NewPro Containers expanding in Westfield

The REPORTER

On Monday, Westfield Mayor Andy Cook and executives with NewPro Containers announced the company will expand its Westfield operations, adding 10,000 square feet and three new employees.

NewPro Containers relocated to Westfield in 2018 and currently employs 21 people in its 51,000 square-foot facility on Southpark Drive. It is a family owned and operated manufacturer, importer and wholesale distributor of commercial-grade plant containers and supplies.

"I am excited to see NewPro expanding in Westfield," said Cook. "It is my hope that they will continue to grow in our community. NewPro is a strong company with a smart growth strategy. The company is investing in its people and in our community while continuing to increase its market share. This announcement is a 'win' for our city."

"NewPro's growth has far exceeded expectations since making the move to Westfield from Zionsville, requiring we invest further in expansion," said Jeremy Dearing, CEO/Owner of NewPro Containers. "The amenities Westfield offers also play a major role in attracting/retaining talent, hosting business partners and entertaining prospects, such as the growing list of restaurants, the Monon Trail, Colts Training Camp at Grand Park and excitement around Grand Junction."

About NewPro Containers

George Dearing founded NewPro Containers in 1989. The company is a family owned and operated manufacturer, importer and wholesale distributor of commercial grade plant containers and supplies. NewPro provides wholesale containers to both interior and exterior landscaping professionals, nationally and internationally, while maintaining a wide variety of products with a large in-stock inventory to ensure the products are available and shipped to you, on time.

Carmel to swear-in new elected officials

The REPORTER

The city of Carmel will conduct a swearing-in ceremony for newly-elected officials at 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 18 in Multipurpose Room A/B/C at the Monon Community Center, 1235 Central Park Drive East.

Indiana Lt. Gov. Suzanne Crouch will be in attendance to administer the oaths of offices. A reception with light refreshments will follow the ceremony and take place in Multipurpose Room C.

The event will conclude by 6:30 p.m.

After each city election, the city of Carmel hosts an official inauguration ceremony for newly elected and returning public officials. This year, because Carmel has become a 2nd Class City, there will be two new seats on the Carmel City Council. Candidates will take their oath of office during this ceremony and be sworn in as they prepare to take their positions as elected officials on Jan. 1, 2020.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

Cicero Print & Design officially opens its doors

The REPORTER

The Northern Hamilton County Chamber of Commerce (NHCCC) held a special ribbon-cutting celebration last week to welcome northern Hamilton County's newest business, Cicero Print & Design.

"We are super excited about being here and looking forward to building a long relationship with the community," said Mary Cremoni of the new venture.

"We are extremely grateful to all who have helped us along the way and especially to Brett Morrow, who went above and beyond in helping us finish out and transition this space into the new home of Cicero Print & Design," added Jerry Cremoni, who says he is in for the long haul.

"It speaks volumes that this civic-minded couple has taken a milestone step to invest in our community with their new business," said NHCCC President Wade Wiley. "Dan Strong, also representing the Chamber and a former business owner, shares in the excitement of the Cremoni's new business. Their multitude of products, services, and convenience will benefit the greater Northern Hamilton County area and beyond. Having a local web design service is just fantastic!"

The public is invited to stop by to learn more about Cicero Print & Design, take advantage of store specials, and enter to win during a special grand opening promotion.

The business is a one-stop shop for office supplies, self-serve copy service, graphic art and web design and printing services. Hours are 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays. The business is closed on Sundays. More information can be found online at ciceroprintdesign.com.

Letter to the Editor

Student calls for mold clean up regulations

Dear Editor,

I have come across some concerns in Hamilton County when it comes to mold in houses, schools, local shops, rental properties and workplaces alike.

It concerns me because according to Hamilton County's own website, it states, "Currently there are no regulations or standards that require mold to be cleaned up or address how much mold you can be exposed to."

If the state and county do not have clear standards or regulations, how we going to improve our air quality and lower risk of mold-related infections? Mold can be anywhere and without standards, it can be growing in our workplaces, our homes and even the stores we go to shop.

