

SEP's new 70,000 square-foot headquarters will be located just off U.S. 31 at 161st Street in Westfield.

Software firm moving its headquarters to Westfield

The REPORTER

Mayor Andy Cook on Thursday joined executives with SEP and its more than 140 employees in announcing Westfield as the location of the company's new corporate headquarters. SEP, a software product design and development company, is expanding its Central Indiana operations creating up to 65 new jobs with an average wage of $87,000 per year by the end of 2025. The facility will be located right off U.S. 31 at 161st Street.

"SEP is the kind of company that Westfield is trying to attract," said Cook. "It brings a workforce and wage that is desirable to any community. I am equally as excited about the 'intangibles.' The innovation this team will bring to our community is unrivaled and The SEP Foundation contributes to the community-focused mindset we work hard to cultivate in Westfield."

"SEP is ready to build our forever home, which is why we'll be a 50/50 partner and owner with Pure Development to develop this special campus," said SEP President and CEO Raman Ohri. "It's a unique opportunity to have an amazing facility overlooking a beautiful nature preserve, and we'd be honored to care for it for generations to come. We're committed to the community for the long haul, as an investment and as a place to grow. Our employee owners will love Westfield's outstanding school system, great outdoor experiences and growing downtown. We can't wait to bring our amazing team to this great community."

SEP will invest nearly $2.6 million to build its new 70,000 square-foot corporate headquarters on approximately 20 acres. The expansion will allow the company to permanently own its facilities and continue growing its team. Construction is slated to begin in September, with a planned move-in date of December 2021. As an employee-owned and focused company, SEP involves its employees heavily in decision making, including the selection of workspace amenities and technologies. The new campus will overlook a nature preserve, and the company plans to provide walking trails and firepits near the pond.

"Indiana is leading a tech transformation in the Midwest, as companies like SEP continue to grow and expand in our state," said Indiana Secretary of Commerce Jim Schellinger. "With the construction of this new corporate headquarters, SEP is deepening its roots in Indiana and furthering its commitment to providing a positive company culture, supporting its community, and leveraging the talent pipeline of our Hoosier universities, helping more graduates launch careers here in the state."

The Indiana Economic Development Corporation (IEDC) offered SEP up to $1,125,000 in conditional tax credits based on the company's job creation plans. These tax credits are performance-based, meaning the company is eligible to claim incentives once Hoosiers are hired. SEP plans to announce its intention to locate in Westfield to the Westfield City Council on Monday, June 8. The Council will consider additional incentives at a later date. Upon approval of state and local incentives, construction will begin in September 2020.

SEP, which is 100 percent employee-owned through its employee stock ownership plan, has been named a Best Place to Work in Indiana by the Indiana Chamber of Commerce for nine consecutive years and is in the Best Places to Work Hall of Fame.

PREVAIL

Advocating for Victims of Crime and Abuse

www.prevailinc.com

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

– Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

Drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, 14701 Tom Wood Way.

$20.5M in federal COVID-19 aid available across Hamilton County

The REPORTER

Hamilton County and local communities are eligible for more than $20.5 million to cover COVID-19-related expenses through the federal stimulus package, according to local lawmakers.

"Communities across our state incurred unexpected expenses to fight this virus," State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero) said. "This funding provides an opportunity to recoup some money spent on additional resources needed to slow the spread of COVID-19 and protect Hoosiers' health."

Indiana allocated $300 million in federal funding from the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economics Security Act to counties and communities for reimbursement of expenditures related to the pandemic. Indiana House Speaker Todd Huston (R-Fishers) said the funding, allocated based on population, cannot be used to replace lost tax revenue.

"There is no doubt this pandemic has impacted local budgets while they quickly ramped up public health and safety measures to protect Hoosiers," Huston said. "Fishers has shown great leadership and taken thoughtful action to mitigate the effects of this virus, and now our community and others have an opportunity to offset some of those unexpected costs."

