Heights mentoring program sees great success

The REPORTER

A community mentoring pilot program is having great success at Hamilton Heights High School. Teach One to Lead One® (T1L1) is a unique mentoring program between the school and local community mentors. These mentors meet with students during the school day, once per week, to lead them through an interactive curriculum. The program teaches 10 principles that are essential to life.

Two of the 13 community mentors gave an update to the Hamilton Heights School Board at its January meeting. Sara Colter and Clint Flanders spoke to the board about the vast difference they have seen in the students since the program launched in August.

Colter mentors a class of freshmen. She mentioned how transparent the students had been and how the T1L1 program had helped the students face their fears in a positive way.

Flanders meets each Thursday with a sophomore group. He talked about how they were beginning to see themselves as leaders.

To demonstrate the success of the program, one of the sophomores in the program, Sydney Buffum, shared with the board what she had learned from her mentors. She spoke about taking responsibility for her actions. She said she had come to realize that she was in control of her own choices in life. She said the mentors had helped her understand how to handle choices in a positive way.

Hamilton Heights High School Assistant Principal Whitney Gray shared her plans to double the number of T1L1 classes at the high school next year. She said they would be focused on freshmen. She had high praise for the program and the difference it has made with all the students involved.

The T1L1 mentors lead the students through 10 universal principles: Respect, integrity, self-control, courage, humility, excellence, compassion, enthusiasm, teamwork and honor. T1L1 guarantees four measurable, positive results from the mentoring program. Students will experience better attendance, better grades and better attitudes. Hamilton Heights is the first T1L1 mentoring program in Indiana.

Prosecutor recognizes County's Officers of the Year

The REPORTER

Each year, Hamilton County Prosecuting Attorney D. Lee Buckingham II recognizes two officers in honor of each Hamilton County officer's distinguished service to the community and the pursuit of justice. One investigator (usually holding an assignment as a detective) and one road officer are selected from the nominations garnered from within the Prosecuting Attorney's Office.

At a ceremony held Tuesday in the Commissioner's Courtroom at the Hamilton County Judicial Center in Noblesville, Prosecuting Attorney Buckingham said that with all the change and growth the county has endured over the last nine years he's been in office, "there is one thing that has not changed: The fact that Hamilton County generally has very high standards for their law enforcement officers and high-quality individuals who live up to those standards serving in those roles."

Buckingham continued and described the "difficult selection process because of the great number of fine law enforcement individuals in the county who care about what they do and strive to do the very difficult job of being a law enforcement officer to the best of their ability."

That extreme difficulty resulted in Buckingham honoring two detectives with the distinction of Investigator of the Year and a patrol officer and his K-9 partner as Road Officer of the Year for 2019.

First, he recognized Detective Dave Finn of the Fishers Police Department as Investigator of the Year for 2019. As an investigator, Det. Finn works a variety of cases. He became a police officer after serving five years in the United States Marine Corps. Since joining the Fishers Police Department in 2007, he worked for five years in the patrol division before joining the investigations division. He has distinguished himself with genuine compassion toward the victims in the cases he investigates and with balanced attention to all cases, regardless of the overall seriousness of the allegations.

Buckingham also honored Detective Mike Haskett of the Noblesville

90-day plan stretches to entire school year for new HSE school board member

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

Clint Wilson began his journey as a newly-appointed member of the Hamilton Southeastern School Board when he was officially named to replace Mike Bottorff, who resigned his board seat in late June.

When I recorded a podcast with the new school board member early in July, he talked about his 90-day plan to begin to familiarize himself with the facilities, finances and people that make up the school district.

I recently asked Clint Wilson to tell me what he discovered during his 90-day journey of the HSE school system. First, he says 90 days will not be long enough, so Wilson has extended his 90-plan to encompass the entire remaining school year.

Second, the school board member has learned a great deal during his relatively short stint on the board. In an email message to LarryInFishers, Mr. Wilson explains what he has learned so far.

