Westfield Explorer Team raises $1.6K for local family

For the 11th year, members of the Westfield Middle School seventh grade Explorer Team adopted a family from the Hamilton County Good Samaritan Network. This year, the students raised $1,600, which they used on Thursday to buy gifts and gift cards for the family.

It's been quite a week

I am a woman of strength because of my faith. I am a strong woman because of my journey.

The blend of both has made me the woman I am today. My mother has been my greatest influence.

Strength was called upon when I received a call Tuesday morning this past week. I recognized the number as one that should not be calling me that early.

Within minutes I headed out the door, wearing no makeup, my hair brushed only by the bed. Only one thing would send me out without being "put together"... a trip to the emergency room at Riverview.

My sweet mama was confused and speaking word salad. Her words were not making any sense thus ... word salad. Even her nurses were concerned. They had called 911.

My heart raced as I could not get to the hospital, and to her, fast enough. I obeyed the traffic laws but told a few drivers they needed to pedal faster.

I have learned a lot over the years of being

Carmel Police donate for third time to Leukemia and Lymphoma Society

The REPORTER

On Dec. 10, the Carmel Police Department (CPD) presented this year's No-Shave November campaign donations to the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. Chief Jim Barlow relaxed the department's grooming standards regarding facial hair for employees that made monetary donations. A total of 85 CPD officers and employees participated in the campaign this year. Contributions were also made by Integrity Automotive, family members and friends of CPD employees, and other members of the community. The campaign concluded with The Great Shave Off event at Main Street Barber Shop. CPD has participated in No-Shave November for four years. This was the third year that funds from the campaign were donated to the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. A total of $4,842.94 was raised during this year's campaign, increasing the amount that has been donated over the past three years to $20,038.94. CPD would like to thank Integrity Automotive and Main Street Barber Shop for their partnership with the campaign, as well as everyone who made donations.

Carmel Police Department Major Charlie Harding participated in the Great Shave Off event at Main Street Barber Shop. The event concluded CPD's No-Shave November fundraiser that resulted in a $4,842.94 donation to the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society.

HSE students will now return to school Jan. 6

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

When Hamilton Southeastern Schools students return from their winter break, they will be reporting one day earlier than originally planned.

Monday, Jan. 6, was on the original school calendar as a teacher workday. With the Red for Ed teacher gathering at the Statehouse, over 300 HSE teachers asked to take a personal day to attend the Nov. 19 event in downtown Indianapolis.

That resulted in Superintendent Allen Bourff switching Nov. 19 as a teacher work day, since filling classrooms would be so difficult with so many teachers taking personal days. Bourff said at the time he would recommend that the board switch Jan. 6 to a full school day with students expected to report.

The school board unanimously approved Dr. Bourff's request, officially changing Jan. 6 to a regular school day.

her caretaker. Faith helps hold me together when my world becomes shaken as she grows more and more frail.

I sat beside her bed after she was diagnosed with another UTI (urinary tract infection). Within hours of the start of the antibiotic, her speech came back. She was still scared. So was I. Her body continues to betray her.

Time is of the essence with her. This week my job was simply to be her daughter. I met with a wound specialist, occupational therapist, dietician, nurse practitioner and case manager along with nurses and techs who cared well for my mother.

UTIs. Macular degeneration. Arthritis. AFib. Muscles that no longer allow her to walk without struggling. Esophageal dilations because of choking. So many health issues and battles.

Yet ...
By Thursday afternoon she was back to her health-care campus. She was greeted with hugs and "welcome back" by both the residents and staff.

You see, my mother, even with her struggles, has such a warmth and caring about her. She makes sure the girls at her table have their food, have it cut up and if not, she calls for help. She sees them as needing much more help than she does.

At 93, she continues to live her life with a purpose.

In therapy, I have seen her encourage others who struggle to put puzzles together or find answers to a game.

My mother is still teaching me to be an encourager and a woman of strength. I pray I can be the woman that she is someday.

I did tell her I was glad she recognized me at the hospital since I had arrived without my makeup or hair being done. She smiled and said, "Would you go to Prairie Lakes and get my comb? I need to fix my hair."

Maybe I'm more like her than I realize.

provided the means to create the new Courtney Cox Cole Infusion Center and keep these treatments close to home for so many of our patients,” said Megan Wiles, executive director of Riverview Health Foundation. “The beautiful, welcoming new space truly reflects our wonderful community, and our hope is that each patient who walks through our doors feels that.”

The need for infusion and injection therapy continues to increase. Conditions commonly treated at an infusion center include cancer, gastrointestinal disorders and pulmonary illnesses. Patients may also visit for blood transfusions and intravenous antibiotic treatments. Over the last few years, the number of outpatient visits at Riverview Health has doubled to more than 10,000 annually.

