Hamilton, Harvest, Harley teaming up to tackle hunger

#LiveToRide #RideToGive event welcomes riders from all over

The REPORTER

Hamilton County Harvest Food Bank (HCH) has partnered again this year with Harley-Davidson Indianapolis for the third annual #LiveToRide #RideToGive charity motorcycle ride on Saturday Sept. 4.

The ride will set off at 10:30 a.m. from the Harley-Davidson dealership located at 12400 Reynolds Drive, Fishers, for a leisurely ride through Hamilton County. The route will take riders past many of HCH's network pantries and have a brief stop at the Food Bank for a tour.

This event welcomes riders from all over the area; you don't need to be a Hamilton County resident to ride. In fact, the more diverse the ridership the better for all involved, which means HCH is getting the word out far and wide.

As in years past, riders will depart from the Harley-Davidson dealership in Fishers.

The hope is to set a new level of ridership this year and surpass last year's total of 35. Tickets are $25 for a single rider and $30 for double. This price includes a T-shirt and cookout meal after the ride.

There is also a "Help From Home" option in case you can't make it out to ride. Click here to sign up today.

Events like this help raise awareness of a need not many in Hamilton County think about. If you aren't in a situation where you need food assistance, you probably don't think much about those who are. You just go along and assume ev-

Putting a stop to those UTIs

Just when I thought I had encountered everything perimenopause could throw at me, it decided to surprise me once again this year. As I've mentioned before, many of us in the sandwich generation are middle-aged women, which means we're either approaching menopause or actually in it.

I've also stated that there is a tremendous lack of information when it comes to this stage of life. One thing no one warned me about was more frequent urinary tract infections (UTIs.) As menopause approaches, women are more prone to getting them thanks to lower estrogen levels.

If you've never had one, consider yourself lucky. I had them frequently in my 20s but they thankfully stopped – until 18 months ago. Since then I've had three, with the latest sending me into the ER at midnight last week.

UTIs come on suddenly and are incredibly painful. You not only feel like you have to go to the bathroom constantly, but it burns when you do so. I hadn't felt pain like I did last week since I gave birth to my sons.

As you can imagine, they can constantly disrupt your life. I'm fortunate to work from home, so I was able to do some things on my laptop while recovering on our couch the next day. I could not have gone into a regular office. In addition to the pain and urgency, UTIs can cause fatigue, loss of appetite, confusion in elderly individuals, and more.

If they're not treated quickly, they can escalate into worse problems like kidney damage and sepsis.

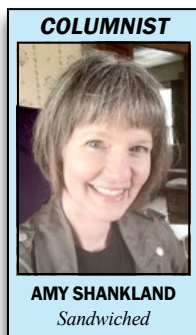

I've been doing all the right things to prevent them for years and even added more to my arsenal lately by incorporating probiotics to my diet. I drink plenty of water. I consider myself the poster child for UTI prevention, yet I still battled another one.

I'm seeing my primary care physician in September, the wonderful Dr. H., and intend to discuss this situation with her. If you suffer from UTIs, I would encourage you to speak to a medical professional.

In the meantime, I decided to do some research to see what supplements might help. I came across Uqora and was impressed by what I saw. Their CEO founded the company after battling eight UTIs in 2014. That told me volumes.

I'm trying their Target product, which is a reasonably-priced drink you consume every three days to help keep your bladder healthy. While I haven't received it yet, I'm optimistic that it will help me thwart yet another evil perimenopause symptom.

Ladies, we have to keep talking about this and spreading good information. It's important to be proactive with our health. If we're not healthy, it's difficult to take care of our own family and elderly relatives. I'll continue to do all I can to be in tip-top shape. I'll keep you all posted on my UTI prevention discoveries.

Some HSE parents call for mask mandate

Claim poor communication from district, Fishers Health Dept.

By DEMIE JOHNSON
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

Fewer than 24 hours before Hamilton Southeastern (HSE) students go back to school, some parents on Tuesday called on the district to put a mask mandate in place.

Right now, face coverings are recommended but not required in HSE classrooms, but dozens of parents told WISH-TV News 8 there is a lack of communication between the district and the Fishers Health Department.

