Holiday events begin Friday in Downtown Noblesville

The REPORTER

The City of Noblesville, Noblesville Chamber of Commerce, Noblesville Main Street and Nickel Plate Arts have numerous events for the upcoming holiday activities in the downtown district, including Federal Hill Commons, the Courthouse Square and Seminary Park.

"The City of Noblesville is a wonderful place to be during the holidays and these groups create festive ways to expand the experiences for our residents and guests," Noblesville Mayor John Ditslear said.

The holiday season kicks off at 7 p.m. Friday, Nov. 29 with the annual Noblesville Tree Lighting Ceremony presented by the Noblesville Chamber of Commerce. This event, held at the Hamilton County Judicial Center, 1 Hamilton County Square, is always a hit with families and includes holiday music and sing-alongs, special guests, a reading of "The Night Before Christmas" by Mayor John Ditslear, and of course, the lighting of the beautiful downtown lights and Christmas tree. The ceremony will take place inside with the tree lighting on the courthouse square.

To celebrate Small Business Saturday, make sure you stop by the Nickel Plate Arts Gifted exhibit and the other downtown merchants on Saturday, Nov. 30. Gifted, an exhibit-turned-gift-market featuring locally made art and crafts that make great holiday gifts, will remain until Dec. 28 and will be available from noon to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday at the Judge Stone House, 107 S. Eighth St.

The holiday spirit continues at 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 1 with the annual Christmas Parade. As always, the holiday parade will mark the debut of Santa Claus to Noblesville for the season. This parade is rain or shine or will makes its way from 16th Street and Harrison Street to Logan Street; west on Logan to 9th Street; north on 9th to Monument Street; and east on Monument to 16th Street where it will end.

Fiscal conservative PAC vs. local Republican Party

It was the late Tip O'Neill, long-time Speaker of the House, that said all politics are local. The most local political organization that exists is at the precinct level.

Democrats and Republicans have precinct officials. Those precinct committeemen and committeewomen are elected to those positions.

PAC is crying foul because their loyalty to the Republican Party is being questioned.

The Fiscal Conservatives of Hamilton County is a Political Action Committee (PAC) aimed at electing candidates the PAC defines as conservative. Many of the people serving on the board of this PAC are also Republican precinct-level officials.

The PAC issued a news release Monday saying that four of the PAC board members received a notification from State Senator Victoria Spartz, Secretary of the 5th District Republican Central Committee, which asserts the four are being charged with "not being in good standing" with the Republican Party.

The four Republican precinct-level officials receiving this notice are Gregg Feigh of Carmel, Lee Clark of Noblesville, David Giffel of Fishers and the PAC President Bill Smythe of Fishers.

This is just the start of the process of determining whether the four PAC board members will be removed from their precinct positions for being part of a PAC that endorsed Independent and Democratic candidates in the recently-held local elections.

Will the local Republican Party back down and allow the four to keep their precinct jobs? Time will tell.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

NobleMade, Nickel Plate Arts bring you 12 Days of Christmas

Submitted

This month marks the first anniversary of Nickel Plate Arts' quest to focus on artist entrepreneurship and small business development at its new location called NobleMade, and Nickel Plate Arts is celebrating by doubling down on its investment this holiday season.

NobleMade, housed in the Noblesville Visitor Center on Conner Street, has proven to be a perfect outlet for art and goods made by Noblesville artisans who celebrate Noblesville's culture and heritage. Meanwhile, the Nickel Plate Arts gallery space on 8th Street in Noblesville has continued to be a great venue for artists from throughout Central Indiana to exhibit their work and connect with other artists and patrons.

For the holiday season, the power of these two locations combine to provide unparalleled holiday shopping and art experiences on 12 days of themed discounts and workshops beginning on Small Business Saturday.

Between Nickel Plate Arts' "Gifted" annual holiday marketplace exhibit called and a holiday showcase at NobleMade, over 90 local entrepreneurs are represented. During the 12 Days of Christmas promotions, the two stores will feature live demonstrations, workshops and special events ranging from book signings and food trucks to DIY wreath and woodworking workshops. Guests can not only find deals on one-of-a-kind gifts, but they can also get hands-on and make their own gifts and decorations.

Nickel Plate Arts executive director Aili McGill explained that these events are designed to feature the many different types of art that are produced in Central Indiana.

