Regardless of what Hometown Weatherman Paul Poteet may have in store for us later this month, if you are dreaming of a white Christmas, Main Street Productions has you covered. The timeless musical classic White Christmas is hitting the stage from Dec. 9 through 19 at Westfield Playhouse, 220 N. Union St., for just eight shows, all of which are selling out fast.

The Reporter spoke to Director Andrea Odle about the years-long road to bring this show to local audiences.

"This was scheduled to be up in 2020," Odle told The Reporter. "I submitted this show to the board almost two and a half years ago. Everything got put on hold for COVID, but now it's back, so it's good!"

When asked why she wanted to direct this show, she said it's all about the name.

"Honestly it is the name," Odle said. "It's a big draw and in a brand-new building it's fantastic. It is probably my favorite Christmas movie of all time.

The fact that I can take my favorite Christmas movie and put it on stage is kind of magical."

Mr. Purvis' prayer

I stood there that day, that final day in my classroom at the end of my career, and I read aloud to the silence Emily's soliloquy from Thornton Wilder's Our Town, and I prayed for each and every student I had ever taught:

I prayed that they would always look at the ones they love that they would never take them for granted.

I prayed that they would notice and love all the little things, clocks ticking, the smell of new clothes, flowers, a child's laughter, a light rain touching an upturned face, a full moon in the black sky.

I prayed that they would understand how wonderful is life each and every moment as they lived life.

I prayed that they be saints! That they be poets!

I turned out the lights ... one last time. I closed the door ... one last time. I walked down the hall ... one last time.

It was 1996 and these are the words from the essay of Mr. David Purvis, my teacher, my mentor, and most of all ... my friend.

And so, a few days ago, I, along with my childhood friend, Susan Zinn Crandall, made our way west, a few miles, to the home of David and his wife Judi. We were on a mission to thank the teacher who had impacted our lives and our writing careers.

It was an afternoon of embracing the gift of time well spent. The mutual laughter of friends. The sweetness of Judi Purvis' pumpkin chiffon pie. The nonstop "remember when?" The hugs your heart feels when you know you are in the company of such caring souls. These are the moments we will remember for the rest of our lives. Moments that tell us just how wonderful life is.

It had been since 1974 that we had seen him. It had been even longer since we had sat in his classroom.

What began as an English/Literature class at Noblesville Junior High School in the late 1960s continued as he followed the Class of 1974 into high school.

And for the next 50-some years we would still hear his teaching voice.

Carmel named best place to retire in United States by Money Magazine

Submitted / Money.com

Editor's note: The following is a portion of a report published on Money.com of the Top 10 places to retire in the United States. Carmel earned the No. 1 spot on the list. Read the details below.

Don't let its picturesque Main Street and affordable housing fool you. Though Carmel may seem like just another quaint suburb of Indianapolis, this year's winner is bustling with activity and culture in its own right.

The town is home to its own orchestra, several art councils and theater troupes, a Center for Performing Arts and a number of museums. The Museum of Miniature Houses is a particularly unique one. Featuring over 1,000 to-scale miniature (and historically correct) homes, the museum has welcomed more than 100,000 visitors since its opening nearly 30 years ago. You can even take part in a three-level scavenger hunt while you're there.

Carmel also plays host to a year-round slate of events, including regular farmers markets, an annual German Christkindmarkt, and festivals for art, coffee, beer and more.

The city is a pioneer in road safety: It has been replacing traditional intersections with safer roundabout versions for years (there are now 140 and counting), and it's known as the Roundabout Capital of the U.S.

Carmel also boasts plenty of shopping in its Arts & Design District. To keep fit, walk or bike the 25-mile Monon Trail, explore the lush Coxhall Gardens park, or head to the city's fitness center, which has several pools, group fitness classes, cardio equipment and even a full-scale water park.

Caldwell running for Noblesville Township Trustee

Submitted

My name is Theresa Caldwell, and I am excited to announce my candidacy for the position of Noblesville Township Trustee. I currently serve as the Deputy Trustee and have been a part of the team in the Trustee’s Office since 2003.

During my 18 years in the office, I have been a part of all the responsibilities placed upon the Trustee and their staff. I have had the pleasure of collaborating with the Township Board members during my time in the office. Additionally, I have worked directly with the Indiana State Board of Accounts to ensure we follow strict guidelines administered by the State of Indiana.

I have had the pleasure to work with two different Trustees and witness programs both started to benefit those in need in our local community. If elected, I would like to continue partnerships with groups like Tri Kappa Sorority, the Noblesville Boys & Girls Club, Noblesville Parks, Harvest Food Bank, and many other the community. I would also like to focus on the continuation of programs designed to bring assistance to those suffering from mental illness and homelessness.