The other piece of information that concerns me and the general population is about rent properties with a landlord. My old house in Noblesville was rented and our landlord did and still is not required to disclose high concentrations of mold in rental properties to prospective tenants according to Nolo, an organization that helps consumers and small businesses find answers to their everyday legal and business questions.

Why don't we strive for a better community that has fewer risks of being exposed to mold? Those with asthma and allergy-related issues such as myself can be at serious risk.

According to the CDC about mold, "Some people are sensitive to molds. For these people, exposure to molds can lead to symptoms such as stuffy nose, wheezing, and red or itchy eyes, or skin. Some people, such as those with allergies to molds or with asthma, may have more intense reactions. Severe reactions may occur among workers exposed to large amounts of molds in occupational settings, such as farmers working around moldy hay. Severe reactions may include fever and shortness of breath."

Starting the solution with clear standards and regulations will help bring high rates of mold down. We already have companies that will come and help clean up mold but what we need are clear guidelines to how rental properties, houses, schools, shops and workplaces are investigated for mold.

Applications are now available for State Senate page program

The Indiana Senate is now accepting applications for the 2020 Senate Page Program.

Through the full-day program, students in grades six through 12 can tour Indiana's Statehouse, listen to debates and help staff with age-appropriate tasks. Students also have the opportunity to meet with their state senator.

"I encourage all eligible students to register for the Senate Page Program," State Sen. Victoria Spartz (R-Noblesville) said. "Pages learn so much about the legislative process and state government, aligning what they learn in the classroom with firsthand experience on the Senate Floor."

The Senate Page Program will begin in January and run through early March. Positions fill quickly, so it is important to apply early. Pages are scheduled for Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays during the legislative session. They begin their day at 8:30 a.m. and are dismissed at 3:30 p.m. Groups serve together on Wednesdays. Serving as a page is considered an excused absence from school.

For more information or to apply, visit IndianaSenateRepublicans.com/page-program.

Indiana Governor Eric Holcomb announces 2020 Next Level Agenda

Submitted

Indiana Governor Eric J. Holcomb has announced his 2020 Next Level Agenda, which focuses on improving the lives of Hoosiers with better health, improved career opportunities and a better place to live.

"Because of the hard work of Hoosiers, Indiana has become a destination of certainty and stability, but we can't stop there," Holcomb said. "As I travel the state, I hear people concerned about rising health care costs, the increase in youth vaping and our education system. My goal is to listen to their concerns and find solutions to build a bolder, brighter future."

The 2020 Next Level Agenda includes five pillars detailing both legislative and administrative priorities for the year ahead.

Cultivate a strong and diverse economy

To continue strengthening our economy, Holcomb's 2020 agenda focuses on transforming how we tell Indiana's story by elevating Indiana's profile within and outside the state with joint branding and promotion efforts with the private sector and the new Indiana Destination Development Corporation with the goal of attracting more jobs and more people. The state will also build a 21st century defense innovation ecosystem to triple federal defense investment in Indiana by 2025.

Maintain and build the state's infrastructure

Holcomb

The 2020 agenda is designed to connect Hoosiers with reliable infrastructure. To accomplish this goal, Holcomb's $1 billion Next Level Connections program expands broadband service to unserved areas in Indiana, grows the state's systems of trails and creates more nonstop international flights. The 2020 agenda also focuses on preserving our highways and decreasing distracted driving by enacting a hands-free device driving law.

Develop a 21st century skilled and ready workforce

Holcomb will continue to make finding long-term sustainable solutions to improve teacher compensation a top priority by supporting the Next Level Teacher Compensation Commission. The 2020 agenda also includes identifying unfunded mandates and unnecessary requirements in K-12 education for elimination in 2021, holding schools harmless for ILEARN scores, changing career-related teacher professional growth points from required to optional, and redesigning the state's prison educa-

State Reps. Huston, Schaibley endorse Governor's 2020 agenda

The REPORTER

On Tuesday, State Representatives Todd Huston (R-Fishers) and Donna Schaibley (R-Carmel) issued statements following the announcements of Governor Eric Holcomb's 2020 Next Level Agenda:

"Governor Holcomb's Next Level agenda highlights many of our shared legislative priorities, and we will work together to tackle the issues important to Hoosiers," said Huston. "From investing cash reserves in one-time capital projects with the potential to save the state more than $120 million in interest, to addressing rising health care costs, we have a busy session ahead. Legislators are preparing to hit the ground running, and I'm confident we will deliver on our goals and continue the state's positive momentum."

