Riverview's Heartfelt Thanks golf tournament raises $115K

From writer to author?

The REPORTER

Riverview Health Foundation raised more than $115,000 at the 29th annual Heartfelt Thanks Golf Tournament on June 16 at Pebble Brook Golf Club. More than 230 golfers and 30 staff and community volunteers joined in this year's event to help support Riverview Health Foundation, which in turn provides funding for new health services, programs and equipment at Riverview Health.

"We look forward to hosting this event every year not only because it raises funds for programs and projects at Riverview Health but because we can spend the day outside with members of the community having fun," said Megan Wiles, executive director of Riverview Health Foundation. "With the beautiful weather, this year was no different. A special thank you to BMO Harris Bank for once again serving as our presenting sponsor and Gaylor Electric who, in addition to their financial support, provided the golfers with a wonderful lunch and dinner."

"This event takes a lot of careful planning to ensure everyone enjoys a great day of golf, and we couldn't have done it without all our sponsors and volunteers," said Polly Craig, philanthropy officer of Riverview Health Foundation. "Congratulations to Integrity One Technologies who shot 53 to win the 29th Heartfelt Thanks Golf Tournament."

For more information, call Megan Wiles at (317) 776-3717.

The beauty is still a picture one sees with her mind, using one's own imagination.

When God holds her pen the beauty is magnified.

Words are the brushstrokes of the detail of a story.

A good writer shows in her words a picture of a barn.

A better writer takes you inside the barn.

A gifted writer makes you want to stay in the barn.

Those were my thoughts this week as I began writing my book.

Oh, how I aspire to be that writer who makes you want to stay in the barn ... at least for a little while.

When I read an intriguing novel, I become captured in the storyline. I see the places the writer is taking me. The better the writer the more vivid the pictures I see in my mind. The characters become part of my life in the short time I am reading.

A really good novel makes me sad when I finish it. A gifted author leaves me wanting more.

My love of reading and writing began in the fourth grade with Mrs. Jacobi as my teacher. I began planning trips to the library to be introduced to more authors. By the time I got to junior high, Mr. Purvis introduced me to the classics. Oh, Mr. Twain, how I did love thee.

Carmel PD releases crime mapping tool

The REPORTER

The Carmel Police Department (CPD) has announced the release of its Crime Watch Mapping Dashboard. This web-based portal gives citizens the opportunity to view burglary, criminal mischief, damage to property, residential entry, theft and motor vehicle theft crime statistics within the city.

The Crime Watch Mapping Dashboard was created in order to allow the citizens of Carmel to see near real-time statistics related to property crimes. The dashboard data is updated daily and is searchable up to the last 365 days. It also allows users to filter by the type of crime and victim type. Additionally, users can filter by Crime Watch neighborhood, which empowers those residents to see a snapshot of potential criminal activity that may be occurring in their area.

The addition of the Crime Watch Mapping Dashboard is part of CPD's ongoing effort to share information and ensure transparency to the public. To learn more about the Crime Watch Mapping Dashboard, please visit the Carmel Police Department webpage click on the Crime Watch Mapping subpage.

Questions regarding the dashboard should be directed to Lt. Tim Byrne at tbyrne@carmel.in.gov or (317) 571-2500.

Fishers PD warns of kidnapping scam

The REPORTER

Fishers police are warning residents of a kidnapping scam occurring locally and across the nation.

Investigators have determined the suspect(s) are spoofing/mirroring cell phone numbers to contact victims and will act out a kidnapping involving a loved one. The suspect(s) will demand immediate payment via Zelle Payment or Paypal for the release of their family member.

The phone call will include yelling/screaming, sounds of crying and no proof of life. The suspect(s) will state the family member is being held at gunpoint and if law enforcement is contacted, they will kill the loved one. The suspect(s) will not allow the victim to speak with the loved one nor will the suspect(s) agree to meet with the victim.

If you believe you are being targeted for this kidnapping scam, police recommend you do the following: Immediately hang up and call 911. Police will perform a welfare check to ensure your loved one's safety. Never pay any ransom and immediately report suspicious activity.

