

Meals on Wheels receives $5K donation from Duke Energy

Seeking and finding joy

The REPORTER

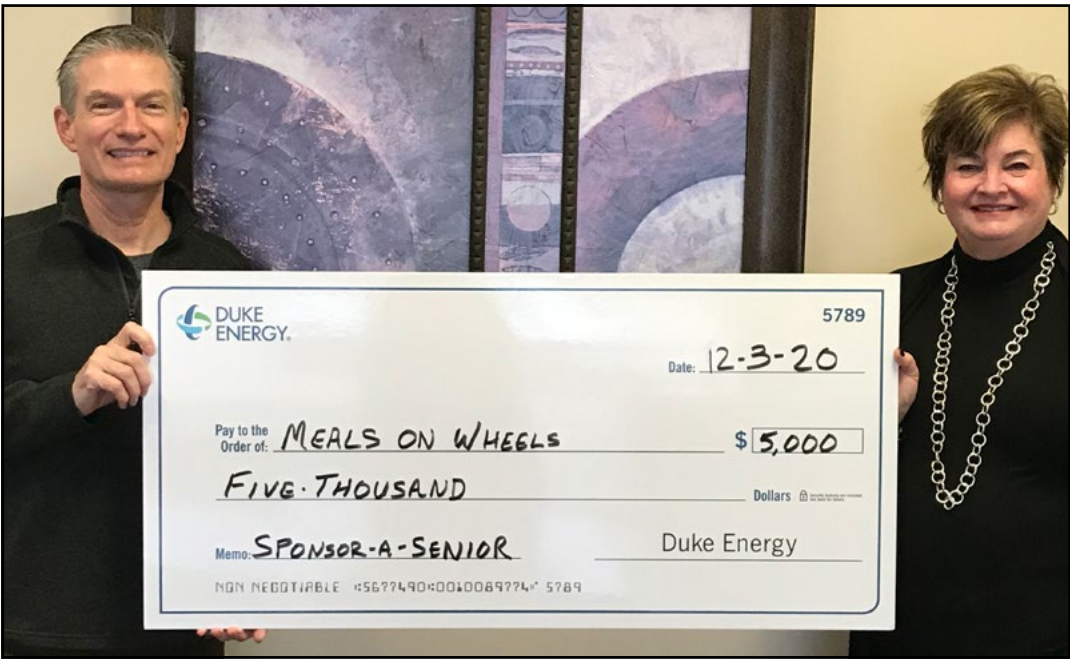

The Duke Energy Foundation recently presented a check for $5,000 to Meals on Wheels of Hamilton County to aid in program development and capacity for meal delivery to Hamilton County's food insecure seniors and those unable to cook for themselves due to injury, illness or disability.

"We are extremely grateful to have a corporate partner like Duke Energy," said Beth Gehlhausen, executive director of Meals on Wheels of Hamilton County. "We continue to see a growing need for assistance within our community and are taking on new clients daily. Duke's contribution will help us continue to have capacity to help during these uncertain times."

During 2020, the number of clients served by Meals on Wheels of Hamilton County has increased 33 percent. Additionally, the number of clients needing assistance to pay for their meals has increased 58 percent.

"Amid COVID, we have been blessed with the grace and goodwill of the community, both time and donations," Gehlhausen said. "In a seemingly hopeless time, our community has come together to provide hope for so many."

Now coming up on its 46th year, the organization is able to fulfill the client requests for hot meals, sack lunches and even frozen meals thanks to the generosity of donors and dedication of staff and volunteers. Due to safety precautions, the organization was forced to cancel its largest fundraiser of the year – an annual Dancing with Our Stars event. The event traditionally generates revenue that allows for increased meal delivery during the winter months in addition to sustaining annual operations. Given this circumstance, Meals on Wheels of Hamilton County's need for support going into 2021 is greater than ever.

"We all have a responsibility to share in the food insecurity solution, especially given these uncertain circumstances," Gehlhausen said.

While donations of any size are appreciated, $50 provides meals for one week and $210 provides a month of meals. To donate or for more information, visit mealsonwheelshc.org/donate or call (317) 776-7159.

"We want the community to know how deeply we appreciate their help, and that we have capacity and are here to help. Individuals just need to call us or go on the website and fill out the online application," Gehlhausen said.

In the midst of a bleak midwinter ... there was Joy.

I found it in the sweetness of a recipe shared by my dear friend Mary Alice. Her legacy is carried on in the cookies I bake every Christmas.

