Spartz hailed as victor

5th Congressional District seat stays with GOP

By STU CLAMPITT
 ReadTheReporter.com

Late Tuesday night, with thousands of absentee ballots still to be counted today and possibly tomorrow in Indiana's 5th Congressional District, Victoria Spartz had a comfortable enough lead to declare victory.

At seven points ahead, with a 24,000-vote lead, supporters at Carmel's Hotel Carmichael cheered when current Congresswoman Susan Brooks introduced your presumptive next 5th District Representative: Victoria Spartz.

Brooks opened her comments to the assembled crowd by saying, "As a person who has had the honor and privilege of representing the 5th District for the last eight years, I have watched Victoria work tirelessly. She has traveled all eight counties day-in and day-out since she declared she was running for this seat. She is the American Dream story. Coming from Ukraine 20 years ago and fulfilling the dream, getting involved in the Hamilton County Republican Party at the grassroots level and working her tail off on behalf of this country – not just for the Republican Party, because she cares about everybody."

Brooks was very clear that absentee ballots are still left to county in Hamilton County, in Marion County and some in Madison County, but she and the party were confident enough to call this one a victory.

In an exclusive interview, Brooks told the Reporter she is both pleased and proud that Spartz will be taking over her seat.

"I have watched her work so incredibly hard to earn this seat," Brooks said. "I am very proud that this amazing woman – businesswoman, farmer, mom, wife and strong State Senator – is going to now take my place. She will actually go into Congress with more legislative experience than I had. I had not served in a legislative body, but she has. She has seen what a good legislative body and what good state government can do. That will serve citizens of the 5th District and the country well."

Both Spartz and Brooks spoke of the incoming Congresswoman's status as a naturalized citizen of the United States who immigrated from Ukraine as a strength.

"Because of her background she also has a deeper sense of freedom and liberty than maybe I did when I ran because of her upbringing in Ukraine," Brooks told The Reporter. "I love her story and I love her passion for the country and protecting the Constitution. Many who were immigrants and became citizens often have a deeper appreciation for our democracy than people who were born here."

 Outgoing Congresswoman Susan Brooks and incoming Congresswoman Victoria Spartz took a moment Tuesday night to pose together for the Reporter's camera. Everyone entering the limited-seating event was required to wear a mask and had to pass a temperature check for COVID-19 safety before being allowed inside.

In her remarks to her supporters, Spartz first thanked her husband, her two daughters, everyone at the event and everyone who helped at every level of the campaign. When she spoke about coming to America, she did it with a touch of humor.

"I came here 20 years ago with one suitcase – which was lost when I came through Chicago," Spartz said. "I was young, adventurous, just graduated from college and I thought, 'If my husband doesn't meet me, I'm in trouble!'"

In her public remarks, Spartz said, "I feel that I can give back and I want to give back to this community. I want to ensure that our promises are kept and that we can deliver great results."

After the event, when speaking exclusively to the Reporter, Spartz said it will be a relief for her and for the entire country when all the votes are counted, and this election has been decided across the country.

"I feel relief that we are getting through the election," Spartz told the Reporter. "There has been too much politics and we need to get through the election because we have a lot of challenges we have to work on. We have real issues on the ground with the virus; we need to make sure we get small businesses back on track; we need to ensure that people have good jobs, good education, good healthcare. It has been a very challenging year. We still have some votes to count and I fully agree they all need to be counted. But the closure is coming soon, and it is good."

As a state senator, Spartz had a record of working for her constituents even when that may have frustrated members of her own party.

STRAIGHT-PARTY BALLOTS CAST

Republican: 48,457
 Democratic: 21,983
 Libertarian: 72

Preliminary Voter Turnout: 64.4%

Hamilton Co. remains red, but Trump trails the ticket

By FRED SWIFT
 ReadTheReporter.com

Despite Democrats' greatest election effort in local history, Hamilton County remains Republican – based on the 167,500 votes counted Tuesday evening. Another estimated 30,000 absentee ballots are being counted today.

And, the equally significant news is that the county cast the second-largest number of votes of any Indiana county, second only to Marion County. It was obviously a record voter turnout and created the need for another day to count all the ballots.