Some parents shared emails between them and the district's superintendent, as well as a Facebook comment where the health department recommended a mask requirement, which you can read at right.

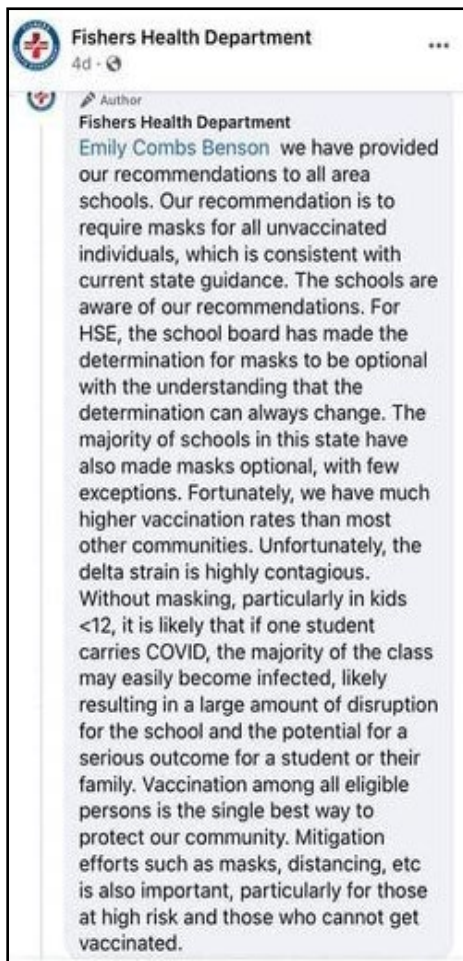

But one parent said she got an email from HSE's superintendent saying that's not the guidance the schools were given, which you can read at far right.

"The CDC said it's not safe, the Fishers Health Department says it's not safe, the State Department of Health says it's not safe. I don't know what to do," said a mom who asked conceal her identity for fear of backlash. "My son literally was like, 'I'm so excited to start tomorrow' and everything within me is screaming to not let him walk through those doors."

She said the mask debate has become ugly in the district.

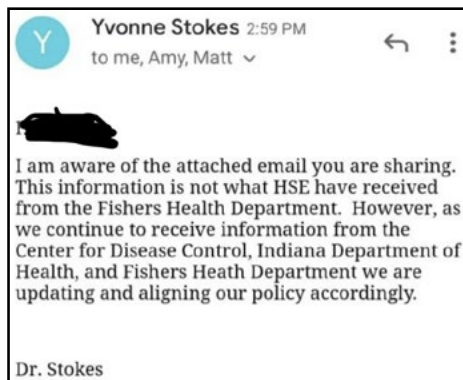

"We have a very loud, strong, kind of anti-mask, anti-vax community in the area," she said.

Parent Michael McMann is not afraid to share his opinion publicly.

Graphic provided by WISH-TV

"I feel like I'm throwing my child to the wolves," McMann said. "He's been healthy, we've all been healthy and now tomorrow he's going to be around 1,000 kids in his school that all cannot be vaccinated."

Statement from HSE Schools

In accordance with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Indiana State Department of Health and Fishers Health Department, we are recommending that teachers, staff and students wear a mask indoors. We updated our previous language that said masks were 'encouraged' to be more aligned with what health experts are sharing with us. We will continue to rely on data provided by HSE Department of Staff and Student Services, our local, state and federal health officials regarding COVID positivity rates, which could require us to alter our plan as needed.

You can look at our full plan here: hseschools.org/happenings/return-to-in-person-instruction-plan.

News 8 reached out to both the Fishers Health Department and HSE Schools. The health department had not responded as of Tuesday night. HSE Schools sent a statement, which you can read in the blue box above.

Riley Hospital sees increase of kids in ER with COVID-19

By DAVID WILLIAMS
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

Riley Hospital for Children is seeing an increase in kids with coronavirus in its emergency room. The increase coincides with the surge of the delta variant of COVID-19.

