East-west highways will continue to be a major focus of the Hamilton County Highway Department during this construction season.

Highway Director Brad Davis says the 146th Street corridor across the county should be completed this year when the section from Towne Road to the Boone County Line is finished.

In the northern part of the county, work will continue on 236th Street, with the section from Deming Road to DeVaney Road scheduled for this year. Eventually the road will be rebuilt from Cicero to Sheridan.

Work also continues on 276th Street between State Road 19 and U.S. 31 to provide a better east-west corridor.

By the spring of next year, a new interchange, now underway, at State Road 37 and 146th Street should be completed. It is part of the county's plan to make SR 37 a freeway without grade level intersections from Noblesville to Interstate 69.

The next interchange will be underway next year at 131st Street and SR 37.

Bridge improvements this year include a new deck for Carrigan Road over Morse Reservoir, now underway, and resurfacing of bridges at 116th Street over White River and 266th Street over Cicero Creek.

Most noticeable will be new resurfacing of nearly 40 miles of county roads and chip sealing of another 50 miles, Davis says.

The market looks ahead

The pandemic-driven market plunge may have been stunning, but it made a kind of intrinsic sense – after all, the sudden arrival of a pandemic that threatstill produced desirable ened lives, closed busiproducts and services, and nesses and cost millions of jobs doesn't sound like a positive event for the financial markets.

But the strong rally that followed the initial drop and continued into 2021 has surprised many people. After all, the pandemic's effects were felt throughout the rest of 2020, and are still being felt now, so why did stock prices rise?

The answer is pretty straightforward: The financial markets always look ahead, not behind. And for a variety of reasons including widespread vaccinations, anticipated economic stimulus measures from Congress and the Biden administration, and the Federal Reserve's continued steps to keep interest rates low - the markets are anticipating much stronger economic growth, possibly starting in the second half of 2021.

All of us are probably glad to have 2020 behind us. Yet, the year taught us some investment lessons that we can put to work in 2021 – and beyond.

Letter to the Editor

Taking a look down the road that led to Women's History Month

Dear Editor

March is a month in which we eagerly look forward to the beginning of Spring. It is also the month in which we celebrate Women's History Month, an annual declared month that highlights the contributions of women to events in history and contemporary society. This special month of recognition is celebrated during March in the United States, the United Kingdom, and Australia, corresponding with International Women's Day on March 8.

The commemoration began in 1978 as "Women's History Week" in Sonoma County, Calif. In February, 1980, President Jimmy Carter issued a presidential proclamation declaring the week of March 8, 1980 as National Women's History Week. The proclamation stated, "From the first settlers who came to our shores, from the first American Indian families who befriended them, men and women have worked together to build this nation. Too often the women were unsung and sometimes their contributions went unnoticed. But the achievements, leadership, courage, strength and love of the women who built America was as vital as that of the men whose names we know so well.'

In 1981, responding to the growing popularity of Women's History Week, Sen. Orrin Hatch (R-Utah) and Rep. Barbara Mikulski (D-Md.) co-sponsored the first Join Congressional Resolution proclaiming a Women's History Week.

Congress passed their resolution as Pub.L.97-28, which authorized and requested the President to proclaim the week beginning March 7, 1982 as "Women's History Week." By 1986, 14 states had declared March as Women's History Month.

Most of us are familiar with female leaders such as Susan B. Anthony, Sojourner Truth, Lucy Stone, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Harriet Tubman, and Alice Paul. Many people are not familiar with Margaret Fuller, an early women's rights activist; Elizabeth Ellet, a woman who catalogued and profiled more than 100 Colonial women in her writings; Lydia Taft, a woman who voted in 1756 (!) and Dicey Langston, a young Patriot who passed along vital information to her brothers in the Patriot army. Susanna Rowson was early America's first best-selling author and Sarah Bradley Fulton was a field nurse during the Battle of Bunker Hill. We recently celebrated the 100th anniversary of the women's right to vote, the 19th Amendment, brought to fruition after a long and difficult road for the suffragettes who won that right for us.

The names can go on and on ... and should. I grew up in Noblesville, attended my first class in Kindergarten at Second Ward School (where Seminary Park now stands) in 1955. From that point throughout all my classes through the years there was little if anything taught or discussed regarding the women who contributed to the settling of our country as well as inventors, authors, scientists, and leaders. Other than Martha Washington and Pocahontas (both notable ladies, of course) little was discussed about the major roles of women in our American history. Fortunately, those roles are expanding in areas of science, medicine, government, and corporate management, although we still have a long way to go.

