The seasoning of life

"In my humble opinion." Whenever I say that, my husband gets a smile on his face. I know what he is thinking. Hum-

Well, in my opinion.

You see at the age of 64 my opinions are at the least ... seasoned.

Over the years, as I have reached the "fall" of my existence, my opinions have changed.

I am less judgmental. I am more understanding and I am slower to speak ... well, most of the time.

I realize that life is truly too short to put up with the negativity that others want to spew onto me. Too short to allow others to clutter my brain with their opinion of me. Too short to waste my time trying to please the un-

I am just doing the best I can to live life with a purpose – a purpose that includes kindness mixed in with a bit of empathy and sympathy.

Sometimes I am at a loss for words, so I just show up. Sometimes my friends just need someone to sit and cry with them.

I avoid clichés like, "Everything happens for a reason." I don't believe it does. Life just happens and we deal with it the best we know how. I don't try to read into what someone says or what I think they are meaning to say. If they have an ulterior motive for saying what they say, so be it. I am neither their judge nor their jury.

If someone misinterprets what I am saying, that is on them, not me.

If someone says something about me that is untrue, that is on them.

I often wish I could say or do something more for someone who is hurting. I've learned that showing up with a homemade meal can say a lot.

I have learned the value of complimenting a stranger. Words sweetly spoken can make a heart smile. We never know what that heart is going through.

I have learned that a note of concern or encouragement is worth its weight in gold. Oh, the gift of a handwritten note.

Words of appreciation go a long way in any relationship. Taking someone for granted is a huge NO NO.

I will continue to give my opinion, humble or not. However, I will always try to season it and serve it with a spoonful of sugar and a grain of salt.

Options Schools teacher named Dewey Award Winner for 2019

The REPORTER

In 2017, and in honor of Richard Dewey, Charter School Capital created the Dewey Awards to celebrate those teachers who were able to see in a student what they perhaps couldn't see, who saw the promise and potential of students and helped them believe that they could do anything they set their minds to.

For the third annual Richard Dewey Awards, Charter School Capital received a number of amazing, touching, inspirational submissions. Close to 75 stories about how teachers have made a difference were shared with Charter School Capital, with the caliber of submissions having made selecting the three winners a very challenging task for the panel of judges. While each selected winner was a student, the impact of victory can reach much further as the prize includes a $1,000 grant.

Connor Reiff, a sophomore at Options Charter School's Noblesville campus, shared his story with Charter School Capital, and it resulted in social studies teacher Joshua Curry being named a 2019 Dewey Award Winner. Curry has been a member of the Options team since August 2017.

Reiff's submission paper for the award told the story of how Curry helped keep him on a brighter path amidst a time when Reiff faced health issues that heavily impacted his ability to attend school.

In response to learning that he was named a 2019 Dewey Award Winner, Curry was both humble and grateful.

"I was happy to be recognized it such a way," said Curry. "What it demonstrates to me is that people are paying attention to Options and the good things happening in the classrooms, whether it be parents, stakeholders and others in the community. It was very gratifying and encouraging to find out that I was selected. School teachers

For Christmas, Westfield Playhouse goes Over the River and Through the Woods

By STU CLAMPITT
ReadTheReporter.com

Main Street Productions is counting down its final plays at the existing Westfield Playhouse, 1836 W. State Road 32, before the doors open at the new facility in downtown Westfield next spring. Next weekend will be the premier of the final holiday show in the old playhouse, Over the River and Through the Woods, written by Joe DiPietro and directed by Doug Davis.

According to Davis, this holiday comedy is a little different.

"They were looking for something that is not your regular Santa or Scrooge Christmas show," Davis said. "This has more of a family message for Christmas. We all grow up near our relatives and there comes a time when we have to decide – often due to work – if we are going to take a better job and move away from our relatives."

The six-person cast is made of veterans who have done quite a bit of theater and quite a bit of comedy. They are bringing a message that appeals to a wide audience this holiday season.

"I think this play has a message everyone can relate to," Davis told The Reporter. "Although this has a few poignant moments toward the end, this is a very funny comedy. The last grandson who lives near his four grandparents goes to see them every Sunday for dinner. He gets a job offer and he is going to have to move out West and they all currently live in Hoboken, N.J. The grandparents come up with the idea that he won't leave if they give him a reason to stay."