Huston

Schaibley

"The governor's agenda hits on major issues that matter to Hoosiers the most, including rising health care costs," said Schaibley. "Consumers deserve to know how much a procedure will cost up front to avoid getting hit with unexpected and costly bills. I look forward to working on legislation that aims to tackle these issues in the 2020 session."

tion system to better prepare Department of Correction offenders to re-enter society.

Public health and the drug epidemic

Holcomb is calling for raising the age to purchase tobacco and e-cigarettes from 18 to 21 and enhancing enforcement to prevent underage buyers. The 2020 agenda also includes providing healthcare price transparency for consumers via an "All-Payer Claims Database," protecting consumers from surprise medical bills, improving mental health services at schools and hospitals, and incentivizing more community paramedicine programs. In the fight against the drug epidemic, the Governor wants to add more recovery housing for Hoosiers coping with substance use disorder. The state will continue to work toward becoming the best state in the Midwest for infant mortality by 2024 by protecting pregnant workers by providing more workplace accommodations.

Deliver great government service

The 2020 agenda saves Hoosiers more than $125 million in borrowing costs by using $300 million in cash now to fund capital projects. Additionally, Holcomb will simplify how Hoosiers reach out for health and human services assistance by integrating the 2-1-1 helpline into FSSA call centers.

"These aren't just lofty goals — they are solutions to improve the lives of Hoosiers around Indiana," Holcomb said. "We are charting a bold course for our state to become the absolute best place in America to grow as an individual, a family, a business and as a community."

Fishers Arts Council announces 2020 exhibits

The REPORTER

The Fishers Arts Council (FAC) presents its 2020 Exhibit Season of art at The Art Gallery at City Hall beginning on Jan. 2. The 2020 season features 16 exhibits by artists from Fishers and the surrounding area, including a High School Senior Showcase in April.

Each exhibit will feature a free evening reception during which the public has the opportunity to interact with the artists. This season looks to expand the viewing hours as well.

The 2020 season offers the works of local artists such as James Anderson, Greg Beall, Bryce Culverhouse, Britton Farrand, Michael Janosky, Jeannette Pomeroy Parsi, Gale Sturm and Paula Wright.

Additionally, there will be a special exhibit in February (Black History) featuring Fishers High School and Fall Creek Junior High School Students. In March, as part of Disabilities Awareness Month, FAC will offer the work of artists with disabilities. In July, FAC will celebrate the fine art from the Hamilton County Artists' Association.

Exhibits

- January: Dreaming in Color – Jeannette Parsi
- February: Black History: Visual & Performing Art

- March: Disabilities Awareness Art
- April: Senior Showcase
- May: I am Story: B Farrand, the Experimentalist
- June: The Art of Michael Janosky
- July: Fine Art by Hamilton County Artists' Association
- August: The Art of James Anderson
- September: The Art of Illustration & Caricatures
- October: First Annual Juried Exhibition
- November: The Art of the Graphic Artist
- December: The Emerging Artist

Of the 16 exhibits, four will be held in the new exhibit area, The Alcove. Those exhibits will be on display for three months each. The Alcove exhibits will feature Gale Sturm (first quarter), Bryce Culverhouse (second quarter); Greg Beall (third quarter) and Paula Wright (fourth quarter).

The exhibits are open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday (excluding holidays) at The Art Gallery at City Hall and every Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon during Fishers Summer Farmers Market.

Most artwork is available for sale by emailing FishersArtsCouncil@gmail.com.

Four ways to protect yourself from ID theft this holiday season

StatePoint

'Tis the season for holiday shopping. When making purchases online, be sure to protect yourself from becoming a victim of identity theft – it's more common than you may think.