Cook

Huston

Goodrich

Torr

Hamilton County is eligible for $10,709,238 in reimbursement funding. In addition, these communities are eligible to receive the following amounts:

- Arcadia: $53,986
- Atlanta: $24,170
- Carmel: $3,033,818
- Cicero: $159,039
- Fishers: $3,029,016
- Noblesville: $2,048,273
- Sheridan: $97,818
- Westfield: $1,347,325

to offset some of those unexpected costs."

"Our communities have been working tirelessly to provide Hoosiers with personal protective equipment, including small businesses," State Rep. Chuck Goodrich (R-Noblesville) said. "These are the types of expenses cities and towns can apply to recapture through these federal dollars."

"COVID-19 has touched every corner of our state and while we don't know the full extent of the economic damage it has caused, local communities are eligible for reimbursement for money spent fighting this virus," State Rep. Donna Schaibley (R-Carmel) said. "I encourage any area that is eligible, to apply to recoup funds used to slow the spread."

State Rep. Jerry Torr (R-Carmel) said the Indiana Finance Authority is in charge of implementing guidelines on how each county, city and town can use the funding, as well as compiling reimbursement requests through accepted documentation including invoices.

"Some Hoosiers are anxiously waiting to head back to work or reopen their business, but they must do so in a safe and responsible manner, which includes sourcing face masks, gloves and hand sanitizer," Torr said. "This has created added costs for cities and towns as they try to adjust to this evolving situation."

Ivy Tech partners with Grace College for Elementary Education transfer program

The REPORTER

Ivy Tech Community College and Grace College are partnering to create opportunities for Ivy Tech students with a new transfer agreement focused on training elementary educators. Ivy Tech students already have access to general education transfer opportunities with Grace. Both institutions recognize the critical need for teachers in the state of Indiana, especially northeast Indiana, and have entered the 2+2 partnership without a statewide mandate to do so.

"This is a real 'win' for elementary-age children across Indiana and for our Ivy Tech students," said Ivy Tech Fort Wayne/Warshaw Chancellor Dr. Jerrilee Mosier. "Our students are passionate about their endeavors and just need access to the financial and community support it takes to pursue and complete a Bachelor's degree. This is a tangible way that Ivy Tech is creating partnerships that keep our students moving toward their goals and meeting the needs of our communities. We are pleased to have Grace College join us in these efforts."

Students studying Elementary Education at any Ivy Tech can take advantage of this articulation agreement as long as the student meets Grace's entrance requirements and completes Ivy Tech's Transfer As a Junior program.

"The Grace College School of Education is excited to collaborate with Ivy Tech Community College Statewide to provide exceptional training for students desiring to complete their Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education," said Dr. Rachael Hoffert, Chair of Elementary Education at Grace College. "In today's society, the need for quality educators is in high demand. This partnership will create a link between two institutions to develop future teachers with character, competence, and a heart for service."

Grace College is actively working on initiatives to reduce the cost of tuition for all Ivy Tech graduates, and has already put in place a tuition assistance guarantees for Ivy Tech graduates from the Warsaw and Fort Wayne campus. Any Ivy Tech student who has a zero Estimated Family Contribution on the FAFSA and full state aid will have traditional undergraduate tuition fully covered by federal, state, and Grace financial aid. Other Ivy Tech students will receive at least $10,000 in scholarships from Grace College for traditional undergraduate programs.

"We are thrilled to announce a partnership with Grace College's School of Education," said Katie Thomas, Program Chair of Elementary Education at Ivy Tech Fort Wayne. "We look forward to continuing to develop this relationship to allow for our students to become compassionate, dedicated and well-rounded educators of the future."

