Shepherd Insurance makes $8,000 donation to Prevail

The REPORTER

Shepherd Insurance, Indiana's largest independent insurance provider, has announced a donation, in partnership with Westfield Insurance, to support the advocacy of Prevail, Inc.

Recently, representatives from Shepherd presented a grant in the amount of $8,000 to the Noblesville-based nonprofit organization that advocates for local victims of crime and abuse. Thanks to the generous support from Westfield Insurance, Prevail will be able to reach more victims in the community as part of the Westfield Legacy of Caring program.

Every year, Westfield Insurance partners with local independent agencies, such as Shepherd Insurance, to help friends and neighbors during their times of need. Westfield invests with local independent partners to help strengthen the communities in which they operate as part of the Westfield Insurance Foundation.

Patience, kindness and laughter

I have always wondered why 1 Corinthians 13:4 starts with "Love is patient and kind."

While Paul, the Apostle and writer to the Corinthians, may have never been married, he might have had a glimpse of married life through the marriages of those to whom he brought the Good News.

Patience and kindness go hand in hand. In marriage, it may go heart to heart.

Chuck and I might be old enough to be set in our ways. Maybe, just a bit.

I have a certain way I like my towels folded. It makes them look pretty, when stacked in the cabinet. Chuck says it's complicated.

Chuck thinks butter must be spread on the bread or bun of every sandwich. I ask why. His response: "Because it makes the sandwich taste better."

He learned to fold the towels – my way. I learned to always butter his bread. We keep it simple. We keep it kind.

When Chuck folded the towels in a different way than I did, I didn't tell him he was wrong. I kindly told him it wasn't the way it needed to be done. He laughed. "Yes, dear, I guess I have a lot to learn."

And so, did I.

I learned his "on time" is 10 minutes early, so I plan accordingly.

While I may not have learned to play golf, I have learned to love watching the tournaments with him. I have learned a new language. Eagle. Birdie. Bogey. D*#N Double Bogey. Mink Stole.

Mink Stole. It's when you hit a good drive. He calls it a mink stole because, it goes a "fur" piece. That's the humor I am blessed to live with.

We laugh – a lot.

Oh, and back to the butter. When we first married, he noticed the way I took the butter out of the tub. He called it strange. We were eating chips and salsa when he mentioned it. I laughed so hard the tears ran down my cheeks. There was no butter on the table, and he just randomly told me his thoughts.

Nonstop comedy landing in Carmel

By STU CLAMPITT

Carmel Community Players (CCP) is staging a classic comedy this month at the Cat, 254 Veterans Way, Carmel.

Boeing Boeing is a 1960's French comedy about a Parisian player named Bernard, who has Italian, German, and American fiancées. Each woman is an airline hostess with frequent layovers. Bernard keeps "one up, one down, and one pending" until unexpected schedule changes bring all three to Paris, and Bernard's apartment, at the same time.

Bernard is played by Kirk Donlan, who has only been in two previous plays, but has a strong acting background in the improv world.

"I spent a number of years doing improv comedy with a group called IndyProv and that was my gateway into theater," Donlan said. "I had some friends through improv who were also doing theater and I expressed some interest. A part had come up in a play through Carmel Community Players called this is my third play."

Donlan said he sees his character, Bernard, as someone who thinks he has a good thing going where he has multiple women in his life at the same time who don't know about each other because they are always traveling.

"He feels like he's living in the bachelor's paradise," Donlan said. "He thinks he has the

LAUGHTER

Much of what we say and do is random.

We get in the car and go for a Sunday evening drive. I say to him, “Have I told you lately?” No mention of love, just the question. He knows.

I tell him I’ll be ready in five minutes. He knows that means 15. I tell him my car has 58 miles to empty. He returns from the gas station and lets me know it was 28 miles to empty. I remind him that I was never good at math. He was a math/history teacher.

He asks me if I remember when John F. Kennedy was shot. I was in the second grade. I was home from school with the measles. I remember Walter Cronkite announcing it on the TV. Chuck was teaching at Belzer Junior High School. He remembers it being announced over the PA system.

So many ways in which we are different and yet, our hearts blend the differences well. We always try to add kindness and patience along with a little humor.

