

For the first time in history, Democrats have been elected to city councils in Fishers and Carmel.

While it may not seem like winning a total of three seats out of 11 contested council races is impressive, it is a major breakthrough for Democrats. And, it is likely to build momentum for next year.

In Fishers, Democrat Samantha DeLong defeated Republican Eric Moeller by 32 votes, and Jocelyn Vare bested Rich Block by more than 500 votes for an atlarge council seat. Republicans prevailed for the other seven. Mayor Scott Fadness was re-elected without opposition.

In Carmel, Miles Nelson, a Democrat, won over Debra Minott in a new council district by a margin of 1,467 to istration. 1,151, while the GOP won the other eight seats on the nine-member council. Mayor council in Cicero over Brad Baker in the Jim Brainard got more than 10,000 votes but didn't need them. He was unopposed. council in Noblesville and in Westfield where Mayor Andy Cook fended off a challenge from Libertarian Donald Rainwater 3,168 to 1,991, and Mike Johns won the only contested council race over independent Kate Snedeker.

"This is a major change when you look at the county. The county has always been solid Republican. This time many of our candidates were in the high 40 percent of the vote range, and we had three candidates that won.

"We have now broken into Carmel and Fishers that have previously been 100 percent Republican council. Now we have a voice on those councils and hopefully a higher degree of transparency and question answering, which the councils have avoided over the past years.

"It is a major change. Last year we had the first Democrat elected in 58 years. Now we have the first Democrat elected to city councils.

"A lot of people are moving into the county with a very high educational and income level. They are more inclined to look and ask questions of the candidates.

People are interested in what's going on. That the councils have been approving things without any public comment is one of the factors that we promoted a lot with our candidates."

their hardcore supporters to the polls.

Carmel had the best turnout at just under 20 percent, and that may have been because of a school tax referendum in which voters were asked to consider increasing property taxes to provide more school security. That referendum passed with 69 percent approval.

The Rails Restaurant was the scene of a raucous election night party Tuesday as supporters of Democrat Jocelyn Vare gathered to celebrate an historic electoral victory in her campaign for Fishers City Council.

The final results showed Ms. Vare garnering 25.49 percent of the vote, besting Republican City Council President Rich Block, who received 22.61 percent of the votes cast. Cecilia Coble and Todd Zimmerman both easily won re-election to atlarge council seats.

The cheers, selfies and celebration were something to see for Jocelyn Vare as she partied with her friends and supporters. But there was another important upset Tuesday, with Democrat Sam DeLong defeating incumbent Eric Moeller, by a margin of 32 votes.

Republican incumbents David George and John Weingardt both won re-election to their council seats.

This election will not shift the political make-up of Fishers city government. Republicans still hold a 7-2 majority on the council, the mayor's office, along with the city clerk and city judge. But the simple fact that two women, both Democrats, were winners in this general election has made political history here.

I was with Hamilton County Democratic Chairman Joe Weingarten at the Hamilton County Judicial Center as the election results were coming in. Joe was smiling ear to ear. His candidates were not only competitive, but won some races this year.

Beresford responds after Carmel voters approve referendum

The REPORTER

Carmel Clay Schools Superintendent Michael Beresford released this statement following the passage of the referendum intended to secure funding for school safety and mental health programs.

'Tonight's results reflect a supportive community who care deeply about the safety and well-being of all Carmel Clay School students. With the passage of this referendum, we can begin adding important layers of school safety to our schools and wrap resources around students who are struggling. Thank you to our Carmel community, as well as to the Carmel SOS parent group, for their support and understanding that a safe school environment is essential for students to learn, grow and thrive."

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County. - Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

Riverview Health unveiling new Courtney Cox Cole Infusion Center

The REPORTER

Riverview Health and invited guests will unveil the new Courtney Cox Cole Infusion Center from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. this evening.

Earlier this year, Riverview Health Foundation received a major gift of $500,000 from Dave and Jackie Cox, Courtney Cole, and Darren and Monica Peck for the expansion of the Infusion Center at Riverview Health. They were also a significant part of the process to improve the environment for infusion center patients.

Along with the Cox, Cole and Peck families, other generous donors will have the opportunity to see the new space before it officially opens to the public.

This event will be held at Riverview Health in Noblesville in the Courtney Cox Cole Infusion Center, located off the Atrium. Dedication ceremony and remarks will begin at 6:15 p.m. You can enter through the emergency room entrance (Entrance 1).

Please note that this event is only for those who were invited.

Carmel businesses partner for IU Health book drive for children

The REPORTER

The Residence Inn and SpringHill Suites, along with Liberty Mutual Insurance, have announced a children's book drive to support the Child Life Program at Riley Hospital for Children at IU Health North. In helping reach children with the gift of books, the Residence Inn, Spring-Hill Suites and Liberty Mutual have set a goal of 300 new books donated.