I am a 20-year resident of Noblesville. My husband Trent Caldwell is a lifelong resident of Noblesville, and our daughter Taylor is a 2021 Noblesville High School graduate and currently attends Hanover College. I am a 1992 graduate of Purdue University with a Bachelor of Science in Child Development and Family Studies.

Thank you for your consideration in the May 2022 primary.

Odle does not subscribe to the modern view that Die Hard is a Christmas movie, though she was willing to concede that Gremlins is.

This is Odle’s fifth time directing in a stage career than spans decades.

“My first show? I was on stage when I was three and I haven’t stopped,” Odle said. “I have three kids, so when they were really little, I stopped for a little bit to be mom, but I think I’ve hit 60 shows. I lost count in the 50s, but I think I am at about 60 shows.”

For this show, she said she has the best choreographer she has ever worked with, and a huge cast.

“We have a cast of 21 and we have a crew of 15,” Odle said. “It is a lot. It is like herding cats a little bit, but honestly, I have an AD (Assistant Director) who keeps track of everyone, which is nice. My stage manager has been doing this for probably longer than I have. She herds all the cats backstage and I herd them all up front, so it’s good.”

According to Odle, in musical theater in Indianapolis it is often a challenge to cast male roles. For this show it’s not usually a problem because everybody wants to be Bob Wallace and Phil Davis, played by Bing Crosby and Danny Kaye in the 1954 movie. Odle said the casting was hard given the pandemic, but she is exceptionally pleased with everyone involved in this production.

“The cast has been together for a long time and a couple of the crew have been here, but as a whole they were together for the first time as a crew for rehearsal Monday night [Nov. 30] and they were rock stars,” Odle told The Reporter. “It was uninterrupted; it was beautiful. Our gentleman who is doing mics upstairs – this is his first time ever and he’s doing 21 actors on mics. It is a big job and he is just amazing.”

The cast has been rehearsing in masks until just last week, and they will be unmasked on stage. Due to COVID-19 protocols, the audience will have to wear masks during the entire performance.

The show is playing four nights each week for only two weeks. Thursday, Friday and Saturday shows are at 7:30 p.m. and both Sunday shows are at 2:30 p.m.

The playhouse has 165 seats and shows are selling out fast, so get your tickets right now at westfieldplayhouse.org/showstickets or by calling (317) 402-3341.

A voice that taught us words that would accessorize our writings. Susan, with her fiction novels that include best sellers Whistling Past the Graveyard and The Myth of Perpetual Summer. Me, with my non-fiction and weekly column in The Hamilton County Reporter.

His voice told us it was okay to think for ourselves. He taught us to capture our reader’s mind with hooks and to bring characters into a scene with pomp and circumstance or a quiet whisper so that the reader would feel the same emotions as our characters.

We would learn that our words are important and that a really good writer would leave the reader wanting more pages to turn.

Lessons taught that would help us create stories and characters that readers would embrace as part of their lives for a few chapters. Characters that the reader would feel abandoned them at the end of a story or book.

Metaphors. Pontification. Innuendos. Words that affirm a belief. Words written from the heart. Words, when written, beckon the heart to stay longer or run for dear life.

Mr. Purvis taught us the power of a story. He brought classical fiction to life. Why did characters think the way they did? Why did the writer say what he or she said? He invited us to think for ourselves. That, my dear friends, is a gift that keeps on giving.

Susan and I may not ever be called saints or even poets, but we just might be called writers and authors. And if we are? We have to thank, in part, our beloved teacher and friend, Mr. David Purvis.

David, you made a difference in our lives and the lives of so many other students who were blessed to call you ... Mr. Purvis. You made us think. You made us respond. You made us grow.

And now, 25 years after you prayed that prayer and turned out the lights in your classroom at Noblesville High School, Mr. Purvis, perhaps you realize ... your prayers were answered.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn’t something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don’t often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we’re breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

Central Indiana Orthopedics surgeons perform over 1,000 Mako robotic hip, knee replacements

The REPORTER

Central Indiana Orthopedics (CIO), a leader in providing state-of-the-art and personalized care to patients in Central Indiana, recently performed its 1,000th Mako SmartRobotics surgical case for hip and knee replacement. Continuing a history of innovation, CIO was the first orthopedic practice in the Central Indiana region to utilize Mako SmartRobotics technology.

Dr. Jamie Kay, CIO Joint Replacement Surgeon, performed CIO's 1,000th Mako surgery at Ascension St. Vincent Anderson Hospital.