I wouldn’t change a thing about my husband. Well, except the way he takes the butter out of the tub. At least he spreads it with kindness and is patient with me as I take it out the right way.

Director Dan Scharbrough told The Reporter he saw the Broadway revival of Boeing Boeing in 2008 and just loved the show.

“It is right in the era of those late 50s and early 60s wacky zany comedies like Come Blow Your Horn with Lee J. Cobb and Frank Sinatra, That Touch of Mink with Doris Day and Cary Grant, Lover Come Back with Rock Hudson, Doris Day and Tony Randall,” Scharbrough said. “About 10 or 12 years ago Renée Zellweger made a film kind of in that style called Down With Love. It’s like those. It bounces around. It’s fast. It’s quick. It’s a little bit of Scharbrough has been on stage with CCP and directed elsewhere, but this is the first time he has directed with them.

The director said the biggest challenge in this production has been the short rehearsal schedule.

“Our first audition was July 26 and we open Sept. 10,” Scharbrough said. “That’s only six weeks, which is a good two to four weeks less than any other community theater show, but these actors have done a great job. They have really worked their tails off and it shows. If we had a set over at the Cat, we could probably open tonight, they’re doing that well.”

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn’t something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don’t often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we’re breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

New winter pavilion at Carter Green in Carmel

New stage, covered area will provide place for families, friends to enjoy entertainment, gather for meals, events during winter festivities

The REPORTER

The City of Carmel will begin construction this week on a new winter pavilion that will serve as a place for families, friends and visitors to Carter Green – during the winter ice-skating season and Carmel Christkindlmarkt – to gather for entertainment on a new stage or to enjoy a covered area for meals and events. The 34-by-70-foot open-air pavilion, designed by Forever Redwood, will be constructed on the east end of Carter Green, near the Monon Greenway, and will be built using recycled redwood timber. It will include seating and will hold about 100 people.

Construction is expected to begin on Tuesday, Sept. 7. The project will be completed just in time for the 2021 Christkindlmarkt, which opens Saturday, Nov. 20. The construction project will result in temporarily relocating a few of the vendors to the central part of Carter Green at the Carmel Farmers Market, its final three weekends (Sept. 11, 18 and 25).

Current plans call for the pavilion to stay up each November through March,

Rendering provided by City of Carmel

The winter pavilion – which will be set up on the east end of Carter Green near the Monon Greenway – will stay up each November to March. Then it will be disassembled and stored away for the remainder of the year.

at which time it will be disassembled and stored away for the next winter season. The new ground-level stage will remain in place permanently for concerts that will be featured throughout the spring, summer and fall seasons. City officials are investigating the feasibility of finding a location in one of Carmel's parks for the pavilion during the summer months to be used for parks programming or rentals.

The new pavilion and stage will result in the replacement of the current Rotary Amphitheater (which is below ground level) with a permanent stage above ground that will boost the visibility and listening ability for audiences during events such as Music on the Monon and the Carmel Farmer's Market.

"We truly appreciate the gift of Carmel Rotary for the Amphitheater, which has been a tradition for many years at Carter Green and served its purpose well," said Nancy Heck, Director of Community Relations and Economic Development, who is overseeing the project. "But as the crowd sizes have grown and new events have been added, we felt it was time to bring the stage level up to a point where more people could gather to enjoy musical offerings throughout the year."

The new winter pavilion will also be available for private rentals and special events during the winter festival season. There are also plans to offer enhanced holiday shows and entertainment during the Christkindlmarkt beginning this year.

Senator Todd Young thanks Hoosier workers ahead of Labor Day

The REPORTER

U.S. Senator Todd Young (R-Ind.) released the following statement Friday in advance of Labor Day on Monday, Sept. 6.

"Hoosier workers are Hoosier heroes. In the face of great challenges over the last year-and-a-half, they continue to create, adapt, and lift our economy. Because of the ingenuity and sweat of Indiana's working men and women, whether it be in the factory or on the farm, we lead the nation in manufacturing and agriculture. Today, we offer them thanks for both building Indiana and making it work, throughout the good times and the bad. I will continue to fight to provide opportunities for all Hoosiers seeking to feed their families and advance their careers. Have a safe and happy Labor Day."

