Westfield Schools staff receive first-ever Rock Strong Award

By EMMA QUASNY
ReadTheReporter.com

This is the first year the Westfield Education Foundation (WEF) awarded the Westfield Washington Schools (WWS) staff with the Rock Strong Award, which recognizes staff members, maintenance and before- and after-school care departments that exemplify the foundation's "Rock Strong" motto.

"Rock Strong" has been WEF's inspirational motto for the past school year as the district schools came out of the pandemic. Ashley Knott, WEF executive director and the coordinator for family and community engagement for the district, said "Rock Strong" signifies that they are stronger when they work together.

"As our entire school district works together, both our administration team, our staff, our students, our families, and our community ... when we all come together, we are stronger and able to meet the needs of our students and our families and our communities both academically, socially ... in the classroom and for their futures," Knott said.

Award nominations come from staff, families and local community members who are able to share anything about a staff member who is connected with their student, family or school.

He's a sucker for bait-and-switch

Let me tell you about a bait-and-switch tactic I fell for once upon a time.

I was freshly divorced then, lonely – and someone rang my doorbell, a pretty girl I didn't know holding a jar candle. I couldn't believe my fortune. Tom Petty was right: Even the losers get lucky sometime.

The candle was not lit – that should've been my first warning.

She said, "Hi. My name is," – what was it? – who knows? It was years ago. It probably wasn't her real name anyway. Let's give her one now. Sigourney. Yeah, Sigourney is a good one.

I invited her inside.

Sweet-looking Sigourney eyed my carpet, winced, and asked, "What kind of vacuum do you own anyway?"

"The Walmart kind," I said.

It was their cheapest model, one step above a lint roller.

Sigourney said, "I am with the so-and-so company, maker of the most durable, dynamic, dependable vacuum cleaner designed by man. If you sit thru a demonstration, I'll give you this scented candle."

Do you want peace, or do you want to be right?

Peace. The answer to the question, "Do you want peace, or do you want to be right?" is "Peace." ... Right?

I have countless things to be grateful for in my life. I start each day with an expression of thanks for the ability to breathe, see, hear, taste, and feel. I rise to my feet in a home that is safe and warm. Each day, I go to a job that I love and interact with friends, both near and far. I see my local friends in my favorite lil' coffee shop, my family who drops by to simply say hello, and am able to communicate through my phone with friends in California, New York, Florida, and as far away as Germany! These are just my regular days – so full of love and connection. "Blessed" doesn't even begin to describe the life I have, and this, I know, is a privilege.

My most treasured connection is the one I share with God. God, for me, is not simply Christian-based, as I believe that we are all

Fishers police to host online safety forum on Feb. 23 to help keep kids safe from predators

By DEMIE JOHNSON
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

An online safety forum hosted by Fishers police comes as the Hamilton County Metro Child Exploitation Task Force reports a rise in crimes like child exploitation.

The task force is a team made up of investigators in Carmel, Fishers, Westfield, Noblesville, the Hamilton County and Madison County sheriff's departments, and the Department of Homeland Security.

Fishers Police Chief Ed Gebhart says more than 250 reports of child exploitation were turned over to the task force in 2021. Those cases have risen nationally since the start of the pandemic, according to Gebhart.

"I think all of us can come together on this particular night to talk about how to keep our kids safe and what it is we're doing behind this door that no one's allowed to go behind this door because of the type of work they do," Gebhart said.

The virtual information session is scheduled for 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 23. It can also be livestreamed through the Fishers Police Department Facebook page.

Gebhart says the information will be worthwhile for even the most aware parents, adding that the warning signs WWS Superintendent Dr. Paul Kaiser said this nomination and award process is a way to highlight the hard work of district staff.

“I think [the staff] took a great deal in pride of receiving these awards,” Kaiser said. “We are just proud of all the people that work so hard and try to meet the needs of our kids and our community and appreciate their dedication.”

