyone she knew and met. She always had a smile and kind word. She also loved to travel and was blessed to travel to most every state in the U.S.A. as well as Europe and the Caribbean. Her other loves were gospel music and reading.

Dorothy is survived by her two children and daughter-in-law, Sonja Kay White, Dr. Donald Wayne White and his wife Carolyn. She was preceded in death by both parents and five siblings, Max, Chester, Woodrow, Lawson and Stella Crowder.

Special thanks are made to our dear friend Rebecca Rice who so selflessly gave of her time to sit with Dorothy following her stroke in 2013. Words cannot express our love and thanks.

Additionally, the family wishes to thank Dr. Michael Harper of Tipton for his many years of caring for mom as her personal physician, the staff of Wellbrooke of Westfield for the care provided to our mother during her residence. The names of staff are far too great to mention. Also to the staff of Heart to Heart Hospice, especially Trish, Stephanie, Audrey and Chaplin Chris. Your compassion and care of mom went above and beyond.

Quoting from 1 Corinthians 13:12-13, "For now we see only a reflection as in a mirror; then we shall see face to face. Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I am fully known. And now these three remain: faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love."

Dorothy loved as Christ loved. May we all remember her love for us and love as she and Christ.

Funeral services for Dorothy will be held at 4 p.m. on Sunday, June 30, 2019 at East Union Christian Church with Revs. Rex Dunning, Mark Knapp and Jody England presiding. Visitation will be at the church from 1:30 p.m. until the service time.

Memorial donations may be made to East Union Christian Church, 1711 E. 296th St., Atlanta, IN 46031.

Young-Nichols Funeral Home is assisting with the arrangements.

Phoenix gets hot in 91-69 win over Fever

PHOENIX – The Indiana Fever never trailed in the first quarter, but once Phoenix took control in the second, the Mercury rarely led by fewer than double digits while racing to a 91-69 WNBA win at Talking Stick Resort Arena.

Brittney Griner scored a game-high 23 points on 11-of-19 shooting from the floor, and Leilani Mitchell contributed 18 points and 10 assists as the Mercury beat Indiana for the fifth straight time. Mitchell (4 of 4) and Sophie Cunningham (3 of 3) combined for perfect 3-point shooting to lead a Mercury long-distance assault with Phoenix hitting 59 percent (10 of 17) behind the arc.

Cunningham's last 3-pointer staked Phoenix to the game's largest lead, 89-61. The rookie from Missouri had just four points through eight games entering the contest but finished with 19.

The Fever (5-8) absorbed their third consecutive defeat and the Mercury (4-5) won their second straight game after three straight losses.

The Mercury's 52.4 percent shooting marked the first time an Indiana opponent shot better than 50 percent in 2019. Indiana, last in defensive field goal percentage in 2018, was second in the WNBA entering the game, allowing just 40 percent shooting overall. Indiana shot 40 percent overall, but just 2-of-18 from 3-point range.

"We allowed Phoenix to get comfortable early, especially Griner, and then Leilani, both early and late," said Fever coach Pokey Chatman. "We gave their bench some confidence, especially Cunningham, and it gave them a little extra bounce in their step. That hurt us, then we missed some shots and we just let their momentum continue."

Indiana got 15 points from Candice Dupree, making a return to Phoenix where she starred and won a title during seven seasons. Kelsey Mitchell scored 13 points and Betnijah Laney shot 6-of-11 to match the best scoring night of her career with 12.

Indiana rookie Teaira McCowan had six points and 10 rebounds to mark the fourth time in five starts she collected double-figure caroms.

Indiana led 21-17 after one quarter but the Mercury used three 3-pointers to spark a 24-10 response in the second. A 3-pointer from Cunningham gave Phoenix its first lead of the game, 24-21, and Briann January hit another for a six-point lead. Overall, Phoenix used four second-quarter 3s to outscore the visiting Fever 33-18 in the period.

Griner's putback on a missed free throw gave the Mercury a 13-point bulge with 3:12 before intermission. A January jumper lifted the lead to 14 and free throws from Cunningham raised the margin to 50-34 with a minute left in the half. The Fever never crept closer than nine points the rest of the way.

Indiana flies to Las Vegas in the morning where the Fever play their sixth game in 11 days, against the Aces Saturday night (10:30 p.m. ET/CBS Sports Network).