With just a few pieces of personal information, thieves can open new credit lines, drain bank accounts and file fraudulent tax returns. The Federal Trade Commission says credit card fraud was the number one type of identity theft reported in 2018, with 167,000 people saying their information was misused on an existing account or used to open a new credit card account. No matter what form it takes, identity theft can cost thousands of dollars and take years to correct.

Below are four tips to help prevent identity theft:

1. Vary passwords:

Use a different username and password for each shopping account. That way, if someone steals your information on one account, they won't be able to go on a shopping spree at other sites, too.

2. Track transactions:

Check your statements for any suspicious activity. If you don't recognize a transaction, contact your credit card company or bank right away.

3. Beware of scams:

Watch out for phishing scams in which fraudsters send emails that look like they're from a reputable company, but aren't. Avoid clicking on links in emails as they may download malware that can give thieves access to your personal information. Always visit a retailer's website directly to make a purchase.

4. Get identify theft insurance:

Some insurance companies offer coverage to make the process of undoing the damage from identity theft easier and less costly. For example, Erie Insurance has Identity Theft Recovery Coverage, an affordable option that can easily be added to a homeowners or renters insurance policy.

"When someone uses information about you without your permission, it takes time and money to straighten things out," said Robert Buckel, vice president of product management at Erie Insurance. "This coverage offers peace of mind to help you restore your credit and make the process – and your life – a little easier."

Protecting your identity may not be top-of-mind during the holiday shopping season, but with just a few safeguards in place, your online security can be greatly enhanced.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Then the band and the captain and officers of the Jews took Jesus, and bound him, And led him away to Annas first; for he was father in law to Caiaphas, which was the high priest that same year. Now Caiaphas was he, which gave counsel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people. And Simon Peter followed Jesus, and so did another disciple: that disciple was known unto the high priest, and went in with Jesus into the palace of the high priest. But Peter stood at the door without. Then went out that other disciple, which was known unto the high priest, and spake unto her that kept the door, and brought in Peter. Then saith the damsel that kept the door unto Peter, Art not thou also one of this man's disciples? He saith, I am not. And the servants and officers stood there, who had made a fire of coals; for it was cold: and they warmed themselves: and Peter stood with them, and warmed himself. The high priest then asked Jesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine. Jesus answered him, I spake openly to the world; I ever taught in the synagogue, and in the temple, whither the Jews always resort; and in secret have I said nothing. Why askest thou me? ask them which heard me, what I have said unto them: behold, they know what I said.

Max Gene Starrett

August 23, 1932 – December 4, 2019

Max Gene Starrett, 87, Arcadia, passed away December 4, 2019 at Miller's Merry Manor in Tipton. He was born August 23, 1932 in Ekin, Ind., to Malcolm Everett and Melba Florence (Pickard) Starrett.

He was a graduate of Sheridan High School with the Class of 1950. Max was employed for many years at Dow Chemical Company in Indianapolis where he worked in the research and testing department.

He was a longtime member of Arcadia Christian Church and the Tipton American Legion. He enjoyed camping, fishing and all sporting events, especially Hamilton Heights football games and all sporting events in which his children and grandchildren were involved.

His family attested to him being a great dad and grandfather. After retiring he and his wife enjoyed spending winter months in Florida.

He married Marilyn Alice (Peltier) Starrett on June 10, 1951. She preceded him in death May 25, 2019. In addition to his wife and parents, he was also preceded in death by a brother, Bobby Starrett, and sisters, Betty Pickard and Janet Tharp.

Surviving him is a daughter, Robin Sue (Jerry) Eckart, Cicero; sons, Gene "Smoke" (Colleen) Starrett, Cicero, and Donald Max Starrett, Noblesville; a brother, Larry Starrett, Sebring, Fla.; five grandchildren, Chad and Andy Starrett, Amanda Billman, Hilary Kilfoil and Ross Eckart; and several great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 7 p.m. on December 16, 2019 at Hartley Funeral Home Cicero Chapel, 209 W. Jackson St., Cicero, with Pastor J.R. Moffatt officiating. Burial will occur at Arcadia Cemetery. Visitation will be from 4 to 7 p.m. prior to the services.