There are 11 categories and schools where staff can be nominated, and recipients are awarded each quarter of the school year. Knott says she is hopeful the district will continue offering this award going forward.

“[The award] was very well received by both the staff members who receive the award and the [school] board meeting by those attending,” Knott said.

The next Rock Strong Awards will be presented on May 10. For more information about the Rock Strong Awards, reach out to knotta@wws.k12.in.us.

of online child exploitation can be easy to miss.

“You think of Snapchat and you think of Facebook, but my daughter herself – someone had reached out to her through a game and tried to talk to her,” Gebhart said. “So, here I am thinking I’m on top of it and right there it’s in my own house.”

The task force has played a role in major federal cases, including one from 2018 where a 37-year-old

Texas man pretended to be a 15-year-old boy to get sexual videos and pictures from an underage girl in Indiana.

Gebhart says that while the goal is always more arrests, it’s not the only focus.

“[The task force is] more addicted to saving people and that’s the number they track, even more than the arrest numbers, because there are so many victims behind each one of those arrests,” Gebhart said.

I was thinking sonnets; she was thinking sales. Still, I took her up on the offer. She handed me the candle, which freed her hands to call someone.

“It’s me,” she said into her cell phone, her syllables dusted with conspiracy. “Yea, I got another one. Come on in.”

Sigourney stepped outside and a guy stepped inside, a young buck, a real suit-and-tied, slicked-back-haired, sales shark. All that was missing was the theme from Jaws.

His vacuum was a lightweight, technological marvel. It looked sophisticated enough to have been trialed by NASA on Mars’ surface.

He asked to see my sweeper. I showed him. He let out a condescending sigh. He moved his sweeper a few inches away from mine, as if to keep my mutt from mating with his pedigree.

He poured something vile on my carpet – a possible mixture of fish guts, sawdust, yak toenails and volcanic ash, a regular witches’ brew for the carpet.

“Don’t worry,” he said. “It’ll come up.”

He nodded at my Walmart Lint Roller 1000. “Give it a try,” he challenged and winked.

I positioned my cheap-skate’s clunker over the pile and turned it on. It coughed, shuddered, wheezed, and spat dust, proving no match for the industrial mess beneath.

“Now watch this,” the sales guy said.

His vacuum cleaner was Prius quiet and sucked up the mess in two seconds. It was like a new patch of carpet had been installed on my floor. The sales guy was so proud of his device’s performance, I halfway expected him to reward it with a carrot.

When he announced the vacuum’s cost, I told him I had no desire to assume the monetary equivalent of a second car payment, though he might want to try the Rockefellers next door.

This was my first and only door-to-door vacuum cleaner salesman, though I’ve had other irritable sales types pay a visit.

On the heels of Hurricane Katrina, a guy claiming to be a New Orleans refugee tried to sell me a $50 bottle of industrial cleaner. He did a demo on my garage floor, the liquid hissing and bubbling – I worried a China Syndrome had been activated – until an ancient oil spot vanished. I wrote him a check, not because I’m a clean freak, but because I simply felt sorry for New Orleans. Instead of giving me the demonstration bottle, he retrieved another from his car. “BAIT AND SWITCH” blinked on my mind’s marquee in big neon letters. Two days later, one of my kids knocked the bottle from its shelf, causing glass to shatter on the garage floor. There was no bubble or hiss this time, the contents likely nothing but surge water. I doubt the guy was even from New Orleans. Damn Katrina.

“Meat men” have come to my door, claiming their freezer truck had broken down and offering me soon-to-be-spoiled-discounted beef. What is it about my neighborhood that causes meat trucks to malfunction while the ice cream van with its music box racket can rocket by without so much as a flat tire? I’d buy discounted ice cream over prospective rancid meat any day.

Then there was a salesman whose opening line was: “Do you have trouble making friends?” I kid you not. That’s the first thing he said. Taken aback, I pondered responding, “I obviously don’t have trouble making friends, for I partied with your mama till dawn this morning.” Me? – have trouble making friends? Ha! I rudely shut the door before he could whip out a pamphlet and sell me his off-putting brand of charismatic religion.

