And so, she writes ...

Voice . . . to express thoughts with words.

She had a voice. She prayed every morning before her feet found their way out from underneath the covers.

"Please Lord, let my words make a difference."

She knew that people read her words and took them to heart.

She knew how they felt. Those who had the worst of the "what ifs" happen. Those whose midlife crisis was not of their choosing. Those who knew, all too well, that life was not always fair.

Many times she had wondered if she should dare share her journey.

She had struggled. She had been made to feel less than. She had picked the last petal of a flower and it told her, "He loves you ... not."

She had heard that bets were made, bets that she would fail in a man's world. She had to make sure she knew the rules. She had so much to learn.

She was nice and they began to teach her the game. Slowly the deck that was stacked against her began to lean in her favor. She was given a seat at the men's table. She was even given the deck to shuffle. She would teach others the game.

She was the one who ended up winning the bet.

For years she was the fifth chair at dinner parties. She knew the loneliness of asking for a table for one while sitting amongst a sea of couples.

She had looked into the face of fear and took a deep breath and told fear to get out of her way. She had a life to live and to live it abundantly.

Love came gently knocking. Would she take another chance? What if her heart was shattered ... again? Oh forevermore, what if love could be found in this chapter? Did she dare take the risk? She did.

She knew what it meant to hear the gentle voices encouraging her to not give up. Those voices were like a choir which would eventually sing the Hallelujah Chorus.

rus. Actually, she heard Pachelbel's Canon in D Major as she walked down the aisle at her wedding.

She continued to write and share her thoughts and her heart with her community. She was always so surprised when people recognized her as that lady who wrote for the newspaper.

She kept the notes, tucked away, that people sent to her. They reminded her that she was making a difference when she took the dare to start sharing her thoughts in her writings.

She never wanted to be found judging others as she could never know the rest of their story. She knew how important it was to listen with her heart before voicing her opinion. She also knew that just because she had an opinion it did not mean she had to voice it.

She sifted her words with kindness. She knew that harsh words would never be heard like those uttered or written with kindness and gentleness. She knew all too well what harsh words sounded like and how they hurt.

She knew that the wrong words voiced, at the wrong time, in the wrong way, could do more harm than any weapon of mass destruction. The effects are long lasting. She has learned to be silent when she wants so badly to speak.

One of the greatest truths is that you cannot erase a word once it is written. She knows what it feels like to read hurtful words. She has been the victim of them and has the scars on her heart, scars that will never completely heal.

She wrote with passion. She felt the need to write. That need came from deep down in her soul.

Her journals told her story. The good. The bad. And yes, the ugly.

Would anyone ever want to read her thoughts as she put them together in a book? She doesn't know, but ... she begins to write it: "Please Lord, let my words make a difference."

Noblesville's Logan Street Bridge to reopen Monday

The REPORTER

Hamilton County and the City of Noblesville will mark the completion of the Logan Street Bridge project with a ribbon cutting at 4 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 6.

Reconstruction of the bridge started in July 2018. The $4.3 million project widened the bridge over the White River to accommodate sidewalks on both sides and construct a new bridge deck. An 18-by-150 river overlook area was also constructed along the south side of the bridge.

"The overlook will provide a nice gathering spot for special events," said Steve Dillinger, president of the Hamilton County Commissioners. "And the new sidewalks will give pedestrians much safer access across the river, especially those walking between downtown, Riverwalk and Federal Hill Commons."

Completion of the bridge was delayed by a rainy spring which caused the White River to flood, hindering early construction progress. Some minor work, like permanent pavement markings, may need to be delayed until warm weather in the spring.

"We apologize for the delay in construction," Dillinger said, "But we're confident this project will have been worth the wait. We appreciate the public's patience."

Construction also includes new lighting and other aesthetics. The City of Noblesville is contributing $1.5 million toward the total cost of the project.