Embracing uncertainties of this pandemic life

Editor's Note: The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School's 10th grade English class, taught by Abby Williams, who begins this year's series.

I am happy to be once again starting this year's series of student articles with one of my own. I feel a lot of gratitude that people want to read my students' stories and also years in education, I have never experienced anything so emotionally and mentally difficult, and that's with the benefit of an adult perspective. I know our kids that Jeff Jellison and the Reporter allow us to continue with the series.

Last school year was a challenge for everyone: students, teachers, school staff, and families. In my 18 struggled even more.

I've found that the reason the pandemic is so hard to deal with emotionally and mentally is due to all the uncertainty it brings about. At school, we're all in the same boat, meaning all the kids and all the adults, because of one thing: we never know what's going to happen next. Will I be quarantined? Will I get COVID? Will I miss football games? Will the school move to e-learning? Will I have to wear a mask? Will someone I care about be very sick or even die?

All this uncertainty, this unknown, is so hard! We, as humans, make our lives manageable by creating routines, so we know what to expect. Routines make us more comfortable. Research even shows that creating routines in classrooms help students feel safe and able to learn, especially students who have experienced trauma in their lives. So, when the pandemic takes away the things we have previously counted on, it's scary and draining!

What I've experimented with and found to be helpful in the face of this uncertainty is the idea of radical acceptance. Radical acceptance is the idea that a person accepts the moment or the situation as-is, acknowledges they can't control it, and just goes with it, without judging it. Many of us spend minutes or hours each day mulling over or playing out future scenarios, trying to imagine what tomorrow will bring and how we will encounter it when it comes. With radical acceptance, we can let go of all of that, and just know that the future will come, we can't control what will happen, and we will take what comes and deal with it the best way we can.

For me personally, this idea is helpful. I can't always maintain that attitude of radical acceptance, but when I can, I do feel a sense of relief, almost as if the weight of that worry is off of me. Another part of this to consider is, if a person stops spending those minutes or hours thinking about or worrying about the future, then those minutes or hours could open up for other, more relaxing or restorative activities. For me, this means I spend more time reading, gardening, and working out.

As we move forward into more uncertain times, I hope to accept what happens, knowing that I can't control the future. I also hope to make the best of it and enjoy each moment as it comes. For our students, I wish the same: that they can find ways to manage this stress, worry a bit less, and spend time doing things that make them feel a little better. I wish that for us all.

Rep. Spartz holds first hearing on reducing costs of healthcare

The REPORTER

Congresswoman Victoria Spartz (R-Ind.-05), Chairman Kevin Hern (R-Okla.-01) and Rep. Rick Allen (R-Ga.-12) this week held a Healthy Futures Task Force, Affordability Subcommittee hearing on empowering consumers and reducing the cost of healthcare.

"Government regulations and significant subsidies to large stakeholders have created a material monopoly/oligopoly problem across all sectors of health care market," Rep. Spartz said. "We have to introduce more value competition or accept full government takeover of health care, which will be fatal to quality and innovation."

"Americans have been demanding an answer to rising health care costs; today we took our first step towards a solution," Rep. Hern said. "It's going to take time, but we are committed to empowering patients and lowering the cost of healthcare."

"In order to make health care more affordable, Congress must identify why costs are rising and focus on policy solutions that encourage transparency and innovation, while ensuring the vast majority of every taxpayer dollar spent on health care goes directly toward helping patients," Rep. Allen said.

Witnesses at the hearing including the following individuals:

- Brian Blase, CEO of Blase Policy Strategies and senior research fellow at the Galen Institute and at the Foundation for Government Accountability – former special assistant to the president for economic policy at the White House's National Economic Council (NEC).

- Doug Holtz-Eakin, President of the American Action Forum – former CBO Director, Chief Economist of the President's Council of Economic Advisers (CEA).

1883 – Two children, Blanche and Orris Hiestand, discovered Marengo Cave in Crawford County. Legend has it that the two youngsters were playing in the woods when they noticed an opening at the bottom of a sink hole. After a short investigation, they reported what they had seen to the owner of the property. Cavern tours began later that year. The site is now a National Natural Landmark.