More than 80 to 90 percent of COVID-19 infections in Indiana are now caused by the Delta variant, according to Dr. John Christenson, professor of clinical pediatrics at the Ryan White Center for Pediatric Infectious Disease and global health and medical director of infection prevention at Riley Hospital for Children.

Kids are not immune to COVID-19, and those under 12 are not yet eligible for the vaccine.

Christenson told WISH-TV News 8 that Riley is seeing more kids in its emergency room.

"In the last few days, the number of cases that have shown up in the ER has picked up significantly, compared to January," Christenson said.

He said the good news is that the majority don't get admitted to the hospital but are seen in the ER and get sent home.

"The majority are unvaccinated children under 12 years of age, although we see the occasional older child that still hasn't been vaccinated," Christenson said. "But the majority are younger ones, so still in that group that have not been vaccinated."

"Yeah, that's scary," parent Alyssa Hay told News 8.

A mother of two young children, Hay says she is well aware of the coronavirus Delta variant.

"I'm concerned. Yeah, we kind of keep to ourselves," Hay said. "Or just come to the playground, and we, like, know the kids that are here.”

She and her husband are vaccinated, and they do all they can to keep their kids safe.

“My daughter wears a mask whenever we go to indoor places,” Hay said. “She’s pretty good about it.”

But not every kid is good about it. Christenson talked about the reasons behind the surge in cases in kids.

“It’s multifactorial,” Christenson said. “One, you have in children an unvaccinated community. “Even those over 12, the majority of them are still not vaccinated. But under 12, they are completely unvaccinated, so they depend on being protected by the people that surround them, by using masks and maintaining social distancing. We know that a lot of people have relaxed that. They’re not using masks, they’re socializing more. They’re going to large gatherings.”

Christenson said there are things parents can do right now to protect their children if they are not old enough to get a COVID-19 vaccine.

“We know there are some things that do work to prevent infection: mask use, keeping social distancing, avoiding large crowds,” Christenson said. “Especially large crowds of people you don’t know who they are. Their parents and other family members being vaccinated will prevent bringing the virus home and infecting the children.”

Other parents say they’re not too concerned.

“I think if you just keep clean and keep sanitary, things will just work out naturally,” said Chester Thomas, an Indianapolis parent.

Christenson also urges people with children age 12 and older to get them vaccinated. He said anybody who can get the vaccine should be vaccinated.

Take the 4 Town Tour & Taste this summer

The REPORTER

This September, the Northern Hamilton County Chamber of Commerce (NHCCC) is offering you a way to enjoy rural and scenic bike ride along winding country roads. This inaugural bike ride, called the "4 Town Tour," is set to become an annual event in Hamilton County. The ride is scheduled for Sept. 18 with options for a 50-mile ride, a 28-mile ride, and a shorter family ride in Cicero. The rides will be followed by a luncheon, open to the public, called the "4 Town Taste."

NHCCC President Liz Foley Nelson told The Reporter the organization represents businesses in and around the communities of Arcadia, Atlanta, Cicero, and Sheridan. The Chamber hosts events each month for its members and frequently for the communities it represents.

"The ride is to highlight the businesses of Northern Hamilton County, increase public awareness of this less-traveled area of Central Indiana, and to benefit the business programs at Hamilton Heights and Sheridan high schools," Nelson said.

Chamber Board Member Kevin Smith and his committee are organizing the ride with assistance from some very experienced riders.

Photo provided

"For 2021, given the construction on U.S. 31, the ride focuses on the three communities of Arcadia, Atlanta and Cicero, Indiana. After construction on U.S. 31 permits safe bicycle access across the highway (expected in 2022), future tour routes will expand to include Sheridan," Nelson told The Reporter. "The inaugural ride will offer a 28-mile and 50-mile routes, with a separate family ride of approximately five miles utilizing trails within Cicero."

All three ride routes begin and end at Cicero Christian Church, 1715 Stringtown Pike, Cicero, and have several Support and Gear (SAG) stops planned throughout the ride. According to Nelson, the Chamber welcomes sponsor organizations for the SAG stops and anyone interested should email jesy.ide@nhccc.org.