I hope that has changed and is changing – that our children are learning the realistic history of our country. Much of it is inspiring, some of it regrettable, and all of it important.

I encourage parents and grandparents to reach out to their daughters and granddaughters — boys also — to share the important role of women in the history of our country. I also encourage all girls who are have the interest and abilities to pursue STEM (science, technology, engineering, math) opportunities in their academic choices.

As the sixth-generation descendant of Samuel Howard, a Patriot soldier, I am thankful of course for his service to our young country but also to the strong women who supported him and brought future generations of patriots into this world. Thank you, Ladies!

CARMEL - For the second consecutive year, the Carmel and Westfield boys basketball teams will battle it out for the Class 4A Sectional 8 championship.

the first of Friday's semi-final games at the Eric Clark Activity Center, beating Hamilton Southeastern 46-33. In the second semi-final, the Shamrocks held off a 74 contest.

Tonight's Carmel-Westfield game tips off at 7 p.m., with the winner headed to the Logansport regional.

DEFENSE AND DUNKS

The Greyhounds put together another solid defensive performance on Friday. Carmel began to pull away late in the first quarter after battling the Royals for most of that first period, then used a second-quarter run to build a lead that it maintained in the second half.

The 'Hounds also threw in some fireworks as well, making five dunks. The first one was by Charlie Williams, and his dunk gave Carmel a 7-4 lead. Not to be outdone, Southeastern's Dalton Retzner threw down his own dunk, then Vinny Buccilla made a floater to put the Royals up 8-7.

That was to be HSE's only lead of the game, as the Greyhounds went on a 7-0 run that stretched into the second quarter.

Peter Suder and Connor Gioia made layins to finish the first quarter, then Suder scored to open the second. Brian Waddell put down a dunk to finish the run.

"I think defensively we did a good The No. 2-ranked Greyhounds won job," said Carmel coach Ryan Osborn. "The kids carried out a good game plan. They locked in. They made shots difficult, limited some offensive rebounds."

Retzner stopped that run with two free late push by Noblesville to win a wild 81- throws, but Carmel ended the half with a 9-2 stretch to take a 24-12 lead into halftime. Josh Whack scored five points, making two free throws and a 3-pointer.

"Trying to play from behind against them is always tough," said Royals coach Brian Satterfield. "I got to give our guys a lot of credit. They came out here and they battled, they played hard. But Carmel's a great team. Coach Osborn does a great job. They're ranked where they are for a reason."

The Greyhounds kept their lead at 10 points or above for most of the second half. There were two times the Royals got within nine, starting with the third quarter when Alex Totton hit a jump shot to get Southeastern within 25-16. Carmel responded with a 9-1 run; Waddell scored seven of those points with a triple, another dunk and a layin.

That pattern repeated itself in the

Westfield's Alyssa Crockett commits to Michigan

Westfield junior Alyssa Crockett has announced on Friday that she will continue her basketball career at the University of Michigan.

Crockett, a standout for the Shamrocks since her first game as a freshman, made the announcement on Twitter Friday afternoon. After thanking her family, coaches, friends and supporters, she finished with "I will be continuing my academic and athletic creer at the University of Michigan. GO BLUE."

Crockett averaged 17.2 points, 7.6 rebounds, 2.6 assists and 1.5 blocked shots per game for Westfield this season, helping the 'Rocks to a Hoosier Crossroads Conference championship and 16-5 record this season. For her career, Crockett is averaging 14.1 points per game.

fourth quarter. Jason Stutz nailed a 3 to cut the Greyhounds' lead to 40-31 with four minutes left. But Carmel clinched the game with a 6-0 run: Suder and Whack both made two foul shots, sandwiched in between Waddell's third dunk of the night. With that, the Greyhounds improved to 21-2 and were back in the sectional final.

"Just an opportunity to play in the championship game, you got to celebrate that," said Osborn. "I'm proud of the kids for sticking with what we do."