1901 – The Bears of Blue River was published by Charles Major of Shelbyville. The story is about a boy named Balser who lives with his family in a log cabin on the banks of the Big Blue River. He has many adventures as he encounters the dangers of frontier life. The book has become a classic in children's literature.

1940 – Auto pioneer Henry Ford came by special train to Rushville to meet with Republican presidential candidate Wendell Willkie. The two conferred at the Willkie home on Harrison Street. A few days later, Ford announced his support for the Hoosier lawyer, saying, "I am completely satisfied that he means to do exactly what he says and is competent to do it without evasion or excuse."

1971 – American Fletcher National Bank announced the installation of "cash machines" at five locations in Indianapolis. The forerunner of the modern "ATM," the device permitted customers to obtain either $25 or $50 in currency anytime, day or night. The company reported that patrons were very happy with the new method of banking.

2001 – Terrorists attacked the Twin Towers in New York City. Within 24 hours, Task Force One from Indianapolis was assisting at Ground Zero. The team, made up of firefighters, dog handlers, and paramedics, worked 12-hour shifts around the clock for 10 days.

2003 – Indiana Governor Frank O'Bannon suffered a stroke while attending a conference at the Palmer House Hotel in Chicago. He died five days later. Following a funeral at the Statehouse, he was buried at Cedar Hill Cemetery in his hometown of Corydon. He was the first governor to die in office since Alvin Hovey succumbed to illness in 1891.

AG Rokita takes further action meant to stop Biden administration's immigration policy

Submitted

As part of a 16-state coalition, Indiana Attorney General Todd Rokita is taking new steps to stop the Biden administration's so-called "interim guidance" on "civil immigration enforcement and removal priorities." The Biden policy drastically and intentionally curtails enforcement of immigration laws.

"Everyday Americans pay a steep price for President Joe Biden's abject weakness on illegal immigration," Rokita said. "His soft cod-dling of lawbreakers encourages illegal border crossings because these individuals know that if they get caught, and even if they commit violent crimes, they won't be deported."

Biden's interim guidance dramatically halts nearly all deportations and immigration-related arrests, including for those convicted of dangerous aggravated felonies. The coalition is asking the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals to deny the Biden administration's request for a stay pending appeal so that President Biden’s illegal refusal to enforce immigration laws will be halted while the administration’s appeal is ongoing.

In an amicus brief, the attorneys general detail how the interim guidance is fueling the border crisis and directly harming their states. The administration’s refusal to enforce immigration laws is creating enormous law enforcement expenses for the states and posing a serious public safety risk to citizens. U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) officers are averaging just one interior arrest every 2.5 months.

The interim guidance has also resulted in ICE lifting detainees on criminals who have completed their sentences. Instead of being deported, as required by law, they are released into communities, without any warning to the public, and put on community supervision funded by taxpayers. In Arizona, the crimes for which the Biden administration will no longer seek to deport violators include arson, armed robbery, misconduct involving weapons and aggravated DUI.

The interim guidance is in direct violation of federal law (8 U.S.C. § 1231), which mandates that ICE “shall” remove an alien who has received a final deportation order from the United States within 90 days. As recently confirmed this summer by the Supreme Court of the United States in a separate case (Johnson v. Guzman Chavez), “shall” means “must.”

Earlier this summer, Rokita led a 15-state coalition that successfully argued that President Biden acted unlawfully when he revoked the Trump administration’s successful policy requiring migrants coming across the southern border to remain in Mexico while awaiting U.S. asylum hearings.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

We do not dare to classify or compare ourselves with some who commend themselves. When they measure themselves by themselves and compare themselves with themselves, they are not wise. We, however, will not boast beyond proper limits, but will confine our boasting to the sphere of service God himself has assigned to us, a sphere that also includes you. We are not going too far in our boasting, as would be the case if we had not come to you, for we did get as far as you with the gospel of Christ. Neither do we go beyond our limits by boasting of work done by others. Our hope is that, as your faith continues to grow, our sphere of activity among you will greatly expand, so that we can preach the gospel in the regions beyond you. For we do not want to boast about work already done in someone else's territory. But, "Let the one who boasts boast in the Lord." For it is not the one who commends himself who is approved, but the one whom the Lord commends.

