County to mark one-year anniversary of COVID-19

Cities, county plan 'Night of Reflection' to be broadcast live

The REPORTER

Hamilton County, along with the cities of Carmel, Fishers, Noblesville, and Westfield, will pay its respects to those who have lost their lives this year due to the COVID-19 pandemic at a vigil on Saturday, March 13.

Dubbed a "Night of Reflection," city and county officials will meet on the steps of the Historic Courthouse in downtown Noblesville to pay their respects for and light a lumina in honor of every Hamilton County resident who has passed away from the virus since its arrival last year. That total now stands at 375.

Fire, police, and EMS vehicles from around the county will also line the square downtown for a ceremonial lighting of the lights to honor all the healthcare professionals and first responders who have fought a valiant fight on the frontlines of the virus.

The ceremony can be viewed live on Hamilton County Television. The public is strongly discouraged from attending. Instead, organizers are asking residents to place candles in their windows at 7 p.m. that evening to show their support. Free battery-operated candles will be available for residents to pick up the week of the event.

On the road . . . again

Just when I thought the harrowing experience on the mountain in Kentucky would be my one and only road trip to write about ...

Honey, hold my sweet tea, have I got a story to tell.

We left our little house on the alley about 5:30 a.m. We usually can make the trip to Tampa in about 16 hours.

Of course, it was my turn to drive as we left I-65 onto I-24 to get to I-75 in Chattanooga. All of a sudden, we started seeing signs that said 24 was closed. Surely not totally closed. We soon found ourselves sitting in the parking lot of 24.

Waze, the navigation app we use, said we would be sitting there for 87 minutes. It was correct. Chuck read the newspaper, worked the crossword puzzle, messed up the Sudoku, and figured out the Jumble. Since I wasn't technically "driving" I texted a few friends to whine.

My whine turned to gratitude as I read that the delay was caused by a 21-car pile-up due to ice on a bridge on 24. There, but for the grace of God, could we have been if we had left the house an hour earlier.

As we began to move in traffic my car's tire pressure light came on. Lovely. Could we have run over a nail or something? My tires were new. It was not a concern ... it was a worry. We had no business stopping on the side of a mountain to change a tire.

We took the next exit which had two truck stops. The problem was that at both places the air machines were out of order. Seriously?

I got back on Waze and found a Ford dealership nine miles away in Murfreesboro, Tenn. We made our way there and found that all four tires were seven pounds under where they should be. Seriously?

Range Line Road boulevard design extension to get underway in Carmel

The REPORTER

The City of Carmel plans to begin the next phase of transforming Range Line Road from a five-lane roadway – between City Center Drive and Elm Street – into a beautiful, tree-lined boulevard.

This Midtown portion of Range Line Road will provide a continued boulevard treatment featuring elements found further south, such as pedestrian-friendly crosswalks, bike lanes and landscaped medians. It will also have a new roundabout at Walnut Street (6th Street SE), which will eventually continue west, creating an east-west connection from Range Line Road to Monon Boulevard and eventually to 3rd Avenue SW.

Roadwork on Range Line Road should begin soon, weather permitting, and is expected to be substantially complete in time for the CarmelFest parade on July 4. This work will result in partial closures of Range Line Road, while maintaining northbound and southbound traffic until the full closure, anticipated to begin after April 5.

The project will also include restoring the gateway arch that marks the southern entrance to the Carmel Arts & Design District. That arch was removed a few years ago to make way for the Elm Street roundabout.

Here are some construction details that motorists should be aware of:

- A one-day, full closure of Range Line Road will occur on or after Feb.

Boys & Girls Club of Noblesville receives $10K grant from Crosser Family Foundation

The REPORTER

The Boys & Girls Club of Noblesville (BGCN) recently received a $10,000 grant from the Crosser Family Foundation, a fund of the Hamilton County Community Foundation, in support of its Smart Moves programs in 2021.

The support of the Crosser Family Foundation will assist in providing a suite of programs to Club members which are designed to help develop healthy decision-making skills and positive attitudes. The suite of programs is designed to enable participants to build a personal toolbox for self-management and coping. Strategies incorporate youth voice and choice, as well as opportunities to learn and practice key social-emotional skills young people need to make healthy choices about substance use, sexual activity, violence and other risky behaviors.