Their plan is to set their grandson up on a blind date the next time he comes for Sunday dinner.

"He gets himself so worked up he has a panic attack," Davis explained. "The doctors say he needs to rest for a couple weeks. They decide the best thing for him to do is to stay with the four grandparents, who caused the panic attack. There are some really funny things that happen while he is staying with them."

Carmel kids show their appreciation for veterans

The REPORTER

The City of Carmel honored veterans on Friday at the annual Veterans Day Ceremony in The Tarkington Theater at The Center for The Performing Arts.

Mayor Jim Brainard was joined by keynote speaker Lieutenant Colonel (Retired) Pete O'Hara, U.S. Army; speaker Doug Haney, U.S. Army; Carmel American Legion Post 155; Carmel VFW Post 10003; with performances by the Actors Theatre of Indiana, the Orchard Park Elementary School Choir and Cindy Ensign Baney.

The winners of the Veterans Day Poster and Essay Contests were also recognized at the ceremony. Students from local elementary schools took part in the Poster Contest, while Middle School students participated in the Essay Contest. This year's theme was "Honor and Country."

Finalists for the poster contest were chosen by grade level from each participating school. Board members of the Carmel Arts Council selected one city-wide winner in each grade. The winning posters were chosen based on best representation of the theme, focus on veterans and creativity.

The posters were displayed at the city's Veterans Day Ceremony and each student received a certificate of achievement from Mayor Brainard and Superintendent of Carmel Clay Schools Dr. Michael Beresford. The honorable mention posters are up for viewing at the Monon Community Center on the second floor's main hallway through Tuesday, Nov. 12.

A list of Carmel Veterans Day Poster Contest winners as well as images of their posters can be found on the city's website at 2019 Veterans Day Ceremony.

The winners of the "Honor and Country" Poster Contest are as follows:

- Kindergarten: Ostara Zajac, Carmel Elementary School

- 1st Grade: Parnika Sapre, West Clay Elementary School

- 2nd Grade: Sophie Robisch, Towne Meadow Elementary School

- 3rd Grade: Pia Anderson, Towne Meadow Elementary School

- 4th Grade: Hadley Wilkinson, Carmel Elementary School

- 5th Grade: Elise Kaster, Carmel Elementary School

The panel of judges from veterans organizations chose the winning essays based on overall representation of the theme, focus on veterans, strength of message and proper use of grammar. Students were invited to read their winning essays aloud during the ceremony and each received a certificate of achievement from Mayor Brainard. A list of the Carmel Veterans Day Winning Essays can be found on the city's website at 2019 Veterans Day Ceremony.

The winners of the "Honor and Country" Essay Contest are as follows:

- 6th Grade: Divya Ariyur, Clay Middle School

- 7th Grade: Jewel Wang, Clay Middle School

- 8th Grade: Anna Kindsfather, Clay Middle School

Poster contest winners in grades K-5 received $50 each and essay contest winners in grades 6-8 received $100 each, courtesy of Indiana Members Credit Union.

"I am impressed with the students and their teachers in our community. By the quality and depth of the posters and essays honoring our veterans, it's obvious our young people understand what it means to be a veteran and the importance of thanking those who have served our country," said Mayor Brainard.

Each veteran in attendance received a gift, courtesy of American Structurepoint and Drs. Lauck & McLean Optometry and Eyewear. Other sponsors included UN Communications Group, Inc. and a pictorial display of World War II and Vietnam Veterans provided by Wyant Photography.

Sign up for annual ‘Bolt for the Heart’ 5K

The REPORTER

Looking for a fun way to get some exercise and help put an Automatic External Defibrillator (AED) in every police car across Indiana? The “Bolt For The Heart” 5K fundraising event will be held at 9 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day at Center Green in Carmel. Click here to register.

If you can’t make the Thanksgiving Day run in Carmel, you can sign up to do the “5K Virtual Run” which you can do anytime and anyplace between now and Thanksgiving. You receive a medal and runner’s bib for signing up for the run, with options to buy shirts and hats.

If you don’t want to run but would still like to help out, you can by making a donation of any amount. To register and do a “Virtual Run” or to make a donation in any amount go to this link. All funds raised from the run or donations will go towards the purchase of additional AEDs for law enforcement.