President Trump, who easily carried the state, trailed the GOP ticket in Hamilton County. He won, but with only 54 percent of the vote while other Republicans were winning by 62 percent or more in some cases. He won the county by 18,000 votes in the partial returns, while Gov. Eric Holcomb is winning by 53,000 votes over Democratic challenger Woody Myers.

For Congress, Victoria Spartz leads challenger Christina Hale by 13,000 votes in this county, but the Fifth District includes portions of six other counties, and results are yet to be tabulated in some of those areas, as well as in Hamilton County.

All Republican state legislators whose districts are entirely or partially within the county are leading by sizable margins.

All GOP candidates for county office have essentially won based on the votes counted last night. They include County Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt, Auditor Robin Mills, Treasurer candidate Susan Byer, Surveyor Kenton Ward and county council candidates Brad Beaver, Sue Maki and Steve Nation.

It was a big night for Republicans as election nights usually are locally, but few candidates showed up at the county fairgrounds where returns were posted for the public. The reason for the light attendance was assumed to be the great interest in the national election, with many folks wanting to watch the televised returns.

Elsewhere in today's Reporter the vote totals (minus the 30,000 yet to be counted) can be found. The official and complete totals will appear in Thursday's edition.

Maki ready to serve on County Council

Photo provided

On Tuesday night, Sue Maki declared victory in her election to Hamilton County Council. "I am very grateful for all the help and support I got from the residents of Hamilton County," Maki told The Reporter. "I think that my background in community service with many organizations and boards and commissions in the county showed my commitment to making Hamilton County the best place it can possibly be. I am excited and I am looking forward to serving everyone."

Byer defeats Democrat challenger, GOP keeps County Treasurer's seat

In the controversy-filled race for a new County Treasurer, Republican Susan Byer (center) enjoyed a commanding 42,000-vote lead Tuesday night over her Democratic challenger Jake Madore. Byer, who previously worked in the Treasurer's Office, was fired from her position in 2018. Having defeated former Treasurer Kim Good in the June 2 primary election and now appearing to have won the Nov. 3 general election, Byer will now head that office come Jan. 1, 2021.

Counting every vote because every vote counts

Reporter photos

Poll workers counted approximately 15,000 absentee and mail-in ballots on Tuesday, and some 30,000 more are left to count across the county. County Clerk Kathy Williams says she hopes to have all those ballots counted by the end of Wednesday. Nearly 150,000 of the county's 263,086 eligible voters cast their ballots by mail or visited early voting locations.

GENERAL ELECTION RESULTS

Please note that these results are UNOFFICIAL and NOT FINAL. They are current as of 9:25 p.m. Tuesday. Approximately 30,000 absentee ballots still need to be counted according to the County Clerk's office. In the interest of fairness and accuracy, The Reporter has chosen not to mark any winners in any races. Check back in the days to come for updated results. SPARTZ

“I always said that I never represented the government, I always represented the people of my district,” Spartz told the Reporter. “I’ll continue doing the same. I think it’s important. I will challenge my party when they are wrong and go with them when they are right.”

Spartz said she is both a Republican woman and an independent thinker when it comes to getting the results Hoosiers want and need.

“I worked on some issues that were very bipartisan and very broad,” Spartz said. “I understand the importance to get people together. Like in any good business contract, when one side is very happy and another is very unhappy, usually that is not a good contract. When all of the sides are a little bit unhappy, but happy enough to back the contract – that’s how it works in business and that’s how it really works in politics when people want to get things done. There is no ‘My way or the highway,’

Spartz said her work at the state level will be an asset moving forward because, in her view, people do expect Congress to deliver results.

“What I can really bring to the table is my understanding of the state legislative branch and my relationships with a lot of my legislators,” Spartz said. “I can work together with them to be able to deliver good policies on the ground and to actually implement them. A lot of challenging issues will take collaboration with the federal government, state government, local government, business communities and the non-profit communities. If we can collaborate together, we can get this done. That’s what it takes. A legislator has the ability to convene a lot of stakeholders and bring them to the table. That is an important role. I did it in the state senate and I have more ability now to bring more people to the table.”