The Smart Moves Program will address issues that were occurring before the pandemic as well as those new issues created by the impact of the pandemic.

"The COVID-19 pandemic has had a significant impact on the emotional & social well-being of the Club's youth," said BGCN Executive Director Becky Terry. "The lack of social setting opportunities over the past 11 months took its toll on our Club Kids and youth across the globe. Many Club members self-reported and verbalized to staff how the lack of interaction with the friends and peers negatively affected their mood, outlook and drive."

youth and their families in local communities by providing them with everyday needs and opportunities to help them achieve a bright future while setting them up for success so they will grow to be healthy, responsible, active citizens in their communities.

The Crosser Family Foundation was established by Janet R. Crosser and the late Richard H. Crosser in 2001. The foundation wishes to continue, celebrate and inspire philanthropy in the community today and in the future. Over the years, the foundation has given grants totaling over $3 million to community groups, organizations and businesses focused on providing services to enrich the lives of youth and their families in local communities.

Hoosiers can sign up for new rental assistance program

WISH-TV | wistv.com

Indiana has received about $448 million in emergency rental assistance and utility-home energy assistance funding through a new COVID-19 relief bill.

Jacob Sipe, executive director of Indiana Housing & Community Development Authority (IHCDA), detailed the new funding program during Gov. Eric Holcomb's weekly coronavirus briefing on Wednesday.

Six Indiana communities have received funding, including Hamilton County, and will administer their own programs, Sipe said.

- City of Fort Wayne: $8.1 million.
- Elkhart County: $6.2 million.
- Hamilton County: $10.1 million.
- Marion County: $28.9 million.
- St. Joseph County: $8.1 million.
- Lake County: $14.5 million.

The remainder of the state will receive $372 million, Sipe said.

The new program is designed to help households that are unable to pay rent and utility bills due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Eligible households can get up to 12 months of rental and utility assistance, including a combination of past-due rent and future rent.

Eligible households are defined by the U.S. Department of Treasury as a renter household in which at least one or more people qualifies for unemployment or has 23 north of Elm Street for the concrete pouring of columns for the archway.

- A short closure of Range Line Road will last a few days in March to hoist the actual arch into place; exact dates to be determined.
- Full closure of Range Line Road will begin on or after April 5 and last about 60 days so construction crews can build the new roundabout at Walnut Street.

All businesses and restaurants will remain open during the construction and special signage will be used to direct customers to those locations. The City of Carmel urges all local residents and visitors to support small businesses at all times, but especially during road construction season.

For motorists traveling through the area, alternative routes include Main Street, Keystone Parkway, City Center Drive, and 3rd Avenue SW, as well as Elm Street.

ON THE ROAD

We got there right at lunchtime, but the kind young man aired up our tires and we were on our way – except we could not find the exit of the huge dealership. We had to stop and ask for directions on how to get out. Seems they had gates at every exit and you had to wait for them to open. Oh my goodness!

As we approached Chattanooga, we began the climb into the mountains. It was very cold for Tennessee and ice was still a problem on the trees, and on the top of a motorhome which passed us. As it passed us, a huge piece of ice flew off and headed toward our windshield.

We thought it was going to break our windshield, but it did not. It did, however, break our windshield wiper. It flew off, and while we were thankful it didn't break the windshield, we knew we had a problem. The forecast for later in our trip that day was rain, a lot of rain, several hours of rain.

I got back on Waze, which told us that there was a dealership in Chattanooga, some 16 miles away. It was 3 p.m. Would the service department be open? "Please Lord, let it be open!"

As we continued to climb the mountain, we realized that either fog had set in or we were up in a cloud. Either way, 15 miles per hour was as fast as we could go because we could barely see the car in front of us.

I told Chuck we could not make this stuff up.

My husband looked over at me and said, "Well, this day should have plenty of fodder for a column."

We made it to the very small dealership. They were still open at 4 on a Saturday afternoon. "Thank you, Lord." And they had the parts we needed. It took about an hour to get back on the road.