F.C. Tucker, Front Porch Real Estate join forces

The REPORTER

Front Porch Real Estate is joining forces with The F.C. Tucker Company, Indiana's largest independent real estate firm.

Established in 2014 by former F.C. Tucker real estate agent Jim Perry, Front Porch has 190 agents working out of five offices – four offices in Indianapolis and one in Paoli, Ind., with annual sales in excess of $348 million.

"When I created Front Porch Real Estate, I wanted to provide the highest level of support possible to my agents to assist them in delivering superior service to their own clients," Perry said. "When I decided to step back from ownership, F.C. Tucker was the clear choice. There's no other brokerage I would entrust my business to. Tucker truly cares about its agents and staff – just as I do – and they have the resources, technology and support of a larger brokerage to help agents serve their clients at the highest level possible."

All of Front Porch's offices will remain open during a transition period. Following the transition period, agents will become part of metro-area F.C. Tucker offices. The Front Porch brand will transition to F.C. Tucker. Perry will join the management team at F.C. Tucker Company.

The addition of Front Porch propels F.C. Tucker's market share over 20 percent.

"I have known Jim Perry for many years as a knowledgeable and savvy professional who has built an impressive real estate business," said F.C. Tucker CEO Jim Litten. "When we first started talking about the possibility of joining forces, it quickly became obvious this is a natural fit for both sets of agents, and a move that complements our ongoing growth strategy."

Guerin Catholic boys stay perfect in CCC play

The Guerin Catholic boys soccer team took care of business on a rainy Saturday afternoon, beating Circle City Conference rival Bishop Chatard 3-0 in the second game of a girls-boys doubleheader.

The conference showdown was important for two reasons. First, it kept Class 2A No. 1 Guerin Catholic unbeaten in CCC play; the Golden Eagles have already beaten Heritage Christian and Brebeuf Jesuit in conference competition.

"We've got some internal benchmarks that we're still trying to hit, but as far as what our record is in conference, we're happy with that," said GC coach Chris McGrath. "We've got two games left against Covenant (Christian) and Roncalli, so we're looking forward to those."

The second reason was that the game was a bounce-back win for the Golden Eagles. Guerin played at 3A No. 1 Noblesville on Thursday and lost 5-1. McGrath said he was "happy to see that the guys had some resilience and were able to come out and do what they needed to do today."

Three different players scored goals for Guerin Catholic: Aiden Soucie, Brooks Ellery and Evan Miller.

The Golden Eagles are 4-1 overall and continue conference play Tuesday at Roncalli.

Hoosier Crossroads Conference game.

Charlie Stump poured in four goals for the Tigers, with Keiji Nakamae scoring two and Anders Carbano adding one goal. Noah Reinhart handed out four assists, with Andrew Marslender, Nakamae and Stump all dishing out one. Tyler March earned his fifth shutout of the season.

Fishers is 3-0-1 in conference play and 5-0-1 overall.

GIRLS GAMES

The Noblesville girls soccer team made two trips to North Central this weekend and came home with two victories.

The Class 3A No. 1 Millers first beat 2A No. 6 Park Tudor 4-1 in a Friday night contest. Kiana Siefert scored two goals for Noblesville, with Ava Bramblett and Makenna Maloy each adding one goal. Isabella Griffey made one assist.

The Millers then defeated the host, 3A No. 7 Panthers 3-0 on Saturday afternoon. Noblesville is 6-0 for the season and plays a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game Wednesday at Westfield.

Carmel, rated No. 2 in 3A, took on two high-profile teams during the weekend at the Zionsville Invitational.

In a Friday night game, the Greyhounds lost to Notre Dame Academy (Parks Hill, Ky.) 1-0. Goalkeepers Aubree Empie and Bethany Ducat both made several saves to keep the talented NDA team at one goal.

Carmel rebounded on Saturday to beat 2A No. 1 Evansville Memorial 3-1. The Greyhounds are now 6-1-1 for the season and play at Lawrence North Tuesday in a Metropolitan Conference game.