Alexa plays Christmas music while I settle into arranging all the ingredients that will be mixed into cookie after cookie. The kitchen chaos is alive and well on a cold December day.

As the music beckons me to "oh, come let us adore Him," I am taken back in time to singing in the choir in a little church that still stands a few blocks from our home. Those memories warm my soul. "All is calm, all is bright."

My soul needs the calm. My heart needs the bright.

"Joy to the world!" Oh, how much the world needs joy. Joy is not about being in the midst of "everything is okay" circumstances. It is found in the beauty of our moments. Seek and it shall be found.

That first bite of a gingersnap, as my tastebuds fight for dibs on the first taste.

Miss the clock striking? Repairs are on the way

By FRED SWIFT
ReadTheReporter.com

Some folks have noticed that the courthouse clock has not been operating the past few weeks. But, not to worry, repairs are on the way.

Steve Wood, the buildings and grounds director for Hamilton County, says parts are hard to get but have been located and will be coming before long.

The clock and its huge cast iron bell designed to strike every hour are 140 years old. So, it's not hard to understand that parts are hard to find.

But the clock, an iconic piece of local history, will definitely be back in service.

Thanks, Steve.

Joy

Westfield Schools offering free screening of ANGST

All the sweeter if it's home-made. There is love mixed in every batch.

I feel the softness of the cheek of my new great-grandbaby, Tiberius, as I rock him and let him know that Gaga will always love him and his brother, Jason. I sing "Silent Night" and the tears fall as I pray that their great-great-grandpa, Jim Hart, is looking down from above and he, somehow, knows that Tiberius has James as his middle name. Never forgotten.

Joy has a way of sneaking in on the dreariest of days. It is a beautiful feeling when I take the time to acknowledge its presence. Did I pay attention to the sunset that God beckoned me to see in the western sky? Oh, the artistic beauty of God's paintbrush. The spacious skies remind me that God sheds his grace on me ... lavishly.

Have I really, like really, listened to the words of "Mary did you know"? I hear the words, "the blind will see." What am I missing? I don't want the chaos of my circumstances to hinder my sight of the wonders of which I have sang all these years before. The wonders of His love.

Joy can be found in the bleakest of our circumstances. Joy looks beyond the dismal foreboding of the 6:00 news. It sees that I have made it through today and I can hope that tomorrow will be better.

Joy gives security in the present. Hope gives security in the future. Delight in the moment. Embrace the blessings of the day. Look forward to the promises of tomorrow.

A blessed moment is like an ember that grows into a fire of hope.

The phone call from a friend who just wanted to see how I was doing. I needed to hear a friendly voice. She didn't know I was hurting.

The kindness of a stranger who just wanted to pay it forward. He had no idea that I needed his kindness. "Thank you, sir."

The scripture that showed up in my morning devotions: "Surely the Lord is in this place." No matter how dire my circumstances ... I am not alone.

Joy that causes my breaking heart to applaud. Joy that catches the attention of my hurting soul.

Joy is the spark of hope in the bleakest of winter days. May I always seek, for if I do ... joy will be found.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. Deer hunting

Editor's Note: The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School's 10th grade English class, taught by Abby Williams.

So far, this year's hunting season has been slow for the most part. Depending on where you hunt, you may find different-sized deer. In comparison, deer up in northern Indiana get as big as 200 pounds, but normally deer in Sheridan are smaller and only weigh around 100-150 pounds.

For the first weekend of hunting season, there is a youth weekend. Youth weekend is a time for people of the age 17 and below to get a chance to get a deer before everyone else can. It's like a head start for the youth. When I went on youth season, there wasn't much on the first day, and for being in October, it was actually quite cold compared to other years. On the second day of youth season, I shot a small doe around the size of 100 pounds and a yearling. Although it may seem small, the smaller deer are more tender and taste better than bigger deer. Later in the season, I shot a 200-pound doe. I also shot a decent eight-point buck.

Being the first deer shot of the season for our hunting group, we were proud. The group that I hunt with includes me, my dad, and my dad's friends, Larry Eidson and Jason Stewart.

Starting off the next weekend was slow. Usually we would wake up at 5 a.m. and go to McDonald's for our breakfast, but due to COVID changing fast food hours, we aren't able to go and we decided to go to a gas station for our breakfast. This isn't the worst because we can sleep for another half an hour. Another good part about going to the gas station is that there is good coffee that you can make yourself, so it's always perfect.