"Our 12 Days of Christmas event is designed to highlight the best of the best of our arts community, to get art-lovers excited about celebrating the holiday season through the arts, and to remind everyone in our region that handmade items make wonderful gifts!" McGill said. "We hope that art-lovers and experience-seekers will use our 12 Days to plan out their December shopping trips and adventures."

Supporting local artisans supports the entire community. McGill noted that "Buying art and handmade goods from Nickel Plate Arts or NobleMade is a way to directly participate in the economic growth of the Nickel Plate region." The 12 Days of Christmas promotions are a practical way both to shop for your friends and relatives as well as support local artisans and small businesses.

As the 12 Days of Christmas events feature many artists, details and dates, Nickel Plate Arts encourages guests to visit nickelplatearts.org/holidays or facebook.com/nickelplatearts/events.

Be safe, plan ahead for Thanksgiving travel

The REPORTER

AAA predicts an estimated 49.3 million travelers hitting the road this year for Thanksgiving, the most since 2005 and slightly higher than last year.

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) urges you to plan ahead and travel safely, especially as increased traffic is expected throughout the state. Increased travel times will be possible as you make your way to your destination. INDOT encourages motorists to allow extra time when traveling so you arrive safely and on time.

Beginning at noon on Wednesday, Nov. 27, INDOT will lift most road restrictions and closures where possible. However, in some locations, it is not safe to do so. Visit indot.carsprogram.org to see where you can expect work zones and plan your route accordingly. Construction work will resume on Monday morning (Dec. 2).

Drive safely

- Pay attention: Put the phone down and don't drive distracted. Don't talk or text and keep your hands on the wheel.

- Slow down: Follow the posted speed limit, especially in work zones.

- Plan ahead: Allow extra time to reach your destination. Expect delays and plan your route ahead of time.

- Drive sober: Don't drive under the influence of alcohol or other substances. Buzzed driving is drunk driving.

Carmel resident forms new law firm

The REPORTER

Long-time local attorneys Kimberly D. Jeselskis, BJ Brinkerhoff and Hannah Kaufman Joseph have partnered to form the new Indianapolis law firm, Jeselskis Brinkerhoff and Joseph, LLC ("JBJ Legal").

"The traditional law firm model is a dinosaur. Clients dread the billable hour and have come to think of lawyers as a necessary evil rather than a trusted adviser and business partner," explained Joseph. "However, at JBJ Legal, we know there's a better way. We are providing those cost-effective, responsive and dynamic legal services to our clients."

JBJ Legal provides full-service legal representation to entrepreneurs, individuals and growth-oriented organizations for all their business, employment and litigation needs. Entrepreneurs, small business owners and individuals need a new way to work with sophisticated legal professionals. The business of practicing law is changing rapidly with the advent of automation, self-service legal options, and increasing competition in the marketplace.

"We recognize one size doesn't fit all," said Jeselskis. "We work to understand what the client needs and find them the solution that fits their situation, budget, and goals. Our practice is much more than putting a client into a template formula and strategy."

Also avoiding the traditional law firm's idea of location, JBJ Legal is likely the largest law firm in Indianapolis working out of a co-working space, Industrious Mass Ave.

"We may remain in this non-traditional space," shared Brinkerhoff. "Like us, co-working feels approachable, energetic, progressive and reflects our personalities. The atmosphere is collaborative and solution-oriented, not unnecessarily competitive."

Kimberly D. Jeselskis focuses her practice on employment and labor law. She represents both individuals and employers in a wide range of employment law, labor law, and benefits matters, including discrimination, harassment, retaliation, whistleblower, the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA), wage and overtime violations, and wrongful termination. She also advises and represents clients with severance agreements, executive agreements and restrictive covenants, such as non-compete, non-solicitation, confidentiality and nondisclosure agreements. Her practice encompasses all aspects of the employment relationship – from hiring to termination and post-employment issues. As a Registered Civil Mediator, she also mediates employment related disputes. She also owns KDW Marketing with her husband. Learn more at jbjlegal.com/kimberlyjeselskis.

BJ Brinkerhoff offers clients a wealth of experience on a wide variety of business advice and litigation matters, representing individuals, closely held companies and large corporations with many of their legal and entrepreneurial needs. He focuses his practice on business disputes, including employment matters such as restrictive covenants and trade secrets, as well as shareholder claims, director and officer liability and day-to-day business disputes. Learn more at jbjlegal.com/bjbrinkerhoff.