We are now thinking maybe a midnight arrival in Tampa.

As the rain came down in buckets, we knew we really had been fortunate to have things fall into place the way they did. While we had faced a few obstacles – okay, more than a few – we were safe and should soon be in Tampa. Things could have been worse, much worse.

Surely nothing else could happen.

As we discussed that, while it had been a rough, aggravating, frustrating day, we would have quite the story to tell and I had a column to write.

We were tired. The kind of tired where you fight to stay awake and yet too tired to relax. You just want to put on your jammies and pull the covers up over your head and sleep for 10 hours.

But then we see a sign and flashing lights. 75 is CLOSED. We were 15 minutes from the house. We took the detour. This was Florida's version of that mountain in Tennessee. It was dark and winding. I knew there had to be alligators nipping at the sides of the road. It looked to me like we were in the Everglades.

Strangely, there were about 15 to 20 police cars along the entire stretch of the five-mile detour. We didn't know if that was reassuring or concerning.

A few minutes after 1 a.m., we arrived at the house in Tampa, 20 hours after we left home. We were safe. We were exhausted. We definitely slept well. And I had a story for this week's column.

I cannot wait to fly the friendly skies again. These road trips are becoming horror stories that I don't ever want to experience or write about ever again.

Now that I've told you my story, I'll take back my sweet tea. You know I will have more stories to tell ... and there will more sweet tea to drink.

RENTAL ASSISTANCE

faced a reduction in household income, incurred significant costs, or experienced financial difficulties due to the pandemic; is at risk of becoming homeless; and household income is at or below 80 percent of the area median income.

Sipe provided the following household incomes that would meet qualification for the program:

- Two-person household: $46,250
 - Four-person household: $57,850
 - Six-person household: $67,100
- IHCDA submitted a draft of the program policy on Feb. 8 and is waiting for revised guidance from the U.S. Department of Treasury. Sipe said once that guidance is received, IH-

CDA will likely begin accepting applications within a week.

Hamilton County has its own website for the program at hctaindiana.com.

Renter households in the above listed communities are not eligible to apply for rental assistance through the state's program – they must apply through their local program.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

No more homework!

Editor’s Note: The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School’s 10th grade English class, taught by Abby Williams.

COLUMNIST
PAYTON WARREN
Sheridan High School Student

Although homework is an opportunity for students to learn on their own about something they are learning in class, I think it is not needed. Many students don’t even do the work on their own.

High school students have many other responsibilities other than school. You spend seven hours a day at school and then come home just to work on more school. A lot of students have many other responsibilities, like work, taking care of siblings, sports, etc. There are students who can’t be around a lot or provide for their families, so it is often put on the children. By giving students homework, teachers make them less able to work a job and get hours so they can get money to help around the house.

go to bed late doing homework and then have to wake up early to get to school on time, which is leaving them exhausted. This could cause them to sleep during school or to be late for work.

Speaking from experience, I work two jobs. I work after I get out of school, so around 3:00, to 8:00, which takes up most of my day. Working at a dog kennel, I have no free time to work on homework at work – if that were even an option.

For example, I worked on Thursday and didn’t get home until around 8:10, but I still had to eat dinner, along with studying for three tests on top of homework. I didn’t get to go to bed until around 11:00 or 12:00 that night. High school students need about eight to 10 hours of sleep, and going to bed at midnight does not get you your recommended hours of sleep.

I understand that there is a law that you have to go to school and most people would reply with “school comes first.” I agree, but also people need jobs to get money so they can pay for things and help around their home if it is needed. I think you should worry about school during school. My life does not revolve around school; I have other responsibilities that also take time out of my day so I can’t always be doing homework for seven classes at night.

I think there are many alternatives schools can work on to get homework out of the equation. Obviously getting practice in topics you are learning is really important, but there are activities we are able to do in school instead of sending students home with hours of work.

It is hard for a lot of students to learn things on their own and to do work they don’t understand. Sometimes they will just cheat on the homework teachers give out because they don’t understand. So basically, homework is pointless because students are not learning anything.