"I'm proud and excited to perform the 1,000th Mako SmartRobotics surgery for Central Indiana Orthopedics," Dr. Kay said. "Being a Mako patient myself, it's humbling to be able to offer the same pain relief to my patients that I experienced after I had my knee replacement with Mako technology. Getting patients back to doing what they love is the ultimate goal."

Mako SmartRobotics is an innovative surgical solution for many suffering from painful arthritis of the knee or hip, and it enables patients to have a more predictable experience when undergoing joint replacement surgery. Before surgery, Mako uses a 3D CT-based planning software so the surgeon can know more about a patient's anatomy to create a personalized joint replacement surgical plan. During surgery, Mako's AccuStop technology guides the surgeon to cut precisely what is planned to help protect the patient's healthy bone. Together, this allows for more precise placement of the implant, enabling better post-surgical movement and flexibility.

"The angle of your tibia and my tibia may be different, so there has to be a very high degree of being able to individualize what we do," said Dr. David Graybill, CIO Hip, Knee and Joint Replacement and Revision Surgeon. "With the Mako technology, we get within 1mm of where we want to be – this type of technology is helping bring us to where we need to be."

"Mako technology allows me to have a more precise preoperative plan coming in, utilizing CT scan and during surgery gives me more data to make sure I'm putting the implants in a proper position in a more precise manner," said Dr. Brent Damer, CIO Hip,

Knee and Joint Replacement and Revision Surgeon. "It also helps improve outcomes afterward with less pain and quicker recovery."

With Mako technology, patients experience less pain and a quicker recovery than traditional joint replacements, along with reduced risk of surgical complications. The procedure can even be done as an outpatient surgery, which allows patients to avoid lengthy hospital stays and recover at home. Individuals who require a partial or total knee replacement or total hip replacement would be good candidates for Mako robotic-assisted surgery.

For over 70 years, CIO has been delivering expert, personalized care to residents of Anderson, Fishers, Marion, Muncie, Indianapolis, and surrounding areas. CIO's joint replacement surgeons utilize Mako robotic technology in CIO's outpatient surgery centers in Fishers and Muncie, and at Ascension St. Vincent Fishers and Ascension St. Vincent Anderson as the orthopedic surgeons of those two hospitals.

Battling high school fatigue

Editor's Note:

The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School's 10th grade English class, taught by Abby Williams.

"What do you want to be when you grow up?"

"Why do your grades look like that?" "I was expecting better."

When you look at kids today, and all the expectations we're put under, you might never imagine the person behind it all. At such a young age we're always asked what we want to be when we grow up. It was always such a fragile topic, from a ballerina to a doctor, or even an astronaut. All I knew growing up is I wanted people to be proud of me, and not look at me as a stereotypical woman. I wanted to be successful so no one could comment on who I was, or who I was to become.

At earlier stages in life, I was so excited, I was optimistic even. Now all I can think about is when do I have to turn this paper in, and if I'm not using a class for a prerequisite for my career, then why should it matter? I think to myself: This essay is due next week, but these pages of math and chemistry are due tomorrow, and I still don't understand it. What happened to "high school is supposed to be fun"?

As a student, I have put school first my whole life. I have worried about school and my future my whole student career. I have never put my sports, interests, or social life first because school has always taught me that these things don't matter compared to what happens in the classroom. I have always kept myself so busy trying to balance school with the things I love most, to the point where I don't enjoy what I used to, and I don't want to do it anymore.

KAITLYN SEBASTIAN
Sheridan High School Student

School has not taught me how to be a happy successful person, but rather be a procrastinator or someone who rushes their work just for a slight break. My whole life growing up I have heard, "You're so smart," and "I am so proud of you." Frankly, that has always been a motivator to me. Not anymore. I am trying my best to pull myself out of this dark hole. I am trying my best, but is it even good enough?

I know of other students who feel this way. I am not alone. When receiving an education, you should never feel ignorant or disrespected, but instead you should look forward to going to school and learning about what you are passionate about. I have always worked so hard for my goals. I have always strived for amazing grades, sports, theatre, choir, and even a job so I can get ready to pay for college and a car when I can. I have always loved being independent and being someone that I could be proud of.

School is not the only problem for kids today. Some students don't have a great support system at home and don't feel comfortable or have supportive relationships at school. Some students have mental illnesses that hold them back and fight them each and every day.

This is not meant to disregard all that our school systems do for us or to disrespect our teachers. Their jobs aren't easy because some students don't put in the effort or give a minute of their day to the adults who do try to help us. This is not meant to say school isn't needed or it is pointless.