"The bike course, while almost exclusively on country roads, has a route designed to 1) take advantage of recently paved roads and 2) run through an amazing array of curves, small hills, shade and other interesting riding scenery – it's not all straight country roads!" Nelson said. See examples below.

The cost is $50 per rider on the day of the event, but only $40 if you register online by Aug. 1. The family ride is $10. Register at 4towntour.com.

The price for the 28-mile and 50-mile rides includes a souvenir T-shirt. Additional souvenir tees can be ordered at 4towntour.com.

"The ride concludes with a lunch back at the Cicero Christian Church, called the 4 Town Taste, which will feature items from our local area eateries," Nelson said. "You don't need to ride to eat – so invite family and friends to join the riders from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tickets are just $10 – riders that complete their tour of the sponsors' SAG stops eat free."

Riders will make stops at various HCH-network food pantries, such as Angels' Attic in Arcadia.

everybody has equal access to groceries and grocery stores the same as you. The reality is one in seven people across the county don't know where their next meal is coming from. We are out to change that.

HCH wants to provide a community where everyone has access to nutritious and healthy food. The organization see its job as being the support for the partners who work directly with the neighbors in need. HCH provides nonperishables, fresh locally grown vegetables throughout the growing season, and meat to pantries and programs who might need a helping hand. HCH also provides weekend back sacks for school-aged children who would go maybe the whole weekend without a meal. HCH make sure food pantries can address the need on a neighborhood level.

If you want to help beyond the one-time ticket, here are three quick ways you can help.

1. Use smile.amazon.com for your Amazon purchases and make Hamilton County Harvest Food Bank your charity of choice.
  2. Use your Kroger Community Rewards on your app and make Hamilton County Harvest Food Bank your designated charity.
  3. More directly, you can go to HCHFoodBank.org/online-giving to make a direct donation. It's a real bonus if you check the monthly donation box.
- All proceeds benefit the Hamilton County Harvest Food Bank, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit that supports over 40 food pantries and meal programs in neighborhoods all across Hamilton County with nonperishable food, fresh, locally grown produce, locally grown meat, and network support. Since 2009, HCH has given over 1 million meals into the Hamilton County food support network. HCH's goal is to "Work Together with YOU to Feed Hamilton County."

Kirk Green: HSE school board rule unfair regarding public’s right to raise concern

Editor’s note: The following are remarks sent by Kirk Green to members of the Hamilton Southeastern school board, Fishers Mayor Scott Fadness, State Rep. Todd Huston (R-Fishers), and others, including The Reporter.

Remarks for meeting 8/11/2021
I wish to address the board regarding public Participation at Board Meetings Code B05.07.

Due to many circumstances in an ever-changing world and environment, information and communication is crucial. It is important, as stated by our superintendent, transparency and communication are important.

The Fishers community is dissatisfied with many things taking place within our school system, especially from the Chief Diversity Officer.

The family’s concerns are not being addressed, and deserve to have communication, a voice, and to have answers.

In order to be able to address time critical items, the policy in which you are censoring the public by requiring at least a week’s notice AND only with the president’s approval falls outside the normal and fair boundaries in which government and even other school districts operate.

Many policies and provisions are being updated for good reason. This policy should be revisited and the constituents want it updated.

Please strike “about a scheduled public agenda item” from:

1. A person who desires to speak to the Board, about a scheduled public agenda item, must register before the start of the meeting. A registration sheet will be available at least thirty (30) minutes prior to the start of the meeting. Registration will close five (5) minutes before the scheduled start of the meeting. Required registration information will include the name of the person(s) providing the comments, the organization represented (if any), and the agenda item to be addressed.

Thank you.

Carmel brings back Music on the Monon at the Gazebo

See Blair Clark & the Classic Cats Saturday night

The REPORTER
The City of Carmel has brought back the popular Music on the Monon concerts at the Gazebo at Carmel City Hall. Last summer’s event was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Over time, this mid-summer series had been held along the Monon Greenway at Main Street, the Carmel Clay Historical Society and Carter Green. This year, due to construction, it has been moved to the Gazebo.