Anyway, back to the vacuum cleaner salesman. I kindly led him and his expensive carpet cleaning contraption out the door. When his van sped away, I lit Sigourney’s candle and breathed in the scent of a sucker. P.T. Barnum was right: There’s one of me born every minute.

Peace

connected through a sense of knowing the existence of a Higher Power. God is more expansive than we can truly comprehend. I believe that God is in everything and everyone. God is the love I feel when I’m surrounded by nature – overlooking the vastness of the ocean, nestled in the tree-lined woods, standing in awe under a star-filled sky, or the feeling of my feet bare in the grass. God is the joy I feel when I snuggle my dog, that magical experience of the bond between animal and human that somehow comforts, understands, and is unconditional in its ability to love endlessly. God is the reason my soul floats when I listen to music and why my heart smiles at the sound of laughter and its infectious melodies. God is ever-present in the way I love others – for God is the reason I am able to love others so freely and so fully. God is peace.

So why do I sometimes struggle with finding peace within? If everything I’ve said is true, I have everything I need.

Someone I deeply trust, respect, and admire spoke to me recently about their inner peace. They have begun a practice of lovingly protecting it to remain positive, calm, and centered. I listened and connected to this explanation, feeling comforted by the fact that my beautiful friend had developed such a connection to their own energy. It is a magnificent change into someone who now possesses and understands self-love, self-value, and self-respect. Outwardly, it serves as a bridge to loving others. When we love and care for ourselves, the ability to freely love others seems to exist without much effort at all. The peace within just feels ... right.

Lately, my own inner peace has been disrupted. It’s been a horribly beautiful journey to experience.

This question, “Do you want peace, or do you want to be right?” has brought me face to face with understanding just why my inner peace has felt so shattered. I have struggled with the belief in my own intuition – something I have NEVER questioned before. My connection to my intuition is my connection to God. It’s the inner voice I hear through my heart. The inner feeling that resonates throughout my body and guides me moment by moment. My intuition tells me “I’m right.” However, when intuition and inner peace challenge each other, serenity seems to cease its existence.

Do I want peace, or do I want to be right? I want restoration of my own positivity, calmness, and centeredness. I want to live each moment in gratitude for the past, for the present, and be able to feel content in not knowing just what the future may hold. I don’t need to be “right,” but I do need to be “peaceful.” I want peace so that I may connect with others, love unconditionally, and glide through each day, experiencing serenity even in the harshest of storms. I want peace to serve as my assurance. I want to be connected to everyone and everything, in light and in love. I do want to be right, but I want to be right in choosing to protect my inner peace. I want to protect my inner peace so that I may live each day leading with kindness, forgiveness, and openness.

Peace is surrender, trust, and knowing.

Peace. Yes, the answer to the question, “Do you want peace, or do you want to be right?” is “Peace.”

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

Aspire names Keevin as VP of Social Determinants of Health

The REPORTER

Mike Keevin has been named Vice President of Social Determinants of Health by Aspire Indiana Health, an indication of the increased focus the nonprofit healthcare provider is placing on non-medical factors affecting a person's overall health and wellbeing.

Keevin joined Aspire in 2011 after 20 years in the grocery industry, heading up the social enterprise team. Over the past decade he led the scaling up of non-medical support programs that were eventually consolidated as social determinants of health.

Aspire has positioned social determinants as one of its four core healthcare services along with behavioral health, primary medical care and addiction/recovery treatment.

"I'm grateful to Aspire for the trust they have placed with me, and their strategic foresight to build robust programs to address challenges that have a very real impact on Hoosiers' health and happiness," Keevin said.

Keevin received his bachelor's degree in business management from Western Governors University and is currently working on a master's degree in accounting from Indiana Wesleyan University. He is credentialed as a Certified Occupancy Specialist (COS), Certified Manag-

AG's office recoups $3.3M for Dept. of Workforce Development

The REPORTER

Attorney General Todd Rokita this week thanked one of his own, Deputy Attorney General John Millikan, for his work recouping more than $3.3 million in funds taken fraudulently from the Indiana Department of Workforce Development (DWD).