Libertarian Rainwater marks freedom as goal for better government

While Donald Rainwater made a strong showing in his bid for Governor as the Libertarian Party candidate, he said Tuesday night that he did not consider it a victory, even if many of his supporters do. While he may have taken the Indiana Libertarian Party to the next level, he said he is not satisfied. “I really wanted to win,” Rainwater said. “I heard somebody say this was a win, and that’s fine. But it’s not the way I look at it. I really wanted to fix some government. I’ve told people for a while now – and I really believe this – if I am more free tomorrow than I was yesterday, then today was a success. But I want you to leave here remembering that this is not good enough. It won’t be good enough until we gain control of our government back.” (From left) Rainwater’s Campaign Manager Sam Goldstein, Events Coordinator Lauri Shillings and gubernatorial Libertarian Party candidate Donald Rainwater.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

Indiana Diaper Bank launches virtual holiday support campaign

The REPORTER

Indiana Diaper Bank, the only such bank in the state of Indiana, has launched a virtual campaign and diaper drive - #sharethelove - taking place now through Jan. 2, 2021.

Started in 2017, Indiana Diaper Bank is a nonprofit bringing awareness and assistance to parents in need. The need for diapers and baby essentials, although always great, has skyrocketed since COVID-19 hit, and it doesn't seem to be lessening.

The amount of assistance the Indiana Diaper Bank can provide depends on the stock on its shelves. This stock has been greatly reduced due to the increased demand in diapers, pull-ups and wipes, combined with not being able to host the average five diaper drives/month since March. In addition, with businesses struggling, donated funds have significantly decreased.

In response to this need, the Indiana Diaper Bank has launched a virtual diaper drive campaign called #sharethelove. Making the event virtual allows for a safe format while continuing to practice social distancing.

This campaign has a twofold purpose. First, Indiana Diaper Bank aims to foster a supportive online environment where parents can build one another up - and acknowledge that support is essential in helping parents achieve their best. Indiana Diaper Bank invites all to share positive thoughts and uplift one another, using #sharethelove.

Parents put everything they have into loving and caring for their babies. Yet, in a new Pampers survey conducted among moms, 9 out of 10 worry they aren't doing a good enough job.

"For me, motherhood has been an incredible experience. It's certainly the most challenging and the most fulfilling role I have ever taken on," Indiana Diaper Bank CEO Rachael Suskovich said. "I will admit, as a mom, I am hard on myself. No matter how hard I try, I often worry if I am doing enough ... or making the right decisions for my children. So, I'm striving to be kinder to myself and to try to see myself through my daughter's eyes. She always inspires me by her unconditional love."

The second purpose of the campaign is the diaper drive. The diaper drive aims to collect 150,000 diapers to provide to Indiana parents. This number of diapers will help lift the waitlist that Indiana Diaper Bank has taken on as a result of the COVID pandemic. Click here to visit Amazon and donate to the drive. Amazon donations will be mailed directly to the diaper bank.

Every diaper, dollar and product generated from this campaign will go directly to the Indiana Diaper Bank programs. Indiana Diaper Bank operates an open pantry and also provides thousands of diapers a month to other nonprofits that provide baby essentials to communities throughout the state of Indiana.

Indiana Diaper Bank helps enable a healthier start to a promising future for families in need. Fulfilling the most basic baby need, diapers, is the first step toward a stronger community.

About the Indiana Diaper Bank

The Indiana Diaper Bank is a non-profit organization, formed in October 2017 by Rachael Suskovich, CEO, to address diaper need and to raise awareness about the diaper gap at a state level. It is the only diaper bank in the state. Indiana Diaper Bank has the opportunity to make a health, social and economic impact by providing families in need with free diapers, leading to a range of positive outcomes for families. These outcomes include positive changes in parental mood (reducing risk of childhood abuse); improved child health and happiness (nurturing their ability to learn); and increased opportunities for childcare, work stability and school attendance. Indiana Diaper Bank is on a mission to provide the basic essentials families need to thrive as they wholeheartedly believe that every parent needs a little help, and every parent has a little help, to give. # Carmel seeks applications for 2021 City Arts Grants

The City of Carmel is now seeking applications for 2021 City Arts Grants, a program designed to support local arts organizations whose work keeps the city vibrant and appealing to residents and visitors alike. Since 2004, more than $13.6 million in arts grants has been awarded.