But, I am here to say: Be patient with us kids. Try and understand our point of view, and everything we have to do to become happy with ourselves and have the people around us happy. I am aiming to say that students are fighting for a break because sometimes we simply cannot keep up with the busy lives we live.

Teenage years are confusing and stressful, but from one student voice to a majority of people reading this, we really are trying.

Small-town Christmas, big holiday spirit

Reporter photos by Stu Clampitt
While Atlanta had to move its tree lighting ceremony from Sunday to Saturday to avoid Paul Poteet's rainy forecast, the schedule change did nothing to decrease the crowds. Starting at 6 p.m. at the Dolles Park Plaza beside the Gazebo, there was singing, fellowship, food, fire pits and a fun, festive atmosphere. The tree was lit and all seemed right with the world in small-town America.

Santa was all over Hamilton County Saturday, but The Reporter's camera finally caught up with him at our last stop of the evening in Atlanta. He met kids and heard their Christmas wishes in the gazebo Saturday night. Atlanta residents Cadence and Dylan Sandberg were some of the first in line to get a few minutes with the man, the myth, the elf himself.

Hamilton County Bicentennial Commission’s spotlight on Clay Township

Submitted by the Hamilton County Bicentennial Commission

During the Hamilton County Bicentennial in 2023, we plan to focus on one township during each month of the year (with some extra fun stuff in other months – see the timeline here). We are kicking off a blog series highlighting each of our townships in the county. This serves as a way for you to get to know the township representatives and get more connected with the other areas in the county.

On our social media (you can see our Facebook here) we have been highlighting different townships in alphabetical order on Saturdays. So, we will highlight our townships in alphabetical order on the blog! Let's get started.

Today we will be putting the spotlight on Clay Township, located in the southwest corner of Hamilton County. Carmel is in Clay Township and takes up a majority of the geographic area.

Some of the highlights from history for Clay Township include:

- The Monon Railroad (and therefore the Monon Trail!) coming through Carmel

- The name change from Bethlehem (which came from Quaker settlers) to Carmel
- The huge rise in population and growth in the later 20th and early 21st century

Gangstad

Of course, it's impossible to summarize a community's history in this small format! If you want to know more (or if you have more you want to add), check out the Our Book page. Soon, you'll be able to pre-order a copy of our book that will go into more detail about each township, including Clay.

The Bicentennial Commission has members from each of the nine townships to help celebrate and commemorate the history of the county. The representative for Clay Township is Deborah Clark Gangstad. She's the executive director of the Carmel Historical Society and has lived in Carmel for over 65 years. Deborah spent 28 years as a teacher in Carmel. She also has been a member of Tri Kappa for 40 years.

Deborah has been busy making plans alongside the Carmel Historical Society. Some of her ideas include:

- Using the opening of the new Carmel

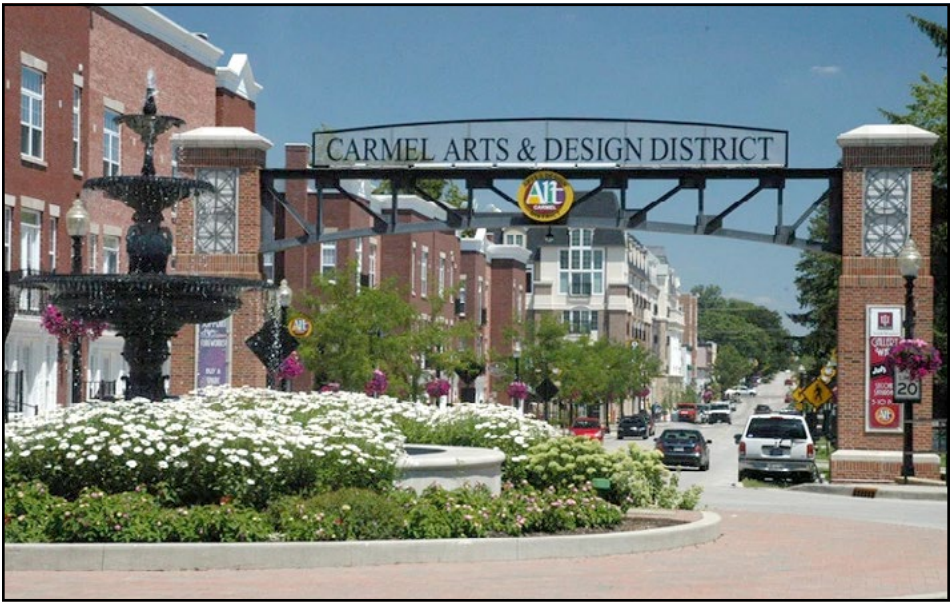

Photo provided

Historical Society museum building as a chance to highlight the Bicentennial.