Millikan has targeted funds deposited into bank accounts by scammers who collected unemployment benefits using other people's identities through information gathered from the dark web. Such criminal activity soared during the COVID-19 pandemic as DWD faced pressure to push payments out quickly to newly jobless individuals.

The attorney general's office has recovered more than $242 million for Hoosiers since January 2021.

"This office is full of staff serving with servants' hearts on behalf of Hoosiers to protect their liberty and property," Rokita said. "Typically, the fruits of their labors, though important, go unheralded because they occur outside the limelight. But I am always honored to gratefully recognize, on behalf of all Hoosiers, these diligent public servants."

Investigators found that fraudsters often funneled their ill-gotten gains to either the same bank account or several set up around the country within the same bank. One such bank, Green Dot Bank, held approximately $3.15 million in fraudulently obtained unemployment benefits.

DWD staff provided important guidance throughout the efforts to claw back the money, Millikan said.

"With the help and dedication of the Department of Workforce Development, we were able to identify and recover large-scale unemployment benefits-related fraud," Millikan said. "I am grateful for the good-faith negotiations from Green Dot Bank and other financial institutions that brought about this great result for Hoosier taxpayers. The Rokita administration will continue to investigate and assist in clawing back unemployment funds paid out due to fraud."

If you learn that your identity has been fraudulently used in a claim for unemployment benefits, you should report it to the Office of the Attorney General via this online form for reporting identity theft.

Additionally, you should report it to the Indiana Department of Workforce Development via that agency's website.

Finally, you should also file a report with local law enforcement and the Indiana State Police, which offers an online form that can be filled out and emailed to uifraud@isp.IN.gov.

Indiana VEX Robotics State Championship returns to Lucas Oil

The REPORTER

TechPoint Foundation for Youth (TPF4Y), the leader in K-12 STEM education efforts for the state of Indiana, has announced the return of the Indiana VEX Robotics State Championship, powered by Group 1001, at Lucas Oil Stadium on Saturday, March 12. The event, which is the largest VEX robotics state championship in the country, will showcase the talent of more than 245 elementary, middle and high school teams as they compete for a chance to advance to the VEX World Championship.

Inside the event

This year, a total of 100 elementary, 96 middle and 50 high school teams from across Indiana have qualified to participate at the state level. During the competition, students will showcase their talent in robotics by operating a plastic or metal robot, constructed by each team, to complete challenges.

“Our State Robotics Championship is a full circle moment for these students, and their energy each year is unwavering,” said George Giltner, president and CEO of TPF4Y. “The beauty of K-12 STEM programs – such as robotics – is that it fosters more than just knowledge. Every year, students from all backgrounds make their way to Indianapolis radiating confidence, a love for robotics and strong collaboration skills. We intentionally host this event at Lucas Oil Stadium, home to the Indianapolis Colts, so that students are able to see that their intelligence, hard work and dedication to robotics is celebrated on a grand scale here in Indiana just as we recognize athletics.”

Supporting robotics programs

TPF4Y is dedicated to connecting underserved and underrepresented populations to STEM opportunities, and competitions like the state championship provide students an environment to interact with their peers and witness how hundreds of other students, at all different ages and education levels, share a love for robotics. Through the ongoing efforts of TPF4Y and their partners, robotics programs continue to flourish within schools, clubs and after school programs across the state, making Indiana the No. 1 state in the U.S. for having the most K-12 schools participating in robotics program initiatives.

“I continue to be amazed by the robotics opportunities made available for Indiana students,” said Dan Mantz, CEO of the Robotics Education & Competition Foundation, an organization that oversees all VEX competition teams and events. “The Indiana VEX Robotics State Championship is a model for other states to follow as this event brings a diversity of students from across the state together. This large-scale competition run by TPF4Y demonstrates what can be accomplished when local and state governments, private industry, education organizations and nonprofits work together.”