The 2020 Support for the Arts program awarded $1,332,250 to 29 organizations located in Carmel or who hold programs/performances in Carmel. The money is based on 1 percent of the city's budget. The grants are awarded on a competitive basis and the recommendations are reviewed and final approval is made by Mayor Brainard.

"We view the support of our arts organizations as a strong economic development tool for the City of Carmel. Since the creation of the Arts & Design District and Center for the Performing Arts, Carmel has become a destination for those who appreciate the Arts," Mayor Jim Brainard said. "It is important for us to continue to invest in those things that help elevate the quality of life in Carmel and help us continue to attract corporate headquarters and a highly educated, qualified labor force to fill those jobs."

The Performing Arts Center, with a diverse variety of musical and entertainment performances, draws visitors from all over the Midwest and beyond. In addition to The Palladium concert hall, many also come for events at The Tarkington and The Studio Theater. Carmel is also home to a vibrant Arts & Design District with art galleries, Midtown with a public plaza and places to eat and play, the Indiana Design Center, shops and restaurants, where major events are staged throughout the year, including monthly gallery walks, classic car shows and the popular International Arts Festival.

All this helps attract families and visitors to the city and helps local businesses. According to the most recent studies by Visit Hamilton County, visitors who stay in Carmel spend about $353 million annually in lodging, food and beverage, transportation and attraction purchases and contribute significantly to the overall tourism impact. This spending by visitors supports 5,000 jobs in Carmel and helps generate more than $42 million in state and local taxes, saving local residents more than $850 per year in taxes they would otherwise need to pay for the same services.

Local arts groups are encouraged to apply. The deadline for the initial round of applications is Friday, Nov. 20. You can find a copy of the 2021 Arts Grant Application at this link.

Joe Allen Ridge July 25, 1963 – October 31, 2020

Joe Allen Ridge, 57, passed away at his home in Sheridan, surrounded by his loving family on Saturday morning, October 31, 2020. Born July 25, 1963 in Noblesville, he was the son of Phillip and Martha (Merritt) Ridge.

Joe was a man of vision and entrepreneurial spirit. He never met a problem or a challenge that he couldn't solve, and he often found a way to make the solution profitable. Joe was a scrapper for many years, both independently and as partner with John Ridge at Ridge and Son Recycling. Much more than a junk man, he was a true recycling specialist. If there was an ounce of profit to be had in an item, Joe could find it, separate it, and turn it into cold hard cash. He also owned and operated Ridge and Son Towing in Sheridan.

Never one to sit and be idle, Joe loved going to auctions, flea markets and swap meets, usually looking for anything International Harvester-related, although nothing was truly off the table. Joe had the gift of being a natural "horse trader." He could barter and haggle with the best of them. That was a useful skill when it came to getting rid of the countless cars he restored over the years. Joe had a passion for old cars. He enjoyed going to car shows but really loved getting his hands on an old junker, making it run, getting rid of it, and starting the whole process all over again. Truth be told, he probably fixed up and sold more cars than most car dealerships.

At the end of the day, what Joe was most passionate about was his family, especially his grandkids.

Joe is survived his mother, Martha (Merritt) Ridge; son, Joe Allen Ridge, II (Mindy), Sheridan; daughters, Tiffany Renae Campbell, Evansville, Miranda Paige Bentzen (TJ), Cairo, Neb., Kimberly Renae Hansen, Evansville, and Adrian Suzanne Sutton (Brad), Palmetto, Fla.; grandchildren, Summer, Nakayla, Kaleb, Sidney, Linzy, Ellie, Mariah, Naomi, Aiden, Harmony, Daphnie, Nora, Atlas and Tyler; brother, Jesse Melvin Ridge, Lebanon; sisters, Christina Barnett, Appleton, Wis., Marty Garland (Fred), Lizton, Melissa Bradley (George), Sheridan, Phyllis Laney (Paul), North Vernon, Lonetta Cooper (Chris), Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and Andrea Ridge, Sheridan; and many nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his father, Phillip Ridge; wife, Penny Ridge; daughters, Jessica Ridge and Stephanie Marie Cooper; grandson, Spencer Hansen; and his canine BFF, his basset hound, Jake.