- A woodwind concert with musical selections from throughout history
- Collaborating with Carmel Clay schools for a district-wide history project

If this list excites you (it should!) and you live in Clay Township and you want to get involved, you can contact Deborah at dgangstad@gmail.com. If you live outside Clay Township but this list inspires you to think about projects for your township, then contact us at info@hamcoturns200.com or call us at (317) 674-3150.

We know Deborah and the other township representatives are excited to get involved in the planning process. We hope you are too!

More than $330,000 available in winter energy bill assistance for Duke Energy customers

The REPORTER

Duke Energy Indiana has dedicated more than $330,000 in financial assistance to customers who are struggling to pay their electric bills this winter. The funds come from Duke Energy contributions and customer and employee donations.

“Winters can cause financial strain for some of our customers, and for years we’ve dedicated funds to help those in need,” said Duke Energy Indiana President Stan Pinegar. “We encourage customers with financial challenges to reach out to their local community action agency to take advantage of these energy assistance dollars as we head into the colder months.”

Duke Energy works in partnership with the Indiana Community Action Association and the Indiana Housing and Community Development Authority’s

Energy Assistance Program to distribute the company’s assistance funds. Qualifying Duke Energy customers who may be struggling to pay their electricity bills can receive up to a $300 credit annually on their account. Due to high demand, customers should first check with their local community action agency to make sure there are still funds available locally.

“As the temperatures drop, we are thankful to partner with Duke Energy to provide financial relief to Hoosiers who may be experiencing economic hardship,” said Indiana Community Action Association Executive Director Ed Gerardot. “We encourage families who are worried about keeping the lights on this winter to reach out for help to manage their bills and maintain service.”

The financial assistance is made possible through Duke Energy’s Share the Light Fund, formerly known as Helping Hand, which brings together customers and communities to help individuals and families struggling to pay their energy bills. Over the last five years, Duke Energy has contributed more than $3.5 million in energy assistance funds to its Indiana customers. ### Energy-saving tips for winter

- Reduce your thermostat to the lowest comfortable setting when home and bump the thermostat down a degree or two when leaving home.

- One of the easiest things customers can do to support heating efficiency is to change air filters regularly. A dirty air filter makes a heating system work harder, which uses more energy.

- Leave drapes or blinds open during sunny winter days to allow the sun’s rays to warm the house, but close them at night to help insulate your home.

For more information on how to cut costs and stay warm this winter, visit duke-energy.com/home-savings/winter-heating-energy-savings. Duke Energy also offers energy efficiency products, services, and information to help customers save energy and money. For more information, visit duke-energy.com.

U.S. Senate passes Sen. Young’s fourth annual Stomach Cancer Awareness Month resolution

The REPORTER

On Wednesday, the Senate passed U.S. Senator Todd Young’s (R-Ind.) bipartisan resolution marking November 2021 as Stomach Cancer Awareness Month. The annual resolution was first introduced in 2018 in memory of Indianapolis Star reporter and columnist Matthew Tully, who lost his battle to stomach cancer that year.

The resolution was co-sponsored by Senators Mike Braun (R-Ind.) and Ben Cardin (D-Md.) and passed the Senate unanimously.

Stomach cancer is the fifth most common type of cancer worldwide and one of the most difficult to detect in its early stages. The resolution expresses support for more education of patients and health care providers and more research into early diagnosis, screening, and treatment.

“This resolution was first introduced after the loss of Hoosier columnist Matthew Tully, and four years later, it is just as important to continue bringing awareness to this disease that has impacted so many Americans,” Sen. Young said. “The goal is to bring awareness to stomach cancer so that we can detect and treat it sooner and save more lives.”

INDOT reminds public to reinforce mailboxes before winter weather arrives

The REPORTER

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) is urging residents along state roads and U.S. highways to prepare their mailboxes prior to the start of winter weather.

Snow and ice removal is INDOT's top priority during winter months. While the agency's yellow plow trucks generally travel slower than the posted speed limit and drivers are careful to avoid mailboxes, the weight of snow thrown from plows can cause damage to mailboxes that are not properly secured or have weak supports.

Property owners are responsible for installing and maintaining mailboxes on state rights-of-way. To mitigate possible damage, INDOT recommends placing a mailbox as far from the edge of the roadway as a mail carrier can reach.

By placing a mailbox as far from the edge of the roadway as a mail carrier can reach and mounting the mailbox on a sturdy support, it should withstand the force of snow thrown from a plow.