The Child Life Program at Riley Hospital for Children at IU Health North Hospital, led by the Child Life Specialists, seeks to minimize the stress and anxiety children often experience in the hospital setting. Child Life Specialists serve all pediatric patients and work with caregivers to identify patients who could especially use their services. Child Life Specialists serve many departments within the hospital including inpatient pediatrics, pediatric intensive care unit, hematology and oncology, emergency department and more.

Fishers business owner, activist Jocelyn Vare headed to City Council

Submitted

Shortly after 8 p.m. Tuesday evening, Jocelyn Vare, local small business owner and community activist, was elected at large to the Fishers City Council. Running with support from across the political spectrum on a platform based on balanced growth, accountability and fiscal responsielected to Fishers municipal government in the city's history.

"Today's election in Fishers proves what our residents have known for a long time: Decades-long, one party rule might benefit Republican politicians, but not our community," said Vare. "True leadership requires independent, critical thinking and the vulnerability to receive and address criticism from constituents. This is a diverse city and we deserve balanced representation."

Concluding her remarks, Vare addressed the community as a whole: "I am grateful for the opportunity to serve all Fishers residents, and I look forward to collaborating with my new colleagues to improve gov- ForFishers.com.

ernment transparency and accountability. I'm ready to roll up my sleeves and get to work for Fishers.'

In addition to support from Democrats across the city of Fishers, Vare also earned the endorsement of the Fiscal Conservatives of Hamilton County.

As a city councilor, Vare says she is bility, Vare is one of only two Democrats committed to ensuring all residents' voices are heard, regardless of party affiliation. Residents who would like to share an idea or concern with her are encouraged to call Vare's "Listen to Fishers" information line at (888) 518-7117.

In the coming days and weeks, Vare will share additional plans to improve the lines of communication between residents and the city council.

6 News Crash on Interstate 69 leaves man dead

By LARRY LANNAN LarryInFishers.com

A sunny, pleasant Sunday afternoon was marred by a fatal accident on Interstate 69 near 106th Street in Fishers.

The southbound lanes of the Interstate highway were closed for several hours as authorities cleaned up the crash and investigated the cause.

Fishers Police have identified the fatal victim as William Womack, 66, Indianapolis. Listed as seriously injured are Heath Franklin, 43, and Isaiah Newsome, 41, both of Bloomington.

Just after 2 p.m., Fishers police received a report of the crash, involving a 2015 afternoon.

Ford van and a 2018 Ford truck. The driver of the van was found dead at the scene. The driver and passenger of the truck were seriously injured and transported to an area hospital by the Fishers Department of Fire and Emergency Services.

According to the Fishers Police Department Crash Reconstruction Team, it appears that both vehicles were traveling southbound when they collided.

No other details on the cause of the crash have been released. Police say the collision remains under investigation. The southbound lanes of Interstate 69 were partially closed for approximately three hours Sunday

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Therefore, when he was gone out, Jesus said, Now is the Son of man glorified, and God is glorified in him. If God be glorified in him, God shall also glorify him in himself, and shall straightway glorify him. Little children, yet a little while I am with you. Ye shall seek me: and as I said unto the Jews, Whither I go, ye cannot come; so now I say to you.

Girls basketball begins Panthers run away from Shamrocks

By RICHIE HALL WESTFIELD - The Westfield girls basketball team gave itself a tough test in its season opener Tuesday.

The Shamrocks hosted North Central, which is ranked No. 3 in the Class 4A pre-season poll. Westfield got out to a hot start, but the Panthers' depth and size soon took over, and sent North Central to a 62-39 victory.

The Panthers led 4-3 early in the first quarter, with Jasmine McWilliams scoring all of NC's points and Shamrocks sophomore Alyssa Crockett hitting a 3-pointer. Westfield then went on a 10-0 run to jump ahead 13-4. Senior Ava Henson and sophomore Olivia Robey both made layins, then Robey and senior Ashtin DeCraene both drained 3s.

North Central finished the quarter on a 7-0 run to cut the Shamrocks' lead to 13-11 by the end of the quarter, then made it an 8-0 run by opening the second with a free throw. DeCraene's basket got the 'Rocks back up 15-12, but the Panthers then scored nine unanswered points to go ahead 21-15.

A Robey layin and Crockett 3 cut North Central's lead to 21-20. The Panthers finished the half with another scoring run, pouring in seven straight points to lead 27-20 at the break. That pattern would remain true in the second half: North Central made a run, Westfield would stop it with a couple baskets, then the Panthers would make another quick run

"I feel like we just stopped managing the game," said Shamrocks coach Ginny Smith. "We didn't control the controllables."

Smith was pleased with the first half, noting that her team held NC to only three offensive rebounds. But that changed in the second half, when the Panthers began to dominate on the glass.

"Maybe it was a little bit of fatigue," said Smith. "Maybe it was just a little bit of, we just lost our mental focus."

Smith complimented North Central, calling the Panthers "a good basketball team. They're big, they're long, they're

The Carmel cheerleading team finished first in the state preliminary meet, which took place last Saturday at Greenfield-Central. The Greyhounds (top) scored 265.7 points. Hamilton Southeastern placed second in the prelims, while Noblesville (bottom) was third. Fishers placed seventh and Westfield was eighth. All schools advanced to this weekend's state finals, which take place Saturday at New Castle.

