Giant bird nest added to Westfield's MacGregor Park

The REPORTER

Westfield Washington Township received a donation from the National Charity League (NCL), Crossroads Chapter, Class of 2024 to help pay for an oversize bird nest at MacGregor Park. Visitors can find this oversize nest on the west side of the interior trails. This new playscape piece encourages outdoor play and creativity.

"Play areas out in nature encourage children of all ages to engage in activity while promoting sensory stimulation," said Danielle Carey Tolan, Westfield Washington Township Trustee. "We want to inspire our community to visit this beautiful passive nature park."

By adding various pieces of nature based playscapes, the Township is adding one more component to allow young visitors to be active.

Each NCL grade level is assigned different philanthropic focus areas. The emphasis for the Class of 2024 was environment. Kim Speerly, NCL Grade Level Advisor, said, "The girls really enjoyed planting a flower bed at MacGregor Park last spring and they wanted to contribute something else that would make a long-term impact to the visitors of the park."

The Township, along with NCL, encourages people to visit MacGregor Park year-round and take advantage of all that the park has to offer.

Self-driving shuttle comes to downtown Fishers early 2020

By LARRY LANNAN

Fishers Mayor Scott Fadness has made it clear that he has been focused on attracting high-tech firms to Fishers, and the city announced Thursday that PerceptIn, a company currently located in Santa Clara, Calif., is moving its headquarters to Fishers.

The firm plans to launch an autonomous vehicle pilot program and create up to 50 new well-paying jobs by 2022. PerceptIn will establish its headquarters at the Indiana IoT Lab located in Fishers in preparation for the launch of its pilot program in early 2020.

PerceptIn and the City of Fishers jointly announced the move Thursday morning.

"When we launched the Indiana IoT Lab in 2017, a company like PerceptIn is exactly who we had in mind to propel our city even further as a leading city for tech," said Fadness. "Fishers is a city made for entrepreneurs, and today we are happy to support the future of transportation technology through this pilot program and in support of our newest Fishers company, PerceptIn."

A pilot program is planned to establish a transportation between the Launch Fishers IoT Lab area and downtown Fishers. The service will be available from 10:30 a.m.

to 2:30 p.m. daily, supporting short trips to restaurants and meetings in the downtown area. Routes are will expand pending results of the pilot program.

"We're extremely excited to relocate our headquarters to Indiana," said Shaoshan Liu, chief executive officer of PerceptIn. "Indiana's commitment to growing and enhancing its technology sector, along with its business-friendly environment and collaborative industry partnerships, is why we chose to locate here. Additionally, we look forward to deploying our autonomous microtransit services in Fishers, and increasing our presence throughout the state, setting an example for the rest of the nation on utilizing advanced technologies to improve public transportation systems."

PerceptIn will use the Indiana Headquarters Relocation tax credit program, which provides incentive for the relocation of small, high-growth companies to the state.

The Indiana Economic Development Corporation offered PerceptIn up to $3.5 million in conditional tax credits based on the company's job creation plans. These tax credits are performance-based, meaning the company is eligible to claim incentives as Hoosiers are hired. The Fishers Redevelopment Commission will consider approval of an agreement between the Indiana IoT Lab and PerceptIn on Monday, Nov. 25.

Noblesville Schools support staff to get substantial raises

The REPORTER

Noblesville Schools announced Tuesday that after a competitive compensation assessment of over 20 area school districts, it will address significant pay gaps among support staff ranks with a salary increase.

The raises will average 6 percent, but could be considerably more for some groups such as custodians and school secretaries, who were found to be near the bottom in salary comparisons with other districts.

"When the community thinks of schools they think of teachers, but schools do not run with teachers alone," said Associate Superintendent Dr. David Mundy. "Our support personnel are integral to the everyday functioning of our education system and like teachers, we're committed to ensuring they are paid competitively for the important roles they play."

Mundy

Custodians, secretaries and other support staff like classroom instructional assistants, bus drivers, maintenance employees, food service staff, technology professionals and financial personnel make up more than half of the district's over 1,500 employees.