Clearing snow from the access area near a mailbox can ensure safer delivery of mail and reduce the amount of snow coming off a plow.

Below are tips to help reduce the risk of mailbox damage:

- Place a six to eight-inch piece of reflective tape on the mailbox to help it be seen at night.
- Remove snow from around your mailbox, but avoid throwing snow back onto the roadway.
- Inspect your mailbox. Make sure it is firmly supported in the ground and make sure it is securely mounted to the post. Check for deteriorated/rusted posts and/or mounts.
- Avoid plastic mailboxes if possible. Some tend to shatter in cold temperatures.
- If your mailbox is continually damaged or knocked down, consider changing the location, even if just by a few feet.

Who was Indiana's first governor?

The REPORTER

1816 – On Dec. 11, President James Madison signed a Congressional resolution admitting Indiana to the Union as the 19th state. The new state government would be centered in the capital city of Corydon. Jonathan Jennings was elected to be the state's first governor.

1859 – The Indiana General Assembly passed legislation which created Newton County in the northwestern area of the state. Named for John Newton, a Revolutionary War soldier, it was the last county established in the Hoosier State, making it the 92nd county. The city of Kentland was designated to serve as the county seat of government.

1915 – The Hoosier Poet, James Whitcomb Riley, boarded a train to travel to Miami, Fla., where he planned to spend the winter. Newspapers reported that "Indiana's wintry blasts are too much for him these days, now that his health is not what it was." Many of his friends gathered at his Indianapolis home on Lock-erbie Street to see him off.

1933 – Elmer Layden was appointed the new football coach at the University of Notre Dame. A decade earlier he had been the full-back in the famous "Four Horsemen of Notre Dame" who had played for legendary coach Knute Rockne. His hiring was the result of a shakeup of the coaching staff after a disappointing past season. Newspapers reported Layden's salary to be $10,000.

1941 – Japanese planes attacked the United States base in Hawaii. This "day of infamy" led to the United States entry into World War II. Hoosiers responded by going into uniform, buying war bonds, going to work in factories, and using ration books to conserve food and fuels. More than 400,000 people from Indiana served in the war. Over 11,000 were killed. Their names are inscribed on stone and bronze tablets on courthouse squares all around the state.

1954 – Santa Claus began his annual visits to the Hoosier State. Always an "early adopter," he sometimes left his sleigh at the North Pole and arrived by helicopter. That's how he came to Beech Grove, where he landed at 5th and Main with a gift for every child. As he flew over, he dropped balloons from the sky, each tagged with a card good for a special prize.

Carmel-based travel insurer introduces customizable domestic travel insurance plan

Seven Corners launches Get Away USA, a trip cancellation, interruption plan

The REPORTER

Seven Corners, a leading travel insurance and specialty benefits management company, has launched a new plan to aid customers who are traveling domestically. The plan, Get Away USA, starts with a domestic trip cancellation and interruption base plan and offers customers the ability to add a variety of options to design a coverage plan best suited to travelers' individual needs.

"As COVID-19 guidelines continue to be a factor in everyday life, Seven Corners remains committed to our customers and their travel needs," said Seven Corners President Jeremy Murchland. "Travel insurance is typically one-size-fits-all, but with COVID-19 being so unpredictable, we feel users should have access to a truly customizable trip protection plan. We want them to feel a sense of control over their insurance, despite other aspects of travel constantly changing. By creating Get Away USA, we hope customers can feel safe and comfortable as they begin to travel again."

Add-ons to the base plan include both individual options and bundles. Those who opt for the air travel bundle receive coverage for trip delay, baggage and personal effects, baggage delay and specially selected travel inconveniences. The baggage bundle includes coverage for your baggage and personal effects and baggage delay. The medical bundle provides coverage for emergency accident and medical expense, emergency dental expense, and emergency medical evacuation and repatriation of remains. Additional add-on options include coverage for Cancel for Any Reason (CFAR), Interruption for Any Reason (IFAR), rental car damage, sports equipment rental, and event ticket registration fee protection.

Seven Corners added the travel inconvenience benefits based on a survey of domestic travelers where 64 percent of respondents saw value in receiving a $150 payment for inconveniences like flight diversion and missing work. Flight diversion applies if the traveler's flight arrives at a different airport than the original ticketed destination. The missing work benefit pays $150 if the airline causes a traveler's arrival at their return destination to be delayed two or more days, which, in turn causes a traveler to miss work.

"Throughout our 25 years of equipping customers with travel protection, we've always been focused on the customer's experience," Murchland added. "Our 24/SEVEN customer service guarantee means that your experience is our priority. Get Away USA is yet another facet of that promise, as it allows customers to tailor their travel insurance to their needs. Customers also have 24/7 access to travel insurance professionals throughout the purchase process and on your trip. Even our claims process was created with customers in mind. At Seven Corners, our promise of customer service doesn't end just because your trip does."