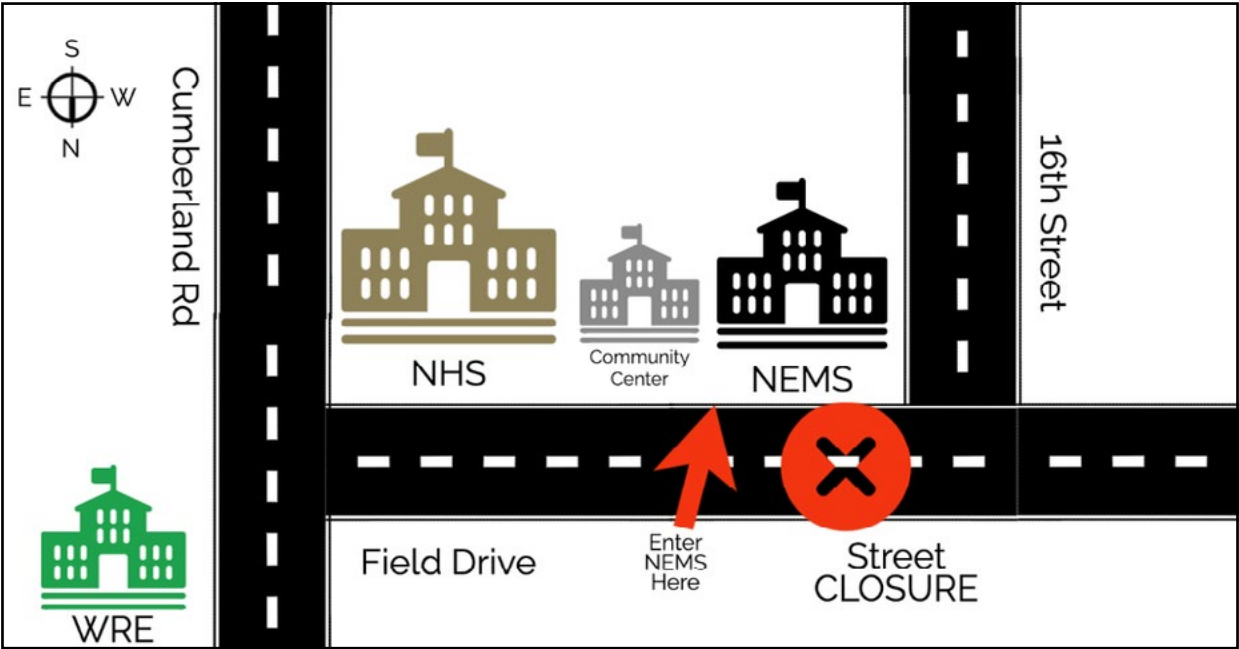

This competition is free, and attendance is open to the public. At the door, there is a suggested donation of $3 to $10 as TPF4Y has a fundraising goal of $10,000 for the day. Funds raised during the event will go directly back toward supporting Indiana schools that want to bring STEM education opportunities to their communities. Individuals or businesses interested in supporting these efforts are welcome to make a single or group donation in person at the event or by visiting bit.ly/SupportTPF4Y.

Prioritizing health and safety

The health and safety of all participants, spectators and volunteers is TPF4Y’s top priority. Public event guidelines from the Marion County Health Department and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) will be strictly followed.

Calling all young entrepreneurs for Fishers Biz Kidz Festival Day

The REPORTER

Biz Kidz applications are now open for the 2022 Fishers Farmers Market, presented by IU Health Saxony.

Each year, Fishers Parks and the Fishers Farmers Market host a large Biz Kidz festival day in conjunction with the regular Saturday market to welcome kids and teens with businesses or business ideas to serve as market vendors for the day, selling homemade artisan and food items.