The salary adjustment for support staff follows the recent announcement of the largest compensation increase for teachers in almost 40 years. With these changes, Noblesville teachers and support staff are more competitively placed relative to other area school districts. The district was able to make these adjustments thanks to the passage of the November 2018 referendum.

“As the area continues to grow, the demand for urgent and emergency services has, too,” said Seth Warren, Riverview Health president and CEO. “We are excited to expand our footprint, while also meeting this need.”

The new Riverview Health ER and Urgent Care facilities have a retail model and focus on customer service and treating patients quickly. Victims of Crime and Abuse

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

Drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, 14701 Tom Wood Way.

The signs, from top to bottom, read: RESPECT, PREVALE, HONESTY, HOPE, HONORABLE, WINNING, BRAVE, NOT BROKEN, COURAGE, PEACE, STRENGTH, SILENT, and NO MORE. A woman in the front row holds a sign that says 'I am not a politician, I am a politician's advocate for Israel.' Loss of Noblesville public servant affects many Noblesville lost another one of its well-known, beloved residents last weekend.

I had to fight back tears Sunday morning when I heard the news that Larry Stork had passed away. I’m sure many of you knew him, as he touched the lives of thousands of people in Noblesville and beyond.

Larry served on the Noblesville Common Council for four years and on the Board of Public Works and Safety for 35 years. He worked for Firestone for 38 years and served in the National Guard from 1958 to 1964. And, most importantly, he was married for 57 years to a lovely lady and had two daughters and two grandchildren. One of those daughters was my best friend at not one, but two workplaces for a combined 11 years. We’re still good friends to this day.

I got to know Larry when I was the

AMY SHANKLAND
Sandwiched

City of Noblesville Grant Coordinator. I’ll always remember his deep, booming voice saying “How’re you doin’, Kiddo?” or “What’s new?” He was genuinely interested in everyone and anyone he met, whether that meeting was planned or unexpected.

What always struck me the most about Larry is how well he listened. Listening is a challenging skill for most of us. We’re often thinking about how we’re going to respond instead of truly hearing what the other person is saying.

But not Larry. Whether I ran into him in city hall, in the frozen foods section at Aldi, or on the street at a Noblesville event, he always seemed to shut out the whole world and actually listen to me. He was so genuine that I always felt buoyant after seeing him. I’m sure everyone else felt the same way.

I loved how he carefully thought through every decision while serving on the Board of Works. I only attended some of those meetings, but at every one I saw Larry cautiously questioning the most important matters. He knew how his decision and those of the other two board members would affect the city. Larry put his heart and mind into each detail. That’s the kind of public servant I think we all would want in any government.

Even in retirement he was busy serving on this board and the Firestone Alumni Association. But he still found time to swing by my office to tell me about a grant possibility he saw or to ask me what was happening on the city’s grants team. Larry made me feel important, just like he made everyone feel important.

Lastly, he was a wonderful husband, father and grandfather. When I was considering writing this particular column, a part of me wondered if it were appropriate. This column is supposed to focus on the ups and downs of being in the sandwich generation. Then I realized today’s piece relates more to this generation than anything – it talks about the hardest part, which is when a parent passes away.

I’ll be thinking of and praying for my friend and her family in the weeks and months ahead. It’s been an honor to know Larry and to learn from him about how we’re supposed to treat others. I’ll never forget him.

Letter to the Editor

Shaffer pleased with developers footing financial responsibility

Dear Editor:

Now that Carmel’s $1.4 billion debt makes it a bad risk for financial markets, it’s refreshing to learn from the Current in Carmel that the Carmel City Council is considering issuing nearly $39 million in bonds held by developers.

Carmel Redevelopment Director Henry Mestetsky was quoted as saying developers would be fully responsible for repaying them. What a dandy idea, I thought. So, I pressed Mestetsky for details.

Citing a state statute, he indicated bonds bought by developers and repaid by taxes paid by the resulting projects and, while the city acts as “issuer,” it has no liability.

What a dandy idea. Think how it would feel, for example, to have a developer on the hook for the $262 million Palladium. Oh, but that’s impossible. The Palladium doesn’t pay taxes. It doesn’t pay its own utility bills, either. That $1-million-a-year tab is the taxpayer’s worry.