He has visited about half the school buildings in the district, but started with Durbin and Fishers Elementary Schools, since decisions were looming on both buildings. The board has since moved toward a possible replacement for Durbin: A new large elementary building in Wayne Township. Commenting on the two elementary facilities, Wilson says, "There are some real challenges that exist in both buildings due to the age and layout."

Next, he spent time get-

ting to know people throughout the district, including those working the school district's central office. That includes the superintendent, financial staff, analytics and equity. Getting to know his fellow school board members also became a part of that effort.

"It was incredibly helpful to get to know them on a more personal level, to understand their background, their goals for our schools, and gain clarity about how we can best work together," said Wilson in his email.

Finally, Wilson took some time with students, particularly a group at HSE High School. He commented on a presentation made by a multiracial group in an AP (advanced placement) class about such classes not tending to be diverse.

"Several black students shared that they had not been encouraged to take tougher classes, while a white student shared they had been encouraged to take AP classes," Wilson wrote in the email. "In addition to the panorama (analytic) data highlighting the achievement gap between black students and other races, this conversation made it clear to me there is an opportunity to make sure that all students of all races are afforded the best opportunities in our schools."

Summing up his overall impressions, Wilson lauded local educators.

"We are fortunate to live in a community with great schools," said Wilson. "We are also fortunate to live in a community with passionate parents who hold us accountable to doing what's best for all kids."

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

Commissioner Heirbrandt files to run for re-election

Submitted

Hamilton County Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt filed his campaign for re-election Tuesday. The Commissioner is vying for his second full term in office. When asked about his priorities as Commissioner, Heirbrandt said, "Public safety must be our top priority. Whether it is quality training for firefighters and police officers, effective emergency management, or the resources needed to combat opioid addiction and abuse, it is the county's responsibility to provide top-notch services." Heirbrandt also expressed the need for adequate road safety. "As the county grows and traffic becomes more congested, our roads need to adapt quickly and efficiently to allow for shorter commutes and less traffic." The Commissioner has always been an advocate for improved taxpayer savings and constant transparency with the public. His belief that communication should always be a two-way street led to the creation of a social media program within the county. This has resulted in open and effective lines of communication between the public and the county. Notably, while serving as Hamilton County Commissioner, Heirbrandt has accomplished:

- Working with INDOT, the City of Fishers, and the City of Noblesville, to secure $100 million in funding to improve the State Road 37 corridor;
- Expanding Lowe's Way after working with INDOT and City of Carmel to provide a new route to access Keystone Parkway;
- Saving taxpayer dollars by installing solar panels to power county buildings; and,
- Expanding the county jail to ensure the future safety and security of Hamilton County

Throughout Heirbrandt's time in office, accomplishments include: IACC – Outstanding Commissioners 2014, AIC – Local Government

Heirbrandt has worked in the water and energy efficiency business, and he and his wife Gina have lived in Hamilton County for almost 30 years. Indiana's outdoor recreation five-year plan now available

The REPORTER

The latest in a long line of five-year plans to help determine the future public outdoor recreation needs of all Indiana residents and plan for that future is available from the Department of Natural Resources. Just as similar organizations in other states, the Indiana DNR is required to create a comprehensive state-level outdoor recreation plan every five years. This planning process keeps Indiana eligible to obtain funds from the Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF) that DNR then re-grants to park boards in counties, townships, cities, and towns. The new 140-page Statewide Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plan (SCORP), which covers 2016-2020 and includes the 2021-2025 Indiana Trails Plan, can be downloaded at dnr.IN.gov/outdoor/4201.htm. The site also includes information on how the study is done. For more information, contact DNR Outdoor Recreation's Greg Beilfuss at (317) 232-4071 or gbeilfuss@dnr.IN.gov.

Letter to the Editor

Noblesville Plan too “developer-focused”

Dear Editor:

Noblesville’s draft 2020 Comprehensive Plan will soon be in front of the Common Council for approval. While it is chock-full of planning buzzwords and feel-good objectives like “Smart Growth” and “Complete Communities,” a look into the details reveals further reinforcement of the developer-focused mentality of City leadership.

