Price tag for State Road 37 project increases by $42M

By JEFF JELLISON
Reporter Publisher

Hamilton County Commissioners recently presented a revised budget requiring an additional $42 million over the original $124 million spending plan for the State Road 37 improvement project.

The now-estimated $166 million project will be funded through a $100 million contribution from the state, with Hamilton County and the City of Fishers – each previously scheduled to pay $12 million – now each paying an additional $21 million.

According to Hamilton County Reporter's newsgathering partner Larry Lannan, Fishers acknowledged that an update on the construction was recently provided to a joint meeting of the Hamilton County Council and County Commissioners, outlining current costs and projected costs for phases of the project yet to be bid.

"All original intersections will be completed as proposed," said Fishers city

Dillinger

spokesperson Ashley Elrod, in an email to Lannan. "This includes NOT changing the interchange at 141st to a right-in, right-out. Roughly half of the project still remains to be bid, in addition, we are currently enacting cost savings measures that we anticipate will reduce the overall project cost. The city is proceeding

At approximately 1 a.m. Wednesday, Fishers Police found a 71-year-old man dead near his kayak floating on Geist Reservoir. Authorities are saying this 71-year-old man appeared to be a drowning victim.

Indianapolis police officers notified Fishers of a missing person at 11 p.m. Tuesday night.

The identity of the man will be released by the Hamilton County Coroner's office.

Fishers opens grant applications for non-profits

The REPORTER

The City of Fishers on Wednesday launched the application for the non-profit grant program for 2021 funding. The non-profit grant was established in 2017 as a transparent way for the City of Fishers to support various non-profit organizations in Fishers that provide services to Fishers residents.

Sheridan's Evan Bourdon qualifies to compete at world's largest rodeo

The REPORTER

Evan Bourdon, an 10th-grade student at Sheridan High School, has earned a position on Indiana's National High School rodeo team. He will travel with his fellow teammates to Guthrie, Okla. and compete July 17-23 at the 72nd annual National High School Finals Rodeo (NHSFR).

Bourdon will participate in the calf roping and steer wrestling competitions.

Featuring more than 1,650 contestants from 43 states, five Canadian provinces, Australia and Mexico, the NHSFR is the world's largest rodeo. In addition to competing for more than $150,000 in prizes, NHSFR contestants will also be vying for more than $375,000 in college scholarships and the chance to be named an NHSFR World Champion. To earn this title, contestants must finish in the top 20 – based on their combined times/scores in the first two rounds – to advance to Saturday evening's final round. World champions will then be determined based on their three-round combined times/scores.

Again, this year, the Saturday championship performance will be televised nationally as a part of the Cinch High School Rodeo Tour telecast series on RFD-TV. Live broadcasts of all NHSFR performances can be viewed at Ride-Pass.com. Performance times are 7 p.m. on July 17 and 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. each day thereafter.

Along with great rodeo competition and the chance to meet new friends from around the world, NHSFR contestants have the opportunity to enjoy shooting sports, volleyball, family-oriented activities, church services provided by Golden Spur Ministries and shopping at the NJHFR tradeshow, as well as visiting area attractions as Huron hosts the NHSFR this year.

To follow your local favorites at the NHSFR, visit NHSRA.com daily for complete results. For ticket information and reservations, visit NHSFR-Lincoln.org.

McKenzie named new county GOP director

The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Republican Party (HCRP) has announced Whit McKenzie as the organization's new executive director.

McKenzie has been a party volunteer, recently worked as a field organizer on Kelly Mitchell's congressional campaign, serves as the IUPUI College Republican Chair and previously interned for U.S. Senator Mike Braun's 2018 campaign.

According to HCRP, McKenzie will work with countywide and legislative candidates to coordinate get-out-the-vote efforts.

Jail fire blamed on faulty solar panels

A fire at the Hamilton County Jail on Tuesday evening is being blamed on a malfunctioning solar panel located on the jail roof. Noblesville fire officials did not provide an estimate of the cost of the damage, but said the fire was limited to the roof's rubber membrane and two solar panels. The fire was first reported to 911 dispatch by passing drivers who could see smoke coming from the roof of the jail. The solar panels, installed in September 2018, are part of an $8 million project which features 9,346 solar panels on building roofs at the Correctional Campus on Cumberland Road and three acres of county property near the main public safety radio tower on the east side of State Road 37.

County health department says COVID-19 data is skewed

By JEFF JELLISON
Reporter Publisher

The Indiana State Department of Health (ISDH) is reporting an alarming increase in the number of new COVID-19 cases in Hamilton County.