But, giving credit where it is due (no pun intended), Mestetsky divulged a dandy idea.

So, dandy one wonders why the $1.4 billion in Carmel debt hasn’t always been handled this way.

I should have asked Mestetsky.

Delp wants Shaffer to look on the bright side of life in Carmel

Dear Editor:

It seems that Bill Shaffer spends most of his time second guessing the Mayor and others on the City Council. If he believes so much is wrong here in Carmel, maybe he should move elsewhere.

I have lived in Carmel almost 45 years, and during that time I have seen remarkable progress. Property values have increased more than almost anywhere else in Indiana. Traffic has increased many fold, but roundabouts and other improvements have made it manageable. All the improvements, and a first-class school system, have made Carmel one of the most desirable places to live in the USA.

Bill, the Carmel administration must be doing something right. Maybe you should look for some of the positives instead of being so negative.

Fire Ops 101 lets elected officials learn exactly how hard firefighters truly work

The REPORTER

On Nov. 16, community stakeholders from across Hamilton and Boone counties attended Fire Ops 101. This day-long program allowed participants hands on firefighting and Emergency Medical Services (EMS) operations under the controlled supervision of Hamilton County’s professional fire fighters.

“The Fire Ops 101 program began 12 years ago to help elected and appointed officials understand what it takes to keep their community safe,” said Tony Murray, President of Hamilton County Professional Fire Fighters Local 4416. “It changes the perspective of someone looking at taxpayer dollars and how those dollars work to fund public safety in the community from the numbers on balance sheet to actually doing the work on the streets.”

Participants completed four main experiences: 1) Live fire behavior in the flashover chamber, 2) Search and rescue of a trapped victim, 3) Vehicle extrication, and 4) A heart condition that deteriorates to cardiac arrest.

The immersive exercises stakeholders and decision makers experienced through each “emergency” highlight how physically demanding, potentially dangerous, technical and training intensive a career in the fire service must be. Participants experienced firsthand the level of technical expertise and skill needed to deliver a high level of service to citizens in a community.

Fire Ops 101 attendees were:

- Ken Alexander, Hamilton County Council
- JD Ford, Indiana State Senator
- Chad Gabbard, St. Vincent Sports Performance
- Josh Garrett, Zionsville Town Council
- Jake Gilbert, Westfield City Council-elect
- Matt Light, City of Noblesville
- Darren Peck, 50 Club
- Darren Peterson, Noblesville City Council
- Jack Russell, Cicero Town Council
- Dan Strong, Cicero Town Council
- Corey Richards, St. Vincent Sports Performance
- David Rayburn, Indiana University School of Medicine
- Aaron Smith, Noblesville City Council-elect

Fire Ops 101 was co-hosted and produced by Hamilton County Professional Fire Fighters Local 4416 and Carmel Professional Fire Fighters Local 4444. This year’s event was made possible with support from the Carmel Fire Department, Noblesville Fire Department, Westfield Fire Department, Fishers Fire Department, Cicero Fire Department, Jackson Fire Department, Craig Bowyer at Mid-America Fire and Safety, Jim Cedars at Fire Dex, IAFF Local 416 and off-duty professional fire fighters from Hamilton and Boone Counties.

Remembering my friend Butch Reel

By DR. TERRY COOMER

Noblesville High School has had many great athletes and many great athletic achievements. I am always glad to be able to say I grew up in Noblesville, Indiana. All the athletes who have done great things have had a wonderful support system from the community, great coaches who have inspired, taught, coached, and helped us to do great things.

I was recently thinking about one of Noblesville’s great athletes, my friend Butch Reel. As time goes by and athletes go off the scene, it is always well to remember what they have accomplished. I appreciate the opportunity to share about my friend and his achievements at Noblesville High School from first-hand experience.

Butch Reel was one the best football players in Noblesville High School history. I first met Butch when I was a freshman baseball player in 1969. Coach Don Dunker put me on the varsity roster. He needed a bat and I was able to provide it by hitting .400 as a freshman. Butch was a junior beside me in the outfield. He kind of took me under his wing and told me not to worry about being young, just play! We became friends.