The series continues Saturday night with Blair Clark & the Classic Cats.

The concert is free and open to the public.

This year, the city will be welcoming Carmel Brews & Barrels Trail vendors Bier Brewery North and Sugar Creek Winery, along with All Things Carmel as vendors providing beverages (but not food) during the event.

Concert attendees are encouraged to bring their own chairs or blankets, and bike racks will be provided for guests that prefer to pedal and park. Bike racks will not be monitored, so guests should plan to bring a lock to secure their bicycle.

Visitors are encouraged to try one of the many fine dining choices in Carmel for pre-concert meals, bring your own picnic or grab carry-out from one of the nearby restaurants at Carmel City Center, Monon Square, Midtown or the Proscenium.

For visitors arriving by car, parking is available at City Hall, City Center and Veterans Way parking garages and other public parking areas. On-street parking is available where signed; please comply with all posted parking regulations.

Homeowners associations invited to learn more about native landscapes

The REPORTER
Across Central Indiana, homeowners associations (HOAs) spend hundreds of thousands of dollars maintaining detention ponds and grass common areas.

Often, the time, money and resources are wasted on land management that offers no benefit to wildlife, erosion control, aesthetics, or recreation for the community. Native landscapes can be a solution that provides more than they take.

To educate homeowners associations on the opportunities that native landscapes provide, the Zionsville Parks and Recreation Department, Indiana Native Plant Society, Hamilton County Urban Conservation Association, and Hamilton County Soil and Water Conservation District have teamed up to offer a free online presentation from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 12. The webinar will cover why an HOA would consider native landscapes to address issues like erosion, algae issues, nuisance wildlife conflicts, and costly turf-grass maintenance.

The associated benefits and how to prepare and implement native restoration projects will also be covered in addition to a case study showing how these projects can be successful.

Registration is required and space is limited. HOAs and other interested parties are encouraged to form watch parties where board members and residents can continue the conversation after the webinar is over.

COVID-19 cases in children are increasing as many return to school without a vaccine option.

The Indiana State Health Department (ISDH) reports 49 new student cases of coronavirus.

Across the country, nearly 72,000 children got it between July 22 and July 29; that's an 84 percent increase from 39,000 cases the week before.

"It's clear that this variant is capable of causing serious injury in children," said Dr. Francis Collins, director of the National Institutes of Health.

The American Academy of Pediatrics is responding to the numbers. The association is constantly looking at data from states and said the available data indicate that COVID-19 associated hospitalization and death is uncommon in children, as is severe illness.

The report goes onto say there is, however, an urgent need to collect more data on the longer-term impacts of the pandemic on children, including ways the virus may harm the long-term physical health of infected children, as well as its emotional and mental health effects.

Only children age 12 and older have a vaccine available to them, but the hope is a fully FDA-approved vaccine may accelerate the approval process for vaccines for kids under 12.

"When you have an EUA (Emergency Use Authorization) for the vaccine that then goes to full approval, that might have an influence on what goes on. We're collecting the data right now for what we need to make that determination," said Dr. Anthony Fauci, NIAID Director and Chief Medical Advisor to President Biden.

Since the start of the pandemic, nearly 4.2 million children have tested positive for COVID-19. That's less than 15 percent of the total cases. The surge in kid cases seen last week makes up 19 percent of total weekly cases.

Experts say that shows the fast-spreading Delta variant has put children especially at risk.

Register now to help clean up White River

The REPORTER

You can make a difference in your community and local water quality by removing trash from the White River.

The City of Carmel is encouraging corporate and community volunteers to register for the White River Cleanup scheduled for 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 13. After the cleanup, volunteers can celebrate their hard work by relaxing in an onsite shelter while listening to live music and enjoy complementary same-day general admission to Conner Prairie. Concessions will be available for purchase and volunteers will receive a free White River Cleanup T-shirt while supplies last.

Due to river conditions, pre-registration is required to participate and space is limited. Walk-up registration is not available this year and no personal watercraft should be brought to the event. Volunteers will sign in at Conner Prairie, board canoes or kayaks, and launch onto the river for a two- or six-mile cleanup. Volunteers should wear sturdy shoes, expect to get muddy, and there's always a possibility of getting drenched. Trash bags and gloves will be provided.