Thanks to her owner, Gabbi's got cat class style & she's got cat style

By EMILIA IVANOV
Guest Columnist

Editor's note: Christina Ivanova, Emilia's mother, told The Reporter that the trips to Forest Park with Gabbi the Cat took place before the COVID-19 safety restrictions were in place and will not resume until it is safe to do so again. In the meantime, socially distant bike rides are still a common activity for Emilia and Gabbi. You can see video of Gabbi the Cat in action in this week's "Hello, Hamilton County" with Paul Poteet.

I have two cats, Gabbi and Bella. Gabbi loves riding in my bike-basket. She also lets me push her in a swing! She mostly loves the round swings at Forest Park in the town of Noblesville, where I live. I think it's because I started her out swinging with me when we first moved here a few months ago. Eventually, she could swing by herself.

One time we rode to Greek's Pizzeria and sat outside, in the dining patio. Gabbi loved it! People are always surprised to see a things Gabbi does! On the Forest Park playground, Gabbi usually walks to the round swings, and waits for me to pick her up, and swing her on one. Gabbi also loves her bike basket. The other day we rested at a picnic bench in the park and put Gabbi on the picnic tabletop. Immediately, she walked over and got in her basket. One of Gabbi's favorite costumes is her little pink, blue, and teal dress she wears when we go out for bicycle rides. This makes her look adorable. She is very unique. I'm happy that I have her! Emilia Rachel Ivanov is a homeschooled student who will be going into the seventh grade. She will be attending Maple Crest STEM Academy in Kokomo next school year. Her favorite hobbies are singing, playing her ukulele, song writing, drawing, Roblox and of course spending time with Gabbi, her cat.

Don't let fear of uncertainty keep you from living a healthy lifestyle

"It's a brave new world we're headed for, no doubt about that. We must try to meet it with as much grace as we can muster."

—Robert, Earl of Grantham, Downton Abbey, c. 1920s

If you are a devoted Downton Abbey fan as I have been over the years, you can probably just about hear fictional Robert utter these words as his finely-ordered British world, and his family, is changing around him. All of the family members in this saga of Britain in the early part of the 20th century were struggling with change which included "The Great War" – World War I, the invention of aircraft and the automobile, women's suffrage, and rapid changes in the economy. And we cannot forget the deadly flu pandemic which swept the world at that time.

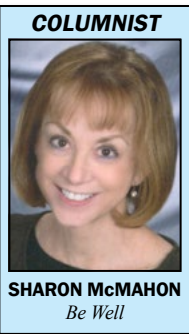

Having never lived the "manor life" I cannot personally vouch for how the landed gentry families dealt with those changes, which included their own family traumas from loss and the various things that most families must face from time to time. Moving forward almost 100 years from that statement by the Earl in the popular PBS series, I don't have to reiterate the many dilemmas this country and our world have faced, particularly this year of 2020. The pandemic has, for everyone, changed our lives for a long time to come. I hope that you and yours are healthy and safe but our habits, our concerns, and the way in which we interact with others has changed.

Back to my quote above, we may wonder how we "meet it with as much grace as we can muster." All around us we are wondering what is next – a new wave of the virus, perhaps? It is the unknown, so all we can do as try to manage and supervise our own health and well-being and that of our families if your children are still living at home. The only way I know to do this is to keep my own home clean, eat well, take my vitamins and supplements, stay away from crowds, use plenty of soap and sanitizer, wear a mask when appropriate, and exercise regularly. Yes, I have indulged in some goodies that I usually resist, I admit that. However, exercising, whether that is walking, riding your bicycle, working out with YouTube, lifting weights, jumping rope, whatever works out for your lifestyle please make some exercise part of your daily routine. The endorphins that are produced are very important for your mental and emotional health. Our world is facing not only a pandemic but unfortunately a very confusing and frightening time by minority oppression and fear and exacerbated by those who have turned rightful and lawful protest into behavior which only hurts the cause of all humans and the human spirit. Watch the news from time to time, but also entertain yourself with uplifting movies, books and positive interaction with others on social media sites while limiting yourself and staying true to your values. By taking care of yourself you will contribute to our society which has been not only ravaged by the coronavirus but also by diabetes, heart disease, obesity and various other ailments many of which can be prevented or better managed. This is a great time to get outside for fresh air and exercise, grow your own vegetables and herbs, and enjoy chatting with the neighbors while social distancing! Take care, everyone and be well! TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And when the Gentiles heard this, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were ordained to eternal life believed. And the word of the Lord was published throughout all the region. But the Jews stirred up the devout and honourable women, and the chief men of the city, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coasts. But they shook off the dust of their feet against them, and came unto Iconium. And the disciples were filled with joy, and with the Holy Ghost.