In football, Butch was a straight-forward player. He was a fullback. There was not much finesse to Butch. When he hit the hole, the defensive guy either got ran over or needed a lot of help to bring Butch down!

As a sophomore linebacker on the defensive team, I hated trying to tackle him in practice. You had to hit him with “good technique,” as Coach Jim Belden used to say, and get your arms around him, hold on, and hope for help!

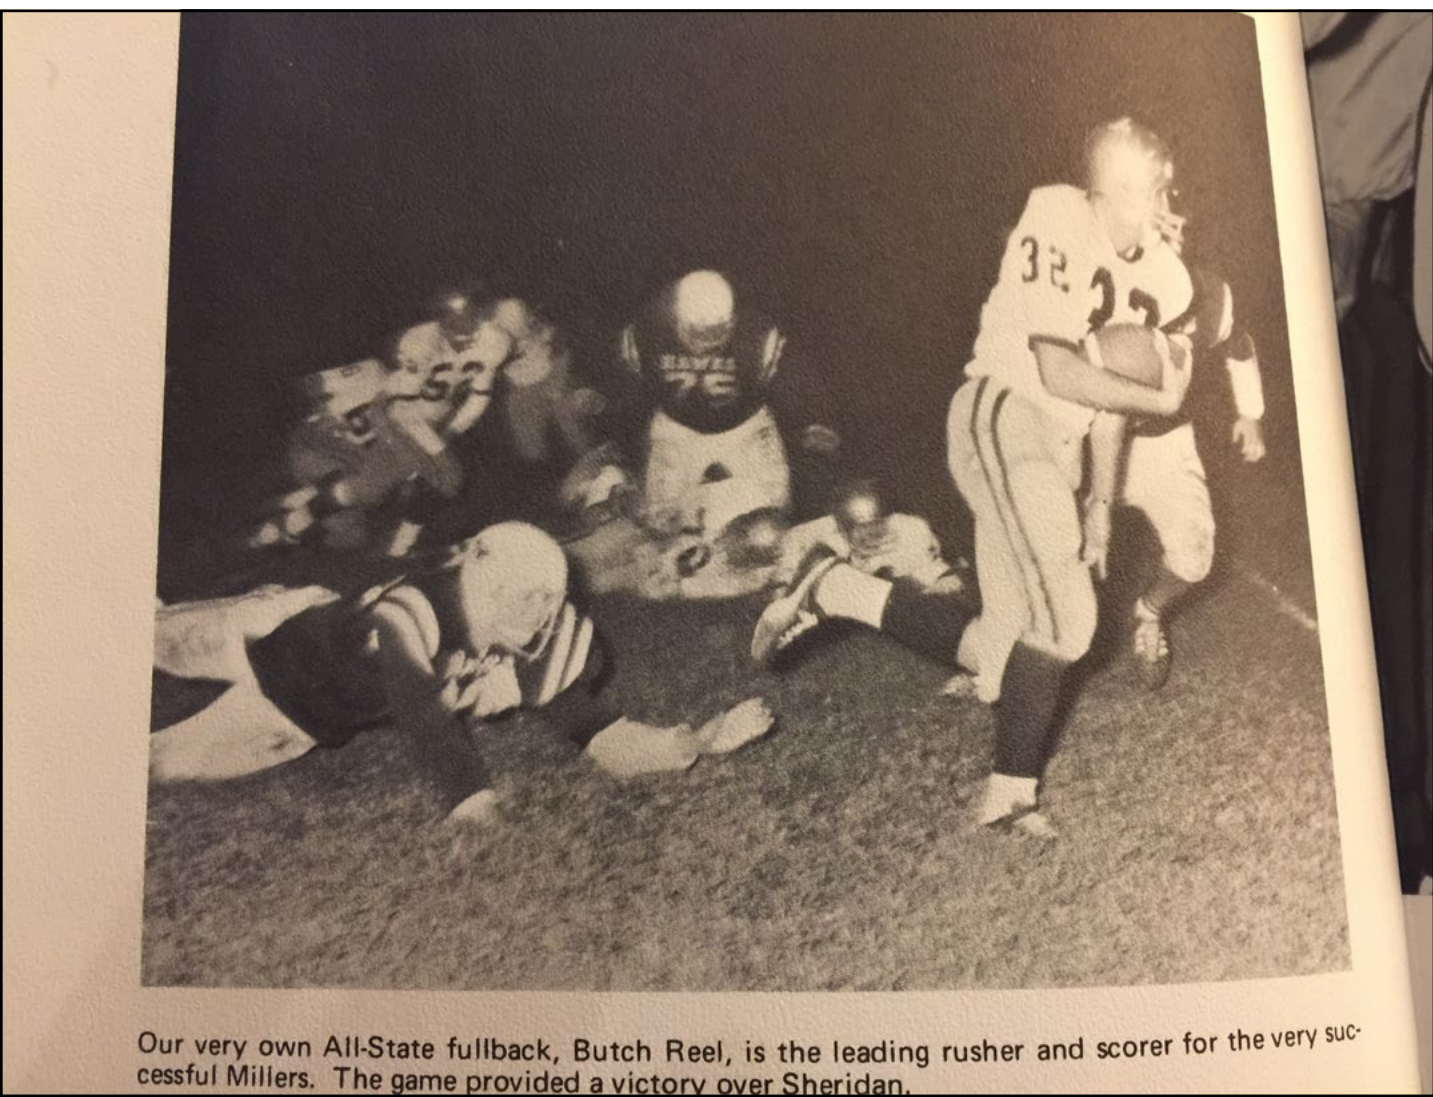

I backed up Butch as a fullback on the offense. I remember in one game we needed a first down when it was fourth down and 13 yards to go! Coach Belden decided to go for it. We were our own side of the 50 yard line. Who do you go to when you need 13 yards? Butch Reel!

The play was a screen pass to the right side. Butch got the ball in the flat. After five yards, the first defensive player hit Butch, and Butch ran over him. In the course of it, three other players latched on. Butch dragged them to the first down!

Coach Belden was a pretty emotional guy and he was running up the side line right beside Butch, screaming “yes” and other things! He was so excited and since they were on our sideline, he jumped down into the pile to pick Butch up patting him on the helmet and dragging him to the sideline. The crowd went wild. We got the first down!

Why am I writing about Butch today? I am remembering my friend, and because it is November. Butch went to be with his Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, on Wednesday, November 27, 2013 after a long battle with cancer. He was 60 years old.

At Noblesville, Butch was named First Team All-State at running back in football as a junior after rushing for 1,139 yards, which set the school record at the time. He broke both NHS and Hamilton County rushing records with 2,662 career yards. He is the third all-time leading rusher in Noblesville Football history. He was inducted into the NHS Sports Hall of Fame in the Class of 2014.

Butch Reel (32) left several opposing players in his wake as a straight-forward fullback for the Noblesville football team. Reel was a First Team All-State running back for the Millers and went on to play football at Baylor University in Waco.

When Butch graduated from NHS he told me for my junior year that he wanted me to wear his number, 32. Butch told Coach Belden, and coach agreed. I had an outstanding junior year on defense, as linebacker on a great Noblesville football team. I was proud to wear the number of my friend. He teased me and said, “Now you get to follow my footsteps!”