Starting off the next week, we put out Larry's deer blind for comfortable sitting. Usually we would use tree stands, but because we are spoiled this year, we decided to buy blinds for our private property. Most of the time we drive up north and hunt in Winamac, Ind., which is owned by the state for hunters to have a public place to hunt. During the week we hunt at Thorntown. We also have a blind ourselves and just put it up. It overlooks the whole property for a shot up to 500 yards.

Depending on where you hunt lets you use certain rounds for deer. A few common rounds for state-owned property is a .44, .45 and .357 caliber. For privately-owned ground you can use rounds as big as a .308 and 30-06. Rounds you can use for private ground are usually high-powered rifles, which is why you can only use them on private property. The rounds eligible for state ground must be a pistol bullet and nothing bigger.

In the end, deer hunting is a great way to bond with family and friends. It's not that hard to get started; you just need a rifle and property. Although it may seem boring, it is actually very fun.

Indiana military families receive free Christmas trees

By RANDALL NEWSOME

WISH-TV | wishtv.com

For the last few years, some of Indiana's military families have gotten a special gift, ahead of the holiday season: A freshly cut Christmas tree.

The Avalanche Food Group, which owns the Twin Peaks restaurant, has been using their East 82nd Street parking lot to host a Christmas tree giveaway for veterans and their families. They have teamed up with Folds of Honor, a nonprofit that provides academic scholarships for the families of fallen or disabled military men and women.

This year the groups, along with a couple more community partners, provided 150 fresh-cut Christmas trees for Hoosier veterans.

"Giving and caring is still out there," Kasmer said. "This costs no one anything, other than Home Depot, obviously with the generosity."

Home Depot, one of the main partners in the project, contributed the trees, while volunteers from Folds of Honor and Twin Peaks helped load the families' vehicles with the trees.

"For people to come, volunteer and help out, it doesn't cost a thing."

Ricky and Joe Rosa, brothers and founders of the Avalanche Food Group, talked to Randall Newsome about why they decided to give this gift to military families.

The event in Indianapolis was only the kickoff to this year's event. They plan to give away 700 more trees to families of veterans in Texas, where the group is based.

An Open Letter to Noblesville Mayor Chris Jensen

Dear Mayor Jensen,

On Thursday, November 12, representatives of Industrial Dielectrics, Inc. attended an open meeting of the Community Advisory Committee regarding the proposed East-West Corridor Project on Pleasant Street. Not one of the 20 or so people in attendance, other than the presenters hired by the Mayor, endorsed the City’s currently preferred route (Plan B-1), and many concerned questions were asked. At the conclusion of the meeting, the moderator said that the City would move forward at the next meeting to recommend Plan B-1, ignoring the entire discussion raised by the audience. It became clear that the City and its contractors had already made up their minds and had no genuine intent to consider legitimate issues raised or alternatives.

This roadway will be used, hopefully, for the next 100 years, and the “best” plan needs to be developed. Apparently, no consideration will be given to concerns raised in this regard. With all due respect, it is more important to do this right than to do this fast. We need to pick the right route.

IDI endorses an improvement to Pleasant Street, generally along the lines of the route presented, with the following exceptions:

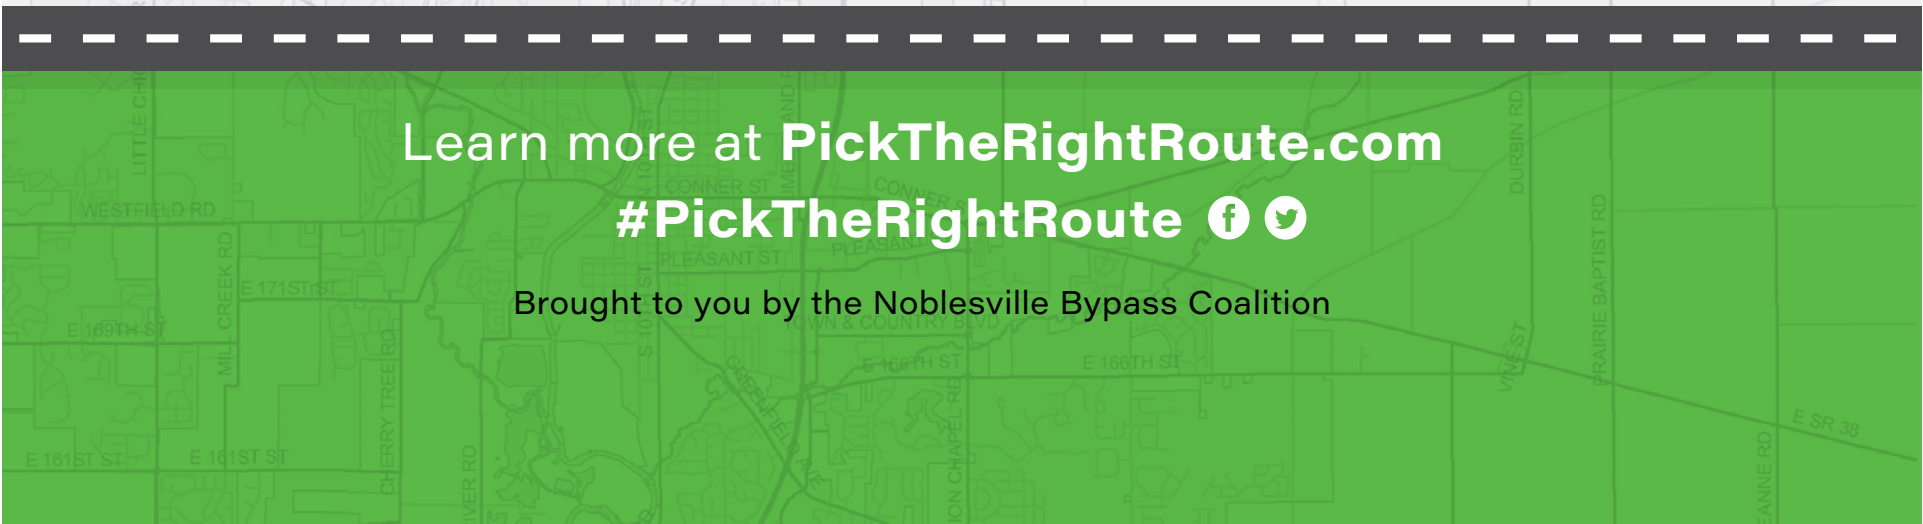

- 1. Mayor Jensen and the City must take the time to study alternatives to the suggested B-1 route to find the best solution. We do not believe the impact of the recently adopted Historic District designation has been evaluated in any detail in the existing plan.
- 2. Several alternative routes have been suggested, including one by a current City Council member, which are better for the driving public, can be achieved with only one roundabout instead of two, and that have minimal displacement in the Historic District and to the IDI site.
- 3. Further study should be made of the new road’s alignment to avoid IDI having to move its worldwide headquarters. IDI currently employs almost 100 workers at this location at an average salary of $73,000. IDI has plants in two other locations in the United States (Iowa and Montana) as well as in Puerto Rico, the United Kingdom, France, China and Mexico City. Since 2012, IDI has invested over $15 million dollars in improving its Noblesville location, to make it a suitable headquarters for visitation by the Fortune 500 companies with whom IDI does business, and to make it a more inviting facility to the neighborhood. Plan B-1 makes IDI’s Noblesville operation unworkable.

IDI is proud of its Noblesville heritage, and to that end, has donated over $1 million to community and civic projects in Noblesville over the last several years. However, IDI expects the City to promote the best solutions to problems like this. Rather than rushing through a plan that is flawed, why not take the time to consider other alternatives in light of the issues created by the new Historic District. Let’s work together to pick the right route.

Sincerely yours,

Tom Merrell, President and CEO

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

I am obligated both to Greeks and non-Greeks, both to the wise and the foolish. That is why I am so eager to preach the gospel also to you who are in Rome. For I am not ashamed of the gospel, because it is the power of God that brings salvation to everyone who believes: first to the Jew, then to the Gentile. For in the gospel the righteousness of God is revealed—a righteousness that is by faith from first to last, just as it is written: "The righteous will live by faith."

Eula Mae Mitchell

August 28, 1927 – December 3, 2020

Eula Mae Mitchell, 93, Noblesville, and formerly of rural Arcadia, passed away on December 3, 2020 peacefully at her home in the care of her loving family.

She was born August 28, 1927 in Noblesville. She attended Noblesville Schools and graduated from Noblesville High School with the Class of 1945.

She married Ralph W. Mitchell on October 14, 1945 and soon after marriage they moved to rural Arcadia, where they raised their family of five children. Her family was everything to her. She was a farm wife, homemaker, and consummate mother. Babe, as she was affectionately known, was an incredible cook and let no one leave her home unfed. Her family estimated she had cooked over 55,000 meals for family and friends.