Memorial contributions may be made to Angels Attic, P.O. Box 544, Arcadia, IN 46030.

Carmel dominates dual with Fishers

The Carmel wrestling team dominated an all-county dual meet with Fishers Wednesday at the Eric Clark Activity Center.

The No. 6-ranked Greyhounds beat the No. 20 Tigers 62-9. Carmel won 12 of the 14 matches, eight of them by fall.

"Their program's getting better," said 'Hounds coach Ed Pendoski. "They've got some kids that have been wrestling for a while. The matchups were really in our favor today. I think they're still missing some guys and so are we. We still had two in our lineup that aren't there yet."

Still, Carmel quickly took control of the meet, winning the first eight bouts. That included pins from Nate Powell, Jake Shafer, Gabe Davin and Garrett Sharp. Paul Grella took the 152-pound match in a major decision, with Joey Langeman, TJ Barrett and Jackson Mitchell winning by decision.

Fishers' JD Farrell received a forfeit at 195 pounds to get the Tigers on the board. But the Greyhounds took the next four matches by fall; Haakon Van Beynen, Jonathan Williams, Suhas Chundi and Brac Hooper were the winners of those bouts.

Fishers' PJ Pritchett won the last match of the evening, in an 8-5 decision. Tigers coach Frank Ingalls called the match "a learning experience."

"We're looking at it as a practice match to get ready for the end of the season, state series," said Ingalls. "I thought our guys fought pretty hard tonight. We got a lot of young guys and we had a lot of back-ups in tonight. Almost half our team is back-ups. We got a lot of injuries right now and we just got to heal up."

Pacers bounce back, win over Celtics

By BRENDAN ROURKE
Courtesy nba.com/pacers

After falling to the L.A. Clippers two nights ago, the Pacers bounced back on Wednesday night in a huge way against the Eastern Conference's second-best team, the Boston Celtics.

Despite 44 points from Boston newcomer Kemba Walker, Indiana (16-9) emerged with the hard-earned 122-117 victory behind the Holiday brothers' impressive fourth quarter.

"You know, it's fun as a team, finally playing against some top teams," Domantas Sabonis said of what the team learned after these two tough games. "It's good to see where we are, you know? And getting one win out of these two is good for us."

After a 15-point performance in the first quarter from the Beantown's biggest offseason signee, Walker, the Celtics (17-6) emerged from the first quarter with a slim 32-30 lead over Indiana. However, the Pacers' defense responded in a big way early in the second quarter. Nate McMillan's squad held Boston to just one field goal in a 4:13 span, and the offense used an 11-2 run to grab a 53-44 lead over the Celtics with 4:00 left to play in the first half. Indiana then held Boston off down the stretch to take a 61-57 lead into halftime.

After a 37-point third quarter — including 15 from Walker — it appeared as if Boston was going to run away with the game. But, the Holiday brothers had other plans.

Aaron and Justin Holiday combined for 20 of Indiana's 38 fourth-quarter points, and Malcolm Brogdon iced the game late at the free throw line, connecting on four consecutive free throws with under a minute to play.

"I think we were really really calm," Justin Holiday said of Indiana's fourth quarter. "[We] took our time, hit the guys that were open, and everybody just made plays."

With Boston in possession, Walker collected the ball and threw up a desperation three in an attempt to tie the game. The man who had been on fire all night missed wide left, hitting nothing but air. The Pacers would then ice the game with two more free throws from Brogdon.

Brogdon led all Pacers scorers with 29 points and went a perfect 15-of-15 from the free-throw line while Aaron and Justin Holiday added 18 and 17 apiece, as Indiana emerged from the bout victorious. Domantas Sabonis notched his 20th double-double of the season by halftime. He finished the game with 15 points, 14 boards, and fell just two assists shy of a triple-double.

After starting just 3-of-14 from the field two nights ago, the Blue & Gold connected on five of their first seven shots of the game, including back-to-back threes from T.J. Warren and Brogdon to grab an early 15-12 lead at the 7:33 mark of the first quarter.