According to ISDH, Hamilton County on Sunday experienced the most single day new cases since the pandemic began, with 57 new cases.

According to ISDH data, during a three-day period from Saturday, June 13 through Monday, June 15, 112 county residents tested positive for the virus.

Hamilton County Health

Department Administrator Barry McNulty says the state's data isn't accurate.

"The numbers which were reported out by ISDH this afternoon contain a number of inconsistencies which are skewing our COVID-19 positive cases," said McNulty. "Our nurses reviewed the data provided by ISDH and found numerous people who were entered into the system more than once, effectively creating two cases out of one positive case. For example, they entered Christian Walker and Walker, Christian, with all of the other pertinent data being the same it would still count twice. Additionally, our nurses discovered that some of the positive tests entered were dated as far back as the beginning of May."

McNulty said his department is in contact with ISDH to correct the information. He also said the Hamilton County Health Department is working with labs that may not be reporting positive test results in a timely manner.

Noblesville gets $50K Our Town arts grant

The REPORTER

The City of Noblesville has received a $50,000 Our Town grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. The funding will be used for the city's alley activation initiatives, which includes archway installations at the north, south and east alleys, decorative lighting installations, greenery, seating options and mural installations.

"The City continues to move forward in activating our alleys as community-focused gathering places, and this grant will benefit the artists that will be commissioned for murals and other elements in those alleys," said Mayor Chris Jensen. "This is a great opportunity we have been granted for our arts community to continue to thrive in our city."

The National Endowment for the Arts has approved more than $84 million in grants as part of the Arts Endowment's second major funding announcement for the fiscal year 2020. The Noblesville grant is one of 51 grants nationwide that the agency has approved in this category.

Jensen

The grant application was led by Nickel Plate Arts and the City of Noblesville Planning Department in consultation with the Downtown District Committee. Information regarding requests for proposals for the mural installations will be announced at a later date.

determines the funding for the grant program as part of the annual budget process.

Criteria for selection includes:

- Whether the organization is located in Fishers and if not located in Fishers, the potential impact of the grant and the benefit from the project or event on the Fishers community.
- The commitment, capacity and ability of the applicant to carry out the program or project and to give an accounting of how the money was spent.
- The applicant's fiscal responsibility and management qualifications.
- The number of matching dollars that the applicant has and is willing to contribute.
- Grant project funding may not exceed 50 percent of the total cost of the project or event. If the funding from Fishers and the portion provided for by the receiving applicant is not sufficient to complete the project, then the receiving applicant is responsible for raising the difference. The intent of this grant is not to completely fund projects, but to assist with as many projects and events as possible throughout the community.

The Non-profit Grant Committee will review submissions and vote on a priority list for funding on July 31. The proposed expenditure will be reviewed and voted upon alongside the 2021 Fishers City Budget, to be adopted October 2020. The initial priority list is dependent upon Council approval and available funding. The application is available now and closes at 4:30 p.m. on July 17.

as planned and will wait to make any additional cost estimates until the next bid package is released."

Minutes from a county meeting early this year indicated that city and county officials were at least contemplating the possibility of changing the design for 141st Street and State Road 37 from a roundabout to a right-in, right-out design, where motorists could not cross 141st Street at State Road 37, if there is a budget shortfall.

Lannan said, "Based on the most recent statement from the City of Fishers, the city, which is in charge of construction, plans to construct the roundabout, over 37 at 141st Street, are still in place."

Commissioner Steve Dillinger said much of the overrun is contributed to drainage issues and property acquisitions, not the intersections.

When asked how the county expected to pay for the increased construction costs, County Council President Rick McKinney said, "The county has sufficient cash reserves of nearly $55 million to pay its share of the additional $21 million. The decision rests with the county council whether to use cash or issue new debt. It is my opinion that cash should be used for at least $15 million of it since that was one of the reasons we have accumulated a reserve."

McKinney expressed his frustration with county commissioners.

"I am very disappointed that the Commissioners chose to keep this information secret until after the election, which undoubtedly aided their candidates," McKinney said.

Dillinger said, "As we move forward, we are learning more about this project. Understand, the $42 million figure is an estimate, a projection, and not a final figure. We just didn't have all of the information before the election. The cost overrun isn't uncommon when you do a project like this. Remember, Carmel had a $50 million overrun when it did the Keystone Avenue project."

"There have been no quarterly reports provided to the county council on expenses incurred which are mandated by the agreement," McKinney said. "This project is years behind schedule and costs could escalate even more."

