It may look scary, but Cicero's Halloween was safe family fun

On Thursday and Friday, the Cicero Friends of the Park offered a haunted trail for families in search of safe Halloween activities for adults and kids alike. The trail was a big hit, thanks in large part to sponsors like Lisa Stokes-Bear, seen here with her masked friend Christy Saltzman. The Reporter would never trick you, so if you would like to be treated to more photos, see Page 4.

November 4th

Trepidation ... a feeling of fear that causes you to hesitate because you think something bad or unpleasant is going to happen.

Oh, trepidation, I know you well.

It is how I look at November 4th. It's not just about who gets the final winning count with ballots cast. That is giving me great anxiety.

This election will affect my grandchildren and their future. I hate what they are seeing and hearing. It's so ugly.

mail-in ballots? Who knows how long the arguments will last? It's the bickering I dread. It's the possible riots. It's the firestorm on Capitol Hill that will continue to burn.

Voter fraud. Interference. Hacking. Not since the hanging chads has it been so ugly.

Gone are the days of meeting in the aisle. Compromise seems like an impossibility. The hate is ugly. It is definitely not hidden. Politicians no longer play poker, I assume.

HSE keeping grades 5-6 at 50/50 attendance

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

There will be no changes next week for the in-person class situation in Hamilton Southeastern (HSE) Schools, as had been tentatively planned. Grades 5 and 6 will remain 50 percent in-person following action by the school board Wednesday night.

The vote was 5-2, with board members Amanda Shera and Brad Boyer voting no. Previously, the board had acted to have grades 5 and 6 go to a 100 percent in-person classroom schedule. The action Wednesday keeps the situation the same, at least for now.

Experience with COVID-19 in the schools and the community as a whole were cited as reasons for keeping the hybrid system in place for grades 5 and 6.

Westfield nonprofits partner to stock Care Closets in schools

The REPORTER

Westfield Washington Schools (WWS) Parent University announced on Tuesday a partnership between WWS Parent University and Women of Westfield (WOW).

The partnership was established to help stock Care Closets at the high school, middle school, and intermediate school. A Care Closet is a space in the school where any student can pick up school supplies, hygiene items or snacks that help ensure that their basic needs are met in order to succeed in school. Members of WOW donated items from wish lists created on Amazon or Target.

"Our community is looking for ways to support students and families," said Ashley Knott, Coordinator of Family and Community Engagement for Westfield Washington Schools. "To date, we have received over

Handful of Carmel firefighters learning rope rescue training

By KATIE WISELY
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

A handful of Carmel firefighters recently participated in rope rescue training to help save people from tall buildings.

The training relies specifically on trust, as most firefighters are going out of a six-story window. It's a week-long class at the Wayne Township Training Tower and a new concept for a handful of first responders.

Rope rescue can be used on water but also for high angle rescues. For example, the new technique can be used to save a window washer from a high-rise building. Advanced Rescue Solutions holds the training for different municipalities across the state.

The training starts with different scenarios. The firefighter will go out the window while relying on fellow crew members to lower them down. Then, they will get the person out of what they've fallen into and attach them to their harness. Lastly, they will slowly be lowered down to the ground together.

It's not only physically but also mentally demanding. "From learning the systems and understanding them, it's not just something that you can learn in a week," Carmel Fire Department spokesperson Tim Griffin said. "You have to practice this when you're out of here. You have to continue keeping county is able to deliver large pluralities for Republican candidates for Congress, governor and other state-level office seekers. Most observers see reduced pluralities this year.

But, for local office it would be hard to imagine a Democratic sweep. Democrats have done little in the way of taking positions on issues or advertising their state of candidates. Republicans have done some campaigned and advertising, but largely have been content to let their record speak for itself.

Democrats' best chances seem to be in races for the state legislature. Incumbents Todd Huston and Jerry Torr are both believed to be in close races with Democratic challengers.

Some elective offices are going unopposed to GOP incumbents, including a county commissioner seat, a county council seat and judgeships in five local courts.

It is a most unusual election, and thousands of early voter and absentee ballots must be counted, which will add to the suspense. The tallying could result in outcomes not being known on election night.

The Reporter will publish at least partial results Wednesday, and final results when they become available.

that's mental. You need to have trust in the system, trust in the guys and girls that are learning and teaching and training you and trust in the equipment that we have."

Griffin says fire training is ever-changing and it's not just about fighting fires. It's all aspects of rescue and safety.