Public visitation will take place from 10 a.m. to noon on Friday, November 6, 2020 at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan.

Graveside services will be held at 1 p.m. on Friday, November 6, 2020 at Crown View Cemetery in Sheridan. Reverend Harrell Wilson will be officiating.

Strict COVID precautions will be observed, including the wearing of masks.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be presented to Kercheval Funeral Home, P.O. Box 42, Sheridan, IN 46069, to help defray funeral expenses.

Pickup truck crashes into Noblesville home, driver perishes

The REPORTER

At approximately 10:47 a.m. on Tuesday, police officers and firefighters from the Noblesville Police and Fire Departments responded to the 15300 block of Union Chapel Road to a report of a vehicle crashing into the rear of a residence, located at 15372 Atkinson Drive.

Based on witness statements and other potential evidence at the scene, a 2020 Ford F-150 pickup truck was traveling southbound on Union Chapel Road, just south of Greenfield Avenue, prior to the crash. Initial investigative information suggests that the Ford pickup left the right side of the roadway and traveled approximately 500 feet before crashing into the rear of the residence. There were no occupants in the residence.

Firefighters arrived on the scene and immediately worked to treat and extricate the driver from the vehicle. The driver was freed a short time later and pronounced dead at the scene.

Police investigators were summoned to the scene to collect evidence and gather information. The cause of the crash remains unknown at this time, and a medical emergency has not been ruled out. The cause of death will be determined by the Hamilton County Coroner's Office.

The driver of the Ford will be identified once family notifications have been made. There were no passengers in the vehicle.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

But when I found that he had committed nothing worthy of death, and that he himself hath appealed to Augustus, I have determined to send him. Of whom I have no certain thing to write unto my lord. Wherefore I have brought him forth before you, and specially before thee, O king Agrippa, that, after examination had, I might have somewhat to write. For it seemeth to me unreasonable to send a prisoner, and not withal to signify the crimes laid against him.

Acts 25:25-27 (KJV)

Betty Ward

October 27, 1929 – November 1, 2020

Betty Ward, 91, Fishers, passed away peacefully on Sunday, November 1, 2020. She was born on October 27, 1929 to Thomas Henry and Margaret Ada (Curtis) Kearney.

Betty was raised in Hibbing, Minn., and graduated from Hibbing High School in 1948. She married her husband, James Ward, and she began working for the telephone company, relocating several times due to her husband's work. After moving with her husband to Minneapolis, she became a homemaker, and Betty and James began to raise their family. They then moved to Indianapolis in 1969.

Betty's greatest joys in life came from the love of her family, being a wife and raising her two sons, and her strong faith. Whether she was involved with Cub Scouts as a Den Mother, teaching Sunday school, or keeping the scorebook for her sons' little league baseball games, Betty's passion was being with and taking care of her family. She also loved to sew and watch IU basketball games. After James' passing in 1981, Betty went back to work in a second career as an insurance agent for Costin Insurance Company in Indianapolis, retiring at the age of 65. Her sons attribute their completion of their education and further success in life much to their mother's unselfish devotion to each of them.

Betty is survived by her sons, Dr. Kevin (Susan) Ward and Brian (Lezlie) Ward; her grandchildren, Sean (Kylann) Ward, Molly (Zack) Dwenger, Ryan Ward, Jonathan Ward and Suzanne Ward; and many nieces and nephews.

Private funeral arrangements will be held at St. Louis de Montfort Catholic Church with burial at Oaklawn Memorial Gardens in Indianapolis. Randall & Roberts Fishers Mortuary has been entrusted with Betty's care.

Our heartfelt thanks to St. Louis de Montfort Catholic Church, Allisonville Meadows Senior Care, and Southern Care Hospice.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. Louis de Montfort Catholic Church, 11441 Hague Road, Fishers, IN 46038.

Fishers cruises to victory in opener

Fishers' Katie Burton scored 30 points during the Tigers' season-opening win Tuesday at the Tiger Den.