As part of the project, the intersection of 126th Street and State Road 37 is currently under construction. Three other intersections are scheduled to be rebuilt, including 131st and 141st streets. All three will feature a roundabout and underpass for State Road 37 traffic. Another intersection, 146th Street, will have traffic signals along 146th Street and an underpass for State Road 37 traffic.

PREVAIL

Advocating for Victims of Crime and Abuse

www.prevailinc.com

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

– Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

Drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, 14701 Tom Wood Way.

Carmel firefighters distributing free masks, hand sanitizer today at Target

The REPORTER

The Carmel Fire Department has scheduled another COVID-19 information booth to hand out information on virus prevention and safety and answer questions from the public. Firefighters will offer free bottles of hand sanitizer and disposable face masks while supplies last. The type of masks being distributed are similar to what you would find in a doctor's office waiting room.

CFD will be in front of the Target Superstore located at 10401 N. Michigan Road from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. today. The booth will be set up outside of the store east of the entrance.

During the event, representatives from CFD will wear masks and keep to physical distancing guidelines to avoid possible spread of the virus. The event is open to the public and visitors should also wear masks and maintain proper distance from others as they approach the booth.

The goal of this booth is to provide the community with COVID-19 information, including handouts showing the City of Carmel and Carmel Fire Department "Best Practices" for dealing with the virus.

Indiana working to expand access to more small business recovery resources

The REPORTER

Indiana Governor Eric J. Holcomb on Wednesday provided updates on the state's efforts to support small businesses and entrepreneurs, announcing a new partnership with Indiana Black Expo (IBE) to increase access to economic and workforce recovery programs for minority employers and encouraging small business owners to apply for funding available through state and federal programs.

"As a state, we're committed to ensuring that our businesses and our people have access to vital economic and workforce assistance during this unprecedented time," Holcomb said. "Launching this new partnership with Indiana Black Expo will expand the state's capacity to provide critical COVID-19 resources to minority businesses and workers, while further positioning Indiana for long-term, sustainable economic recovery."

Gov. Holcomb approved $500,000 in federal funding made available through the CARES Act to support minority-owned businesses and entrepreneurs and communities negatively affected by COVID-19. The funding will enable IBE, a statewide non-profit organization committed to the social and economic advancement of Indiana communities, to launch a targeted, statewide promotional campaign and develop community outreach programs to raise awareness of available resources and funding, enhancing participation in critical economic and workforce recovery programs.

Through this new partnership, IBE will also provide direct technical support to employers by connecting minority-owned businesses and minority Hoosiers with critical COVID-19 resources; developing educational initiatives, including a webinar series for minority business owners; and increasing collaborative partnerships with existing state resources, such as the Indiana Small Business Development Center (Indiana SBDC) and Next Level Jobs, to offer training and counseling services.

Through these efforts, and by leveraging IBE's 12 chapter affiliates and extensive network of African American Hoosiers across the state, this partnership aims to increase awareness and utilization of available funding and resources among minority businesses and workers to ensure recovery initiatives are inclusive across Indiana. IBE's efforts will focus on ensuring a long-term, sustainable economic recovery, providing resources to enable immediate relief while also working to foster long-term business growth by encouraging and supporting minority small businesses, entrepreneurs and startups.

"COVID-19 is devastating our communities and the result is an uneven economic impact on African-Americans," said IBE President and CEO Tanya McKinzie. "IBE is looking forward to partnering with the state to ensure that the African American community and minority-owned businesses are accessing the state's economic and workforce recovery opportunities and are receiving tools and resources necessary to stay afloat during and after this pandemic."

Applications open for small business restart grants

Since its official launch on June 3, the state has received initial applications from nearly 460 small businesses representing 69 counties for small business restart grants. The program, which committed at least $5 million of the $30 million allocated to the fund toward minority- and women-owned businesses, has received applications from 13 certified minority-owned businesses and 26 certified women-owned businesses. Eligible small businesses can seek reimbursement for up to 80 percent of qualified expenses, such as rent/mortgage payments, utilities, lease payments for real or personal property, and safety investments, such as personal protective equipment (PPE) and infrastructure improvements.

More information on the program is available here.

Federal small business loans

Administered by the U.S. Small Business Administration, the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) provides forgivable loans to eligible small businesses and organizations impacted by COVID-19. If payroll is maintained for eight weeks, the loans may be used to cover payroll, interest on mortgage obligations, rent or utilities.

To date, 75,183 loans totaling nearly $9.4 billion have been awarded to Indiana small businesses. With nearly $130 billion in funds remaining, small businesses are encouraged to apply before the June 30 deadline. Businesses may contact their nearest Indiana Small Business Development Center office for assistance in preparing applications or finding approved lenders.

