Reed was appointed by Jensen to the newly created position in January 2020 after serving the previous four years as the city's director of planning and development. A graduate of HCLA in 2013, Reed said one of the most significant leadership lessons she was taught in the program was to use the servant leadership approach to networking and connections.

“I stay involved with

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

Helping local governments better serve you

Whether it's a city council, a school board or the local courtroom, these government bodies are closest to Hoosiers and can have the greatest impact on our daily lives.

As a state representative, I work closely with our local leaders to identify areas we can streamline and improve government processes, and enhance services for constituents. Given the significant strain the pandemic put on local governments and our courts, a couple of important issues were brought to my attention and resulted in two new laws set to take effect on July 1.

During the COVID-19 pandemic, many local government units like town, city and county boards did not meet in-person and instead held virtual public meetings to slow the spread of the virus. These online meetings became possible after Gov. Eric Holcomb issued an executive order in the spring of 2020 allowing local units to do business online. Many local units did notice an increase in public input during this time because meetings were held virtually. Since the governor's order will expire, I authored legislation giving local governments the option to develop their own policies to allow virtual participation, which could include allowing the public to testify electronically. Under this new law, the public and the media will still have access to these meetings whether they are held in person or not.

TONY COOK

While this law provides local governments with some flexibility with how they conduct business, I do believe it's important for our local leaders to meet in-person. This is why the law requires all members to be physically present when discussing certain issues like taxation and the budget. It also only allows a certain number of officials to be present electronically each meeting unless Indiana is under a state of emergency.

Like other government buildings, courtrooms were also closed during the COVID-19 pandemic, which led to a significant backlog of cases. To help ease officials' workloads, communities are turning to retired judges to temporarily serve on the bench. However, there is concern for these judges' safety as many of these cases involve violent criminals, which could put officials at risk of violence or becoming a victim of retaliation. Under current law, only active judges are permitted to carry a gun on court grounds, excluding retired judges. In order to bring retired judicial officers in line with active judges and provide them with more protection, I authored a new law allowing retired judges to carry a firearm while they are serving on the bench.

I appreciate the feedback and input from our local officials on issues impacting them, and I'm encouraged by the passage of these laws this session. As your state representative, I remain focused on improving and streamlining government services at all levels. If you have questions about this legislation or have any input, feel free to reach out to my office at H32@iga.in.gov.

State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero) represents House District 32, which includes all of Tipton County and portions of Hamilton, Madison, Delaware, Howard and Grant counties.

May 2021 residential real estate market strong going into summer

The REPORTER

The May residential real estate market continued its trend of high activity going into the summer. Monthly real estate statistics from F.C. Tucker Company revealed that pending home sales decreased 0.9 percent compared to May 2020, which was one of Central Indiana’s busiest years ever for residential real estate. In addition, year-to-date home prices increased 14.1 percent, and available housing inventory decreased 51.6 percent compared to this time last year.

- The average May 2021 home sale price for the 16-county Central Indiana region was $290,550, an increase of 18.4 percent.
- Available housing inventory dropped 51.6 percent compared to May 2020.
- Pending home sales decreased 0.9 percent compared to this time last year.

In May 2021, 4,303 Central Indiana homes were purchased, down 0.9 percent from the 4,340 sold in May 2020. Specifically:

- Montgomery County showed the greatest increase in pending home sales with 16.4 percent growth compared to May 2020.
- Morgan County pending sales had the greatest decrease with 20.4 percent fewer homes sold in May 2021 compared to this time last year.

The sale price of homes in Central Indiana continued to increase in May:

- Shelby County recorded the highest average year-to-date home sale price increase at 28.5 percent.
- Boone County had the highest average home sale price in the region at $409,019.

41 percent or higher.

- Decatur County had the lowest inventory decrease – 9.4 percent – compared to May 2020.
- Hamilton County inventory decreased the most significantly in Central Indiana – 73.9 percent – compared to this time last year.

“May continues to follow the trend of an extremely active and fast-moving residential real estate market that we’ve been experiencing for a full year now,” said F.C. Tucker Company CEO Jim Litten. “Buyers continue to see a great deal of competition for available homes in central Indiana, and I anticipate that trend will continue through the summer.”

Of the pending home sales in the region last month, seven were priced $2,000,000 or higher; 35 were priced $1,000,000 to $1,999,999; 319 were priced $500,000 to $999,999; 998 were priced $300,000 to $499,999; 1,382 were priced $200,000 to $299,999; 1,252 were priced $100,000 to $199,999; and 310 were priced at $99,999 or less.