I have my sincere worries about who will be taking the oath. Honestly. My choices were neither to my liking. I've hated the bickering. I've hated the ugliness.

Don't get me started on the commercials. I thought I'd never look forward to the commercials of lawyers and insurance companies and car dealerships.

As I watch the political commercials, I think, do they really think they will change someone's mind?

Politics and religion are so personal. They divide family and friends.

I've never thought about color when it comes to choosing my friends. I will say that I have blue ones as well as red ones. If we differ on views, we don't discuss them.

On Wednesday morning they will still be my friends. If they get too political, as they have in the past, there may be some whose friendship I will have to "snooze" for 30 days on Facebook.

I may take a break from social media for a while. I may find a few good Hallmark movies to watch. I need some "happily ever after." Maybe I'll watch some Lucy and Ethel. I'll stay away from Leave it to Beaver.

I pray that we can get back to the America that I grew up in. We are just so far away from it.

My trepidation is real.

Meeting the needs of our students socially, emotionally, and academically is essential for a student to be ready to learn and that is why it means so much to us that WOW stepped up to help fulfill the needs of our students."

Hosting a Care Closet is one way for the school district to make a big impact on the wellbeing of the students. WOW President Danielle Carey Tolan said the organization is proud to make an impact. Tolan also serves as the Washington Township Trustee.

"WOW is dedicated to partnering with our Westfield organizations to do our part in helping our community," Tolan said. "In the past 18 months, we have been able to provide donations or volunteer hours to Heart and Soul Clinic, MacGregor Park, Prevail and now WWS. Service is a core goal of WOW, and working with Parent University is one way we are aligning with our mission. We are blown away by the support from our members."

Westfield Intermediate School teacher Holly Fultz said she is glad that Westfield has organizations that care for the community.

"Our school is grateful to the Women of Westfield for their generous donations to our Care Closet," Fultz said. "The Care Closet at WIS is open to all students who have a need for food, hygiene items, or school supplies. This space is important because Westfield is an economically diverse community and we want all students to have what they need to be successful each and every day. COVID-19 has increased the amount of hygiene supplies we are giving out. Thank you for all your support we have received at WIS."

Westfield High School teacher Denver Wade said, "The Care Closet supports ANY basic need at Westfield High School so that students can really focus on learning while at school. The Care Closet is necessary because students have need, regardless of their background. This is an opportunity for their need to be addressed – without stigma – so they may reach their full educational potential. The item that has been most needed has been scientific calculators."

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. Community Health Network physician makes six Thanksgiving gathering recommendations

By BRENNA DONNELLY
WISH-TV | wishTV.com

The chief physician executive at Community Health Network is issuing six recommendations for Hoosiers as they prepare for Thanksgiving.

Dr. Ram Yeleti began his message by sharing data from the hospital group about the surge in cases. He agrees the record-setting numbers are in part due to an increase in testing. However, he adds that the increase in the state's positivity rate and hospitalizations indicate the virus is actually spreading and reaching the state's most vulnerable patients, including those over the age of 65 and with other health conditions.

As the holidays approach, Dr. Yeleti said to be aware that one in 100 Hoosiers may be asymptomatic with COVID-19. He explained, "It's likely more than 100,000 Hoosiers have the virus and don't know they have it." He said that number has increased as the state's cases and positivity rates have increased.

Dr. Yeleti encourages Hoosiers to refrain from gathering with extended family for the Thanksgiving holiday. For those still planning to gather, he has six suggestions.

1. Don't travel to visit others for Thanksgiving.

2. If you choose to gather at home, gather outside.

3. Whenever you're indoors, open lots of windows for ventilation.

4. Keep your masks on even when indoors, and remove only for eating.

5. Eat Thanksgiving dinner outside.

6. Don't gather with or around the most vulnerable Hoosiers.

"The last thing we want to see is our family members succumbing to the virus. We've had several thousand, more than 3,000 Hoosiers that have passed away," Dr. Yeleti said. "We've signed hundreds of death certificates here at Community Health Network. I certainly hope that doesn't occur during the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons. So let's do our best to not socially gather."

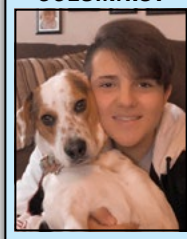

The benefits of caring for a dog

Editor's Note: The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School's 10th grade English class, taught by Abby Williams.