More about Bolt For The Heart

Bolt For The Heart is a non-profit organization serving Indiana. Heart Reach Carmel was established in 2010 by Pierre Twer and friends and is an extension of Heart Reach Michiana, which was founded by Dr. Walt Halloran and friends in 2004. Heart Reach was established to keep monies raised locally to stay locally and impact the community close to home.

More about AEDs

An AED is a portable Automated External Defibrillator used to restart someone’s heart in the event of sudden cardiac arrest (SCA). Each year sudden cardiac arrest kills 335,000 people of all ages and fitness levels without warning. Ninety-five percent of those who suffer from an SCA die because CPR and defibrillation usually occur too late, if at all.

If the first person on the scene knew CPR and applied an Automated External Defibrillator within five minutes, the American Heart Association estimates that at least 40,000 more lives per year could be saved. Calling 911 and performing CPR are not enough. Most victims need an electric shock called defibrillation to restore the heart to a regular rhythm. By placing these devices in the hands of first responders and trained individuals in public locations we are increasing their chance of survival.

Program goals

100 percent of all proceeds go directly into purchasing AEDs for police vehicles in Indiana. In recent years, Bolt for the Heart has equipped nearly every Indiana State Police vehicle with an AED, but the mission is not complete. The goal is to provide AEDs for other police agencies in every corner of the state and continue this life saving mission for many years to come.

The REPORTER

1866 – Actress Laura Keene and her theatrical company presented the play "Our American Cousin" at Hamilton's Hall in Fort Wayne. Miss Keene had starred in the same play at Ford's Theater in April of the previous year when President Abraham Lincoln had been assassinated. With her was actor Harry Hawk who had also been on stage at Ford's and whose character had spoken the last words ever heard by Lincoln.

1917 – Nellie Brown of Indianapolis was arrested outside the fence of the White House. She and other women from around the nation were picketing the Executive Mansion in an effort to persuade President Woodrow Wilson to support a constitutional suffrage amendment.

1938 – Indiana author Theodore Dreiser spoke at the meeting of the Scholastic Press Association at the Claypool Hotel in Indianapolis. Dreiser, from Terre Haute, urged Americans to send food to both sides in the Civil War in Spain. He told graphic stories of conditions he had found on a recent visit there.

1942 – Modoc, an Indian elephant who had roamed Wabash and Huntington counties for four days, was captured near Mt. Etna. She had escaped from a circus in Wabash and created quite a stir as she wandered through the countryside. The 1,900-pound pachyderm was captured when her owner, accompanied by elephant playmates Judy and Empress, tempted her with 30 loaves of bread. Modoc's meanderings had attracted national attention.

1963 – The first touch-tone telephones went into production at the Western Electric plant on the east side of Indianapolis. The new phones eventually replaced the rotary-dial models which had been in use for over 60 years. The Indianapolis facility served the entire Bell System, producing 30,000 phones every day.

1986 – Hoosiers made its world premiere at the Circle Theater in Indianapolis. Loosely based on the 1954 Milan High School basketball team, the movie was shot entirely in Indiana. Film critic Roger Ebert awarded the picture a full five stars. "Hoosiers works a magic," he wrote, "in getting us to care about the fate of the team and the people depending on it . . . it is a movie that is all about heart."

Indiana State Police release details about Missing Children’s Day poster contest

The REPORTER

The Indiana State Police is proud to partner again in 2020 with the U.S. Department of Justice in promoting the National Missing Children’s Day Poster Contest.

In 1983, President Ronald Reagan proclaimed May 25 as National Missing Children’s Day. This day is dedicated to encouraging parents, guardians, caregivers and all concerned individuals with the well-being of children to make child safety a priority. It serves as a reminder to continue efforts to reunite missing children with their families and loved ones. It also serves as an occasion to honor those who are dedicated to this very noble cause.

The National Missing Children’s Poster Contest provides an opportunity for schools, law enforcement and parents/guardians to discuss and promote child safety.

The state winner will receive a national award certificate from the U.S. Department of Justice and their poster will be selected to go to the national judging competition. The national winner, along with his/her parents and teacher, and the state manager will be invited to Washington, D.C. to participate in the U.S. Department of Justice’s National Missing Children’s Day ceremony.