In 2021, the Biz Kidz program expanded significantly, allowing spots for young entrepreneurs every week. As the city plans for the 2022 summer market, the weekly program will be back starting May 7 and running through September.

The annual Biz Kidz festival is set for 8 a.m. to noon on July 9. Apply now to be a Biz Kidz vendor and learn more about the program at this link.

Letter to the Editor

Illinois reader: It's time to ask the "impolite" questions

Dear Editor:

It's a sensitive time in America. What we desperately need to talk about are topics we tiptoe around in an effort to spare hurt feelings.

This is reflected in our fickle language. If you follow current events – moreover, truly grasp flashpoint social movements like Black Lives Matter, gay rights, feminism, and civil rights – you were once deemed “informed.” Now, you’re “woke,” or possess some degree of “wokeness.”

“Martyr” for example, was once defined as dying for a belief, often religious. Martyrdom’s meaning now seems to include people who are wrongly killed, regardless of the circumstances or their beliefs.

A quick read of historically accepted martyrs includes Nathan Hale, Joan of Arc, Thomas Becket and Martin Luther King.

Skip a few decades and you’ll find an unofficial group accepted in some quarters as modern-day martyrs. Michael Brown and Trayvon Martin come to mind.

When, if ever, is it no longer considered cruel, racist, or at least impolitic to ask about a shooting victim’s upbringing?

Last year, a 13-year-old boy in Chicago, allegedly with a gun, was out well past curfew and shot dead by a policeman. Thirteen is too young to die, but how many years are needed for the family to teach that child common sense and some understanding of what’s right and wrong?

I wonder how many post-Columbine tragedies we could have been spared if we asked these impolite questions more often.

- Face masks/coverings are mandatory
- When possible, social distancing is expected
- The pit areas are limited to students and coaches only
- Stay home if you are showing any signs or symptoms of illness

About the State Robotics Initiative, a program of TechPoint Foundation for Youth

The State Robotics Initiative was developed by TPF4Y to provide hands-on, STEM learning experiences to Indiana students through an economical, entry-level robotics platform proven to engage diverse student populations in comprehensive STEM subject matter and spur student interest in STEM college and career pathways. The program was developed in 2016 as a statewide expansion of the City of Indianapolis VEX Robotics grant program, a legacy of former Mayor Greg Ballard. This Initiative has made Indiana the leading state in elementary and middle school robotics teams, serving students in all 92 counties of the state and culminating in the country's largest robotics state championship held at Lucas Oil Stadium. For more information, please visit techpointyouth.org/robots.

About TechPoint Foundation for Youth

As the leader in technology education efforts for the state of Indiana since 2001, TechPoint Foundation for Youth (TPF4Y) is committed to inspiring our state's underserved K-12 students to explore science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM). And to us, that means connecting ideas, investments, industry, and individuals to exemplary programs that inspire students to pursue careers in STEM fields.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Now we ask you, brothers and sisters, to acknowledge those who work hard among you, who care for you in the Lord and who admonish you. Hold them in the highest regard in love because of their work. Live in peace with each other. And we urge you, brothers and sisters, warn those who are idle and disruptive, encourage the disheartened, help the weak, be patient with everyone. Make sure that nobody pays back wrong for wrong, but always strive to do what is good for each other and for everyone else.

Rejoice always, pray continually, give thanks in all circumstances; for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus.

Do not quench the Spirit. Do not treat prophecies with contempt but test them all; hold on to what is good, reject every kind of evil.

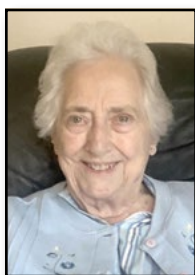

May God himself, the God of peace, sanctify you through and through. May your whole spirit, soul and body be kept blameless at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. The one who calls you is faithful, and he will do it.

Brothers and sisters, pray for us. Greet all God's people with a holy kiss. I charge you before the Lord to have this letter read to all the brothers and sisters.