Sen. Young helps introduce PASTEUR Act to fight antimicrobial resistance

The REPORTER

U.S. Senators Todd Young (R-Ind.) and Michael Bennet (D-Colo.) have re-introduced the Pioneering Antimicrobial Subscriptions to End Upsurging Resistance (PASTEUR) Act to encourage innovative drug development targeting the most threatening infections, improve the appropriate use of antibiotics, and ensure domestic availability when needed. Senators Young and Bennet were joined by Representatives Mike Doyle (D-Pa.) and Drew Ferguson (R-Ga.).

“Americans understand – now more than ever – that we must take every reasonable and responsible measure to prevent future public health crises,” Sen. Young said. “Antimicrobial resistance has become a growing crisis in recent years. Market failures have resulted in a lack of needed research and development in this field which is a threat to public health. That’s why I’m proud to reintroduce our Pioneering Antimicrobial Subscriptions to End Upsurging Resistance (PASTEUR) Act to incentivize development of new antibiotics. At the same time, the PASTEUR Act will focus on educating health care providers on how to avoid overuse or misuse of these life-saving medications in order to slow the emergence of antibiotic-resistant pathogens.”

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s (CDC) Antibiotic Resistance Threats in the United States report, more than 2.8 million antibiotic-resistant infections occur in the United States each year, and at least 35,000 people die as a result.

In March 2015, the U.S. National Action Plan for Combating Antibiotic-Resistant Bacteria directed federal agencies to accelerate a coordinated, full-government response to antibiotic resistance and take action to expand the ability of the country’s health care system to prevent, identify, and respond to the infection pandemic threat posed by antimicrobial resistance. Part of this plan was to increase and incentivize development of innovative antimicrobial drugs to treat resistant infections. Because of severe market failures in the health care system, many of the innovative antibiotic companies doing this work have filed for bankruptcy and stopped producing their critical drugs completely.

The PASTEUR Act would address this market failure and increase public health preparedness by keeping novel antibiotics on the market and improving appropriate use across the health care system. While current contracts between the government and drug makers base payment on volume, the PASTEUR Act would establish a subscription-style model which would offer antibiotic developers an upfront payment in exchange for access to their antibiotics, encouraging innovation and ensuring our health care system is prepared to treat resistant infections.

TODAY’S BIBLE READING

Now to each one the manifestation of the Spirit is given for the common good. To one there is given through the Spirit a message of wisdom, to another a message of knowledge by means of the same Spirit, to another faith by the same Spirit, to another gifts of healing by that one Spirit, to another miraculous powers, to another prophecy, to another distinguishing between spirits, to another speaking in different kinds of tongues, and to still another the interpretation of tongues. All these are the work of one and the same Spirit, and he distributes them to each one, just as he determines.

Frank Earl Miller, Sr.
October 12, 1933 – June 14, 2021

Frank Earl Miller, Sr. was born on October 12, 1933 to Frank A. and Alverta M. Miller. Frank grew up on the old westside of Indianapolis and attended Arsenal Tech High School and played baseball as a pitcher on a semi-pro team. He was a U.S. Army veteran, having served overseas in Japan where he helped bring telephone service to the rural areas of postwar Japan. While in the service, he learned to speak Japanese and was always happy to teach others a few key phrases.

On a blind date in 1958 he met Carolyn Everett – the love of his life. After a whirlwind courtship the couple married about two months after that first date. They were blessed to celebrate their 60th anniversary just before Carolyn passed away in 2018.

After living briefly in the city, the couple built a home in the southern end of Boone County near Fayette. While there over the next 30 or so years, they raised their three children and countless litters of beagle puppies. Frank worked many years as an executive for the Aero Drapery Company and spent countless volunteer hours coaching travel teams for Little League and Babe Ruth baseball at Whitestown and Lebanon.

In 1950, Frank joined in on what became an annual tradition with several of his boyhood friends. Each fall a group of about three dozen guys “from the old neighborhood” traveled to Lake of the Woods, Ontario, angling for the coveted Musky. The group became legendary for their catches each October. Frank earned the nickname and title “The Champ” for the many Muskies he caught year after year. In 1974, he was winner of the Molson’s Big Fish Contest when he landed a record she-Musky that was 54” long and weighed in at 46 pounds. The fall fishing trips to Canada continued for more than 50 years only interrupted by border closings in the wake of 9/11.