The best reason to stop homework is because it is taking up students’ time to do other things in their lives. Life does not revolve around school. Homework takes away kids’ time to work or help out family or even spend time with friends and family.

Homework causes students to stay up for hours to work. Even if students don’t have a job, you are still taking away their time to do other things they love. Giving students hours of work on top of other responsibilities causes a lot of stress.

The three-year accreditation term acknowledges Paradigm’s commitment to quality patient care and excellent operations.

The rising number of patients with serious illness has generated significant need for quality palliative care, which helps both patients and their families cope with pain and better manage their conditions. ACHC’s Palliative Care Accreditation program has been developed to recognize organizations with robust, focused programs that address chronic symptom management and facilitate communication with other providers.

“Accreditation standards establish important benchmarks that help drive continuous organizational improvement, leading to better patient outcomes and ever-higher quality of care,” said Barbara Sylvester, ACHC Director of Regulatory Affairs and Quality. “The dedicated team at Paradigm have demonstrated a commitment not only to home health and hospice care through previously awarded accreditation from ACHC, but can now further distinguish themselves with our first-ever accreditation for palliative care.”

“Achieving ACHC accreditation helps our care team better serve our patients and address their diverse needs. Paradigm Health is committed to doing everything in our power to deliver the quality and compassionate care people deserve,” said Jenna Grimes, Chief Compliance Officer for Paradigm Health. “Having gone through ACHC surveys for our hospice and home health offerings, we were excited to have third-party review and validation of our efforts to deliver quality community-based palliative care services to patients across Central Indiana.”

ACHC standards focus on industry best practices and are based on the National Consensus Project Clinical Practice Guidelines for Quality Palliative Care.

IMCU makes $10K donation to Little Red Door Cancer Agency

The REPORTER

On behalf of Indiana Members Credit Union (IMCU) members, IMCU recently presented a check for $10,000 to Little Red Door Cancer Agency as part of its exclusive Cancer Awareness Debit Card Program.

IMCU members nominate a different local cancer related organization to be the beneficiary each year. Little Red Door Cancer Agency was the selected beneficiary for the past year, receiving a contribution for each signature-based transaction made with this card from March 2020 to February 2021.

Thorpe Miller, Vice President of Business Development & Marketing at IMCU, presented the check to Fred Duncan, Director and CEO of the Little Red Door Cancer Agency, on Jan. 27.

"Thank you to Indiana Members Credit Union and their members for supporting Little Red Door Cancer Agency," Duncan said. "For over 75 years, we have been providing critical services to cancer patients in the community and this wouldn't be possible without donors and partners like IMCU. Thank you."

"Little Red Door Cancer Agency provides an invaluable service to patients dealing with the spectrum of difficulties that arise from a Cancer diagnosis," Miller said. "The overwhelming popularity of our Cancer Awareness debit card shows that our members love to support these programs. Indiana Members Credit Union is happy to be the conduit that connects that support to a great cause."

The card is available for issue to members at IMCU's 30 Indiana locations. The IMCU Cancer Awareness Debit Card is an option to members with a free checking account and can be issued immediately via IMCU's instant issue program, which allows members to receive their debit card on the spot.

The new beneficiary for the IMCU Cancer Awareness Debit Card will be announced in the coming weeks on IMCU's website and social media platforms.

For more information about the IMCU Cancer Awareness Debit Card, please visit IMCU online at imcu.com, or visit an IMCU branch for details.

Brown County State Park added to National Register

The REPORTER

Brown County State Park's recent addition to the National Register of Historic Places makes it the state's largest historic district.

Listing as a historic district recognizes an area that has a high degree of historical integrity in its buildings, structures, and landscapes. To be eligible, a district is required to have been associated with events, developments, or people that were important in the history of the state or country. In addition, districts on the National Register must be at least 50 years old and look much the way they did in the past.

"It's a great honor for our park to be listed on the National Register," said

Patrick Haulter, the park's interpretive naturalist. "It really speaks to how important this park is, not only to the people who live here, but to everyone."

