Shaffer: Carmel's debt could violate Indiana constitution

Dear Editor

Article 13 of the Indiana Constitution says, "No political or municipal corporation ... shall ever become indebted ... in the aggregate, exceeding two per centum on the value of the taxable property within such corporation . . ."

Carmel's most recent Adjusted Net Assessed Valuation for Carmel was $8.1 billion, according to the Indiana Department of Local Government Finance's Gateway website.

Two percent of that would be $162 million. Carmel's annual financial reports list $786.6 million in aggregate principal borrowed - $94.7 million for the city, $17.3 million for the wastewater department, $101.9 million for the water department, for a city-wide $213.9 million total, plus $572.7 million for the Carmel Redevelopment Authority.

Carmel is either 4.8 times greater than the limit or a mere 1.3 times greater than the constitutional limit.

Letter to the Editor-Weingarten: Wait until next year

Dear Editor:

In reply to Mr. Dalton -

I am very sorry that you feel the way you do about my statements. But I also sense that you feel very threatened by the clear fact that the make-up of the population of Hamilton County is changing and the politics of the county is changing. The days of this being a 100 percent Republican county are gone.

Last year, the first Democrat was elected in 58 years. This year for the first time in history Democrats were elected to the Carmel and Fishers City Councils. To top that off one Democrat ran in a non-contested race for city council in Atlanta.

A Democrat non-contested - impossible, unheard off. But it did happen.

Wait until next year, yes, wait until next year as we continue to bring a message to the people of Hamilton County. A number of Democrats last year received votes in the mid-40 percent range, far higher than the old days of a few years ago of 25 to 30 percent. The people of Hamilton County are very smart and it seems you have discounted this fact.

The population of the county is changing. It is becoming higher educated as technology companies move into the area. You are right, the county is a good place to live and raise children. A great deal of this reason is because of the non-partisan school boards and not the city governments.

The city governments are placing a very high mortgage on the future for this great place to live. The 1.4 billion-dollar debt in Carmel is not acceptable and the growing debt as Fishers tries to catch up with its building programs without real citizen input is also not acceptable. If these places are so great why do the governments continue to give developers tax breaks? They would come anyway.

The concept of being able to speak up at a city meeting is vanishing. So, the Republicans are trying to rule as if they can without any citizen input. This is not an insult but a clear indication of what is happening.

Wait until next year is not a sports slogan but rather a continuation of what we have started to do, to inform voters of what is going on behind closed doors. To demand that our elected officials be transparent and to stop the reckless spending as if there is no tomorrow. That all elected officials ask and listen to the citizens. To provide voters a choice in an election instead of a one-party rule.

If any of this offends you, I am very sorry but maybe instead of blindly following a party you start to ask questions of your party.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Now they have known that all things whatsoever thou hast given me are of thee. For I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me; and they have received them, and have known surely that I came out from thee, and they have believed that thou didst send me. I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me; for they are thine. And all mine are thine, and thine are mine; and I am glorified in them. And now I am no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are. While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy name: those that thou gavest me I have kept, and none of them is lost, but the son of perdition; that the scripture might be fulfilled.

Girls basketball Tigers win hard-fought game over Huskies

Fishers beat Hamilton Heights 41-33 in a hard-fought, all-county game Wednesday at the Tiger Den.

The Class 4A No. 5 Tigers led 10-6 after the first quarter, with Audra Emmerson scoring five of Fishers' points. Freshman Olivia Smith stepped up in the second period, adding another five points and helping the Tigers to a 23-12 halftime lead. Meanwhile, the Huskies' Bayleigh Runner hit a 3-pointer in each of the first two quarters.

The third period was a low-scoring one, but Fishers was still in front, 31-19, at the end of that quarter. Emmerson added two more 3s, while Runner scored five points. The Huskies made a run in the fourth period, at one point getting the lead below five. But the Tigers finished the game solidly from the free-throw line, making 10 of 14 attempts.

"The free-throw line was our friend," said Fishers coach Lauren Votaw. She was happy with the win, and "especially a win in that fashion," she said.

"Hamilton Heights did a great job," said Votaw. "They had an excellent game plan coming in and Runner was who she is. The kid's phenomenal. She was bigtime when they needed her to be big-time and other kids hit shots."

Emmerson led the Tigers with 17 points, including three 3-pointers.

"She worked really hard in the off-season, especially on that 3-point shot," said Votaw. "I thought she was very steady tonight, consistency. She kept her cool under pressure and also was shooting it really well."