Most years, Frank also loaded up the family and headed north for summer vacations to Lake of the Woods. In addition to fishing, he enjoyed sharing the wonders of the Canadian wilderness with Carolyn and the kids. Everyone learned to watch for eagles, appreciate the pensive call of Loons near sunset, and to watch the shoreline for bears, moose, and other wildlife. Shore lunches were always a part of the fun while visiting the north woods.

After the children were raised, Frank and Carolyn purchased a hobby farm in rural Hamilton County near Cicero because it “just looked like a Grandma and Grandpa’s farm.” Around this time, they also opened their own custom window treatment company, finally retiring about a decade ago when the travel bug took hold of them and they purchased a motor home.

Over the next several years they hit the road and visited the “lower 48.” They overwintered several years at Silver Lakes Camp near Naples, Florida, where they made many friends. Always in tow was their beloved West Highland Terrier, Duffy.

During the last two years of his life, Frank made his home at Sunrise Senior Living in Carmel where he made many new friends among both the staff and his fellow residents. He never quit “working on things,” and was always tinkering with this or that using the tools he kept stashed in his bedside table.

Frank leaves behind his three children, Kathryn (Kassie) Ritman, Frank Jr. (Catherine Strong), and Sharon (JJ Flynn). He had seven grandchildren who put a twinkle in his eye – Shawna Ladner, Caitlin White, Courtney Rector, Carrie Kersh, Mallory Ritman, Thomas Ritman, and Erin Flynn. Additionally, he has four great-grandchildren, and newly, one great-great-grandson.

He was preceded in death by his parents, his beloved uncle Earl Newberry, his sister Faye Wright, and brother Tom Miller.

Visitation for Frank will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. on Friday, June 18, 2021 at Feeney-Hornak Keystone Mortuary, 2126 E. 71st St., Indianapolis. His Funeral Service will follow at 11 a.m. on Friday, June 18, 2021 at the funeral home with entombment to follow at Floral Park Cemetery, Indianapolis.

Boys golf state finals

Golden Eagles finish 2nd, Carmel 3rd

By RICHIE HALL

CARMEL - There was not much separating the top three teams at the IHSAA boys golf state meet, which concluded Wednesday at Prairie View Golf Club in Carmel.

Guerin Catholic, Carmel and Center Grove were trading the lead during the final day. The Golden Eagles held the advantage as the teams played the final holes, but the Trojans surged ahead at the end to win the state title by one stroke. Center Grove totaled a two-day score of 606, while Guerin Catholic finished with a 607. The Greyhounds were right there as well, placing third with a 612.

This was the second appearance for the Golden Eagles at the state meet. Guerin made it for the first time in 2019, placing fourth. Last year's meet, of course, was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The Golden Eagles' program is still very much on the upswing, but it was a tough finish for GC after being so close.

"We had a great season," said Guerin Catholic coach Mark Matthews. "I'm very proud of them. Sometimes you just don't play your best on the day. But, got to be very proud of them. They're great kids and they work very hard. Second place is hard to take sometimes, and that's where they are right now."

Sophomore Jacob Modleski led the way for the Golden Eagles. He carded an even-par 72 in his second round, including four birdies. When combined with his first-round score of 74, Modleski finished the two-day event with a 146, giving him individual runner-up honors.

"Today was definitely a solid day," said Modleski. "Got off to a little bit of a rocky start on the front nine, but I really turned it around on the back and I was really happy with even par."

Andrew White scored a 77 for his second day, making two birdies. He also finished in the top 10 as part of a four-way tie for eighth place. White's two-day score was 150; both he and Modleski were named to the All-State team at the conclusion of the meet.

All five of Guerin Catholic's players made at least two birdies during their second round. Leo Wessel drained three birdies, while Christian Hein and Connor McNeely both made two.

Sam Booth was Carmel's low man during the second day, finishing with a score of 76. He made one birdie and was also named to the All-State team.

The Greyhounds had all five of their players make at least one birdie. Joseph Armfield and Patrick Michael both had three, while Shoji Fujita and Owen Sander each made one. With its third-place finish, this is the fourth year in a row that Carmel has finished in the top three at state.

"I think ultimately, it just came down to a couple shots here and there that Center Grove hit a little better than we did," said Greyhounds coach Josh Shelton. "We knew it was going to be tight. We just wanted to have a shot on the back nine on the second day and we did. Center Grove just played the best golf over two days."

Hamilton Southeastern placed seventh as a team with a two-day score of 637. Cole Starnes led the way on Wednesday with a 74, making three birdies. Starnes earned a spot on the All-State team. Nate Benson had two birdies in his round, with Lane Zedrick and Thomas Riesing both making one.

Fishers rose to 11th after the second round of play, improving its second day