The following are just a few of the action steps:

- “Streamline the City’s review and approval process, ... reduced impact fees, fee waivers for infrastructure hookups, property tax abatements, density bonuses, and expedited permitting”
- “offer incentives to developers”
- “relax ... land use restrictions or the various architectural, bulking, massing, open space, or setback requirements”
- “Eliminating the current Noblesville Architectural Design Guidelines and Architectural Review Board and associated processes”

Noblesville has become the high-density, low-income city of Hamilton County. We have lower median household income than neighboring communities (20 to 40 percent lower), and declining home ownership rates. Almost one-third of households are now rentals – about 50 percent higher than Carmel, Westfield, Fishers and Zionsville.

This 2020 Plan looks very pretty and will probably win awards considering how many trendy concepts it includes. (Yes, it even has tiny houses!) But by no means is this a “comprehensive” plan for the City – 230 pages, and only ONE page for Job Growth and ONE page for Business Growth. No, this is not a Comprehensive Plan; it’s a 2020 Noblesville Developers Handbook written by developers, for the benefit of developers.

Letter to the Editor

Carmel reader has long laundry list of complaints

Editor’s note: The numerous hyperlinks in this Letter to the Editor are the work of the author, Eric Morris.

Dear Editor:

How’s this for the roundabout of political payola?

I know Justin Moffett does not want to pay taxes on his commercial projects since non-political Justin TIFs most of his projects, but he is more than glad to pay $3,000 to the lobbyist organization that promoted higher taxes for school “safety.”

I know Jim Brainard still does not know how to file a campaign finance report properly, yet he expects that all his multimillion-dollar government projects will pencil out to the penny. I know that prosecutor Lee Buckingham will do nothing about Brainard’s transgressions, but now I also know the county’s chief law enforcement officer cannot pay his own county property taxes on time. Maybe we should give him a TIF District for his “public service.”

Speaking of government attorneys, I know Carmel’s attorney Doug Haney approves the invoices for his wife’s work for the city. Honey, I mean Haney, please pass the mustard and the invoice.

And I know that the person that wants to replace an actual decent Republican, Senator Spartz, overbribed Scott Fadness by $6,000, and Scott had to send it back to Scott Baldwin’s front for government skimming, Envoy. How very Catholic of him! Maybe he’ll give the $6,000 to charity.

Speaking of bribes, my good friend Brian Bosma got nice money from Carmel to gerrymander a district away from Matt Milam, which created an opening for a Democrat to get elected in Carmel. In exchange for that nice project, the Speaker’s firm gave $500 to Sue Finkham to defeat another Democrat.

Until the next episode of “As the Cronyism Spins a-round-the-bouts” (art sold separately).

Sincerely,
Eric Morris

Girls basketball Tigers win top 10 clash with 'Hounds

By RICHIE HALL

FISHERS - Before a top 10 and all-county girls basketball clash with Carmel Tuesday night, Tigers coach Lauren Votaw had a challenge for her team.

"We haven't come out and started well in the last few games and I really challenged our kids to make tonight different," said Votaw.

Challenge accepted. Fishers was up to the task big time: The Tigers got off to a tremendous start, held off runs by the Greyhounds in the middle of the game, then finished strong to score a 65-44 win at the Tiger Den, ending Carmel's nine-game win streak.

The game became a top 10 matchup when this week's Class 4A coaches poll came out, with Fishers ranked No. 4 and Carmel tied for ninth with North Central. The Tigers had played the Panthers on Jan. 11, with North Central handing Fishers its only loss of the year, and the lessons of that game came up in Tuesday's contest.

"We talked about the fact that when we faced adversity against North Central, we struggled a little bit," said Votaw. "We struggled in the face of adversity, and so I was proud of them for when those runs came at us, they stayed together and they fought together."