By RICHIE HALL
FISHERS - The Fishers girls basketball team opened its season with a convincing win in the Tiger Den on Tuesday. Fishers defeated Warren Central 56-36. The Tigers withstood some resistance from the Warriors in the first quarter, then clamped down on defense in the second period to run away with the game.

It appeared as if Fishers would run away with it in the opening minutes, as the Tigers ran off to an 8-0 lead. Katie Burton scored the first Fishers basket of the season: A 3-pointer. Olivia Smith followed that with two free throws, and senior Katie Howard hit a triple.

Warren came back to cut the Tigers' lead to 8-7, and were still within 13-12 after Tionna Malone made a 3. But Fishers finished the period on a 12-3 run to lead 25-15 after one. That run was sparked by a 3-pointer from sophomore Karina Scott, one of a handful of new faces on this year's Tigers team.

"I liked the way that our kids were able to withstand the run," said Fishers coach Lauren Votaw. "I told them, I like walking away from a game that you're able to win, but then you still feel like there are things that you can get better at. We know that we got to come back in tomorrow and keep working to get better. I felt like we did things well. We adjusted to their adjustments and I was proud of our kids for that."

The Tigers were, of course, led by their veterans, including the senior Burton, who made off-season news with her commitment to St. John's University, a Division I school in New York City that plays in the Big East. Burton took over the game at two points during the first half, scoring six straight points at the end of the first quarter, then pouring in nine consecutive points in the second period.

"Katie has worked really, really hard over this off-season to develop her game and improve the parts of her game that are already good," said Votaw. "I was proud of the way she played and I thought she played under control. I thought she was efficient."

Smith is a sophomore, but she can be considered a veteran: She and her twin sister Hailey Smith both played varsity as freshmen last season. Olivia helped out with five straight points (a 3-pointer and a layin) to begin the second quarter. The Tigers outscored the Warriors 18-2 in that period to take a 43-17 halftime lead.

Olivia Smith wound up with a double-double, pulling 12 rebounds to go with her 11 points. Hailey Smith had five rebounds and four assists. Both were also showing leadership, as they were vocal on the basketball court.

"A lot of times they're playing back under the basket," said Votaw. "They can see everything. And we've told them, you need to make sure you can tell everybody what you see. They're not necessarily quiet off the court, and so getting them to talk on the court is really cool."

Burton finished the game with 30 points, had four steals and was one of three Tigers players to make two 3-point-

'Blazers roll past Shortridge in first game of season

University traveled to Shortridge on Tuesday to open its season, and the Trailblazers came home with a historic win.

The 'Blazers won 68-25. The victory was a milestone for University coach Justin Blanding, as it marked his 100th career win. This is the sixth season for Blanding as coach of the Trailblazers.

University led 10-8 after the first quarter, but took over in the second period, outscoring Shortridge 20-3 for a 30-11 halftime lead. The Trailblazers then had another 20-point quarter in the third, then only allowed Shortridge three points in the fourth.

Three UHS players finished in double figures for scoring. Kelsey DuBois reached double-double status with 23 points and 19 rebounds, and also had five assists and three blocked shots. Peyton Seay added 16 points and made four steals, while Sierra Hinds scored 13 and had five steals.

Kamryn Washington, a sophomore transfer from Warren Central, had eight points and five steals in her first game as a 'Blazer. Four of University's five starters - Washington, Seay, Jordan Patterson and DuBois - are sophomores, while fifth starter Hinds is a senior. Juniors Anne Gibboney, Abby Hannon and Arrior Sherrod all return varsity experience to the team. Other players on the roster are junior Becky Williams, sophomore Reva Allam and freshmen Lily Hovda and Lindsey Blockson.

University will host Guerin Catholic Saturday afternoon for its first home game of the season.

FISHERS

ers. Senior Audra Emmerson and Scott both had two triples as well.

"It has been fun to see all of my kids," said Votaw. "The unique thing about this whole COVID situation is, I went virtually four months without seeing my players. It's so fun to see how they have matured through that time as people and how that's translating. It's pretty fun."

Fishers will go on the road Saturday to play two games at the Center Grove tournament. The Tigers play Ben Davis at 10 a.m. and the host Trojans at 7:30 p.m.