Songbook Foundation exhibit spotlights ties between American politics, musical theater

The REPORTER

With a momentous national election just a year away, the Great American Songbook Foundation has assembled an interactive historical exhibit exploring the intersection of politics, patriotism and entertainment in the world of musical theater – and it didn't start with Hamilton.

Of Thee I Sing: Politics on Stage is on display through November 2020 in the Foundation's Songbook Exhibit Gallery, housed at the Palladium concert hall at Carmel's Center for the Performing Arts. Admission is free to the gallery, which is open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays; 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays; noon to 4 p.m. the second Saturday of each month (starting in January); and one hour prior to select Palladium performances.

Broadway shows highlighted in the exhibit include:

- Of Thee I Sing (1931) – a groundbreaking, Pulitzer-winning blend of romantic comedy and political satire with songs by George and Ira Gershwin

- Camelot (1960) – a retelling of the King Arthur legend that took on political significance when the widowed Jacqueline Kennedy made it a metaphor for her husband's short-lived presidential administration

- 1776 (1969) – an unlikely hit among liberals and conservatives alike during a contentious period in U.S. history

- 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue (1976) – a heavy-handed flop by composer Leonard Bernstein and librettist Alan Jay Lerner that closed within a week of opening

- Hamilton: An American Musical (2015) – Lin-Manuel Miranda's hip-hop-influenced take on the Founding Fathers, which claimed 11 Tony Awards while tackling contemporary political and social issues.

The exhibit also examines the treatment of war, race, women's rights and other issues in musicals such as Hair, South Pacific and Cabaret; the work of musical satirists like YouTube star Randy Rainbow; and the well-known Broadway and Tin Pan Alley composers who wrote campaign jingles and patriotic songs over the years.

For example, in a project presaging the civic-minded Schoolhouse Rock animations of the 1970s, lyricist Hy Zaret ("Unchained Melody") authored a political songbook for kids in the 1950s titled Little Songs for Busy Voters.

In addition to images and artifacts from the Songbook Foundation's vast archives and other sources, the exhibit includes various interactive elements. A large touchscreen allows visitors to browse through related songs and images from the featured musicals. At several points, the exhibit invites viewers to ponder thought-provoking questions and respond "yes" or "no" by dropping a white or black marble into a clear container. The voting will be tracked throughout the year on the Foundation's social media accounts.

The Of Thee I Sing: Politics on Stage exhibit will be on display at the Palladium at Carmel's Center for Performing Arts through November 2020.

"With all the partisanship in the news these days, we wanted to create an environment where visitors of all ages could consider politics from a fresh angle and enjoy some constructive conversation about these important social issues and how they are portrayed in our popular culture," said professional exhibit developer Cathy Hamaker, one of several experts who assisted Songbook Foundation Archivist Lisa Lobdell in designing Of Thee I Sing.

A traveling version of the exhibit is available free of charge for display by schools, libraries and other community organizations.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Believest thou not that I am in the Father; and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works. Believe me that I am in the Father; and the Father in me: or else believe me for the very works' sake. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father. And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it. If ye love me, keep my commandments. And I will pray the Father; and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you.

Michael Baker Kraft

November 2, 2019

Michael Baker Kraft, 84, Noblesville native, died November 2 in Washington, D.C. of complications from dementia. Immediate surviving family include Elizabeth Harvey Kraft, formerly of Crawfordsville, his daughter Katherine, her husband Michael, and their daughters Lindsay and Julia of Chicago. His three remaining brothers, Jacob, Timothy and John, grew up in Noblesville and now live in Florida and New Mexico.

Though he lived most of his adult life in Washington, D.C., his devotion to his Indiana home defined his life and his long political career. After serving three years as an officer in the U.S. Navy, he was briefly a reporter for the Logansport Pharos Tribune. It was in that capacity that he interviewed Senator Vance Hartke, which led to a job as press secretary in Hartke's Washington office. He played a guiding role in the election campaigns of former Congressman Philip Sharp of Muncie, for whom he worked as Chief of Staff. He was a founder of Sagamore Associates (now Faegre Baker Daniels Consulting), and served as a liaison to cities including Indianapolis and South Bend.

