Mayor Cook: "Patton owes our community an apology"

Submitted

Editor's note: Last week, Westfield Mayor Andy Cook released the following statement regarding City Councilor Troy Patton's comments during a City Council debate about the Grand Junction Plaza ect. It will be remarkable and do exactly

For more than a decade, I've served this great city. During this time, no elected councilor has talked as unintelligently and disrespectfully about our city staff.

Troy Patton, who has largely never been involved in anything of benefit to this community, posted on social media and reiterated in a public meeting as we discussed the Grand Junction

Plaza project, "We have a group that clear- improvements and the Monon Tunnel unly can not (sic) build anything under budget or run their own house, let alone spend your hard-earned dollars to your benefit." He also described the project, in no uncertain terms, as a disaster and that "...we've soiled our pants and now everybody has to smell it."

Patton's comments are unbecoming and unprofessional coming from an elected official – and flat out false. More importantly, these attacks on our staff, whose sole goal is to serve Westfield residents, are hurtful. It is unfortunate our citizens are being represented in such a manner.

The Grand Junction Plaza is a transformative project deserving of debate and scrutiny. Many citizens volunteered countless hours to envision this project. When construction pricing bids were returned, I, along with many others, were disappointed to know – if built to exact specifications – it would be considered over budget. However, a team including construction experts, my staff and me made decisions to continue with the resources allocated.

We will deliver Grand Junction Plaza. The changes will not take away from the functionality, quality and spirit of this projwhat it was supposed to do - bea place to bring people together, attract economic development AND build a sense of pride.

The display of ignorance from Patton during a recent City Council meeting is yet another example of his political grandstanding for his small group of supporters – people who've worked to stop Grand Park, Grand Junction, State Road 32 der 161st Street. All of these have helped our city become the most desired and fastest-growing city in Indiana.

In elected service, politically motivated and personal attacks are expected. However, Patton crossed the line when he focused in on trained and experienced members of my staff. I will not sit by and allow this to happen. The 200+ individuals who work for the City of Westfield, from police officers, firefighters, IT professionals, road crews, building inspectors, Grand Park staff and everywhere in between, make up an amazing and dedicated team. Our team brings a wealth of professionalism, expertise and, most importantly, care to their work for our community.

Politics, policies and projects are always ripe for scrutiny, criticism and ridicule but the people are not! Patton's political resume and commentary can no longer go unchecked. He owes our community an apology.

When I was around the age of five, near the holidays, Dad asked me if I wanted to accompany him on a very special errand. Daddy was a member of a lodge in our town, whose members decided that they wanted to help some local families in need during the holiday season. Names and addresses were dis-

On Saturdays I would go grocery store to pick up some food items with my dad on his "rounds" – we visitaged and at the "five and dime" store (similar ed the bank, the hardware store, filled up to a tiny Walmart I suppose!) to purchase some small toys. Though I thought it was ward to those Saturday times just to "pal" a neat adventure, I did not of course have

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Now we know that whatever the law says, it says to those who are under the law, so that every mouth may be silenced and the whole world held accountable to God. Therefore no one will be declared righteous in God's sight by the works of the law; rather, through the law we become conscious of our sin. But now apart from the law the righteousness of God has been made known, to which the Law and the Prophets testify. This righteousness is given through faith in Jesus Christ to all who believe. There is no difference between Jew and Gentile, for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, and all are justified freely by his grace through the redemption that came by Christ Jesus. God presented Christ as a sacrifice of atonement, through the shedding of his blood—to be received by faith. He did this to demonstrate his righteousness, because in his forbearance he had left the sins committed beforehand unpunished—he did it to demonstrate his righteousness at the present time, so as to be just and the one who justifies those who have faith in Jesus.

Shamrocks win county dual with Millers

The Noblesville wrestling team hosted another all-county dual meet on Tuesday, welcoming Westfield to The Mill.

The Shamrocks are ranked 15th in the state, and performed like it, winning the dual over the Millers 51-16. Westfield won 10 of the 14 matches.

Noblesville, wrestling on its Senior Night, started the match appropriately when senior Joey Kitko won the 170-pound bout with a pin. But the Shamrocks took over after that, triumphing in the next 10 matches. That included falls from Seth Martin (182), Dakota Arvin (220), Cooper Pfeiffer (113), Braxton Vest (120), Thaddeus O'Neill (126) and Alec McLaren (138).

"I felt like we wrestled okay," said Westfield coach Phil Smith. "I thought we left a few points out there. We had a few backups in today and I think they wrestled really well."

The Shamrocks got decision victories from Gabe Arvin at 195, Chase Camire at 106 and Ike O'Neill at 138. Mike Platonov won the 285-pound match by for-

Westfield is 14-4 in dual meets, but Smith noted that once his team got the football players back after the state tournament run, "we've been undefeated with that lineup ever since."

Noblesville took the final three matches of the meet. Carter Richardson got a major decision win at 145, senior Tim Alexander won at 152 and Bryce Murray took the 160-pound match in a back-and-forth 12-9 decision.

"It's fun to get out there and compete against them," said Millers coach Michael Weimer. "Just like anything, on a Senior Night, it's great to see both of our seniors, Joey Kitko win with a pin and Timmy get a win, too."

Both teams are back in action next Tuesday, Dec. 29. Westfield will participate in the Cascade Invitational, while Noblesville travels to Daleville to compete in a super dual event.