The state park near Nashville, Ind., first opened in 1929. In the park's early years, with growing interest from the public, several facilities were developed, including Abe Martin Lodge and overnight cabins. A large portion of the facilities work done shortly thereafter came via the New Deal-era Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC), whose members built many of the other existing buildings, shelters, roads, vistas, trails, and Ogle Lake, as well as the west lookout tower.

"Much of the CCC's legacy is what is being honored with this listing," said Ben Clark, cultural resources manager for the Division of State Parks.

CCC Veterans Company 1557 started its work in the park in 1934, planting forests of trees to help address the severe erosion on hill-sides that had been cleared by settlers for timber years before the land was acquired by the state.

Now, with nearly 16,000 acres, Brown County State Park is the largest state park in Indiana and one of the most popular.

Indiana Landmarks staff authored the nomination, partnering with the DNR and supported by local preservation group Peaceful Valley Heritage.

Researchers for the nomination documented nearly 70 buildings, sites, and structures that contribute to the park's historical significance.

"The natural and built environment blend seamlessly at Brown County State Park, making it a place that is cherished by all Hoosiers," said Mark Dollase, vice president of Preservation Services at Indiana Landmarks. "We greatly value our partnership with the Department of Natural Resources to recognize and preserve the park's many important historic places."

Brown County State Park is the sixth Indiana state park to be listed on the National Register, joining

Pokagon, Mounds, Shakamak, Turkey Run, and Fort

Harrison state parks. Several other Indiana state parks have individual buildings listed. Examples are Tippecanoe Hall at Tippecanoe River State Park, the Stanley Schoolhouse at Chain O'Lakes State Park, and the Lusk Home at Turkey Run State Park.

Brown County State Park is on State Road 46 just outside of Nashville.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

As far as the gospel is concerned, they are enemies for your sake; but as far as election is concerned, they are loved on account of the patriarchs, for God's gifts and his call are irrevocable. Just as you who were at one time disobedient to God have now received mercy as a result of their disobedience, so they too have now become disobedient in order that they too may now receive mercy as a result of God's mercy to you. For God has bound everyone over to disobedience so that he may have mercy on them all.

Hoosiers need greater access to physician care through public health funding

Editor's note: The Indiana Physician Coalition is an alliance of statewide medical associations and specialty societies advocating for physician-led health care that protects patients from harm, increases access to quality care and controls health care spending. For more information, visit INphysicians.org.

Dear Editor:

Everyone agrees that Indiana must do more to improve public health. One way is to increase the number of health care professionals trusted most by Hoosiers, whose rigorous education and training have prepared them best to meet the needs of our population.

Simply put – Indiana needs more physicians.

Since the creation of the Graduate Medical Education (GME) Board in 2015 by the Indiana General Assembly, more than 70 new resident physicians and 220 residency slots have been created, many that serve rural and underserved areas. That adds up to an additional 126,000 direct primary care hours for patients.

While the vast majority of resident physicians who train in Indiana stay in Indiana – we lose 133 graduating medical students to other states each year due to a shortage of in-state residency programs.

And that's a loss for our communities as well. Every resident physician who becomes a primary care physician within an underserved area generates on average a $3.6 million economic impact on the region. And their practice within the community creates an additional six to seven jobs.

Statewide, the economic impact of current and new resident physicians from Indiana medical resident programs is expected to reach $332 million by 2025. But only if such funding is maintained during the 2021 legislative session.

That is why the Indiana Physician Coalition calls on legislators to increase or maintain the $8 million biennial appropriation to the GME Board. We must add to the highly trained physician workforce that is needed to provide patients with greater access to care, and as a result, a better quality of life.

Carmel's Major finishes as 160-pound runner-up

Carmel senior Robert Major made some history for the Greyhounds Saturday night at the IHSAA state wrestling finals.

He also competed in a state championship match that will be talked about by wrestling fans for years to come.

Major battled it out with Evansville Mater Dei junior Broderick Baumann under the lights for the 160-pound state title during Saturday's finals at Bankers Life Fieldhouse. Major made a comeback in the third period before Baumann took control in the final seconds and took the championship in a 15-11 decision.

"It was exciting, that's for sure," said Carmel coach Ed Pendoski.