Acts 13:48-52 (KJV)

John William Bowen

October 15, 1940 – June 3, 2020

John William Bowen went to be with his Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, on June 3, 2020. John was born on October 15, 1940 in Fishers at the home of Fred and Kathleen (Hinshaw) Bowen, their firstborn of three sons. He grew up in Fishers helping his parents on the farm that they rented, working alongside his two younger brothers, Dan and Carl.

John loved to play games and sports, especially with his brothers. He played on the basketball team at Fishers High School, which he attended with his high school sweetheart and future wife, Judith Ann (Roudebush) Bowen, graduating in 1958. John attended Purdue, where he studied electrical engineering and served in the ROTC, graduating in 1962. John went on to serve two years in the Army at Redstone Arsenal in Alabama before eventually taking a job with RCA, where he worked for 45 years until retiring on November 11, 2011. John also served as an Elder at Cumberland Road Christian Church for many years.

John married Judy on September 22, 1961. After John's service in Alabama, John and Judy moved back to Indiana. In 1971, after living in Fishers for a few years, they moved into an old farmhouse in Carmel, where they raised their five children.

John is survived by his wife of 58 years, Judy, and their five children, Connie (Bowen) Birk (Brian), Lynn (Bowen) Mafera (Tony), Scott Bowen (Renee), Greg Bowen (Sue), and Brad Bowen (Angela). Also surviving are 13 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

John always had a smile and encouraging word. He loved life, loved people, and loved his Savior.

Services will be held at noon on Thursday, June 18, 2020 at Randall & Roberts Fishers Mortuary, 12010 Allisonville Road, Fishers, with visitation from 10 a.m. to the time of service at the funeral home. Aaron Birk will officiate. Burial will be at Oaklawn Memorial Gardens in Indianapolis. Condolences: randallroberts.com

Doctors are saying pregnant women need to visit doctors' offices now more than ever and that it's also possible we'll see a baby boom late this year.

Doctors say some women are a little nervous about pregnancy at this time. There are so many things unknown and information changes really rapidly. But that's where doctors can help.

The number one thing

IU Health OBGYN Dr. Chemen Neal says is to go into your doctor's office for prenatal care. This includes checkups and testing to help keep you and your baby healthy.

Dr. Neal says families are moving forward from COVID-19 and wanting to get counseling about preparing for pregnancy, something that's a bit different now than before the pandemic.

With the pandemic starting around February and March, it's possible there could be a surge in deliveries around October, November and December.

Stay-at-home orders were consistent throughout the country and Dr. Neal says it's true people were home more and had less to do.

"I definitely have a lot of new patients that are newly pregnant," IU Health Assistant Professor Obstetrics & Gynecology Dr. Neal said. "It doesn't quite seem yet that it's more than usual. But you really have to count and look at the numbers to be able to tell. So, I think as the months go on, we will know."

Dr. Neal says it's also possible numbers across the country could vary, as some places haven't been hit as hard with the pandemic. She says places like New York had a more difficult time so numbers there wouldn't be the same here in Indiana.

Doctors say there's no reason to delay pregnancy at this time. It's just important to be in contact with your doctor.