The REPORTER

Indiana Lt. Governor Suzanne Crouch, along with Treasurer Kelly Mitchell and the Indiana Arts Commission, have announced details for the 2020 Hoosier Women Artists contest.

"This is one of the highlights of my job, and one that I look forward to every year," said Crouch. "Each artist has their own unique story and they always find a beautiful way to express themselves. I cannot wait to see the artwork this year and meet the incredible and talented women behind the pieces."

Since 2008, the Hoosier Women Artists program has celebrated and further expanded the important role art plays in local communities by showcasing the work of talented women artists throughout the state.

related to this theme, expressed in the artists' own interpretation.

Crouch said a wide variety of visual arts including drawing, painting and photography are welcome to enter. The artwork is judged by a panel that includes Crouch, Mitchell and peer artists coordinated by the Indiana Art Commission.

"Every year, it is my joy to welcome beautiful pieces of art into my office from Hoosier women artists," said Mitchell. "I look forward to this 2020 competition and cannot wait to see Indiana talent at work!"

Mitchell said winners of the Hoosier Women Artists contest will have their artwork displayed in her office and the Lt. Governor's office at the statehouse for one year to be enjoyed by the thousands of school

Look for changes in retirement plans

It might not have made the headlines, but a recently passed piece of legislation could affect the IRAs and 401(k)s of millions of Americans beginning in 2020. So, if you have either of these accounts, or if you run a business, you'll want to learn more.

The new laws, collectively called the Setting

Every Community Up for Retirement Enhancement (SECURE) Act, include these noteworthy changes:

• Higher age for RMDs – Under current law, you must start taking withdrawals – known as required minimum distributions, or RMDs – from your traditional IRA and 401(k) or similar employer-sponsored plan once you turn 70 ½. The new law pushes the date to start RMDs to 72, which means you can hold on to your retirement savings a bit longer.

• No age limit for traditional IRA contributions – Previously, you could only contribute to your traditional IRA until you were 70 ½, but under the SECURE Act, you can now fund your traditional IRA for as long as you have taxable earned income.

• Limitation of "Stretch IRA" provisions – Under the old rules, beneficiaries were able to stretch taxable RMDs from a retirement account over his or her lifetime. Under the SECURE Act, while spouse beneficiaries can still take advantage of this "stretch" distribution, most non-spouse beneficiaries will have to take all the RMDs by the end of the 10th year after the account owner passes away. Consequently, non-spouse beneficiaries who inherit an IRA or other retirement plan could have tax implications due to the need to take larger distributions in a shorter time-frame.

• No early withdrawal penalty for IRAs and 401(k)s when new child arrives –

Typically, you must pay a 10 percent penalty when you withdraw funds from your IRA or 401(k) before you reach 59 ½. But now, with the new rules, you can withdraw up to $5,000 from your retirement plan without paying the early withdrawal penalty, as long as you take the money within one year of a child being born or an adoption becoming final.

Some provisions of the SECURE Act primarily affect business owners:

• Multi-employer retirement plans – Unrelated companies can now work together to offer employees a 401(k) plan with less administrative work, lower costs and fewer fiduciary responsibilities than individual employers now encounter when offering their own retirement plans.

• Tax credit for automatic enrollment – The new law provides a tax

COREY SYLVESTER

credit of $500 for some smaller employers who set up automatic enrollment in their retirement plans. And a tax credit for establishing a retirement plan has been increased from $500 to $5,000.

• Use of annuities in 401(k) plans – It will now be easier for employers to consider including annuities as an investment option within 401(k) plans. Previously, many businesses avoided offering annuities in these plans due to liability concerns related to the annuity provider, but the new rules should help reduce these concerns.

The SECURE Act is the most significant change to the retirement savings system in over a decade. You should contact your financial advisor, tax professional and estate planning attorney to assess the potential impact on your investment strategies and determine any possible tax and estate planning implications of the SECURE Act.

This week in Indiana's history ...