As many people know, dogs are known as the most loyal and loving creatures out there. Usually humans create unbreakable bonds with their furry friends. They are so elegant and praised that they received the sayings, "A man's best friend" and "All dogs go to heaven." There are so many benefits of raising a dog.

Dogs can help you grow as a person so much and help you live a healthier lifestyle. A study from an article called "Money Crashers" says, "Dog owners had a 24 percent lower risk of death from all causes compared to people without dogs."

The article then goes on to talk about dogs helping people live better lives through exercise and potentially reducing allergies greatly. In the article it gives a brief explanation from the American Heart Association about how having either a dog or cat can improve your heart health. People tend to have lower heart rates and blood pressure due to the pet suppressing anxiety and stress.

Another main benefit is that being around dogs can significantly reduce the chance of many allergies. According to a 2017 study funded by the National Institutes of Health, "young children exposed to high indoor levels of pet dander are less likely to develop asthma by the age of 7."

Since dogs have such sensitive noses, they can even detect illnesses and some cancers early.

The final reason you should consider letting a dog into your home is the fact that they can help you grow as a person extremely. They improve your responsibility skills because a dog is a mini person that relies on its human to help it survive. You have to feed them, give them water, let them out, and make sure they are well-exercised.

The other way they can help you majorly is they give you a loyal, loving and cute best friend. Multiple sources and studies show that having a pet undoubtedly reduces people's stress and anxiety levels. In a 2003 study in Anxiety, Stress, & Coping, researchers put subjects in a stressful situation – exposing them to a tarantula – and then gave them either a live animal or a toy animal to pet. The live animal produced a bigger drop in their measured levels of fear and anxiety. This study proves that there are many benefits of owning a dog.

After all of this, you should consider giving a dog a chance at a good, loving life. All this information shows that there are many benefits to owning a pet. They will make you feel more responsible and give you a purpose if you are a bit lonely and want some extra company around. With the dog you can even get out and enjoy more social interactions. You can do this by taking your dog to places like dog parks and you can even meet more people.

Thanks to volunteers from Cicero Friends of the Park, Hamilton Heights Youth Assistance, Hamilton Heights Honor Society, Key Club and many more, the Haunted Trail at Red Bridge Park in Cicero was a massive success. Laughter and screams were heard in equal measure, just as you'd expect.

The family-friendly version of the trail saw hundreds of guests Friday night, and we are told that the extra-scary adult version was equally successful.

The trail wrapped around the outside of Red Bridge Park, 697 W. Jackson St., Cicero, offering thrills, chills and plenty of spooky fun Thursday and Friday.

Thank you, Senate District 20

As I am sure many across our district know, my term as your state senator is coming to a close.

During the three years I've represented Senate District 20, I have focused on policies to improve our education, health care, government efficiency and criminal justice systems, and I have contributed to more than three dozen bills becoming law and many amendments.

which protects Hoosiers' private property rights. I also authored Senate Enrolled Act 405 in 2019, which strengthens our voting security and provides a process for conducting election audits.

In addition, I authored measures to help ensure our state government is efficient, to improve health care cost and value, to reduce burdensome regulations of schools and teachers, to strengthen fiscal oversight of education spending and pension plans, to expand wraparound services for at-risk youth, and to modernize occupational licensing. Furthermore, by working with local leaders, the Indiana

Over the course of my tenure, I have served as chair of the Legislative Council's Audit Committee and as a member of the Senate committees on education and career development, environmental affairs, financial services and insurance, and pensions and labor. I have truly enjoyed the opportunity to advance policies that are best for our state.

I am proof that the American Dream is alive and well, and I will continue to be a voice for policies that protect personal liberties and advance our great state and country forward. I also hope that I will leave my colleagues with

Who was Indiana's first woman state senator?

The REPORTER

This week in Indiana's history ...

1851 – The new Indiana State Constitution went into effect, replacing the original version written at the time of Statehood in 1816. Meeting in the Statehouse in Indianapolis, 150 delegates had taken four months to craft the new document, which was created to adapt to changing times. This 1851 Constitution continues to this day to serve as the foundation of state government.

1892 – The First automatic telephone system went into operation in La Porte. Local mortician Almon Strowger used hat pins and electromagnets to create a rotary dial mechanism which would become the basis of telephone technology for decades to come. Calls could be made without the assistance of an operator. Strowger called his method "cuss-less, out-of-order-less, and wait-less."