Get Away USA is available now for domestic travelers and can be purchased

Indy airport celebrates inaugural first-ever flight to Key West, Fla.

Key West marks 22nd nonstop flight launched in 2021

Indianapolis Airport Authority Executive Director Mario Rodriguez commented on Allegiant Air's inaugural first-ever seasonal nonstop flight to Key West out of Indianapolis.

"As of this week, and for the first-time ever out of Indy, Hoosiers can easily travel to the Florida Keys and enjoy its iconic emerald waters, sandy beaches and local artists, history and culture," Rodriguez said.

Wednesday's flight marked the 22nd nonstop flight to launch in 2021 and comes on the heels of Allegiant's new nonstop from Indy to Palm Springs that launched on Nov. 18, expanding the Indy airport's connectivity across the Western United States.

Allegiant also currently offers nonstop flights out of Indianapolis to Austin, Boston, Las Vegas and Palm Springs, as well as the Florida cities of Ft. Lauderdale, West Palm Beach, Orlando, Punta Gorda, Sarasota/Bradenton, and St. Petersburg.

In addition to the Allegiant destinations, Hoosiers can also access nonstop flights to several other prominent Florida cities, such as Miami (American Airlines), Orlando (Frontier Airlines, Spirit Airlines, Southwest Airlines and United Airlines), Ft. Lauderdale (Southwest and Spirit), Ft. Myers (Frontier, Southwest, Spirit and United), Pensacola (Spirit), Sarasota/Bradenton (Southwest) and Tampa (Southwest and Spirit).

Rodriguez says the operations base Allegiant established at the Indy airport in 2018 has been advantageous, allowing the airline to be more agile during pandemic recovery with their route schedule and flight frequency.

The new route will operate twice weekly. Flight days, times and the lowest fares can be found only at AllegiantAir.com.

Products recalled in October, November

The REPORTER

The Office of Indiana Attorney General Todd Rokita is encouraging all Hoosiers who purchased consumer products that were recalled in October and November to take advantage of the remedies available to them.

"With the holiday season approaching, Hoosiers want to ensure that their hard-earned money is being spent on gifts that are safe and work correctly," said Scott Barnhart, director and chief counsel for consumer protection. "If you purchased a faulty good or item in October and November that has been recalled, then you should immediately see what forms of reimbursement the company that sold or manufactured the product is offering."

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division (CPD) serves to safeguard Hoosiers from predatory business practices and will take legal action in response to violations of the Deceptive Consumer Sales Act, and other consumer-related statutes.

According to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, the following consumer products were recalled in October and November:

- Olympic Dumbbell Handles from Impex Fitness

Golden Eagles sail past Huskies

By RICHIE HALL

NOBLESVILLE - There were a few things that came together for the Guerin Catholic boys basketball team on Saturday night, and it produced a big win for the Golden Eagles.

Guerin Catholic got off to a good start, took care of the basketball, and also had one of its senior leaders go off for 30 points. That added up to a 64-46 win over Hamilton Heights in an all-county game at the Eagles Nest.

Guerin scored the first nine points of the game. Senior Aden Cannon had four points on a pair of layin, while sophomore Robert Sorensen added three points. Senior Will Grissom contributed two points, but he would definitely be heard from as the evening progressed.

Grissom, in fact, put in seven more points, including a pair of 3-pointers, to get the Golden Eagles up 16-7. The Huskies were kept in the quarter thanks to two 3s by Isaac Tuma, then a triple by Maddox Bohland began a 6-0 run for Heights, who stayed within 16-13 at the end of the first period.

The Huskies were still within 20-17 with 5:25 left in the second quarter before Guerin Catholic finished the half on a 12-1 run. Lucas Parker had five points during that time, and his layin pushed GC ahead 32-18 at halftime.

"We've been talking the entire beginning of the season that with the new group that we have this year, we're trying to build as much continuity as possible, said Golden Eagles coach Bobby Allen. "We feel like we can get off to quick starts on a team and then our challenge is maintaining that. And we let them back into the game a couple times, but luckily Will Grissom and Matthew Etchison are great leaders and they were able to help extend that lead back to where we needed it."

Guerin Catholic continued to extend its lead in the third quarter, going on a 9-0 run to push its advantage to 43-23. Grissom made two layins, sophomore Jack Cherry also made a basket, and Parker finished things off with a 3.