Today, farming involves detailed record keeping, and she fulfilled that role also. Not only did she excel in meticulous bookkeeping, but she wrote with impeccable penmanship.

Babe was known for her friendliness, her genuine smile, and infectious personality. She would have a conversation with anyone, anywhere, and make others feel better just by being with her. She had a warm, welcoming personality and the ability to "light up a room."

She became a pillar in her community. She was an active member of the Bethel AME Church and a member of the Dorcas Missionary Society there. She was recognized as a Torch Lighter for her service of 25 years in missionary work.

Surviving her are daughters, Geraldine (Larry) Hampton, Noblesville, and Paula (Spencer) York, Peoria, Ariz.; a son, Douglas (Debbie) Mitchell, Fishers; a sister, Eunice Collins, Noblesville; 10 grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren; and six great-great-grandchildren.

The family will receive visitors through a Procession of Love from 2 to 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, December 8, 2020 at Bethel AME Church. Please remain in your cars and you will be directed through the procession. Private funeral services for family and close church friends will be held prior to the Procession.

ISP Chaplain receives John A. Price Award from International Conference of Police Chaplains

The REPORTER

Indiana State Police Department Staff Chaplain Father Daniel Coffey has received the John A. Price Award from the International Conference of Police Chaplains (ICPC).

The award was announced last July, but because of the pandemic could not be presented until Nov. 20. This award is the highest recognition bestowed by this international professional organization.

Coffey has served as a police chaplain since 1993 when he began his service with the Fort Wayne Police Department. In 2006, he was appointed to the Indiana State Police to serve in the same capacity. In July 2001, he received the Wilbert Cunningham Award for Excellence in Law Enforcement Chaplaincy from then Indiana Region of ICPC, which has now expanded to Region 4, and is comprised of Indiana and surrounding states, including Wisconsin and West Virginia.

In October 2001, ICoffey was deployed via ICPC to the World Trade Center to assist the Port Authority Police Department following the terrorist attacks of September 11. In 2004, he was awarded the Law Enforcement Oscar Award for Outstanding Achievement and Service by the Fort Wayne Police Patrolman Benevolent Association.

Police chaplains are a resource for their departments and communities by providing stress management and community relations through emotional and spiritual support whenever invited. They primarily provide support to police and other emergency responders, but also to victims and their families at death investigations and other critical incidents.

ICPC is a professional organization providing training and networking, and is comprised of as many as 2,500 Chaplains representing many religions from up to 28 different countries. It offers five credentialing levels: Basic, Senior, Master, Diplomate and Fellow. Coffey currently holds the Diplomate Credential, and has exceeded the continuing education requirements for the Fellow Credential. He intends to attain this next level after participating in additional ICPC events over the next few years.

What cities had some of the first radio stations?

The REPORTER

This week in Indiana's history ...

1816 – Dec. 11: President James Madison signed a Congressional resolution admitting Indiana to the Union as the 19th State. The new state government would be centered in Corydon. Jonathan Jennings assumed the office of governor, having won the election in August. In Washington, James Noble and Waller Taylor were seated as United States Senators and William Hendrix took his chair as the Indiana member of the United States House of Representatives.

1879 – Former President Ulysses S. Grant and his wife Julia arrived in Logansport to a grand reception led by Mayor Samuel Jacobs. In his address to the crowd, Grant spoke of his recent two and one-half year tour of the world. After a luncheon at the Hotel Murdock, the couple traveled by train to Indianapolis where they were greeted by Governor James D. Williams and welcomed by another large crowd. The former President and Civil War General spent three hours shaking hands at the Marion County Courthouse before attending a choral concert at Roberts Park Church.

1896 – Marshall "Major" Taylor won his first professional bicycle race. He grew up in Bucktown on the western edge of Indianapolis. As a young man, he worked in local bicycle shops where he became interested in bicycle racing. He went on to become one of the first African American sports "superstars," a world-class cyclist who set world records.

1925 – This advertisement for the Cardinola radio store on Monument Circle in Indianapolis set the tone for the shopping season. Radios were the "must have" Christmas gifts as the amazing new technology swept the country. Newspapers were already running program listings and articles about how to operate the rather complicated radio receivers of the era. Several broadcasting stations were on the air in Indiana, including WOWO in Fort Wayne, WSBT in South Bend, WGBF in Evansville, and WFBM in Indianapolis.