1917 – James Bethel Gresham, from Evansville, was killed in action in a battle near Artois, France. The 23-year-old Army Corporal was the first Hoosier, and one of the first three Americans, to die in combat during World War I. He and his comrades were buried on the battlefield where they fell, but Gresham's remains were later returned to Evansville and interred at Locust Hill Cemetery.

1935 – Amelia Earhart was the special guest of the Hammond Junior Women's Club at the Lyndora Hotel. Introduced by Mayor Frank R. Martin, the famous flyer fascinated the audience as she spoke of her solo flights over the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. A dinner was followed by ice cream desserts topped with airplane motifs. She later spoke to 900 people at Hammond High School. As she described her adventures, she said she loved flying "for the beauty of the view over land and sea."

1942 – Arcada Stark Balz became the first woman elected to the Indiana State Senate. Born on a farm near Bloomington, she had grown up in Indianapolis and attended Manual High School. A teacher of history, literature and art, she had also served as president of the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs. In the Senate, she represented Johnson and Marion counties.

1957 – Architect Frank Lloyd Wright visited Indianapolis. At age 90, he had become a legend in what became known as "organic architecture." He was critical of many of the city's buildings, but expressed admiration for the J. C. Penney Store on Monument Circle. He also approved of Weir Cook Airport, which he said was "very nicely designed."

As the country continues to move beyond uncertain times, the Carmel Symphony Orchestra (CSO) brings you a season of Hope Renewed. Single tickets are still on sale for the 2020-21 season, which includes the next concert at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 14 at The Palladium in Carmel, part of The Center for The Performing Arts.

This November performance is the second in this season's Masterworks series. It will feature Beethoven's Symphony No. 1 in C Major, Mozart's Violin Concerto No. 3 in G Major and Rossini's Barber of Seville Overture. This concert will feature CSO's 2019 Young Artist Competition Winner, Cooper Olsen.

CSO proudly sponsors the annual CSO Young Artists Competition, a unique and prestigious concerto competition allowing Indiana student musicians the opportunity to compete with their peers at the highest level of artistic excellence and have the amazing experience of performing in The Palladium at the Center for the Performing Arts.

Olsen was a 14-year-old when he won as the CSO Young Artist. He is a freshman at Bloomington North High School in Bloomington, Ind. He won the Young Artist Competition with a performance of Saint-Saens' Violin Concerto No. 3, 3rd movement and studies with Mimi Zweig, professor of music at Indiana University's Jacobs School of Music.

As with the previous concert, CSO recognizes that not all symphony patrons are comfortable attending events in person. With that, CSO will again offer a livestreaming option for the November concert.

"Having the capability to live stream our concerts allows us to bring music to people who are unable to be in the hall with us," said Artistic Director Janna Hymes. "With limited seating and some of our patrons' concerns about being out in crowds, we believe this is the perfect solution to bring the beauty of music directly to everyone."

Single tickets for the Hope Renewed Masterworks (Nov. 14) concerts are now on sale for both the livestream and in-person options. Single tickets are available for the Holiday Pops Concerts (Dec. 12) presented by IU Health.

To order tickets, you may contact the Center for Performing Arts Box Office at (317) 843-3800. Or, please visit the CSO website at CarmelSymphony.org.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Against whom when the accusers stood up, they brought none accusation of such things as I supposed: But had certain questions against him of their own superstition, and of one Jesus, which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive. And because I doubted of such manner of questions, I asked him whether he would go to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these matters. But when Paul had appealed to be reserved unto the hearing of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept till I might send him to Caesar. Then Agrippa said unto Festus, I would also hear the man myself. To morrow, said he, thou shalt hear him. And on the morrow, when Agrippa was come, and Bernice, with great pomp, and was entered into the place of hearing, with the chief captains, and principal men of the city, at Festus' commandment Paul was brought forth. And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are here present with us, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Jews have dealt with me, both at Jerusalem, and also here, crying that he ought not to live any longer.

Girls soccer state finals

Millers beat Golden Eagles to repeat as Class 3A champions

The Noblesville girls soccer team defended its Class 3A state championship Saturday at Reynolds Tigers Stadium in Fishers. The Millers beat Guerin Catholic 3-0 and finished their season 17-0-1.

By RICHIE HALL
FISHERS - The magic number for the Noblesville girls soccer team on Saturday was 80.