“With the growing numbers, we felt there was an opportunity to – not only expand – but create an Infusion Center that better complemented the caring staff members and make our patients' experiences even better," said Angie Bolinger-Anderson, director of Cardiology and Cancer Services.

Having been a patient herself at the previous infusion center, Courtney and her family were able to provide suggestions on what the new space could offer patients. Through their generosity, Courtney and her family also donated the lead gift.

The new Infusion Center triples the amount of space offered in the previous location and now offers private rooms, semi-private suites and infusion pods, ensuring that patients receive care in their preferred manner – whether it be alone or with others.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

– Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

CleanSlate hopes to help more communities increase access to addiction treatment by showcasing its success. To date, CleanSlate has treated more than 53,000 patients in 11 states.

CleanSlate Noblesville is accepting new patients. Those interested should call the center at (317) 674-0062 to schedule an appointment. For more informa-

Recycle your old holiday lights

The REPORTER

Carmel Clay Schools Green Teams, City of Carmel Utilities, Tech Recyclers and White's Ace Hardware are working together to offer a Holiday Light Recycling Drive.

Starting now and running through Jan. 20, the ability to recycle used holiday lights will be offered at White's Ace Hardware at 731 S. Range Line Road. The Carmel Clay Schools Green Teams will offer recycling at the individual schools through Jan. 10. Since the start of the collaborative program, over six tons of lights have been recycled.

Recycling inoperable or inefficient holiday lights keeps those items out of landfills, which reduces the long-term carbon impact on the environment. Additionally, EnergyStar-rated LED lights use 75 percent less energy compared to conventional lights. They also have the following advantages:

- Safer: LEDs are much cooler than incandescent lights, reducing the risk of combustion or burnt fingers.

- Sturdier: LEDs are made with epoxy lenses, not glass, and are much more resistant to breakage.

- Longer lasting: The LED lights lasts 25 times longer than conventional holiday lights.

- Easier to install: Up to 25 strings of LEDs can be connected end-to end without overloading a wall socket.

(Source: energy.gov)

Consider upgrading to LED lights this holiday season. You will help the environment and save in energy costs. And don't forget to recycle your old strings of lights. For more information about the holiday light recycling program, please call (317) 571-2673.

Hill takes action against 'money mules'

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill said on Thursday his office will continue working to protect elders from becoming victims of fraud following his recent successful partnership with federal law enforcement agencies to arrest "money mules."

U.S. Attorney General William Barr recently cited Indiana as one of two states in which the state attorney general's office has contributed to "a concentrated effort across the country and around the world to halt money mule activity."

Money mules are individuals who assist fraud schemes by receiving money from victims, many of them elderly, and forwarding proceeds to foreign-based perpetrators.

The specific nature of the fraud schemes varies greatly. They include such scams as when imposters call would-be victims claiming to represent some official entity such as the IRS or even a personal acquaintance such as the would-be victim's grandchild. In other cases, the scams are conducted via email, with scammers trying to lure would-be victims to provide personal information, perhaps by claiming they have won prizes. In all cases, the end goal is to bilk unsuspecting victims of money.

Over recent months, investigators from the Office of the Indiana Attorney General reviewed 251 possible cases of such activity before identifying 31 individuals as people of interest and forwarding information to the FBI.

"Exposing fraud and abuse is part of our responsibility as stewards of the public trust," said Hill. "As public servants, our team of investigators works tirelessly to hold those accountable who mistreat Hoosiers or wrongfully take funds through fraudulent rings and other illegal means. We will continue to ensure that our elderly citizens are looked out for and protected."

Nationwide, law enforcement interviewed more than 550 individuals and served more than 500 warning letters on individuals who recently served as money mules for fraud schemes. More than 30 individuals were criminally charged. Law enforcement partners included the FBI, the U.S. Secret Service, the IRS Criminal Investigation, the Department of Transportation, the Inspector General for Tax Administration and the Social Security Administration Office of Inspector General.

During the two-month initiative announced Dec. 4, U.S. law enforcement disrupted mule networks that spanned from Hawaii to Florida and from Alaska to Maine. In Indiana, some elderly citizens lost tens of thousands of dollars in such schemes.

When did L. S. Ayres close in downtown Indianapolis?

The REPORTER

This week in Indiana's history ...

1868 – The citizens of Vincennes had a new toll bridge spanning the Wabash River. Fees were 50 cents for vehicles drawn by four horses, 35 cents for vehicles pulled by two horses, and 25 cents for one-horse vehicles. A horseback rider paid 15 cents, and a pedestrian walked across for 5 cents. Hogs, sheep and cows, led or driven, were charged 5 cents each. No more than 5 head of cattle could cross the bridge at the same time.

1911 – Indiana Governor Thomas Marshall led a group of fellow governors from Ohio, Montana, Wyoming, North Dakota, Idaho and Nevada on a visit to the Lockerbie Street home of James Whitcomb Riley. The poet had suffered a stroke the year before, but he greeted them with his familiar wide smile.