Police are also offering the following safety tips to help avoid becoming a victim: Make certain the security settings on your social media accounts are set to the highest security level, locking accounts from being viewable by non-approved friends. Suspects are using social media to conduct research. For example, a Fishers resident who was a recent victim had their Facebook account unlocked and viewable to the general public, which allowed the suspect(s) to identify friends/family.

State of the County address scheduled for Tuesday Commissioner Steve Dillinger to lay out county's top priorities in 2021

The REPORTER

Hamilton County Commissioner Steve Dillinger will give his annual State of the County address on Tuesday, June 29 at the Embassy Suites in Noblesville. Usually held in January, the luncheon was postponed six months due to the pandemic.

Dillinger is expected to discuss the county's response to COVID-19 as well as the progress made on a myriad of infrastructure projects including State Road 37, 146th Street, and bridge improvements on Logan Street and Carrigan Road.

"The pandemic struck shortly after the State of the County last year," Dillinger said. "It didn't seem possible then that any of these projects could have come to fruition during the lockdown, but we have a host of amazing accomplishments to celebrate as we come out of this difficult time."

Looking ahead, Dillinger will also speak about designs for a new domestic violence shelter, construction of a new employee parking garage, and plans for a county-wide continuing education program, as well as the county's AAA credit rating and the American Rescue Plan funds.

The State of the County is hosted by the Noblesville Chamber of Commerce. The event is scheduled to start at 11:30 a.m. and end at 1 p.m. Doors open at 11 a.m. The cost is $34 for chamber members and $40 for non-members. Registration is required. You can register at noblesvillechamber.com.

AUTHOR

As long as I have a book to read, I am never bored. I am a bookaholic. I have one in the car, by my bed, on the ottoman and in a grab-and-go bag.

My latest read is Bird by Bird by Anne Lamott. It was suggested by my writer friend, Donna Cronk. Our meeting was a divine appointment. While the circumstances of our meeting were a bit bizarre, we have found a friendship as we cheer each other on with me writing my first book and her writing her third. We even added another writer friend to our lunch bunch writer chicks, Cathy Shouse.

We are women of many words. I hope, someday, to be able to change my title from writer to author. It's a process. A very long process. I have 15 years of newspaper columns I have written to sift through to find the words I want to say. I want to entertain and inspire.

My story has not been the happily ever after story I imagined it would be. It has been a journey of shattered dreams and broken roads with many detours and lots of turbulence. My faith held me together when life became more of an endurance test.

And yet ... God had a plan.

Here I sit and write and I smile. At the age of 65, I am enjoying my second chance at love with a man who encourages me to write. He loves me and makes me feel cherished. Yes, there's a love story in my book. It's kind of schmaltzy but ... it's my story. I'm sticking to it.

Remember how my writing started? On a dare. I took the dare and now I've been sitting here at my computer for 15 years preparing for and dreaming about the day someone would say, "I read your book." I can only hope they will then say, "It kept me in the barn."

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

- Restraining techniques for dogs and/or cats

- Checking heart rates and temperatures
- Pet CPR basics
- Giving oxygen
- Dealing with an overheated animal and giving fluids
- Burns, wound care and broken limbs
- Blunt and penetrating trauma care
- Dog psychology basics
- Common scenarios first responders encounter in the field and best approaches to handle those situations
- Tools to help manage

various types of dog behaviors

- Worst case scenarios/extreme situations and best approaches

- Basic anatomy

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

So it is with you. Unless you speak intelligible words with your tongue, how will anyone know what you are saying? You will just be speaking into the air. Undoubtedly there are all sorts of languages in the world, yet none of them is without meaning. If then I do not grasp the meaning of what someone is saying, I am a foreigner to the speaker, and the speaker is a foreigner to me. So it is with you. Since you are eager for gifts of the Spirit, try to excel in those that build up the church.

1 Corinthians 14:9-12 (NIV)

Lisa Kay Spangler

March 23, 1964 – June 24, 2021

Lisa Kay Spangler, 57, Noblesville, passed peacefully at home at 7:00 p.m. on June 24, 2021, surrounded by her beloved wife and those who cared for her most closely throughout her 3+ year odyssey with breast cancer.

