Hamilton County gets $10M in Emergency Rental Assistance

Beaver: "You screw this up, we don't get any more federal money"

The REPORTER

Hamilton County officials announced that they have been awarded a $10 million dollar Emergency Rental Assistance (ERA) grant from the U.S. Department of Treasury for COVID-19 assistance. Specifically, the funding will assist renter households unable to pay rent and/or utilities due to loss of income from the COVID-19 pandemic.

The County Commissioners selected the Hamilton County Trustee Association (HCTA) and Danielle Carey Tolan, Hamilton County Trustee Association President and Westfield Washington Township Trustee, to oversee and distribute the grant; however, the commissioners and trustees needed county coun- of federal grant compliance, the reporting cil approval before moving forward.

Tolan responded to Beaver's concerns by stating she already has an implementation team in place, in addition to an advisory

Background

The Emergency Rental Assistance Program is included in the most recent stimulus package from the U.S. Department of Treasury. Seven Indiana counties, including Hamilton County, were allocated funds in terms of grant dollars for COVID-19 relief assistance for rent and utilities. Specifically, Hamilton County received $10,120,511.40. These funds will be administered through Dec. 31, 2021 or until all funds have been distributed. For more information, visit HCTAIndiana.com.

trust the decision."

"We are very proud and excited to have been awarded this grant," Altman said. "Not only are renters who lost income due to COVID hurting, but our many landlords are struggling as a result. This grant will assist with lost income and provide the ability to keep renters housed in 2021."

"One of the main functions of the Township is to provide financial assistance to our residents facing emergency situations," Tolan said. "We are extremely grateful for this funding and providing much-needed COVID-19 relief to our residents in need. The grant does allow us to assist renters with past due rent/utility bills beginning in

County health officials plan for school staff vaccinations

By DEMIE JOHNSON WISH-TV | wishtv.com

Officials from both the Fishers and the Hamilton County health departments are discussing options for school employees to be vaccinated, even though they don't know when that will happen.

For both departments, keeping school going without interruption is a top priority. However, the way each is planning vaccinations for school staff is a little different.

Hamilton County is considering a phased approach. Emergency Preparedness Coordinator Christian Walker said based on current supply, he can't justify opening sites to teachers only.

"Carmel Clay Schools would go through two weeks of vaccine just to do their school district," Walker said.

Meanwhile in Fishers, Public Health Director Monica Heltz said mass vaccination sites would work better for Hamilton Southeastern schools' schedule.

"Most of the kids are virtual on Fridays; that would allow us a day where we could potentially get a large number of school staff vaccinated and it would also allow them an additional two days for recovery,"

Right now, Fishers receives about 1,000 doses each week and Hamilton County gets 1,200. The Fishers Health Department is responsible for Hamilton Southeastern Schools, while Hamilton County picks up the other five school districts in the county.

Teacher vaccinations were discussed at Gov. Eric Holcomb's coronavirus briefing last week. According to the state's plan, the people most at risk of getting the virus are getting vaccinated first. The governor did not give a timeline for when teachers will be able to get vaccines.

Locally, Grace Care Center Noblesville received a portion of the donation.

County Commissioners provide relief for Health Department

Health care providers hired to help with vaccine distribution

The REPORTER

More than a dozen health care providers have been hired and started work Monday at the vaccine clinic on the 4-H Fairgrounds. Up until now, employees of the Hamilton County Health Department, with support from local fire departments, have been manning the clinic themselves.

"The way that the health department is working right now is unsustainable," County Commissioner Christine Altman said. "We need to give them the support they need to do the other vital work they're tasked with, but don't currently have time to do – things like food inspections, health education, HIV testing, immunizations, and vital records."

The county is in a position to bring on more contract help as vaccine supply increases. All expenses are expected to be

In addition to bringing in more manpower, the commissioners also secured a larger facility for vaccinations. Last week, the clinic moved from the Annex Building to the Exhibition Hall. The new facility offers six times the space and will allow the Health Department to administer four times the vaccines it started with once more vaccine becomes available.

"The fairgrounds is a county facility and has always been intended to meet county needs," Altman added. "This space gives us so much more capacity and flexibility."

In addition to cancelling all events originally scheduled for the Exhibition Hall, the building had to be retrofitted to meet the

The county's Building and Grounds Department installed refrigeration for the vaccine as well as a generator to ensure no vaccine is lost due to power outages. The county's information technology department ran 600 feet of network cables to ensure necessary internet access and provided dozens of computers.

> "The Health Department gets an awful lot of credit for vaccine distribution because we're on the frontlines of the pandemic," said Jason LeMaster, interim administrator for the Health Department. "But some of the real heroes are the ones behind the scenes. Dozens of county agencies have gone out of their way to ensure the residents of Hamilton County get the first-rate service they've come to expect. We're lucky to have the partnerships we

HSE Schools & Black Lives Matter - a political or social movement?