Waddell scored 13 points to lead Carmel, with Suder scoring 11 and collecting eight rebounds. Williams, who had two dunks in the game, also blocked three Buccilla scored eight points to lead the Royals, who finished their season at 12-11. Retzner added seven points and pulled four rebounds, while Sam Jacobs handed out four assists. Buccilla and Retzner are seniors, along with Stutz, Totton, Isaac Bowman, Mohammed Awad and John McCall.

For the seniors, Satterfield said, "I commend them for what they did in terms of the leadership of helping everybody stay connected and doing everything that we wanted to do."

"It's a group that has led things the right way and hopefully that gets passed along to the leaders that are going to take over next year," said Satterfield.

SMITH AND SMITH STEP UP

The first half of the second semi-final was dominated by Smith, while the second half was also dominated by Smith.

Westfield's Braden Smith put on a show in the first half, scoring 27 points. After Noblesville started the game by going up 5-0 on a Noah Harris layin and an E.J. Smith 3-pointer (more about him in a minute), Braden Smith quickly got the Shamrocks on top to stay. He made three free throws after being fouled while shooting a 3-pointer, then threw in a tri-Cam Haffner then hit a 3, and Braden Smith's layin finished an 11-0 run, getting the 'Rocks up 11-5. After Harris scored a layin, Westfield blasted off on a 19-2 run that lasted well into the second quarter.

Braden Smith scored five more points in the first quarter, which ended with the Shamrocks leading 18-9. That lead swelled up to 30-9 at one point; Smith added eight more points, while Matthew Penley hit a floater and Haffner made a putback. The Millers began to chip away at that lead by halftime, but Westfield still led 38-19 at the break. Smith's 3-pointer gave him 27 points at halftime.

"I'm sitting there and I'm glad that I'm his coach and I'm not coaching against him, that's what it's like," said Westfield coach Shane Sumpter. "He's a special kid and a special player."

Noblesville pushed back in the third quarter, outscoring the Shamrocks 26-16 in the period. The Millers made six 3s during the quarter, and went on an 8-0 run early. Harris threw down a dunk, then David Lloyd and Luke Almodovar drained 3s.

Another Almodovar 3 got Noblesville within 48-40, but Braden Smith answered that with six straight points, a three-point play and a 3-point basket. E.J. Smith answered for the Millers with two free throws, and Almodovar struck again with his third triple of the period, which ended with a layin, then later made two free throws to get Noblesville within 57-52. Smith helped the Millers get within four twice; hitting a 3 to cut Westfield's lead to 59-55, then his layin put the Millers within 63-59.

"They could have easily folded there after the first half," said Noblesville coach John Peckinpaugh. "I think they came out and showed who they are as people. We just got in too big of a hole to get out of

But the Shamrocks went on an 8-0 run, expanding their lead back to 71-59 with 1:58 left. Braden Smith scored on a floater, Penley made a layin, Benji Welch got an easy basket off a Smith steal, and Penley made two foul shots. Two more free throws from Penley got Westfield ahead 75-63 with 1:05 left, and the 'Rocks held on from there, improving to 18-4 for the season.

"Credit our guys," said Sumpter. "They didn't panic and we just had to hang on and weather the storm. We told them it was going to be 32 minutes. I told them at halftime 'This game's not over,' and it's not. That's a well-coached basketball team. They play hard, they play with a lot of energy, effort and a lot of heart."

Braden Smith scored 41 points, a career-high, nailing four 3-pointers, and also dished out six assists, collected five rebounds and made five steals. Haffner added 17 points, including three 3s, and five rebounds, while Penley contributed 15 points. Nic Depasquale handed out four assists.

Noblesville's E.J. Smith poured in 30 points, including four 3-pointers, and dished out five assists. Almodovar threw in three 3s while scoring 15 points while E.J. Smith opened the fourth quarter Harris added 10 points. Josh Durham had six rebounds and five assists for the Millers, who finished 11-11 for the season and graduated three seniors, Harris, Durham and Evan Wilson.

> "I couldn't be more proud of our guy's grit and our three seniors, starting with Noah Harris," said Peckinpaugh. "He's had a great year. He's improved more than any other kid in our program since I've gotten here. Josh Durham had a huge, huge year defensively for us, stepping up in a leader role as the season progressed. Then Evan Wilson, who sadly got injured. We thought he was going to have a really big year for us. Can't ask for three better kids who helped us take steps forward in our program and the culture we want to build."