Lisa was born on March 23, 1964 in Wabash, Ind., to Don and Ruth Spangler. Growing up and into her teenage years, she learned and assisted with various aspects of the family's small electronics repair business, later crediting those early experiences with having instilled in her the strong work ethic so many knew her for. Summers spent in Pennsylvania, where her extended family maintained orchards outside of Gettysburg, also contributed not only to Lisa's hard-working attitude but an appreciation for and many memories of the family bonds and traditions that were always so important to her.

Following graduation from Wabash High School, Lisa went on to attend Marion College, where she majored in Business and Accounting, ultimately attaining an MBA from Indiana Wesleyan University. For 10+ years, Lisa was the Controller for the Greensburg Daily News, followed by 10 years as the Director of Finance at PERQ in Indianapolis. Most recently, Lisa was looking forward to leaning into a new role as the Manager of Financial Reporting and Budgeting with IU Health, but was unable to realize her contribution, due to advancing illness.

For many years, Lisa was the key organizer of the Professional Women's Group (PWG), a networking and social organization serving the Indianapolis-area lesbian community. Lisa was dedicated to providing a forum for local women to make connections and further build the community. Lisa also served as Treasurer on the board of the Indiana Youth Group. An avid golfer, she was a member of the LPGA amateur golf association.

In 2006, Lisa attended a poker game, where she not only took home the pot but met the woman she would eventually marry. Together, they enjoyed common interests in outdoor pursuits, antiques and estate sales, board games and puzzles, beautifying their shared home and garden, and doting on their adoring Boston Terrier, Franklin Delano. Throughout the years, their shared passion for travel took them to locations ranging from the rugged coastlines of Acadia National Park and Ireland's Giants Causeway to the shores of Lake Michigan and, yearly, back to their beloved South Carolina Low Country, where they were married in 2015 in a private ceremony on Hunting Island.

Whether learning the skills required to excel in a new professional position, teaching herself to play guitar, or fighting for her life, Lisa modeled a commitment to excellence and unflinching grit and determination to succeed in all things. Besides her big and ready laugh, her curiosity for exploration, and the sensitivity she felt deeply but only rarely showed, those who most love Lisa will remember her meticulous attention to her amazing hair, her passionate aversion to June Bugs and popping balloons, her enduring appreciation for all things chocolate, and the fact that no matter the meal or occasion, her "dessert pipe" was always open. Most importantly, Lisa taught us about the capacity to love deeply and to live fully, no matter the circumstances.

She will be missed beyond measure but never forgotten.

What was Indiana's first state capital?

The REPORTER

This week in Indiana's history ...

1816 – The first Indiana State Constitution was adopted by the legislature in the state capital of Corydon. The 43 delegates had met for nearly three weeks to create the document which was an integral step to statehood. Among other provisions, the constitution prohibited slavery and recommended a public school system.

1863 – The Civil War Battle at Gettysburg ended with a Union victory. Approximately 2,200 Indiana men were engaged from the 3rd Cavalry and 7th, 14th, 19th, 20th, and 27th Infantry Regiments. The 19th was part of the famous "Iron Brigade." Over one-quarter of the Hoosier soldiers at Gettysburg were killed or wounded.

1886 – The Western Association of Writers met at Plymouth Church in Indianapolis. Many Indiana authors were in attendance, including Maurice Thompson, who was elected the group's first president. Over the years, the organization included James Whitcomb Riley, Sarah Bolton, Meredith Nicholson, Booth Tarkington, Mary H. Catherwood and others who were part of the "Golden Age of Indiana Literature."

1923 – Famed orator William Jennings Bryan came to the Gennett Record Company in Richmond. He recorded excerpts of his famous "Cross of Gold" speech. The Richmond studio is a legendary part of jazz history.

1940 – The popular Glenn Miller Band played one-night only at the Ideal Beach Ballroom at Lake Shafer in Monticello. The band, rated number-one by Billboard Magazine, dominated record sales and plays on radio and jukeboxes. Their recording of "In the Mood" was at the top of the hit parade for 1940.

1943 – Zilthia Mae Jimison was born in Indianapolis. She attended law school and became the first African American woman to serve on the Marion County Superior Court. She was on the Indianapolis city council and, in 1995, was a candidate for mayor. She established the drug treatment court and was active in many civic organizations.