State issues fraud alert to unemployment insurance claimants

The REPORTER

The Indiana Department of Workforce Development (DWD) has issued a fraud alert to notify those who have filed for unemployment insurance benefits in 2020 that they need to protect their personal information from potential scammers.

The U.S. Department of Labor Office of Inspector General has discovered that scammers are sending emails in an effort to steal claimants' passwords, account numbers, and/or Social Security numbers. With this information they can gain access to email, bank or other accounts.

The scammers are sending emails using the names of companies or individuals familiar to claimants. They use familiar icons, folder names, and programs to trick claimants into providing their personal information to them.

Claimants can protect themselves by hovering over the links scammers include in the emails, but not clicking on it, to see where it will take them. Most scammers will use a URL shortened to hide the website's true identity. You can also call the sender to inquire if the email is legitimate.

The links send the victim to a webpage, which looks like a Microsoft SharePoint website. It further requires the user to sign-in using a Google, Microsoft, Apple, Yahoo! or other user account.

Once you have signed into a personal account, the scammers will obtain your username and password. They will have access to the files you have stored online and your contact lists. They may use this contact list to send the same scam email to your friends and family.

The scammers may use your personal information to collect unemployment insurance in your name or change your bank account number to one of their own.

DWD does NOT require claimants to use a secondary account to sign into its online filing system (Up-link).

To report an allegation of fraud involving unemployment, please visit the DWD's fraud reporting webpage at Unemployment.IN.gov and click on "Report Unemployment Fraud."

Shaffer shames Carmel officials for adding to city's debt during COVID crisis

Dear Editor:

In the midst of the greatest economic uncertainty in a century, Carmel's city council added an estimated $40.5 million to its total outstanding debt.

While the rest of the nation tightens its belt, Carmel gorges on debt. The latest action approved $26.5 million in new borrowing. It will carry an estimated $14 million in interest.

That $40.5 million will be added to the $26.2 million added to the city's debt since Jan. 1, according to Indiana Department of Local Government Finance data the city provides.

While $66.7 million seems a drop in the bucket to an establishment $2.4 billion in the hole, it's hard to justify it to the single parent just laid off from one or two jobs, trying to pay the rent to stay in Carmel so her kids can get a fine education.

As for seniors – the most at-risk in the coronavirus scourge – a $66.7 million increase in just six months seems absurd.

Harold "Hal" Cardona d. June 8, 2020

Harold "Hal" Cardona, 61, died peacefully surrounded by loved ones in his home in Noblesville on June 8, 2020 after a short fight with cancer. We will miss his adventurous and fun-loving spirit.

Hal was born in Santa Barbara, Calif., the oldest son of Antonio and Lois Cardona, and was raised with his sister Carol in California and American Samoa. He graduated from Indio High in California and then moved to Indiana to attend Wabash College, where he majored in mathematics. He married his college sweetheart, Lisa (Zupan) Cardona. Hal found his home with Lisa and they spent 40 years growing together. They had two daughters, Emily (Steven) Hice and Allison (Roth) Cardona. Hal was especially tickled to have become a grandfather in recent years to Sullivan Antonio James Hice, the apple of his eye.

He and Lisa put down roots in Noblesville in 1986 but always loved travel and new adventures. He had a passion for fast cars and enjoyed watching and attending Indy and Grand Prix races whenever he could. Hal enjoyed meeting new people and loved to play his tuba. He was a familiar face in many local bands and orchestras – Athenaeum Pops Orchestra, Meisterwinds and the Lapel Band were a few. He was a true techie and founded PC Sleuth, a computer systems consulting business. He was beloved by his clients for his ability to explain technical functions in a clear and understandable way.

Hal is survived by his wife, Lisa, Noblesville; children, Emily (Steven) Hice, Marysville, Ohio, and Allison (Roth) Cardona, Indianapolis; grandchild, Sullivan; and many friends and extended family.

A memorial of Hal's life will be held at a future date and the family asks that donations be made to Noblesville High School Orchestra in lieu of flowers.

Football camps at Grand Park have a successful first week

WESTFIELD - The first week of football camps at Grand Park has been a success.

The facility is hosting two camps, the Grand Park 7-on-7 Football Camp for players in grades 3-12, and the Grand Park Lineman Camp, for those in grades 7-12. Over 300 student-athletes participated in the camps on Wednesday.