Fishers ran away with the first quarter, leading 22-7 by the end of the period. Six different players scored for the Tigers, including seven points for Tamia Perryman and five for Audra Emmerson. Both players included a 3-pointer in their first-quarter totals.

Carmel began to make a run in the second period, eventually cutting Fishers' lead to 25-20 with 2:20 to go. Kate Clarke and Bridget Dunn each had five points, with both making a 3. But Perryman stepped up for the Tigers in the final minute of the half, nailing two triples to give Fishers a 33-24 lead at the break.

The Greyhounds came out lightning fast in the third quarter, scoring three points in the first 19 seconds on a Dunn steal and a free throw from Kiara Gill. Fishers took a timeout, then responded with a 6-0 run. Perryman started it with a layin, Hailey Smith scored off a steal and Katie Burton's layin made the score 39-27.

Carmel went on one more run, scoring eight unanswered points to get within 39-35. Dunn drained a 3 before making a putback, and Gill hit a 3-pointer. But Fishers held off that run as well, getting the last five points of the period to lead 44-35 after three.

Clarke opened the fourth quarter with a 3-pointer, putting Carmel within 44-38. But after that, it was all Fishers. Burton nailed a 3 to get the Tigers' lead back to 49-39. Clarke answered with a jumper, but Fishers took care of business after that, outscoring the 'Hounds 16-3. Burton added eight more points during that run.

Votaw was happy with her team's energy and communication on the defensive end.

"I was just really proud of our kids and how they weathered the storms, because they put a lot of runs on us," said Votaw. "It felt like a lot of runs. And our kids weathered the storm. They stayed together. They stayed tough. I was just really proud of them."

Perryman finished the game with 21 points, including three 3-pointers, while Burton scored 18. Perryman collected five rebounds, while Smith had four steals.

Dunn led Carmel's scoring with 19 points, also hitting three 3s. Clarke scored 12 points.

"Fishers is such a good team and they really expose some of your weaknesses and they did a great job defensively on us in limiting our movement and the things that we can do," said Greyhounds coach Erin Trimpe. "So it's a lot of credit to them and it just shows us what we need to get back to work on."

The Tigers are 18-1 for the season. Fishers will play another home game Saturday afternoon, taking on Avon in a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game. The Tigers are on top of the conference standings with a 5-0 record.

"Our kids have done a really good job of buying in to the 'one game at a time' mentality," said Votaw. "And as a staff, that's what we try to do. The next game is the only one that matters. So we're really trying to focus in right now on coming back tomorrow and getting ready for Avon."

Carmel is 12-7 and also plays a conference game for its next contest. The Greyhounds play at Pike Friday in a Metropolitan Conference game.

"We'll get back into the gym tomorrow and work on some stuff and hopefully improve on what we saw tonight," said Trimpe.

Crooked Stick to host Western Amateur this summer

Crooked Stick Golf Club in Carmel will host the 2020 Western Amateur from July 27-Aug. 1, the first time the championship will be played in central Indiana.

Founded in 1899, the Western Amateur features one of the deepest and strongest fields in amateur golf as well as the game's most grueling format. It is the world's third oldest amateur championship behind the British Amateur (1885) and the U.S. Amateur (1895), and attracts top-ranked golfers from around the world. Past champions include Jack Nicklaus, Tiger Woods and Phil Mickelson.

The Western Amateur has never been played at Crooked Stick and has been contested in the state of Indiana just two times in its storied history, in 1938 and 1951 at South Bend Country Club.

Crooked Stick has twice been home to the WGA's BMW Championship. The club hosted the penultimate event in the PGA TOUR's FedExCup Playoff in 2012 and 2016.

Competition includes two 18-hole stroke play rounds on Tuesday and Wednesday followed by a cut to the players with the low 44 scores and ties. Those who make the cut then play 36 holes of stroke play on Thursday, with the low 16 advancing to match play on Friday. The first two rounds of 18-hole match play on Friday narrow the field to four semifinalists, who compete in a pair of 18-hole matches on Saturday morning. Winners of the two morning matches then play in the 18-hole championship match Saturday afternoon.