Kraft remained dedicated to the welfare of his hometown and led the efforts to renovate buildings around the town square of Noblesville. The buildings he revitalized include the old Wild Building, which now houses Alexander's On the Square and Little Bloomers, and the old Western Auto location, now home to the Noblesville Antique Mall. Those buildings are now owned by his Noblesville cousin, Bret Richardson. He also, with a partner, renovated the location of Matteo's Restaurant on North Ninth Street. For his work there he received a Downtown Revitalization Award from the Indiana Main Street organization, as well as an award from the Noblesville Preservation Alliance.

For decades, Kraft was the connection in Washington for dozens of Hoosier political aspirants arriving in the capital. He often hired some of the newcomers as interns in the Sharp congressional office, including current Indianapolis mayor Joe Hogsett. He was a past president of the Indiana Society of Washington, D.C., an organization which celebrates Hoosier pride with events including the Indiana Inaugural Ball. In 1994, Governor Evan Bayh designated Kraft as a Sagamore of the Wabash. The award, which was considered the highest honor that could be bestowed on a Hoosier, described the recipient as "distinguished by his humanity in living, his loyalty in friendship, his wisdom in council, and his inspiration in leadership."

He will be remembered by many for his customary farewell to friends and family: "Go forth and do good."

There will be a memorial service at 11 a.m. on Saturday, November 16 at Foundry United Methodist Church, 1500 16th St. NW, Washington, D.C. In lieu of flowers, the family asks that any donations be made to the International Rescue Committee (rescue.org) or to Martha's Table (marthastable.org).

State volleyball championship

Reporter photos by Kirk Green

The Hamilton Southeastern volleyball team finished as runner-up to New Castle in the Class 4A state volleyball finals, which took place Saturday at Ball State University's Worthen Arena. The Royals pushed the Trojans to four sets before falling 23-25, 25-15, 25-23, 25-18.

Trojans hold off HSE in hard-fought match

By RICHIE HALL

MUNCIE - Of all the strategies that Hamilton Southeastern had coming into the Class 4A state volleyball championship, the most important one was this: Believe.

The Royals believed they could compete and win against New Castle, the No. 1-ranked team in the nation, never mind the state. Southeastern pushed the Trojans for the entire match before falling in four sets, 23-25, 25-15, 25-23, 25-18 Saturday night in the state championship match at Ball State University's Worthen Arena.