Millers senior Jenna Chatterton explained why: “Before this game this morning, we had a white board out with the whole team. Right there, circled in the middle is ‘80-plus minutes,’ because we knew it couldn’t just be half a game or even one half, another half. It had to be the whole game.”

That game just happened to be the Class 3A state championship game, which took place at Reynolds Tigers Stadium at Fishers High School. Noblesville took on Guerin Catholic and indeed, never let up the intensity for the entire 80 minutes of the game.

As a result, the Millers defended their state championship, beating the Golden Eagles 3-0. Noblesville scored one goal in the first half, then added the other two goals in the second half on its way to back-to-back state titles.

“It’s awesome to come back here with these girls for a second time and win again,” said Chatterton.

“I’m just happy we made it through the season, because I thought this season would be cut short with all that’s happening,” said Millers coach Mike Brady. “This is great for the girls. For all they’ve lost out on at school and everything else, for them to have this opportunity to be together, and then just to win is icing on the cake. I love this group. You see how talented they are, but they’re even better individuals.”

Noblesville scored its first goal in the 24th minute, when sophomore Carlie Sack tapped the ball into the net from about five feet away. It was Sack’s first-ever varsity goal.

“It was just cool to score,” said Sack.

Guerin Catholic finished as the Class 3A runner-up. It’s the Golden Eagles second appearance in a state championship game, the first coming in 2017. Guerin finished its season 16-2-2.

The Golden Eagles battled the entire game, with UCLA commit Quincy McMahon leading the offense. McMahon had several shots for Guerin Catholic, with Emersen Jennings and Katie Koger making shots as well.

Guerin Catholic finished its season 16-2-2. The third-ranked Golden Eagles’ only two losses were to the teams rated above them: No. 1 Noblesville and No. 2 Carmel.

“No regrets,” said Guerin Catholic coach Sean Yau. “They played awesome. Noblesville’s a great team. I know that our girls put everything they could possibly get on the field. They performed as best they could. We just couldn’t get the result tonight.”

The Millers finished their season 17-0-1. Noblesville received another honor after the game, when senior Emma Potter won the Mental Attitude Award. Potter, who has committed to play lacrosse at Central Michigan University, is the first Millers girls soccer player to receive the award.

“I’m super grateful,” said Potter. “I know a lot of people have won this before and I feel like it’s an honor just to be able to say that I am a winner and to say that people around me think of me in this way. It’s really great.”

The Carmel girls cross country team reclaimed the state championship on Saturday.

The Greyhounds won their first state title in four years, scoring 52 points to triumph at the LaVern Gibson Cross Country Course in Terre Haute. Carmel held off two-time defending champion Fort Wayne Carroll by 25 points; the Chargers totaled 77 points to finish as runner-up. The Greyhounds' depth was the key, as all five of their scoring runners scored less than 20 points each.

Three Carmel runners placed in the top 25, earning medals and All-State honors. Senior Annie Christie finished her spectacular season by taking third place in a time of 18 minutes, 18.9 seconds. Junior Alivia Romaniuk placed 15th and freshman Cara Naas finished 20th.

The victory was the 19th state championship for the 'Hounds, extending its already state-record total.

Three other Hamilton County teams participated in the meet. Hamilton Southeastern finished in ninth place with a score of 282 points. Freshman Maggie Powers led the Royals by placing 42nd.

Noblesville took 13th place with a total of 308 points; freshman Nadia Perez finished in 46th to lead the Millers. Fishers placed 19th as a team, with junior Anna Runion's 43rd-place finish pacing the Tigers.

Two more county runners both competed as individuals, and they both finished in the top 25 to receive medals and All-State honors. Guerin Catholic sophomore Bridget Gallagher placed 13th and Hamilton Heights senior Maria Mitchell finished in 23rd.

In the boys meet, Carmel was the team runner-up for the second year in a row. The Greyhounds scored 112 points, with Columbus North winning the state championship by totaling 63 points. This marked the ninth consecutive year that the 'Hounds finished in the top two at state.

The Carmel boys also had three runners land in the top 25, earning medals and All-State honors. Sophomore Kole Mathison placed third in a time of 15:36.4. Senior Jacob Fisher finished in 21st, while junior Charlie Schuman took 25th.

Fishers made the podium for the third year in a row by placing fifth as a team. The Tigers scored 196 points. Senior Will Clark finished in 17th place individ-
