Say cheese! Yet another vibrant splash of color will soon be added to Carmel's Midtown Plaza in the form of a "selfie station" mural. Applied to the back of the BIG SCREEN at Midtown Plaza, the 45-foot illustration by Wilkinson Brothers Design will face Elm Street.

"We built Midtown Plaza in order to bring people together from all walks of life, from nearby residents to the hundreds of workers along the Monon Greenway," Mayor Jim Brainard said. "It is nice to see these public spaces filled with so many who are creating memories that can now be captured with this new selfie station."

Mask mandate extended for county buildings

The REPORTER

On Monday, the Hamilton County Commissioners announced the extension of Resolution No. 7-31-20-02 for another 30 days.

The policy requires county employees and people visiting county buildings to wear a face covering when inside all county-owned buildings. The use of masks is only excused for documented medical and health risks.

Indiana's mask mandate will end April 6, at which time it will change to a mask advisory. This resolution supersedes that order in all Hamilton County buildings.

"We want to continue to do everything we can to protect the health and well-being of our employees, our vendors, and our visitors," Commissioner Christine Altman said. "While our county's positivity rate is headed in the right direction, we're not out of the woods yet. We'll continue to watch the numbers and revisit the issue again next month."

Face coverings are still mandatory in all state buildings and all vaccination and COVID-19 testing sites. K-12 schools will also still be expected to follow the current mask requirements.

A toddler is recovering after being pulled from a Fishers neighborhood retention pond.

The incident occurred at approximately 3:45 p.m. on Monday near Heroic Way, just east of Brooks School Road and north of 131st Street.

Sharon McMahon: Remember all who served in Vietnam

Dear Editor:

It was a hot summer day when I boarded the train with my family at Union Station in Indianapolis, bound for Washington D.C. to visit my aunt, uncle, and cousins. I was excited as I had never traveled such a distance on a train. It was 1965 and I was 15 years old.

As we traveled through Pennsylvania, the train stopped somewhere near Philadelphia (I think) at a train depot very crowded with young men in uniform. And I mean YOUNG men in uniform. The soldiers were loaded on to the train to the point where many of us, including me, had to sit on their suitcases. I am sure it was very inconvenient and uncomfortable for many. Not me ... I found it exciting! After all, I was a 15-year-old girl on a train with approximately 100 young men near my age! Although I did not converse with any of them, teenagers have a way of flirting with no words!

Why am I sharing this long-ago tale? Monday, March 29 was National Observance of Vietnam Veterans Day. It is a day to remember, to memorialize, to honor, to mourn; much of which has not been done until recent years. The soldiers on my train were bound for Vietnam. I recall they were laughing and joking around as young men will do. They seemed to be excited as they were heading toward an adventure. How often I have thought of those soldiers and wondered how many of them were among the nearly 60,000 who lost their lives in the jungles of Vietnam. Over 1,600 soldiers remain POW/MIA.

The youngest United States Armed Forces member to die in Vietnam on June 7, 1969 was only 15 years old. His name was Dan Bullock. He was a U.S. Marine from Brooklyn, New York.

Over 2.7 million served in that long and needless war. One out of 10 who served was a casualty. Amputations from that conflict were 300 percent higher than all amputations which resulted from World War II. Seventy-five thousand of those who served ended up with severe disabilities.

Classmates of mine from Noblesville High School were among the many who served with several not returning. Soldiers who did return found themselves ignored, ridiculed, spat on, and threatened.

Last year as I was in conversation with a Vietnam veteran, he told me that until the DAR Horseshoe Prairie Chapter hosted its annual Vietnam Veterans appreciation breakfast, he had never been thanked for his service.

Unfortunately, our DAR Chapter was unable to host the appreciation breakfast in March last year due to the pandemic restrictions and again this year we are unable to do so, but plan to offer the event later in the year. If you are a Vietnam veteran in particular, and all veterans in general, you have the deepest gratitude and respect for your service to our country.

The case against school choice expansion and in support of K-12 public education

The tone of the 2021 budget session of the Indiana General Assembly has been quite different from the last budget session in 2019 when K-12 public education leaders stood with legislative leaders to announce a state budget that devoted $763 million in new funding for K-12 public education.