1821 – The Indiana Legislature authorized the first state prison, which opened the next year on lower Market Street in Jeffersonville. The building had 10 cells with no windows. A three-inch square hole in the iron door permitted the only light to enter the chamber.

1887 – Monte Blue was born in Indianapolis. Growing up at the Children's Home in Knightstown, he became an actor whose career spanned the silent era, the golden era of Hollywood, and early years of television. His filmography totals nearly 300, with roles in such movie classics as Birth of a Nation, Casablanca and Key Largo. His many television credits include Sky King, The Lone Ranger and Wagon Train.

1929 – The Muncie Public Library received three copies of Middletown by Robert S. and Helen Merrell Lynd. Residents were eager to see the new 550-page book which was the result of a four-year study of their city. The project was a pioneer effort to study a population in the style of an anthropologist. Clark Wissler of Yale University called the report a "cross-section of the activities of a community today from the background of yesterday."

1942 – The Von Trapp Family Singers were on stage at the English Theater on the Circle in Indianapolis. Baron Von Trapp introduced his wife Maria and seven of their 10 children who were on the tour. They sang many old songs from their Austrian homeland. The Indianapolis Star said the program was "pleasantly nostalgic of the days when families gathered around the home organ on winter's nights."

1953 – The last Indianapolis streetcar made its run in the city. The final car came off of the College Avenue route, ending a service that had started in 1864. A newspaper reporter called it "the last clang, clang, clang of the trolley and the last clank, clank, clank of the wheels." A final "celebrity car" carried Indianapolis Mayor Alex Clark, Police Chief John Ambuhl and other city officials.

1975 – Virginia Jenckes died in Terre Haute at the age of 97. She was the first woman from Indiana to be elected to the United States House of Representatives. In office from 1933 to 1939, she served the citizens of the old 6th District. Well-respected on Capitol Hill, she was known for her strong will and independence.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

So they ran both together: and the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulchre. And he stooping down, and looking in, saw the linen clothes lying; yet went he not in. Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and seeth the linen clothes lie, And the napkin, that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself. Then went in also that other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw, and believed. For as yet they knew not the scripture, that he must rise again from the dead. Then the disciples went away again unto their own home.

Boys basketball

Westfield holds off Victory College Prep

After two weeks off, the Westfield boys basketball team was back in action on Saturday.

After the game, Shamrocks coach Shane Sumpter had this to say: “We looked like a team that hadn’t played in a few weeks.”

Westfield had to scratch its way to a win, but got the job done, holding off Victory College Prep (formerly Indianapolis Lighthouse) 58-54 at The Rock. The Shamrocks, ranked No. 9 in Class 4A, thus kept their record perfect; they are now 7-0.

The ‘Rocks led 13-12 after the first quarter, with Braden Smith making two 3-pointers and Matt Penley adding five points. Westfield got going in the second period, outscoring the Firehawks 22-10 to take a 35-22 halftime lead. Cam Haffner helped out with two triples, scoring eight points for the quarter.

The Shamrocks led 44-32 midway through the third period before Victory made a run to cut the lead to 48-41 by the end of the quarter. Haffner added seven more points. The Firehawks’ Daryl Webb got hot, as he scored 12 points in that period.

“They played well, they did a lot of things well,” said Sumpter.

Victory got within 50-46 before Haffner and Smith hit back-to-back 3s, pushing Westfield ahead 56-46 with under four minutes to go. A 3-pointer from Kennedy White got the Firehawks within 56-49, then Benji Welch made two free throws to get the lead back up to nine. Victory scored the last five points of the game, but the ‘Rocks were able to hold on.

“It was an ugly game for sure,” said Sumpter. “I just thought we were a little flat. That’s my job to get our guys ready. We weren’t ready at the start of the game. But I thought we did a lot of good things as well. We struggled to make shots for sure, and it just seemed like there was a lid on the basket and we couldn’t make shots.”

Carmel continued its win streak on Saturday, emerging victorious over Penn 44-40 at the Eric Clark Activity Center.