A $15 refundable deposit is required to reserve your space on a canoe or kayak. Follow the registration directions at whiterivercleanup.org.

This event is brought to

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Are we beginning to commend ourselves again? Or do we need, like some people, letters of recommendation to you or from you? You yourselves are our letter, written on our hearts, known and read by everyone. You show that you are a letter from Christ, the result of our ministry, written not with ink but with the Spirit of the living God, not on tablets of stone but on tablets of human hearts.

Such confidence we have through Christ before God. Not that we are competent in ourselves to claim anything for ourselves, but our competence comes from God. He has made us competent as ministers of a new covenant—not of the letter but of the Spirit; for the letter kills, but the Spirit gives life.

2 Corinthians 3:1-6 (NIV)

Check for unclaimed property during your visit at the State Fair

The REPORTER

The Office of the Attorney General will operate a booth this year at the Indiana State Fair as a means of connecting with constituents visiting from across the state.

"The Indiana State Fair is a cherished tradition among people of all ages," Indiana Attorney General Todd Rokita said. "It's also a great place for Hoosiers to interact with our staff, share their thoughts and learn about the various ways our office can serve them."

Much of the focus of the Attorney General's booth will be on helping Hoosiers find unclaimed property they might have available to them. On Friday, Aug. 13, in fact, the theme for the entire fair is "Indiana Unclaimed Day."

Using computer tablets, staff at the booth will help fairgoers search their names at IndianaUnclaimed.gov and help them understand the claims process for obtaining any money they find. Additionally, staff will hand out information to help consumers protect themselves from the most prevalent types of scams perpetrated by fraudsters trying to steal Hoosiers' identities and/or swindle them out of money. Staff also will provide copies of the Parents Bill of Rights. The fair runs from Friday, July 30, to Sunday, Aug. 22. The Attorney General's booth will be located in the Hoosier Lottery Expo Hall and will be staffed from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. each day. The fairgrounds will be closed for cleaning every Monday and Tuesday for the duration of the State Fair.

"Hoosiers attend the State Fair for many reasons," Rokita said. "Even if your priority is riding the Ferris wheel, grabbing an elephant ear or seeing the livestock, I hope you'll also take time to stop by our booth and say hi."

Shamrocks golf wins county meet

Reporter photos by Richie Hall

Hamilton Southeastern's Yanah Ralston (left) and University's Becky Williams were the co-medalists at Thursday's Hamilton County girls golf meet, which took place at Harbour Trees in Noblesville.

There was some history at Harbour Trees on Thursday, as the home golf club of the Noblesville Millers hosted the Hamilton County girls golf meet.

It was historic because for the first time, the girls meet was an 18-hole event, after several years as a nine-hole tournament. Noblesville coach Justin Werkley said that an 18-hole girls county meet had been in the works for several years, and finally happened on Thursday.

The team champion was a familiar one: Westfield triumphed with a team score of 295, marking its third tournament win in the past four days. Meanwhile, the individual medalist award became a co-medalist award, as Hamilton Southeastern's Yanah Ralston and University's Becky Williams shared first place.

Both golfers finished with rounds of one under par 70, so a playoff was initiated to break the tie. But after getting the same score on two holes, Ralston and Williams decided that was enough, and became co-champions.

"I played pretty good," said Ralston. "I only had two bogeys," in addition to a handful of birdies. "I played pretty decent," she said.

"I played okay," said Williams. "I definitely left a lot out there in the first 18, but I started with a double bogey, so to come back after that, I'm happy with how I played."

The No. 2-ranked Shamrocks, of course, have to be very happy with how they're playing. In its first four tournaments, Westfield's team score has been below 300 three times, and the fourth time was right at 300.

"They're all playing really great," said Shamrocks Trevor Neu. "I feel like they're playing for each other, which is what we want, ultimately. We want to go out there and battle and not give anything away, knowing that when we shoot good scores, our team score's going to be solid, if we're not giving too many strokes away."