The Western Golf Association will conduct six golf championships in 2020, including the BMW Championship, the penultimate event of the PGA TOUR's FedExCup Playoffs.

Also on the WGA schedule are the Evans Scholars Invitational on the Korn Ferry Tour and the annual Western Junior. In addition, the WGA will partner again with the Women's Western Golf Association to conduct the Women's Western Amateur and Women's Western Junior.

"We're proud and excited to be hosting golf championships at all levels and for top men and women golfers," said Vince Pellegrino, WGA senior vice president of tournaments. "We're expecting excellent competition among some of the finest junior, amateur and professional golfers in the world."

"We're also looking forward to conducting five of the six events in the greater Chicago region," Pellegrino said. "Chicago-area golf fans won't have far to travel to see some of the year's finest golf championships."

Olympia Fields Country Club in south suburban Chicago will host the WGA's flagship event, the BMW Championship, on Aug. 18-23.

The 2020 BMW Championship will be hosted by Olympia Fields Country Club in Olympia Fields, Illinois, from Aug. 18-23. The event is the penultimate event in the PGA TOUR FedExCup Playoffs, with the TOUR's top 70 players vying to earn a spot in the season-ending TOUR Championship.

The 2020 BMW Championship will mark the sixth time the event has been contested at Olympia Fields, and the first since 1971 when Bruce Crampton claimed the title. Other past champions of the event at Olympia Fields are Jock Hutchinson (1920), Walter Hagen (1927), Macdonald Smith (1933) and Jack Nicklaus (1968).

Olympia Fields has a rich championship tradition of offering a challenging test for the world's top players. Most recently, Olympia Fields has hosted the 2003 U.S. Open, the 2015 U.S. Amateur, and the 2017 Women's PGA Championship.

The event will be played on Olympia Fields' famed North Course, designed in 1923 by professional golfer and course architect Willie Park Jr. With the hosting of the U.S. Amateur in 2015, Olympia Fields joined only eight other American clubs – including Winged Foot, Oakland Hills and Cherry Hills – that have hosted the U.S. Open (1928, 2003), the U.S. Senior Open (1997) the PGA Championship (1925, 1961) and the U.S. Amateur.

The Western Amateur will be the lone WGA championship to be contested outside of Illinois. Crooked Stick hosted the BMW Championship in 2012 and 2016.

All proceeds from WGA championships will once again benefit the Evans Scholars Foundation as it provides full tuition and housing college scholarships to youth caddies with limited financial means.

"We not only provide golfers of all ages the opportunity to experience the thrill of competition, we're raising funds for one of golf's favorite and most impactful charities," noted Pellegrino. "We look forward to fulfilling that mission once again in the coming year."

Since 2007, the BMW Championship has raised more than $35 million for the Evans Scholars Foundation. This academic year, 1,010 Evans Scholars are enrolled at 18 universities. More than 11,050 caddies have graduated as Evans Scholars since the first two Evans Scholarship recipients enrolled at Northwestern University in 1930.

Prestwick Country Club in Frankfort, Illinois, will host the Women's Western Amateur from July 20-25, 2020.

The Women's Western Amateur features an outstanding field of promising golfers, with many competitors starring in collegiate and professional tournament play. This will be the first time Prestwick Country Club has hosted the prestigious amateur championship. The club opened in 1964 and embodies a Larry Packard course design.

The Women's Western Amateur field will consist of 120 amateurs with a handicap of 5.4 or less. Held without interruption since its founding, the event is one of the oldest annual championships in women's amateur golf. The first and second day will each consist of 18 holes of stroke play. After the second day, the field will be reduced to the top 32 players for the match play portion of the championship.

Westfield's Gabriella Gilrowski won the Women's Western Amateur last year, when it took place at Woodland Country Club in Carmel. Another Westfield golfer, Jocelyn Bruch, was the runner-up.