By LARRY LANNAN

A written message sent to Hamilton Southeastern Schools faculty by Superintendent Allen Bourff about Black Lives Matter (BLM) has created a social media response and a change. org petition campaign.

In his message to the teaching staff, Dr. Bourff writes, "I have heard from a number of parents who are concerned that we are advancing the cause of Black Lives Matter movement within the country." Dr. Bourff goes on to indicate teaching staff should treat Black Lives Matter as a political, rather than social movement.

The superintendent then goes into detail as to how he recommends teachers deal with the Black Lives Matter movement in the classroom.

"My purpose in sending the above message is to prevent one more stressful issue from distracting you from your daily mission," Bourff wrote. You can access the entire message at this

Several community organizations have been gathering a response to the message. A Change.org petition drive sending the message that Black Lives Matter is not political has already begun.

The Racial Equity Community Network (RECN) issued a statement critical of the superintendent's message to the school staff.

"We are disheartened by the statement released by Hamilton Southeastern Schools' administration that seems to discourage HSE teachers and employees from discussing or supporting Black Lives Matter in the classroom," the RECN statement says. "The Black Lives Matter movement is not an extremist political group, as many white residents asserted in recent complaints to the school board and administration. We believe that following the superintendent's advice would steal the rights of students to learn about the Black Lives Matter social justice movement that began as a response to the acquittal of Trayvon Martin's murderer in 2013. Maura was able to spend the latter part of her life as one of the most doting, proud and loving mothers anyone could have. Being a mother was her truest calling. She considered her two children, Berek and Kaitlin, to be her most fulfilling and rewarding productions. Proof of her motherly love was felt by anyone who got to know her. It was evident in the way she listened, selflessly cared, and made people feel they truly mattered.

Maura found the courage to make her dream of farm life a reality. With the unwavering support from her two children, close family and friends, and being undeterred by her life's barrage of obstacles, she finally dove into raising yaks. ### Janet Sue Riggin Hulett December 20, 1959 - February 4, 2021

On Thursday, February 4, 2021, God called upon one of His most beloved children to come home to Him. Janet Sue Riggin Hulett, 61, passed away peacefully in her home in Westfield.

Jeremiah 15:16 – "Your words were found, and I ate them, and your words became to me a joy and the delight of the heart, for I am called by your name, O Lord, God of hosts." Janet has longed to be with her Lord and Savior, as well as reconnect with her mother, Brenda Riggin; father, Herman Riggin; and twin brother, John Riggin. Janet was born in Chicago, Ill., on December 20, 1959. She is survived by her two daughters, Amanda Hunt, 31, and Brittany Hunt, 29; and her younger sisters, Elaine Black and Karen Boden. Janet loved, cherished and spoiled her three grandbabies, Tristan Hunt, 11, Corbin Artman, 7, and Adeline Artman, 1.

Janet was the best grandmother; she loved taking them to the park, the zoo, McDonalds for ice cream, and going to the store for toys. They were her light and joy.

Janet lit up every room she walked in with her positive energy, beautiful smile and her loving heart that sought out everyone's name and attention. She had a ginormous heart for everyone she met and a special way of connecting with people, allowing them to open up their hearts to her. That made everyone she met feel like they have known her for years; she truly never knew a stranger. Janet had a deep desire for helping others and a natural maternal charisma that made you feel safe and loved. Janet had an optimistic outlook on life, that generated from her strong sense of faith and her strong relationship with Jesus Christ, her Lord and Savior. She loved waking up every morning with her coffee, cigarette and opening up her Bible for her time of devotion. She spent most of her days studying the word of God, writing out her favorite scriptures and talking with her beloved father, Jesus Christ.

"You are going to be okay. No matter what happens. You are going to make it through. Jesus is with you, like he's always been. Everything around you may change, but he will still be there, walking with you, fighting for you, loving you. So, don't worry about what tomorrow will bring. The one who gave up his very life for you will take care of you. You're going to be okay.'

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Brothers and sisters, my heart's desire and prayer to God for the Israelites is that they may be saved. For I can testify about them that they are zealous for God, but their zeal is not based on knowledge. Since they did not know the righteousness of God and sought to establish their own, they did not submit to God's righteousness. Christ is the culmination of the law so that there may be righteousness for everyone who believes. Moses writes this about the righteousness that is by the law: "The person who does these things will live by them." But the righteousness that is by faith says: "Do not say in your heart, 'Who will ascend into heaven?'" (that is, to bring Christ down) "or 'Who will descend into the deep?'" (that is, to bring Christ up from the dead).