Hannah Kaufman Joseph developed a thriving and successful law practice serving the needs of small business owners and entrepreneurs. She assists clients with buying and selling businesses, forming new ventures, raising capital, employment matters, and drafting and negotiating contracts between businesses and their vendors, contractors and customers. Hannah applies real world, practical experience owning and operating several small businesses with sophisticated legal advice on how to manage risk and maximize profit. In addition to the time Hannah spends as an attorney, she has also helped her husband run their restaurant King David Dogs and a catering company called Mercenary BBQ. Learn more at jbjlegal.com/hannah-kaufmanjoseph.

Additional JBJ Legal teammates include Alex Blackwell (Associate Attorney), MacKenzie Johnson (Law Clerk and current third-year law student) and Kellie Bowling (Office Manager).

About JBJ Legal

JBJ Legal provides full-service legal representation to entrepreneurs, individuals and companies for all their business, employment, labor, litigation, dispute, contract and commercial law needs. JBJ Legal says it is small enough to maintain lower costs which benefits our clients yet sophisticated enough to provide exceptional service and representation. JBJ Legal is in downtown Indianapolis at 350 Massachusetts Ave., Suite 300. To learn more, visit JBJLegal.com.

Luke Kenley thanks Riverview Health for excellent caregiving

Dear Editor:

Sally and I want to thank Riverview Hospital, the doctors and the staff for the outstanding treatment we received there during Sally's recent illness. For five days in intensive care and several days thereafter, plus two visits to the emergency room, we could not have received better treatment. It is truly a blessing for our community to have such a fine facility, but even more so such very caring caregivers.

We should also thank the hospital board and county elected officials for making the decision some 20 years or more ago to pursue the goal of a competitive, outstanding county hospital. We are all beneficiaries of such foresighted thinking and determined efforts to make Riverview the hospital we can be proud to have in our community.

Reader: County Democrat Chairman insults Hamilton County residents

Dear Editor:

The Chairman of the Hamilton County Democratic Party made the following statement after election night results: "The demographics are changing here with younger, higher income, better educated moving in," Weingarten said. "This is not the Hamilton County of 30 years ago." (quote from the Indy Star Internet post). He also repeated it in the Hamilton County Reporter.

This is an insult to everyone living in Hamilton County, as he believes his group of voters are smarter than the rest of us. Well, Mr. Weingarten, it has been the leadership of Republican mayors Brainard, Cook, Fadness and Ditslear, Republican County Commissioners, Republican County Councilors and respective councils that have led Hamilton County for well over the past 58 years. The reason young families want to be in Fishers, Noblesville, Carmel, Westfield, Cicero, Sheridan, etc. is that these leaders make Hamilton County the best place to live, work, go to school and play – not you or your team.

Your insult of Hamilton County voters of not being of the same intelligence level as your Democratic group is an insult to every farmer, factory worker, schoolteacher, business owner, judge, political leader and our children. Your elitist view is the exact reason your party has not been in power in our great county.

Most agree our multiple party system is good and necessary for our governing system to work. Insulting the voters is not needed just because the party out of power won a few positions. The mandate is clear, keep the Republicans running the county as they have done a GREAT job to date.

The "wait till next year" comment sounds like a sports team that finished 0 and 16 for the 58th season but scored their first touchdown in 58 years. Stop your end zone dance and insults. The great people of Hamilton County, made up of all parties, deserve a thank you from you, not insults to their education level. We receive enough of this type of behavior out of Washington, D.C.

Sincerely,
Birch Dalton

Keep the ‘FOG’ out of your pipes this holiday

The REPORTER

With the holidays just around the corner, Indiana American Water is reminding customers not to invite FOG (Fats, Oils and Grease) clogs to your gatherings. Along with turkey, gravy and all the trimmings come fats, oils and grease that – if poured down the drain – can adhere to the insides of pipes, causing clogs that lead to sewer overflows and backups.

Neither dishwashing detergents nor garbage disposals can properly break down these materials, which build up over time. This buildup of grease can restrict the flow of wastewater, or worse yet, block the homeowners' or utility's sewer pipes.