The Class 4A No. 7 Kingsmen led 7-6 after the first quarter, but the Greyhounds jumped ahead 23-19 by halftime. Kate Clarke scored eight points in that period.

Penn cut Carmel's lead to 31-30 after three quarters. The game was close in the fourth period, but the Greyhounds were able to come out on top, with three-point plays by Bridget Dunn and Riley Pennington helping Carmel get the win.

The victory was the fifth in a row for the Greyhounds, who are now 8-6.

"We have just really preached to the girls to trust in the process and keep getting better every day," said Carmel coach Erin Trimpe. "It's frustrating when you have losses and we struggled at the beginning of the season like we did. And we just kept preaching to them to believe in what we're doing. And I'm so proud of them the way that they've bought in to what we are doing and the results are showing."

Clarke scored 16 points, including a pair of 3-pointers. All seven Carmel players that took to the court scored at least two points. Dunn collected seven rebounds and blocked two shots, while Clarke and Kiara Gill both pulled six rebounds.

The 'Hounds travel to Center Grove on Saturday for a Metropolitan Conference game.

In the third-place game, the Huskies beat the host Quakers 70-69. Plainfield led 20-16 after the first period, but Heights was in control of the next two, leading 36-32 at halftime and 56-45 at the end of three. The Quakers came back to tie the game at 69-69, but Runner drove to the basket in the final seconds, got fouled and made one of two free throws to seal the victory.

Osswald had a sensational game, making five 3-pointers on her way to 23 points, collecting six rebounds and dishing out four assists. Moran came close to a double-double, with 14 points and nine rebounds. Runner scored 13 points and Payton Dissett added 12 points; both also had five rebounds. Runner handed out seven assists and Dissett dished out four.

"Jillian Osswald played two fantastic games," said Huskies coach Keegan Cherry. "She has elevated her game big time. MyKayla Moran and Syd Runyan are making tremendous progress. The minutes they experienced in both games today is something that can't be replaced. Both got better against very good competition.

"Payton Dissett also strung together some of her best minutes of the season in game 2. Bayleigh Runner was key to handling the pressure in both games and did a good job of finding open players."

Heights is 8-9 and returns to its home gym on Thursday to host Lewis Cass in a Hoosier Conference game.

Pacers lose roller-coaster game in Atlanta

The Pacers didn't visit Six Flags in their latest trip to Atlanta, but they went on an emotional roller coaster ride on Saturday night at State Farm Arena.

Indiana fell into a 22-point hole during a disastrous start, rallied to retake the lead early in the second half, but sputtered down the stretch. In the end, it all added up to a 116-111 loss to the Hawks.

Despite being without starting point guard Malcolm Brogdon and losing backup T.J. McConnell early in the fourth quarter, the Pacers (22-14) will look back on Saturday's game with disappointment. Atlanta (8-28) entered the night with the worst record in the NBA, was playing on the second night of a back-to-back, and was missing three key rotation players.

But second-year guard Trae Young scored 41 points and dished out eight assists to lift the Hawks to an improbable victory.

Domantas Sabonis led Indiana with 25 points on 11-of-15 shooting, 11 rebounds, and four assists in the loss.

The Pacers got off to a sluggish start offensively, hitting just three of their first 11 shots while falling into a 20-9 hole.

On the other end, the Hawks almost couldn't miss. After a Justin Holiday 3-pointer made it 20-12 with 5:10 remaining in the first quarter, Atlanta quickly reeled off a 15-2 run. The hosts started the game 14-for-19 from the field, extending their lead to 38-16 on Young's 3-pointer at 1:44.

The Blue & Gold righted the ship somewhat in the final two minutes of the frame, reeling off a 10-2 run of their own. But Young capped a sensational quarter with another three just before the buzzer to give the Hawks a 43-26 advantage after one. Young scored 18 points in the first quarter alone, going 6-for-6 from the field and 3-for-3 from 3-point range.