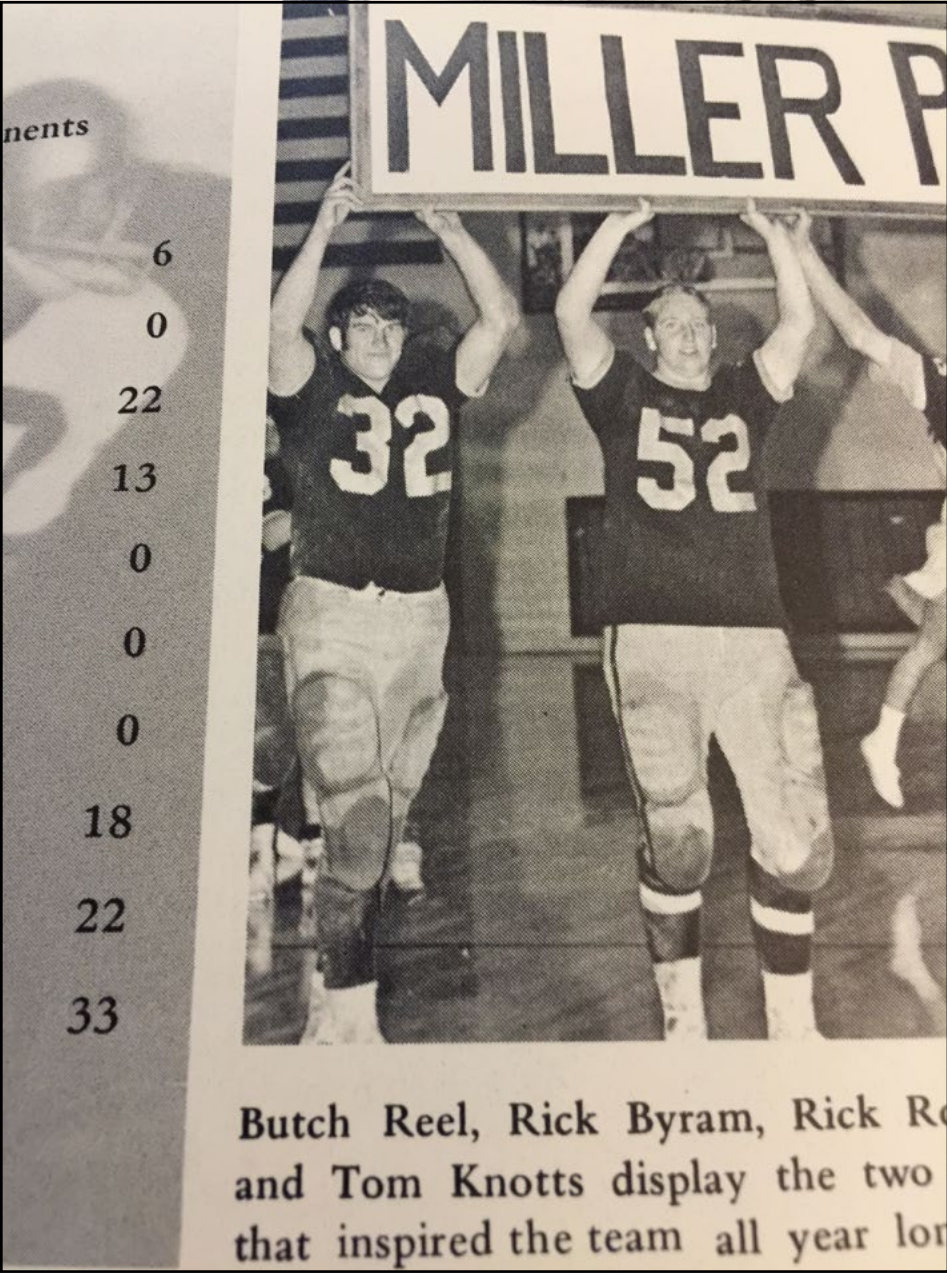

Butch was recruited to play football for Baylor University, and moved to Waco in 1971. Butch graduated from Baylor in 1975, where he was part of the 1974 Southwest Conference championship team. Butch went on to graduate from Wesley Biblical Seminary in Jackson, Mississippi. From there, he answered his call to pastor, and served as senior pastor in five different Baptist churches in Indiana, West Virginia, and Texas, where he touched many lives.

After I came to know Jesus Christ as my Saviour in 1974, during the off season from my first year in the San Francisco Giants farm system, I then went to Bible College. After graduation I took my first church as a Baptist pastor. Butch called me, and said, “Congratulations! You are still following my footsteps!” I laughed and told him he set a good example.

Forty-one years later I have now pastored five different Baptist churches in Ohio, Indiana, and Arkansas. I will now join my friend, Butch Reel, in the NHS Sports Hall of fame in the Class of 2020. Looks like I am still following Butch’s footsteps! I wish he was here to see it happen. I wish we could both wear number 32 again!

Butch represented NHS well, Baylor well, and his Saviour well. Truly one of the great athletes in Noblesville sports history!