1934 – The new Indiana State Library and Historical Building was dedicated on Ohio Street in Indianapolis. Governor Paul V. McNutt was on hand to accept the keys to the beautiful new structure. Among the speakers was Nora Huddleston Hicks of Cambridge City, president of the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs. "The library is to the adult what the school is to a child," she said. "It offers an opportunity for more complete living."

1941 – December 7: Japanese bombers attacked American bases in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and Manila, in the Philippines. The "Day of Infamy" led Congress to declare war and enter World War II. More than 400,000 Hoosiers went into uniform. Over 11,000 were killed and 17,000 wounded.

Shamrocks cruise past Kokomo

By RICHIE HALL
WESTFIELD - In just two games, the Westfield boys basketball team has established an identity that revolves around balance and defense.

The Shamrocks played their first home game of the season Saturday at The Rock and won big, cruising past Kokomo 65-30. The victory came just 24 hours after Westfield beat Zionsville in its season-opener, giving the 'Rocks a 2-0 start for the second year in a row.

"Our guys have played really hard the last couple nights here on a tough opening weekend," said Westfield coach Shane Sumpter. "We're finally glad to be playing basketball, and certainly feel fortunate for every game that we get to play. I thought our guys played hard. They did a good job on the defensive end, or really both ends both nights."

The Wildkats only led once, when Shayne Spear opened the game with a 3-pointer. After that it was all Shamrocks. Cam Haffner tied the game with his own triple, then Braden Smith drained a 3 to give Westfield the lead. Those baskets started an 11-0 run for the 'Rocks, which also included a free throw from Nic Depasquale and layins from Matthew Penley and Smith.

Haffner scored five more points near the end of the quarter, and that gave Westfield a 16-6 lead. The Shamrocks went on a 6-0 run early in the second period, with four of those points coming from Alex Romack. The 6-foot-5 sophomore scored on a layin and a put-back. Nic Depasquale added two free throws.

Smith added to the lead with a jump shot, then Benji Welch and Haffner both made 3s to finish out the second quarter. Westfield led 30-18 at the break, and six players had scored points.

"A lot of guys scored for us tonight, which we're going to need," said

Sumpter. "I think we're a much more balanced team than maybe people give us credit for. Everybody knows about Cam and Braden, but I think that we're going to be a balanced team and I think you're going to see that quite a bit from us."

The balance continued in the third quarter, as Luke Naas came in and hit a pair of 3-pointers for the 'Rocks. Westfield then ran away with the fourth quarter, outscoring the Wildkats 20-8. Kai Butterworth nailed three 3-pointers in that period.

In total, eight Westfield players put points on the board. Haffner led with 16 points, followed by Smith with 12 and Butterworth with nine. Depasquale and Romack each pulled six rebounds and Smith dished out six assists.

The Shamrocks' next game is next Saturday when they host Fort Wayne Wayne, a team they haven't played before.

"They got a lot of tradition up there in the Fort Wayne area, and they're a good basketball team," said Sumpter. "We'll have to be ready to play next Saturday night."

'Blazers dominate Speedway

The Class 2A No. 7-ranked University boys basketball team picked up its second win of the season with a dominating 61-39 win over Speedway at The U Center.

Senior Camden Brown led the way for the Trailblazers with 16 points and 11 rebounds. Larry Pierce had 10 points and nine rebounds for 2-1 University.

Coach Brandon Lafferman thought his team played their best ball of the young season. "Great bounce back win after a close loss last night," he said. "This was our best team effort of the season as all five starters contributed and our bench players came in and provided an additional spark. I thought Kasey Ash-Simpson and Seth Hogg did some great things for us off the bench. Freshman Sabien Cain did a great job scoring and distributing the ball."

The Blazers started slow with score knotted at 4-4 midway through the first quarter. Brown gave University the lead for good with 2:30 left in the period for a 6-4 lead. Brown scored six points in the quarter as University led 13-8.

University stretched their lead to 30-17 at halftime as Brown nearly had a double double in the first half with 11 points and nine rebounds. Matt Jones had a pair of first half three pointers.

The Trailblazers blew the game open in the third quarter, racing to a 46-26 lead after three. Cain had seven points in the third quarter with Brown adding four more.

Jones finished with nine points with Cain adding seven points and five rebounds. Mitchell Martin had six points while Ash-Simpson and Nate Jeffrey chipped in with four each. Zach Whitham