"As many of us are celebrating with family and friends this holiday season and spending more time in the kitchen over the next several weeks, we encourage our customers to be very careful about what they are putting down their drains," said Indiana American Water President Matt Prine. "FOG can cause costly backups in home drain and sewer systems and also adversely affect the environment if the overflow enters rivers, lakes and streams."

The good news is that blockages caused by grease are preventable. Customers can reduce blockages by properly disposing of FOG and not washing it down the drain. Defend your drains and prevent FOG clogs by following these simple tips:

- Never pour grease into sinks, toilets, or down drains.
- Allow the grease to cool and use a rubber scraper to remove the fat, oil, and grease from cookware, plates, utensils and cooking surfaces. Then place the grease in a sealed container and dispose of it in the trash.
- Install baskets/strainers in the sink drain to catch food scraps and empty them into the garbage.
- Please keep in mind that garbage disposals do not prevent grease from washing down the drain. Also, detergents that claim to dissolve grease may pass it down the line and cause problems in other parts of the wastewater system.

• Finally, the holidays typically mean more guests in the home and trips to the bathroom. Flushing baby wipes (even those that are labeled flushable or biodegradable) and paper towels down the toilet has become an issue in some areas. Wipes should be tossed in the trash.

Indiana American Water

is conducting a holiday-themed awareness campaign throughout the season and beyond on the importance of FOG-related disposal. TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you. And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment: Of sin, because they believe not on me; Of righteousness, because I go to my Father, and ye see me no more; Of judgment, because the prince of this world is judged. I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will shew you things to come. He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and shall shew it unto you.

John 16:7-14 (KJV)

Millers open with easy victory

By RICHIE HALL

NOBLESVILLE - With a new coach and several new varsity players, Miller fans probably did need a program to see who was taking to the court in the Noblesville boys basketball team's opening game Tuesday at The Mill.

Those new Millers did pretty well in the team's first game. Noblesville had a strong defensive effort in the first half, and that was the foundation for a 52-33 victory for the Millers over Tindley. Noblesville also has a handful of players with varsity experience back, and they did their part as well.

First-year coach John Peckinpaugh said that for the first time out, "our guys did pretty good. I think we return seven minutes a game, so we're getting there."

One of the key returners is Brendon Fisher, a senior who had some good minutes for Noblesville last year. Fisher had an outstanding start to the game, scoring the Millers' first eight points. That included two 3-pointers, the second of which began a 10-0 run that carried Noblesville to a 15-4 lead early in the second quarter.

"He had a great summer," said Peckinpaugh. "He really emerged as a leader for us from day one. He's just level-headed, he stays calm under pressure and he really knows how to play the game. He doesn't ever really make the wrong play. He's going to have to play a big role all year for us if we want to win games."

Jordan Gadis, another senior who played solid minutes for the Millers last year, added to the run with a layin, then junior Evan Wilson nailed a 3 to finish the first-quarter scoring. The second period began with freshman Preston Roberts making a layin, and Noblesville had a 15-4 lead.

The newer players asserted themselves in the second quarter. Junior Noah Harris and sophomore E.J. Smith both had baskets during that period. It was a low-scoring quarter, but the Millers' defense stood tough, and kept the team well ahead at halftime with a 21-8 lead.

"Coming into the game, we were a little bit worried because we didn't know exactly what they did, but we felt like we have a pretty good idea of what we wanted to do against them," said Peckinpaugh. "I think our guys executed our game prep really, really well. We wanted to keep them out of the lane and I thought we did a really good job with that, with our gap help from our wings. So I was really pleased with how we played defensively."

Noblesville's offense got going again in the third quarter. Fisher knocked in two more 3s, and Smith added eight points, including a 3-pointer. Peckinpaugh calls Smith "a really good player," noting that he "gives us a dimension that we don't have."

Another player to watch for is the 6-foot-6 Harris. He led the Millers in rebounds with seven and handed out five assists. Peckinpaugh said that Harris is the team's "X-factor."

"We'll go as far as Noah Harris will take us," said Peckinpaugh. "He's got to have a great, great year for us to be where we want to be. He's a great kid. Mom and Dad have done a great job with him."

Noblesville led 39-20 after three quarters, and maintained that advantage through the fourth period. Alex Hunt, another senior who had solid varsity minutes last year, added four points in that quarter.

Fisher finished the game with 17 points, totaling five 3-pointers. Smith scored 10 points.

The Millers go on the road for the first time this season on Saturday, traveling to Columbus East.