"They went on a really nice run," said Huskies coach Chad Ballenger. "They got a nice basketball team. We didn't really respond to the challenge tonight, I thought, in that second quarter. But we fought, because the third quarter, we out-scored them. And then a few things in the fourth quarter, I thought we just let get away."

Heights didn't go away, however, as the Huskies made a 10-0 run of their own that bridged the third and fourth quarter. Isaac Tuma scored on a floater, Braden Kinder hit a 3 and Bohland finished the third period with a basket. Evan Williamson opened the fourth with a 3-pointer, and Heights was within 45-35.

A putback from senior Luke Carroll kept the Huskies within 52-41 with 3:22 left in the fourth, but Guerin went on a quick 6-0 run to clinch the game. Grissom scored on back-to-back layins, and Sorensen's two free throws pushed the Golden Eagles ahead 58-41.

Grissom finished the game with 30 points, but also had four assists as well. He made three 3-pointers during the game.

"He was solid tonight," said Allen. "Guys found him. He attacked at the right

'Blazers drop first game of season

The University boys suffered their first loss of the season Saturday night, falling at Greenwood Christian 61-57 in a back and forth contest.

Sophomore Sabien Cain paced University with 16 first-half points, however, he suffered an injury while scoring the last two points of the first half and could not return in the second half. Cain had 11 second-quarter points and three first-half assists as he helped University take its largest lead of the night at halftime, 31-25.

Greenwood Christian scored the first six points of the second half to knot the game at 31 and neither team led by four the rest of the way. The score was a one possession contest for nearly the entire second half. Robert Russell scored for the Blazers with 1:53 to tie the game at 5. Each team missed a shot before Greenwood Christian made a pair of foul shots with 18 seconds left. University turned to ball over with seven seconds remaining and the Cougars made two more foul shots to close the scoring.

Larry Pierce had 12 points and Robert Russell 11 for the Blazers.

"I thought our guys played their hearts out tonight and this came could have gone either way" said University coach Brandon Lafferman. "Greenwood Christian was well prepared and coached and played really hard and they did a couple more things they needed to do than we did to win the game. It was tough losing Sabien after the first half but guys stepped up to do what they needed to keep us in it. We will learn from this loss and move on with a couple of big games next week"

University hosts Seccina Memorial on Friday evening at The U Center before traveling to Anderson on Saturday to face Liberty Christian as part of a girl-boy doubleheader.

Sheridan's Roland Wallace was inducted into the Hamilton County Basketball Hall of Fame Saturday, prior to the Blackhawks' boys basketball game.

Wallace played at Sheridan High School for renowned coach Larry Hobbs. In his three seasons on the varsity team from 1949 to 1952, the Blackhawks won 66 and lost only 15 games. During his career, Wallace scored 1,016 points, leading the team to three consecutive sectional titles. He was named to the All-Conference and All-County teams twice. With his leadership, during Wallace's junior and senior years, Sheridan never lost a conference game, a holiday tournament game, a county game, or a sectional game.

Following high school, Wallace received a partial scholarship to Tulane University. After two years there, he finished his education at Ball State University and served in the United States Army.

Wallace retired from Redden Enterprises in 2004 after 35 years of service. He was a member of the Senior Health Insurance Program for 25 years, as well as a volunteer at the American Cancer Society.

Roland Wallace passed away in August of 2020 at his residence in South Bend. He is survived by his wife Dorothy and his three children, Cathy Mayotte, Mark Wallace and Dr. David Wallace. He is also survived by his sister, Roberta Huff, and his brother, Larry Wallace. Dr. David Wallace accepted the award on behalf of Roland's family.

Huskies sail past No. 8 Twin Lakes

Millers wear down Marian Knights

Hamilton Heights scored a tremendous win Saturday afternoon, blasting past Twin Lakes 67-37 in a home game.

The Huskies outscored the Class 3A No. 8 Indians in each of the four quarters, starting with a solid defensive first period. Heights led 14-5 after one, then poured in 23 points in the second quarter for a 37-19 halftime lead. Mia Shields scored 10 points during that period; Shields, Camryn Runner and Kaylee Rhoton all hit two 3-pointers in the quarter.

The Huskies led 51-31 after three quarters, then ran away in the fourth quarter by outscoring Twin Lakes 16-6.

"On a short prep, our girls were mentally outstanding," said Heights coach Keegan Cherry. "Defensively we were locked in. Twin Lakes has shown they can score at a high level. Credit to our girls for recognizing personnel and limiting or making it really difficult for their primary scoring threats to get going."

The Huskies are 5-3 and play their first Hoosier Conference East Division game of the season Tuesday at Northwestern.