Both wrestlers came into the match undefeated. Baumann got the upper hand in the first period, using two takedowns to lead 4-1. Baumann increased that lead to 6-1 by starting the second period in the bottom position and gaining control in a reversal.

At this point, Pendoski gave Major this bit of advice: "Smile, Bobby."

"And he gave us the grin and it was on," said Pendoski. "He just kept wrestling."

Major struck back in the middle of the period, getting his own reversal to get back on top, then scoring a couple of near-fall points to get within 6-5. But Baumann made another reversal, and that gave him an 8-5 lead at the end of the second period.

"The way that Robert competes and the way that Baumann competes, we were very certain this match wasn't going to be

1-1 and go into overtime," said Pendoski. "There were going to be points scored."

And there were indeed many more points scored during a raucous third period, the last 60 seconds of which were a frenzy of reversals and near-falls. This time Major started in the bottom position, and he slowly but surely worked his way into a reversal with a minute to go, cutting Baumann's lead to 8-7.

Ten seconds later, Baumann made a turn and took back control, leading 10-7 after yet another reversal. But his hold was tenuous, and it looked as if Major would be able to make an escape. Instead, Major was able to re-establish control by grabbing Baumann's leg, and managed to get one of Baumann's shoulders on the mat for a couple seconds.

With the reversal and the back points, Major briefly held an 11-10 lead. Both wrestlers got back up to their feet, but Major still had control. However, with 16 seconds left, Baumann was able to take Major down, earning reversal points, then got one of Major's shoulders on the mat for five seconds, giving him the maximum three near-fall points. Baumann stayed in control for the remaining few seconds of the match.

"Anytime you wrestle in a match like that in the middle of Bankers Life and you make good choices, you wrestle hard and you keep competing, you have to be happy," said Pendoski.

Major finished the season with a 40-1 record. He got to the championship match

Carmel, Fishers win team championships

By RICHIE HALL

NOBLESVILLE - Even during unusual circumstances, the Carmel boys swim team was its usual excellent self Saturday at the Noblesville sectional finals.

The Greyhounds won the team championship - its 14th consecutive and 34th overall - with a score of 543 points and qualified 22 of its 27 swimmers to Friday's IHSAA state preliminaries at the IU Natatorium, with callbacks to state likely for the other swimmers. Carmel is the six-time defending state champion and put itself in good position to extend its streak to seven.

The meet was conducted without any spectators and with COVID-19 protocols in place. It was an adjustment, but everyone made the best of the circumstances, as all the teams at the sectional were as enthusiastic as ever.

"I thought we swam pretty well today, given all the challenges that this meet presents in terms of warm-up and warm-down and the COVID procedures," said Greyhounds coach Chris Plumb. "We're in a good spot. Hopefully we get everybody called up. We have a really strong team moving on to next week."

Carmel won 10 of the 12 events. That included a new sectional record for senior Augustus Rothrock in the individual medley. The University of Tennessee commit swam the event in 1 minute, 48.24 seconds, beating out now-graduated Greyhound Wyatt Davis' record by Senior Griffin Hadley is also headed to Tennessee, and is also a three-time winner. Hadley paced the 200 and 100 freestyles, then joined Ethan Johns, Sean Sullivan and Gregg Enoch to take the 400 free relay.

The Greyhounds began the meet with a win in the medley relay, which consisted of Carter Lancaster, Ryan Malicki, Christopher Holmes and William Kok. Carter Lancaster would later triumph in the backstroke, with Malicki following that up by claiming the breaststroke.

Kayden Lancaster also picked up an individual victory, winning the 500 free. Carmel finished 1-2-3 in all but two events, the 50 free and the diving. Tipton’s Ayden Stanley won the 50 free, with the Greyhounds going 2-3-4 behind him.

The host Millers placed second as a team with 353 points. Noblesville had two relays finish as runners-up, starting with the medley relay squad of Jeremiah Ledwith, Aidan Biddle, Luke Whitlock and Cameron Cavan. At the end of the meet, Whitlock, Justin DuBois, Cavan and Biddle took second in the 400 free relay.

The Millers also had two divers place in the top four, thus advancing to Tuesday’s regional at Fishers. Parker Mutter placed third, while Evan Stingley was fourth.