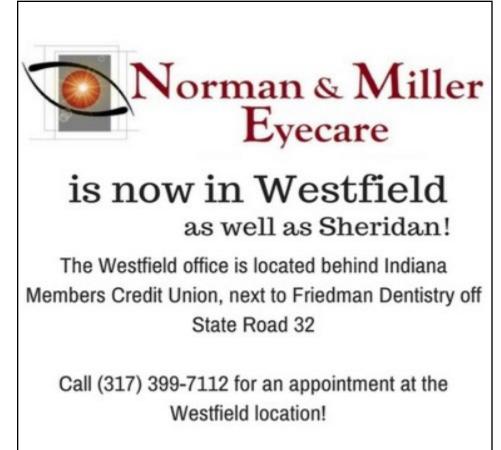

Pacers' win streak ends with OT loss to Charlotte

By BRENDAN ROURKE Courtesy nba.com/pacers

After a wild night at Spectrum Center, the Pacers (3-4) eventually fell to the Charlotte Hornets (4-3) 122-120 in overtime, ending their three-game winning streak. T.J. Warren finished with a team-high 33 points on 15-of-18 shooting and Malcolm Brogdon added 31, but it just wasn't Brogdon bank shot with 16.8 seconds reenough.

Behind a 20-2 scoring run and a 13-point performance from Bismack Biyombo in the fourth quarter, the Hornets erased a 14-point Pacers lead and acquired their first lead of the game. The Blue & Gold managed to force overtime on a Malcolm maining, but fell in the final 1.7 seconds of overtime on two free throws from Devonte' Graham after a controversial shooting foul called on JaKarr Sampson. The foul was upheld after review. Graham finished the game with a career-high 35 points. His last two turned out to be the most important.

During several points of the game, it seemed as if the Blue & Gold were going to run away with the lead and never look back. Though the first few minutes were back-and-forth, the Pacers soon jumped out to a 7-4 lead which they never relinquished until the fourth quarter, thanks to five quick points and two steals from former Hornet Jeremy Lamb.

But after watching the Pacers climb to a 19-point lead near the halfway mark of the points that pushed the lead back to double second quarter, Hornets head coach James Borrego switched to a smaller, faster lineup, and immediately saw dividends. The Hornets began a 20-5 run over a 3:37 span to cut the deficit to a little as four (56-52) on a PJ Washington dunk with 1:56 remaining in the first half. Thankfully, Lamb stopped the bleeding with a much needed 3-pointer and the Pacers managed to climb up to a 64-57 lead as the halftime buzzer sounded. He finished the game with 18 points, five rebounds, and two assists.

As the third quarter began, the Pacers once again appeared primed to put the comeback to a halt. Ready hands by the Blue & Gold allowed them to quickly increase the lead to 70-60. A botched lob pass from Brogdon caromed off the backboard into the waiting hands of Goga Bitadze for the lucky layup. Then, a Warren steal and finish on the other end provided the two digits. Warren scored six of the Pacers first 10 points of the second half.

However, midway through the third quarter the Hornets' small lineup caused fits for the Pacers again. Miles Bridges connected on back-to-back 3-pointers against the mismatched lineups to cut the Pacers lead down to 78-74 with and force stop the Hornets' momentum as Biyom-McMillan to call a timeout with 4:30 remaining in the third.

straight once again, holding the Hornets scoreless for the next 2:31, and scoring seven unanswered points. Everything appeared to be trending in the right direction, as the Blue & Gold finished the third quarter ahead 92-78 on a buzzer beating jumper from T.J. McConnell. Warren even led all scorers in the third with 10 points.

But, once again, the Hornets found a way back into the game. This time, they had help from eight-year NBA veteran Bismack Biyombo. The big man who had watched the first three quarters from the bench provided the spark the Hornets needed to jump right back into the game. Biyombo completed an early fourth quarter 10-2 Hornets run by swiping the ball away from McConnell and finishing with an emphatic dunk to cut the Pacers' lead to 94-88 with 9:34 remaining that forced McMillan to call a timeout.

Unfortunately, the timeout failed to bo's second dunk after a Graham 3-pointer cut the lead to 94-93 with 8:16 remaining. The Pacers appeared to set things Less than a minute later, Terry Rozier's 3-pointer gave the Hornets their first lead of the game at 97-94.

The Hornets' lead grew to as high as 102-96 before the Pacers began to claw back. Warren's second 3-pointer of the game eventually brought the Pacers out of deficit and tied the score 104-104 with 3:52 remaining.

The final 3:52 saw a highly contested battle in which nobody could grab the outright momentum down the stretch. With the Pacers down 107-106, Brogdon rose up and sank a deep 3-pointer from the right wing with three seconds left on the shot clock to put the Pacers ahead 109-107. But