The training will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the DNR Fish & Wildlife Bloomington Field Office. Coordinators may be hired by communities applying for CHAP to implement safe deer hunting practices in various types of communities, parks, and terrains in accordance with the CHAP program. Training will cover topics including the biology of white-tailed deer, deer management options, and successful deer hunting in urban communities.

The training will be contracted through White Buffalo, Inc. An online portion of training will be required prior to attending the in-person training session. Training-session participants should come ready to participate and take notes. An outdoor field trip portion of the session is planned, and participants should come dressed appropriately for the weather, ready to caravan to the field trip location with their own lunches. Lunch will not be provided.

Angelica Pfefferkorn remembered her very first high school golf meet, back in 2016 at the Golf Club of Indiana, playing for the Guerin Catholic girls golf team.

She admitted that she was “absolutely terrified” during her first-ever meet. But look at her now: Pfefferkorn graduated Guerin Catholic as a three-time state qualifier and was the pick for the Golden Eagles’ Female Athlete of the Year for the 2019-20 school year.

“I was thrilled and I was so honored to receive the award,” said Pfefferkorn. “I was super thrilled.”

Guerin Catholic announced the award this week on the school’s athletic website. The Athlete of the Year awards are voted on by the Golden Eagles’ head coaches. Guerin Catholic coach Mark Mathews said that Pfefferkorn’s “team leadership skills and her natural ability as a team captain made it a real joy to be her coach” over the past four years.

“I’m really excited to follow her college golf career as she pursues her medical degree,” said Mathews.

Pfefferkorn was a four-year varsity letter winner, and played No. 1 all four years. She had 15 medalist finishes and a four-year scoring average of 74.1, along with leading the Golden Eagles to four straight Circle City Conference championships and a fifth-place finish at the IH-SAA state finals in 2018.

“Angelica is a terrific representative of a student-athlete at Guerin Catholic – someone who competes at the highest level and does so with unwavering humility,” said GC athletic director Ryan Davis. “Her accomplishments on and off the golf course are amongst the best ever for any student-athlete at Guerin Catholic. We are proud of all she has done and for the mark she has left not only for the girls golf program, but also all of our student-athletes.”

Pfefferkorn has been playing golf since she was 6 years old, and still remembers her first-ever junior tournament.

“I forget where it was, but it was somewhere here in Hamilton County and I remember I had to do a putt-off for second place,” said Pfefferkorn. “I think I was 11.” She did win that putt-off, “and I was thrilled,” she said.

“I’ve made so many friends playing golf,” said Pfefferkorn. “I love coming to tournaments and seeing them. We hang out outside of golf and we also practice together, play together.”

Among the highlights of Pfefferkorn’s career, of course, are the three times that she qualified for the state finals. As a sophomore, she made it to state by playing in a playoff at the regional.

“That time I was just scared, and Prairie View was a big, challenging course that seemed impossible,” said Pfefferkorn.

But in her junior year, it wasn’t so scary. There were two reasons for that: First, Pfefferkorn had the experience of playing there, and second, her entire Golden Eagles team was with her.

“My junior year, I had my whole entire team with me, so that was a lot of fun,” said Pfefferkorn. “I felt more confident there, being my second time and my team being there to support me and we support each other.”

Pfefferkorn went back to state her senior year, where she placed eighth in the state.

“My last year, senior year, it was just to have fun and play my best,” said Pfefferkorn. “I knew everyone there, I knew the course pretty well, so I had a lot of fun.”

After the meet, Pfefferkorn was named to the All-State team.

“I was super excited to finally make the All-State team,” said Pfefferkorn. “That is something I really looked up to my entire high school career, so it meant a lot to me, being able to make it my senior year.”

Pfefferkorn is now playing her usual slate of summer tournaments, after which she will be heading to Stillwater, Okla., the home of Oklahoma State University. Pfefferkorn has committed to playing on the women’s golf team there.

“When I visited out there, I fell in love with the school and their golf program is amazing, along with the school,” said Pfefferkorn. “Their facilities are beautiful. It seemed like a great place, great coaches and teammates.”