Westfield scored 285 points to finish third as a team. The Shamrocks’ best finish was second in the 200 free relay, achieved by the foursome of Noah Brauer, Aiden Yonkus, Bennett Morse and Nathaniel Hand.

Guerin Catholic scored 128 points to place eighth in the team standings. Quinn Sweeney placed fifth for the Golden Eagles in the IM, while Dane Leonard was fifth in diving.

FISHERS WINS CLOSE MEET

At the Hamilton Southeastern sectional, Fishers edged out the Royals 511-492 to claim its third sectional title and first since 2018.

The Tigers won four events, and were helped by 1-2-3 finishes in two of them. Sebastian Otero led the way in the diving event, and he will join teammates William Jansen and Jack Roby at Tuesday regional.

by winning two tough decision bouts, beating Plainfield junior Landon Boe 3-0 in the quarter finals and Columbus East junior Kade Law 3-1 in the semi-finals.

Major became the first Carmel wrestler to compete in a state-championship match since 2008, when Chris Mascaro was the finalist at 160 pounds. Major's effort earned 20 team points for Carmel, which tied it for 22nd at the state meet.

TWO WESTFIELD WRESTLERS PLACE SEVENTH

Two junior wrestlers from Westfield both earned seventh-place finishes at the state meet on Saturday.

At 120 pounds, Braxton Vest began the day by falling to Sullivan sophomore Lane Gilbert in a 9-6 quarter-final decision. Vest lost by fall to East Noble junior Aidan Sprague in the wrestleback match, but rebounded to beat Brownsburg junior Aiden Haines in the seventh-place match by a 2-1 decision. Vest finished his season 35-4.

Mihail Platonov, wrestling at 285 pounds, also lost in the quarter-finals, as he was pinned by the eventual champion, Fort Wayne Carroll senior Reeve Muncie. Platonov was edged out by Franklin Central senior Antone Alexander in the wrestlebacks by a 3-2 decision, but finished the day by pinning Jeffersonville senior Matthew Munoz in the seventh-place match. Platonov ended his junior season with a 33-7 record.

Westfield tied for 32nd as a team with 12 points. Evansville Mater Dei won the team championship by scoring 112 points, just ahead of runner-up Chester-ton’s 107 points.

'Blazers fall to Linton at semi-state

The University girls basketball team's post-season run came to an end on Saturday, as the Trailblazers ran into a buzzsaw named Linton-Stockton.

The Miners overwhelmed University 70-32 to win the Class 2A south semi-state at Jasper. Top-ranked Linton will play Tipton Friday in the 2A state championship game, the Blue Devils upset No. 10 North Judson 54-36 to win the 2A north regional at Logansport.

The 'Blazers hung with the Miners early, taking a 3-1 lead with 4:36 left in the first quarter. After Linton made a free throw for the first point of the game, University's Jordan Patterson scored off a steal, then Kelsey DuBois made a free throw.

The Miners came back to take a 6-3 lead. Payton Seay got UHS within 6-5 by making a putback, but Linton got hot from long range, with Haley Rose making two 3-pointers. Jaylee Hayes had already made a 3 early in the quarter, and her second triple gave L-S a 15-9 lead at the end of the first quarter.

That 3-pointer started a 12-0 run for the Miners, who soon led 24-9. Sierra Hinds stopped the run with her own 3, but Linton continued to roll, leading 35-16 at halftime.

The second half was the same story: The Miners stayed hot on offense, and their defense kept University in check. Linton led 54-24 after three quarters, making a 6-0 run to start the period, then expanding the lead to over 30 points with an 8-0 stretch midway through the quarter. DuBois did her best to keep the Trailblazers in it, scoring six points in the third.

Rose hit her fourth 3-pointer of the game to end the third, and that started a 7-0 run to give Linton a 58-24 lead. The Miners made one more 6-0 run to finish the game.

DuBois had her usual double-double, scoring 14 points and collecting 11 rebounds. Linton-Stockton had five players reach double figures, with Aubrey Burgess and Gentry Warrick both scoring 14 points. Rose and Vanessa Shafford each scored 13 and Hayes finished with 10 points.