Fast forward to this session, and it has been one consumed with a contentious debate on the proposed expansion of school choice programs that devote significant funds to private education. Indiana already ranks fifth for spending of state tax dollars on private school programs, but now ranks just 39th in the nation for per-pupil expenditures for public schools and the more than 1 million students we serve – down from 22nd among states in 2004. Why this shift in legislative priority has occurred is befuddling, given that the facts neither support the need nor benefit of state funding for private schools.

The Indiana School Boards Association, together with several other public education groups, urge legislators to build on the good increase for public schools with, or exceeds, inflation.

ation of Educa-Accounts (ESAs) will cost an estimated $144 million over the next two years, diminishing the monies available to traditional public schools. Despite serving less than 5 percent of Indiana K-12 students, funding a general and uniform sysfor the voucher program to pay for private education increase by more than 20 percent per year.

The ESA program will be established at a projected cost of $19 million during the 2022-2023 school year and will operate much like a health savings account, where certain parents receive state tax dollars they in private education and pay for qualified educational expenses. The ESA concept treats education as a commodity purchased by parents with little accountability to the public for use of these funds, rather than of Indiana.

The legislature is required by Article 8, Section 1, of the Indiana Constitution to provide, by law, for tem of Common Schools, wherein tuition shall be for eligible students will without charge, and equally open to all. Open enrollment has led to more than 70,000 students this school year enrolling in another public school district outside of their district of residence. In comparison, the Choice Scholarship voucher program funds about 35,000 students, of which can use to enroll their child 61 percent of these students have never attended a public school.

> Legislative proposals will make even more families eligible for state-funded tuition to attend a private school. How so?

Eligibility to receive a public good or benefit to a voucher would expand all taxpayers and residents from 150 percent to 300 percent of the amount to The diversion of mon- qualify for the federal free budget passed in 2019 by ey away from the more or reduced-price meals proproviding adequate funding than 90 percent of all stu- gram. It is important for Indiana citizens to know that a majority of the private schools benefitting from the Choice Scholarship voucher program are concentrated in just four counties - Marion, Allen, St. Joseph, and Lake. On the other hand, 33 counties have no private school voucher providers, and another 20 counties only have one such voucher school. Why are hundreds of millions of dollars going to support so few students that don't benefit all areas of the state, when K-12 public education in every county could be better funded?

Public schools are a pillar of our democracy and are the engines of opportunity for our citizenry. Public education remains necessary to produce a competitive workforce and serves as a catalyst for economic development and job growth.

If the facts and statistics are compelling to you, please join the more than 170 school boards that have passed resolutions to express opposition to this agenda and ask your legislators to vote no to the expansion of private school choice.

Carmel's Suder and Williams, Westfield's Smith named to boys Junior All-Stars team

Three Hamilton County players are among the 12 that have been selected for the IndyStar Indiana boys Junior All-Stars for 2021, Indiana All-Star games director Mike Broughton announced Tuesday morning.

For this year, the Juniors All-Stars will play just one game -- June 9 against the Indiana senior All-Stars at a site to be determined. Thus, a single group of 12 players has been selected for this year's Junior All-Stars.

Carmel's Peter Suder and Charlie Williams and Westfield's Braden Smith are the three local players selected to the team. The others, listed alphabetically, are Tayshawn Comer of Cathedral, Tae Davis of Warren Central, C.J. Gunn of Lawrence North, Jalen Jackson of Carroll (Fort Wayne), Will Lovings-Watts of Jeffersonville, Fletcher Loyer of Homestead, Branden Northern of Silver Creek, Leland Walker of North Central and Jalen Washington of Gary West.

Chad Johnston of South Bend Adams will be the head coach of the 2021 boys Junior All-Stars. He will be assisted by Josh Thompson of Barr-Reeve.

The game on June 9 against the Indiana senior All-Stars will be a doubleheader with boys and girls. The Indiana All-Star senior boys team will be chosen in April. The Indiana junior girls team and the Indiana senior girls team were announced earlier in March.

The Indiana senior All-Stars, also girl-boy doubleheaders, will play the Kentucky senior All-Stars on June 11 at the Owensboro SportsCenter in Owensboro, Ky. The Indiana senior All-Stars will play Kentucky's seniors again on June 12 at Southport Fieldhouse in Indianapolis. The senior game in Indianapolis has been moved to Southport for 2021 because Bankers Life Fieldhouse will be undergoing renovations and not be available in June.

The Junior All-Star team was selected through a process that allows all IBCA-member head coaches to nomi-