Pfefferkorn has been a great student at Guerin Catholic, with a 4.188 grade-point average. That includes Advance Placement and International Baccalaureate classes.

“I’m going to major in psychology on a pre-med track,” said Pfefferkorn. After that, she plans to go to medical school, and is looking at going into dermatology or interventional radiology.

No Colts camp at Grand Park this year

The Indianapolis Colts announced they will not conduct their summer training camp at Grand Park this year.

The announcement came after a directive was issued by the NFL that said all teams must conduct their summer training camps at their respective training facilities.

The NFL also reported there will be no joint team practices conducted this summer.

The National Football League Player Association supported both directives issued by the NFL.

The Colts have a 10-year contract with the City of Westfield. The directive is not expected to extend into next year and all indications appear the Colts will return to Westfield in 2021.

IHSAA statement on return to school guidelines

The IHSAA released the following statement regarding the Indiana Department of Education’s return to school guidelines:

“The Indiana High School Athletic Association, Inc. (IHSAA) is pleased that the COVID-19 Health and Safety ReEntry Guidance has been provided to Indiana schools today by the Governor’s Office and the Indiana Department of Education (IDOE). This guidance also includes a three-phased pathway for the return of education-based athletics which coincide with the previously scheduled first practice date for girls golf (July 31) and practice for all other fall sports (August 3). Girls golf contests are set to begin August 3 with all other sports contests to begin August 15.

“Over the next several weeks, the IHSAA will continue to serve our member schools in providing clarifications and further guidance for the safe return of athletic activities in our state.”

Former Colts linebacker Mathis: 'A lot of cabin fever'

By OLIVIA RAY
WISH-TV

"Naturally, there's a lot of cabin fever. People suffering. People want to get out and have fun again and be around guys that they grew up watching on TV.

"So, we're here to help," said former Colts linebacker Robert Mathis.

When gyms and organized leagues shut down for the COVID-19 pandemic this spring, those who wanted to bring the heat, got in line to learn from the best. They signed up for the strip-sack king's version of summer school.

"I'm chomping at the bit," Mathis said. "Guys had to find alternative measures to train. So, hey, the original Gridiron Gang, we're here for the people!"

After Mathis stepped away from full-time coaching with the Colts, he started training athletes on the side. He started his own skills company known as The Gridiron Gang and took on the title of "pass rush consultant."

Mathis said, "People that know me, know I like to do what I know. That's teaching pass rush, the art of quarterback killing."

Now only two years after he launched The Gridiron Gang, the number of athletes he trains has multiplied, in part, due to this off-season's unusual circumstances but mostly because people saw what his prized pupil was up to. That would be Colts young edge rusher Kemoko Turay.

Turay had made huge strides in his second NFL season after working with Mathis. In just the first quarter of the 2019

Former Colts linebacker Robert Mathis launched the Gridiron Gang two years ago, helping young athletes as a "pass rush consultant." The number of athletes he trains has multiplied, not only due to the circumstances caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, but also with the success of his prized pupil, Colts rusher Kemoko Turay.

season, Turay had recorded five tackles, 1.5 sacks, a forced fumble, and eight total quarterback hurries. But, a nasty ankle injury during Week 5's game against the Chiefs left his rehabbing for the remainder of the season.

But, he's back and spreading the word about Mathis' magic.

Turay said, "I brought my little brother here. He plays for North Carolina, and I brought him here to learn from Rob. When I was his age, I wish I had the opportunity to work with a Future Hall of Famer."

Mathis said, "It's nationwide buzz, guys from across the league, the colleges, high school coaches. They are reaching out. We're not a secret no more. We're going to say we're playing for keeps."

The Future Hall of Famer is doing his part teaching the next generation how to torture quarterbacks. Football players of all ages can join Robert Mathis and other experts at a skills camp on June 15.