"It's been a great turnout," said Matt Trnian, Grand Park's Facility Operations Manager. "We had about 110 in our first group. We're approaching the 240 mark for the second group, so we eclipsed the 300 mark today. We're very pleased with that, very excited about that."

The 7-on-7 camp is all about getting young athletes back on the field and having fun, and they were doing just that on Wednesday. Those players were also getting instruction from several high school coaches. Other high school and a couple of college coaches were also on hand to watch.

The lineman camp also featured three former NFL players, including Indianapolis Colts star Robert Mathis, a record-setting defensive end. He was joined by Pro Bowl center Nick Hardwick and defensive tackle Daniel Muir.

While it was possible for campers to register for all four weeks of the camps, Trnian said that there have been "a lot more walkup registrations this week."

"I think that speaks to the programming that's been going on and the work that Lance and his SOS team has done and the work of the Gridiron Guys of Dan and Robert and Nick," said Trnian. "It's been a great push and really appreciate all the kids that have come out."

The camps are happening in the age of COVID-19, so safety was of the highest concern. Many of the fans were observing social distancing, and the players also modified their habits as well.

"We've tried to do everything we can," said Trnian. "With athletes playing and getting out there, there's some things that you can't always control, but we're making sure that they're not high-fiving and we're making sure that they're not spitting on gloves or anything like that, so we're trying to do the things appropriate to make sure that they're taking care of themselves and their teammates and athletes around them."

The players also were seen wearing old-school soft-shell helmets during the camps. Since players don't have their school helmets during this time of year, Trnian said the camp worked with a company to make sure the players had shelled helmets that would allow for their safety.

"We're asking the players to play the ball, but the game of football, you're trying to slow down a beast and they're trying to make plays," said Trnian. "We wanted to make sure that we added that level of safety and having those helmets, those soft-shell helmets this year. It's worked out really well."

The camps are scheduled for the next three weeks on Monday and Wednesday. The 7-on-7 camp is split into two groups, with grades 3-8 participating from 6 to 7:15 p.m. and grades 9-12 on the field from 7:30 to 8:45 p.m. The lineman camp is scheduled for 7:30 to 8:45 p.m.

Anyone who wasn't at the camps this week still has the opportunity to come out to Grand Park during the next three weeks. The cost is $50 for one week, and athletes can participate in as many weeks as they choose. Trnian is anticipating a slow week for Week 3, which is during the July 4th holiday.

"We anticipate some folks taking vacation," said Trnian. "But that's why we wanted to offer a four-week program where they didn't have to be committed to all four weeks. We've seen already some additional sign-ups for Week 2 and Week 4, and some more additional for Week 3. We're anticipating that number to grow, and I know a lot of the kids tonight had already said they've invited some of their teammates and there's been more kids added. It's a great thing to have. The word of mouth is spreading and we're excited about that."

Former Pacers star George Hill opens charter school on Indy’s east side

By OLIVIA RAY WISH-TV
Former Indiana Pacers star George Hill was in Indianapolis on Monday to celebrate a new charter school he helped start.
A dream six years in the making will come true this fall when the Him By Her Collegiate School For the Arts opens its doors.
“I was always in this area growing up as a kid. My dad actually stayed right there down the street, so this place is dear to me,” said Milwaukee Bucks guard

George Hill.
Just blocks from where George Hill grew up and the very court where he began his basketball career, he begins paving the way for the next generation of his community.
“I believe in opportunity. I firmly believe that a lot of inner city kids don’t get that opportunity. The resources are never put back in the inner city. We’re giving kids that hope,” Hill said.
“George called me one day and said HIM by HER stands for ‘helping improve mankind by healing every race.’ I said absolutely, and he said, ‘You know what? That’s what the country needs. That’s what we need,’” Harry Dunn, the co-founder of the HIM By HER Foundation, said.

Hill partnered with Dunn back in 2014. Now years later, they’re offering a glimpse of hope for the city’s east side with the unveiling of their new charter school. According to Hill, the project comes at a time when his hometown needs it more than ever before.
“I don’t care if you’re black, brown, blue, green. Whatever race you are, we don’t see that here. We see human beings, and that’s what we’re trying to raise,” said Hill.

This fall, Him By Her Collegiate School for the Arts will offer a focus on performing arts for kindergarten through second grade, but Hill has big goals for the years ahead.
“This is something that we want to continue to grow, turn into a high school, have a heck of a graduation rate,” Hill said. “Giving kids an equal opportunity to do the things they are blessed to do, whether it’s writing, singing, sports, drawing, whatever it is. We want to offer those avenues.”
Enrollment is open now.