"You have to establish yourself defensively and that was a huge quarter, that first quarter," Pacers head coach Nate McMillan said. "We wanted to be the aggressor, we needed to be the aggressors. We knew that that team played last night, and we just could not stop them in the first quarter."

Holiday provided a spark early in the second quarter, hitting two 3-pointers and adding a dunk during a 13-2 Pacers run that trimmed the deficit to 10 with 7:58 remaining in the first half.

Young, however, reentered the game shortly thereafter and temporarily prevented Indiana from making greater headway. Young hit two more threes and scored 10 points to push Atlanta's lead back to 15 points.

The Pacers came back once again, as Sabonis and Jeremy Lamb combined for 11 unanswered points, trimming the deficit to 59-55 with just under two minutes remaining in the half. It would be a 64-60 deficit at halftime, as Indiana entered the break with significant momentum, having erased most of a 22-point deficit.

The Blue & Gold finally took their first lead of the night with 9:26 remaining in the third quarter, when T.J. Warren drained a 3-pointer off a dish from Aaron Holiday and drew a foul in the process. The subsequent free throw put the Pacers ahead, 68-66.

The third quarter featured five ties and 10 lead changes. The Pacers led by as many as four points, but a 3-pointer by Kevin Huerter with 23.6 seconds left in the frame put Atlanta back in front, 96-95, entering the fourth quarter.

Indiana suffered a significant blow when McConnell rolled his left ankle with 9:35 to play. McConnell immediately collapsed on the ground and, to make matters worse, picked up a technical foul when he threw the ball to the sideline in frustration. He was helped to the locker room and did not return.

The Hawks had moved back in front 14 seconds earlier and maintained a narrow advantage for much of the fourth quarter.

Lamb hit a one-legged runner on the left baseline to cut the deficit to 111-109 with 2:51 remaining. After Sabonis blocked Young on the ensuing possession, Aaron Holiday had an open look from beyond the arc to give Indiana the lead, but couldn't get the shot to fall.

The Pacers got two more stops, but again couldn't score on the other end as Lamb and Warren, respectively, missed jumpers that would have tied the game.

Young then ended the brief scoring drought with 1:22 left, slipping through the Pacers' defense and converting a falling layup to push the Hawks' lead back to four.

Aaron Holiday hit one of two free throws with 44.8 seconds to play. Indiana then forced a shot clock violation on the other end, giving the visitors the ball with 20.8 seconds remaining and a chance to tie the game.

With the Hawks guarding the 3-point line tightly, Aaron Holiday struggled to get an open look and eventually decided to drive into the paint. He missed a layup, but Warren was fouled on the putback.

Warren, however, missed the first foul shot before hitting the second with 4.5 seconds left.

Young left the door open for the Blue & Gold, missing one of two free throws on the other end. But he made up for it, intercepting Sabonis' full-court inbounds pass and drawing another foul, capping the night by surpassing the 40-point plateau.

"He is a very dangerous player," Sabonis said. "You know once he gets hot, he can shoot it from anywhere. He is smart with the ball, he gets a lot of fouls, he shoots a lot of free throws. Like I said, we dug ourselves into a hole in the first quarter, and once a player gets hot, it's tough to stop."

Six Pacers finished the night in double figures. Justin Holiday had 18 points, going 4-for-6 from 3-point range. Warren added 17 points and seven boards, while Aaron Holiday (16 points and six assists), Myles Turner (14 points and six rebounds), and Lamb (12 points and four boards) also reached double digits.

Huerter was the Robin to Young's Batman, scoring 26 points while going 10-for-18 from the field and 4-for-7 from 3-point range while also tallying six rebounds and five assists.

The Hawks won despite not having the services of starting forwards John Collins (back contusion) and Cam Reddish (right wrist sprain) as well as key reserve Jabari Parker (throat infection).

The Pacers will look to bounce back on Monday evening in Charlotte, when they wrap up a two-game road trip against Devonte' Graham and the Hornets.