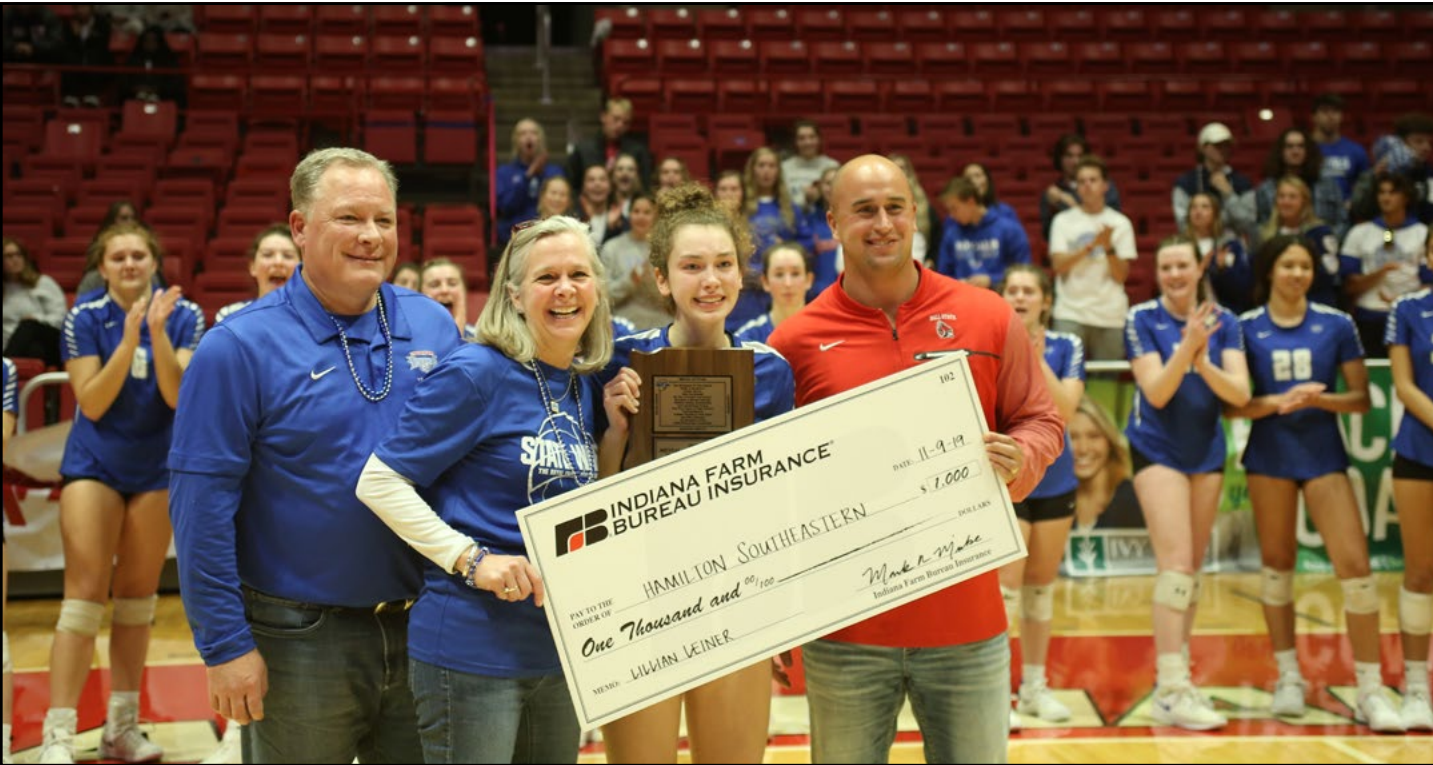

"The kids truly believed and I'm grateful for that," said Royals coach Jason Young. "They were not going to back down. They were going to go head-to-head with them, no matter who it is. And I'm grateful and proud of them for that."

Southeastern established the tone in the first set, which began with Abby Weber hitting a kill. The set was extremely tight, with the largest lead three points. The Royals were up 12-9, then 13-10.

The Trojans came back to lead 20-18, but Southeastern scored four straight points to take a 22-20 advantage. Grace Hunter hit a kill, and Delany Garner was successful on a block. The Royals took the set when Maddie Cole put down a kill.

"We were determined to run some slides and get our middles active," said Young. "We just were in system an awful lot."

New Castle quickly took the lead in the second set, eventually going up 15-6. Southeastern went on a five-point run to cut that advantage to 15-11, with Garner hitting a kill and making another block. The Royals were still within 18-13 late in the set, but New Castle finished by winning seven of the last nine points. The Trojans' 6-foot-2 middle hitter Laila

Hamilton Southeastern's Lillian Leiner won the Mental Attitude Award for Class 4A volleyball at the conclusion of the match. Leiner is a two-year captain and three-year varsity letter winner.

Smith got the last two points of the set on a kill and a net tip.

In the third set, HSE led 6-2, with Hunter putting down a couple of kills during that time. New Castle fought back to lead 10-9 before Weber's kill tied the match again, then a Garner kill and Olivia Phillips tip put the Royals ahead 12-10.

Southeastern led for most of the set, going up 23-21 late. But the Trojans won four straight points to take the set. Melani Shaffmaster's, New Castle's 6-foot-3 setter, made a successful block to gave the Trojans a 2-1 lead in sets.

The Royals led 7-4 early in the fourth set, with Garner, Phillips and Weber all making kills. But the Trojans went on a long run, winning 13 of 17 points to take a 17-11 lead. Southeastern fought to the end, but New Castle was able to hold a five- to seven-point advantage for most of the set. The Trojans' Bailey Cox served an ace on match point to seal the title.

"My kids played with great heart. We worked hard all season, and I'm just hurting for them," said Young. "Fantastic night of volleyball, to take that first set."

Weber hit 13 kills for the Royals, with Hunter putting down 10. Emily Weber handed out 20 assists, with Phillips dishing out 15. On defense, Carly Mills had a fine game with 21 digs, while Abby Weber collected 11 digs and Hunter had 10. Garner and Cole both made three blocks.

New Castle's Smith and Mabrey Shaffmaster both hit 20 kills, while Melani Shaffmaster put down 13 and Nicole Wilkinson had 12.

Southeastern's Lillian Leiner won the Mental Attitude Award at the conclusion of the match. Leiner is a two-year captain and three-year varsity letter winner in volleyball.