Sam Brown tied for third individually with an even-par 71, one of four Shamrocks that placed in the top 10. Sophie McGinnis and Brette Hanavan both scored 74s, tying them for fifth place. Allie Hildebrand's 76 was good enough to tie her for 10th place.

After four tournaments in four days, Westfield will take a break today, then head to Prairie View Saturday afternoon for the State Preview Meet. It's been busy, but Neu likes it that way.

"It's really good for us to have this," said Neu. "We only get two days to practice and this is a really important week for us just to figure out who we are, where we stand up against everybody else in the state. Our county is probably the best county in the state for golf. It's important for us to have this week and have multiple tournaments this week."

Carmel, ranked No. 3 in the state, was the team runner-up with a total of 300. Ava Hedrick tied for third with her even-par 71, making birdies on three of her last four holes.

Michaela Headlee and Kamryn Williams both carded 76s to tie for 10th place. Headlee finished with five birdies, while Williams (in her first ever varsity tournament) played her last few holes one under par, including a long putt for a par save. Claire Swathwood scored a 77, making several birdies and par saves.

"The girls played great at a course that has handed us short game challenges and some big numbers in the past," said Carmel coach Kelly Kluesner. "I'm so proud of how well they all focused on their goals, bounced back from bogeys and some missed putts and finished strong."

Sixth-ranked Southeastern scored a 307 to place third as a team. After Ralston's co-medalist effort, Cora Zink Carmel's Kamryn Williams finished tied for 10th at the county meet, going one under par in her last few holes.

Classic tales from Peyton Manning’s high school football coach

By CHARLIE CLIFFORD WISH-TV

Tony Reginelli and Peyton Manning walked off the field in defeat.

The 1993 Louisiana Class 2A regional state playoffs marked the end of an era for Isidore Newman Greenies football and the start of one of the most remarkable journeys the sport will ever witness.

Coach Reginelli, the legendary New Orleans-area high school head football coach, was hanging it up after arriving on staff as an assistant coach in 1961.

The quarterback for Reginelli’s final crusade? Peyton Manning.

“Peyton (Manning) probably remembers every play,” Reginelli said. “He knew every coach, every team, every assistant, how long they’ve been there.”

“This is the type of survey he (Peyton) would do to find out what is best for Peyton Manning.”

Fast forward to July 2021 and the now 90-year-old Reginelli is on Face-time for an interview (with an assist from current Newman Head Coach Nelson Stewart), recalling all types of tiny details on the future Pro Football Hall of Famer.

Don’t you see, it’s the details that set Peyton Manning apart from the pack, even back then.

“When he came back a few months ago, he brought his kids back. I said, ‘Where is Peyton?’ Well, where was he?

He was working with his son throwing passes, sideline routes to his kids.”

One of the most memorable moments between Reginelli and Manning happened at the crack of dawn.

Fresh off a recruiting visit to the University of Florida, surrounded by a buzz that Peyton was following in the footsteps of his father Archie and older brother Cooper to Ole Miss, the promising class of 1994 quarterback made his call on college.

The only issue for Reginelli? He didn’t have any answers because that is the way he wanted it.

“I didn’t want to know because everybody would think I knew the inside,” Reginelli said. “I said, ‘no.’ He kept everything secret until 6 o’clock in the morning. He woke me up and said, ‘Everything is coming up orange!’ I said, ‘What, Peyton?’ He said, ‘Tennessee!’”

Before Manning walks to football’s most elusive stage on Sunday in Canton, Ohio, “Coach Reg” sends one last pump-up speech to his old quarterback.

“Congratulations, Peyton, the ultimate goal in your life. I know you planned everything, and you did everything that you could. We are so proud of you and your family. Just outstanding. I am grateful.”

The biggest smile Sunday may be watching on television down in New Orleans. After all, this is the first coach who knew this road only led to one place: The Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Long before he would become a Pro Football Hall of Famer, Peyton Manning got his start as the quarterback for Isidore Newman High School. Manning’s former high school coach, Tony Reginelli, spoke about the quarterback as he prepares for Sunday’s ceremonies.