Ultimate disc is back at Grand Park . . .

New players taking to the field for AlleyCats

By RICHIE HALL

WESTFIELD - There is a new look to Indiana's ultimate disc team, but there are also the same high expectations.

The Indianapolis AlleyCats are in the middle portion of their schedule, once again playing their home games at Grand Park Events Center. The AlleyCats entered the season as the defending American Ultimate Disc League (AUDL) Midwest Division champions, having won it in 2019.

Last year's AUDL season, like many others across the sports world, was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic. In addition, several longtime AlleyCats players like Cameron Brock, Kyle Cox and Keenan Plew retired. The 'Cats have a new coach as well, Will Drumright.

"We are young, but we are a resilient team," said Drumright. "When I came on, I said that we are going to be building a foundation and a culture of success and winning. Our guys have very much bought into it. We are trying to lean on what experience we have left through some of our veteran players like Travis Carpenter, Rick Gross, Levi Jacobs, Nick Hutton, Jake Fella, to try and instill some of that confidence in the skills, because we're asking young men to grow up quickly in terms of playing the game."

This year's Indianapolis team is 2-3 so far this season. On June 4, the AlleyCats won their opener, a home contest against the Detroit Mechanix, 30-21, then fell to the Chicago Union 20-12 in an away game the very next night.

Indianapolis hosted Detroit again on June 12 and won easily, 28-12. Then in a Sunday afternoon contest on June 20, the AlleyCats lost on the road to the Madison Radicals 24-20.

The 'Cats returned to Grand Park on Saturday to play Chicago again. The Union got off to a quick lead, forcing the AlleyCats to play catch up to Chicago, which eventually won 28-20.

Levi Jacobs (left) is one of a handful of veteran players on the roster for the Indianapolis AlleyCats this season. The AlleyCats have many new players and a new coach this year.

The Union never trailed, scoring their first goal just 46 seconds into the game. Chicago then built a 5-0 lead with 4:20 left to go in the first quarter. Indianapolis got on the board at the 3:48 mark when Chris Walsh scored a goal off an assist by Gross.

The teams traded goals for the remainder of the quarter, which ended with the Union ahead 8-3. Chicago then scored back-to-back goals on three different occasions in the second period, leading 16-7 before the 'Cats scored with four seconds left in the half. Gross caught the pass from Carpenter, cutting the Union's lead to 16-8 at halftime.

"They have a little bit more experience," said Drumright. "They have a strong club team outside of their team in the AUDL, so they've been playing together for a couple years. So, they're a little bit more of a cohesive, veteran, experienced team. It shows on the scoreboard. And then they can go out and execute and play well, and then when we make simple, unforced errors early in the game, it's hard to come back against a team that has been doing this for so long."

Indianapolis outscored Chicago in the third quarter 6-5, including two instances of back-to-back goals, but the Union still led 21-14 at the end of the period. Kyle Romard opened the fourth by catching a goal pass from Carpenter, cutting Chicago's lead to 21-15. The Union would let the AlleyCats get no closer, scoring back-to-back goals and holding a seven- to nine-point advantage from there.

"They're able to grow and improve with how they're playing," said Drumright. "We just have to understand that we have to start strong instead of getting into a tough situation and having to battle back. Like I said, they're resilient, but we have to start games stronger in terms of being able to figure out what we have to do pre-game, what we have to do in preparation and training to not only just work hard, but work smarter."

Romard and Trey Dynes both scored four goals for the 'Cats, with Walsh, Jacobs and Gross each adding two goals. Six more players got on goal: Nick Phillips, Conner Henderson, Fella, Cody Curran, Lucas Coniaris and Carpenter.

Gross found the open man incredibly well, making eight assists for the game. Jacobs had three, while Hutton, Henderson and Carpenter each had two. Walsh, Romard and Curran all had one.

The AlleyCats will play their next two games at Grand Park. They host Madison at 7 p.m. on July 3 in a game that will be televised on Fox Sports. After that, the AlleyCats play the Minnesota Wind Chill for the first time this season on July 10, with another 7 p.m. start.

Kyle Romard scored four goals for the AlleyCats during their Saturday game with the Chicago Union.