University finished its season 12-4, winning the program's seventh sectional championship and fourth regional title along the way. This season marked the first time the Trailblazers won post-season titles in Class 2A.

Boys basketball

Huskies get second straight win over Millers

Hamilton Heights boys basketball coach Chad Ballenger became the head coach of the Huskies in 2007, but he is aware of Heights history.

"The history of the Noblesville-Heights series is just dominated by Noblesville," said Ballenger. That's why he was a happy coach Saturday night, as his Huskies beat the Millers 76-67 at The Mill. It's the second straight win for Heights over Noblesville. The last time the Huskies had two straight wins over the Millers? Go back a quarter-century to Dec. 18, 1993 and Dec. 17, 1994.

"We were so locked in," said Ballenger. "Just a great team win."

It doesn't hurt that Heights has Gus Etchison. The senior star scored the first six points of the game for the Huskies, giving them a 6-0 lead. Noblesville got on the board with two free throws from E.J. Smith and a three-point play by Noah Harris, cutting that Heights lead to 6-5.

But the Huskies continued to roll, leading 19-13 by the end of the first quarter. Etchison scored 15 points, including a rare four-point play, where he got fouled while making a 3 and hit the subsequent foul shot. Etchison had two 3s in that quarter, with Lucas Letsinger also making a three.

Heights cruised through the second quarter, taking a 37-20 lead by halftime. The Huskies drained four 3s during that period, with four different players stepping up from long range: Linville, Tillman Etchison, Isaac Wilson and Gus Etchison, who finished the half with 20 points.

"I thought their team played really well," said Millers coach John Peckinpaugh. "I need to do a better job getting my guys more focused and ready to play. We just got to work on our maturity level and learn how to focus in on a quick prep to get ready to play."

Heights' lead swelled to 46-21 midway through the third quarter, but that's when Noblesville began to make its move. Harris was the main catalyst of an 11-0 Millers run during the period, scoring eight points.

Aaron Fine scored a layin off a Noblesville rebound to end the third, getting the Millers within 48-34. Smith then opened the fourth with a triple, and Noblesville had cut the lead to 11.

The Millers got as close as 61-54 with 3:41 left, getting within seven when Fine converted an and-1. But the Huskies went on a 6-0 run to get their lead back to 67-54. Gus Etchison and Linville both hit two free throws, and Wilson helped out with a layin. Noblesville continued to fight during the last two minutes of the game, but Heights was able to hang on.

"We had great ball movement," said Ballenger. "Noah Linville had four assists. We played good defense. And then I think we got tired, but we stayed poised, even though they made their run, we were still able to overcome it and hit free throws and hold on."

Gus Etchison finished the game with 38 points, including three 3-pointers. Wilson added 11 points and Letsinger scored 10. Luke Carroll had nine rebounds and two blocked shots, Ballenger said he "was just a beast on the boards."

Harris led the Millers with 20 points, while Smith scored 14 and Fine added 13. Josh Durham and Luke Almodovar each collected four rebounds. Smith dished out five assists and Harris had two blocks.

"I thought our guys battle in the second half, showed some toughness," said Peckinpaugh. "Just dug ourselves in too big a hole. It's tough to get out of that when you play a team with a kid like Gus on it."

The Huskies are 13-4 and play at Norwell on Tuesday. Noblesville is 10-10 and also goes on the road Tuesday, playing at Mississinewa to finish its regular season.

'Blazers pick up win at Scecina

Camden Brown had 16 points and Sabien Cain 10 as the University boys picked up a 56-42 road win against Sectional 42 rival Indianapolis Scecina Memorial Saturday afternoon.

A 13-0 run spanning the first and second quarters proved decisive as the Trailblazers improved to 13-5 on the season.

Trailing 8-5 midway through the first quarter, Brown tied the game with a three pointer off an assist from Kasey Ash-Simpson. Cain stole the ball and scored on a layup to put University ahead to stay. Cain added two foul shots and Mitchell Martin hit a corner three-pointer off a pass from Nate Jeffrey and University led 15-8 after the first quarter. University made 5 of 6 field goals in the opening period.