Katie Burton had seven rebounds to go with her six points.

Mallory Miller scored for Noblesville, then teammate Abby Haley drained a 3-pointer to get the Millers up 13-12. But the Royals took the lead back at the buzzer with a layin by Ryan Viele, and HSE led 14-13 at halftime.

Parrish took over in the second half, pouring in 12 points in the third quarter alone. Jackie Maulucci also got going, with seven points; both players made a 3-pointer in that period, as did Viele. When the dust settled, Southeastern held a 38-23 lead.

His layup with 54.0 seconds remaining regained the lead for the Thunder, and Oklahoma City closed the first on a 14-4 run to grab a 29-26 lead as time expired. After Indiana quickly tied the score on Justin Holiday's 3-pointer out of the break, the Thunder's primary sixth-man, Dennis Schroder, scored Oklahoma City's first five points of the period to push the Thunder ahead once again. But the Pacers did not fold. Matching the Thunder shot-for-shot. Indiana kept Oklahoma City within arm's reach until they were able to strike. Trailing 44-40, Jeremy Lamb drilled After playing a tight third quarter, a 3-pointer, and Warren followed with a tough baseline jumper to grab the Pacers' first lead of the second quarter, 45-44, with 5:00 left in the half. 15-year NBA veteran Chris Paul nailed back-to-back fadeaway jumpers to trim Indiana's lead to 93-91 with 4:40 remaining. The buckets forced Pacers head coach Nate McMillan to call a timeout.

Out of the timeout, Sabonis snagged tough bucket that pushed Indiana ahead by four. Unfortunately, the two-possession lead was short lived, as Shai Gilgeous-Alexander completed a 3-point play. With 2:45 remaining, Adams then pushed the Thunder back in front, 96-95. But the Blue & Gold responded in a huge way. Due to foul trouble, Turner was subbed in for Sabonis. Immediately, Warren spotted Turner wide open on the left wing for the 3-pointer. With 2:32 left to play, Turner rose up and arced his shot. It sank without a doubt.

T.J Warren scored a game-high 24 points on 9-of-15 shooting. Domantas Sabonis notched his 16th double-double of the season with 17 points and 13 rebounds, while Doug McDermott added 14 off the bench, including nine in the fourth quarter. For the second consecutive game, seven Pacers scored in double figures.

The Blue & Gold had difficulty defending Thunder big man Steven Adams for the majority of the first half. The eight-year NBA veteran led all scorers in the first half with 14 points on a perfect 6-of-6 shooting. His hook shot with 29.5 seconds left in the second quarter clinched a 50-49 halftime lead for the Thunder. However, he was limited to just six points in the second half.

Justin Holiday's layup with 0.4 seconds remaining in the third quarter grabbed a 79-78 Pacers lead heading into the fourth. With 2:32 remaining in the fourth, Myles Turner checked in for Sabonis and drilled Lamb's fadeaway jumper with 4:40 left in the frame pulled the Pacers to within two, 68-66. But, Oklahoma City responded with five unanswered points to take their largest lead of the game, 73-66, with 3:24 to play. It appeared as if the Thunder were going to pull away. But Justin Holiday had other plans.

Trailing 78-72 with 1:07 remaining, Holiday scored five points of a 7-0 Pacers run that closed out the quarter, including his end-to-end layup that fell through the hoop with just 0.4 seconds left on the clock. His resilient play snagged a 79-78 lead heading into the final frame. The honors of igniting Indiana were then passed to Doug McDermott

After Sabonis connected on two free throws, the sharpshooter scored nine straight Pacers points, including a putback shot after snagging a tough offensive rebound in the paint that gave Indiana an 88-85 lead with 8:37 left to play.

Just over three minutes later, Warren's running floater pushed the Pacers lead to 93-87, their largest since leading by seven in the early moments of the first quar-

Brogdon and Warren then went a combined 3-of-4 from the free throw line to give Indiana a 101-96 lead with 1:31 remaining.

With under a minute to play, Indiana protected a 103-100 lead by playing lock-down defense along the perimeter. With the hot-handed Gallinari swarmed, the ball was kicked out to the less-accurate Terrance Ferguson. Ferguson missed the 3-pointer, and Warren grabbed the rebound. Warren then sank both free throws, and Justin Holiday then sealed the victory with a steal and a slam on the offensive end.