However, the Celtics regained the lead a few minutes later thanks to a quick 14-3 run, including nine from Walker. His finger-roll layup in the paint gave Boston a 30-21 lead with 3:21 left to play in the opening frame, and his 15th point of the quarter. But the Pacers began to combat the onslaught with their reserves.

Indiana outscored the Celtics 9-2 down the final stretch of the period, including four points from the always-energetic T.J. McConnell, to trim the deficit to just two points (32-30) as time expired in the quarter. McConnell's tough right-handed running layup with 31.6 seconds remaining provided the final points of the first quarter.

Out of the break, Boston used four quick points, including a 3-pointer from the former Purdue Boilermaker Carsen Edwards, to open a 36-30 lead on the Pacers. On both his entrance into the game and his ensuing three, Edwards received a nice ovation from the Indiana crowd.

But his field goal would be the only Boston basket for the next 4:13 of the quarter.

Justin Holiday's layup on a fast break at the 8:18 mark of the quarter soon pushed the Pacers back in front 37-36.

Boston later regained a 42-39 lead on Gordon Hayward's fadeaway jumper with 6:05 remaining, but Sabonis responded on the other end with a tough three-point play to knot things up once more at 42 apiece.

The play appeared to spark the Pacers, as they sprinted out on an 11-2 run over a span of 1:38 to take a 53-44 lead and force Celtics head coach Brad Stevens to call a timeout with 4:00 left to play in the half. The run was highlighted by one of Myles Turner's signature rainbow 3-pointers from the left wing that brought the crowd to its feet.

Out of the timeout, the Blue & Gold manage to stretch their lead to 13, 57-44, with 2:33 left in the half. However, Walker almost single-handedly brought Boston back into the game.

The former UConn star scored six of the Celtics' last seven points, including a three-point play with 3.2 seconds left, to cut Indiana's lead to just four as the first half ended.

The halftime break didn't halt Walker's momentum one bit, as he scored 10 of the Celtics first 18 points of the frame to grab a 75-72 Boston lead with 6:06 left to play in the quarter.

Later in the period, Walker would wow the crowd with a no-look pass that led to an easy Jaylen Brown bucket that extended the Celtics' lead to 82-76 with 3:56 left in the third.

Indiana appeared willing to fight back. The Blue & Gold scored the game's next five points in the next 33 seconds to quickly pull within one.

But Walker then picked up right where he left off. The former Charlotte Hornet scored the game's next five points to extend Boston's lead to 87-82 with 2:01 left to play.

As he headed to the bench, Boston continued to find success in the third. The Celtics closed the quarter on a 7-2 run that gave Boston a 94-84 lead, and the momentum, heading into the fourth quarter.

But the Holiday brothers began lighting up the house.

The duo combined for eight points of an early 10-2 fourth-quarter Pacers run. Justin Holiday's emphatic one-handed slam trimmed the deficit to just two, 96-94, with 9:13 left in the game.

Over the next few minutes, they were able to respond to several Boston buckets. Despite their best effort, the Celtics couldn't earn more than a four point lead.

Aaron Holiday's tough layup from the right lane with 5:27 left to play cut the Celtics lead to 102-100. A pair of Doug McDermott free throws then tied the ball game at 102.

With 1:59 left to play, Brogdon broke a 109-109 tie with a pair of free throws to give Indiana a slim two-point lead. After what seemed like a rare miss from Walker, Justin Holiday drilled a clutch 3-pointer from the right baseline to give Indiana a 114-109 lead with 1:25 remaining..

After a Celtics timeout, Indiana could not put the game away. Back-to-back Boston visits to the free-throw line trimmed Indiana's lead to 114-113 with 48.6 seconds left to play. But with time winding down, the Pacers knew just the man who could put the game away.

And he did.

Just as he's done his entire career, Brogdon remained razor sharp from the charity stripe. His two free throws with 2.0 seconds left gave the Pacers their much needed first signature win of the season.

"Ever since high school, there are days when I get in the gym and try to make the best out of 100 [free throws]," Brogdon said. "If I don't get 95 or better, I try to shoot them again. I've been like that since college. I think free throws are the easiest shot in the game. So those are the ones you have to make."