1946 – Indianapolis Mayor Robert H. Tyndall led Yuletide ceremonies on Monument Circle. Thousands gathered to see the colorful lights and enjoy caroling by local choirs. This was the first post-war Christmas that thousands of returning World War II soldiers could enjoy back home.

1958 – Some Came Running was released to theaters across the nation. Based on the novel by James Jones, the movie was filmed in Madison, Ind. Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Shirley MacLaine and other Hollywood actors lived in the city during the production. Famed MGM director Vincente Minnelli was also on location for the filming, which included hundreds of local residents as extras.

1976 – The Ball Stores in Muncie advertised "The Next Thing" in Christmas gifts. It was the amazing Sony Betamax. The ad said, "Take a situation: there are two TV shows opposite of each other and you want to watch both of them. Well, believe it or not, you can!" This was the year you could be the first one on your block with a videotape recorder. The ad listed the price at $1,300 (over $5,000 in today's dollars).

1992 – The Christmas season began without the lovable cherub atop the clock on the L. S. Ayres Department Store building in Indianapolis. The angelic figure had been a holiday fixture since 1947. Ayres closed in early 1992. When the cherub didn't appear at Christmas, citizens became concerned and called Mayor Stephen Goldsmith. He pulled some holiday strings and the cherub returned in time for Christmas Day. He has returned to his holiday perch every year since. By the way, the cherub is no lightweight. He weighs 1,200 pounds.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Then Pilate entered into the judgment hall again, and called Jesus, and said unto him, Art thou the King of the Jews? Jesus answered him, Sayest thou this thing of thyself, or did others tell it thee of me? Pilate answered, Am I a Jew? Thine own nation and the chief priests have delivered thee unto me: what hast thou done? Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence. Pilate therefore said unto him, Art thou a king then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth. Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice. Pilate saith unto him, What is truth? And when he had said this, he went out again unto the Jews, and saith unto them, I find in him no fault at all. But ye have a custom, that I should release unto you one at the passover: will ye therefore that I release unto you the King of the Jews? Then cried they all again, saying, Not this man, but Barabbas. Now Barabbas was a robber.

University remains perfect with win over Lions

ANDERSON - Joe Martin and Max Greenamoyer put on a 3-point shooting show Saturday night as the Class 2A No. 16 University boys defeated Liberty Christian 70-43 to remain undefeated in four contests.

Martin scored a career high 24 points. The 6-2 senior made four 3-point shots and was 8 of 9 at the foul line. Greenamoyer had six three pointers en route to a career-high 22 points. Korey Ash-Simpson was the third Trailblazer in double figures with 10 points.

University never trailed in the game and took the lead for good at 5-2 when Martin hit his first 3-pointer off an assist from Greenamoyer. The Trailblazers used a 10-4 spurt in the last two minutes of the quarter to open up a 21-12 lead after one. Greenamoyer had 10 points in the quarter with Martin adding seven.

University quickly pushed the lead to 29-14 early in the second quarter and still held a 10-point lead at 34-24 before a Liberty three pointer cut the lead to seven. Matt Jones made a pair of foul shots before another Liberty three pointer pulled the Lions within 36-30. Ash-Simpson scored on a strong move at the rim with 18 seconds before Sam Mervis stole the ball and drove for a lay-in with eight seconds left to restore a 10-point University lead at the break, 40-30.

The Lions scored the first two points of the third quarter before University ran off the next nine points with Mervis triggering all four baskets. Mervis had assists on another lay-in by Ash-Simpson, a Greenamoyer three pointer and another Ash-Simpson basket. Mervis had a "hockey assist" on the Blazers fourth straight basket, finding Greenamoyer downtown who passed to Jacob Sager for a layin.

The nine-point run put University ahead 49-32 and the Blazers were never threatened. University led 58-41 after three and held Liberty Christian to just two points in the fourth quarter.

Coach Brandon Lafferman was pleased with the adjustments his team made tonight. "I liked how our team came out in the second half. We made a few adjustments. Korey (Ash-Simpson) was really good tonight and Joe (Martin) and Max (Greenamoyer) did a great job on both ends of the floor, making shots and defending and taking us ahead in the second half. I was very impressed with Liberty Christian's energy and performance. They played really well in the first half and handled our pressure."

Martin led the Trailblazers with five rebounds. Mervis had seven assists and four steals and Greenamoyer had four assists and four steals.

University is off until next weekend before playing a pair of tough games. The Trailblazers host Class 4A Pendleton Heights Friday night at the U Center before travelling to Grace College in Winona Lake to participate in the Champions of Character Classic. University will face Class 2A No. 9 Westview at 6 p.m. The Warriors are led by Indiana All-Star candidate Charlie Yoder, who led Westview to the regional championship last season and the semi-state in 2018.