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.
1 Thessalonians 5:12-28 (NIV)

Joan Eunice Neuwirth

March 19, 1922 – February 12, 2022

Joan Eunice Neuwirth passed away on February 12, 2022. She was born in Detroit, Mich., on March 19, 1922, to Elton and Florence Barret. She grew up in a loving family with three dear sisters, Lois, Jackie, and Toni. Their special bond continued to bring her joy and support throughout her life. She was raised in Detroit and joined the Navy as a WAVE during World War II. Through the GI Bill, she graduated from the University of Michigan with a degree in Dental Hygiene, which was her career for most of her working life.

Joan married Tony Neuwirth and they started a family, settling in Flint. She became a single mom in the early 1960s. She worked full time and also made time to be active in her church and Girl Scouts. Her four children have fond memories of trips to the planetarium, the library, picnics, concerts, plays, family gatherings, and an occasional Detroit Tigers game. All her grandkids were blessed to have her in their lives, first in Davison, Mich., and later in Noblesville. She read the newspaper every day and loved to line dance, play piano, and gather with friends for cards games or social time. Joan had a strong spiritual life, and she loved her church families at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Flint and St. Michael's Episcopal Church in Noblesville. She especially loved gathering with her extended family. Her life was never easy, but she faced the challenges with strength and grace.

Joan was a kind, gentle spirit. She managed to see the best in everyone and to treat everyone with kindness and respect. She hated to be the center of attention; she was the heart of her family. Trying their best to live up to her legacy are her children, Andy (Donna) Neuwirth, Janine (Greg) Cowell, Karen (Tom) Klein Ludwick, and Gail (Al) Neuwirth Geisler; grandchildren, Andrea (Leon) Anderson, Alan (Lauren) Neuwirth, Brian Cowell, Rick Cowell, Amy (Ben) Diveley, Josh (Stefanie) Klein, Henry Klein, Jamie (Kiel) Duckworth, Alyssa (Megan) Hillier-Geisler, Jesse (Kirsty) Geisler, and Danika (Adam) Geisler; and great-grandchildren, Tyler and Jacob Anderson, Pakston and Ealan Duckworth, Nora and Jade Diveley, and Riley Geisler.

A memorial service will follow at a later date.

To honor Joan's memory, consider making a contribution to St. Michael's Episcopal Church in Noblesville or to WFYI or your local Public Television station.

Late basket sends GC past 'Blazers

By RICHIE HALL
CARMEL - After Guerin Catholic and University finished their Friday night game at the U Center, both coaches agreed that it was a good way to prepare their respective teams for sectionals, which are not too far away.

The Friday game certainly had a sectional atmosphere, with a large crowd and a Senior Night celebration for the Trailblazers. University played the Golden Eagles tough, even taking a one-point lead with under 30 seconds to go.

But Guerin Catholic scored the game's last five points, and that was enough for a 67-63 victory. It was the Golden Eagles' third straight victory.

"This is as good of a team that we can play to get ready for our sectional," said GC coach Bobby Allen. "They're very well-coached. They're very well-disciplined. It's a hard gym to play in, especially on their Senior Night. So give them a ton of credit. I was real happy with our guys down the stretch and just making some plays"

The game was close all the way through. In fact, Guerin Catholic's 58-52 lead with 4:45 left in the fourth quarter was the largest lead for either team. Robert Sorensen gave the Golden Eagles that advantage when he made a three-point play.

Guerin Catholic led 62-57 with 2:12 left when the Trailblazers used a 6-0 spurt to take a 63-62 lead. Sabien Cain made two free throws, then scored off a steal. After a time out, Andre Ozlowski made a layin, and University was in front.

The Golden Eagles' Lucas Parker answered with his own layin, while getting fouled. Parker drained the free throw for the and-1, and Sorensen later made two free throws to finish the scoring.

"When they scored a bucket at the end and took that one-point lead, we had already decided we weren't going to take a timeout, and Lucas Parker got the ball at the top of the key in his hands and he made a great play and got to the bucket. He finished," said Allen.

Guerin Catholic's free-throw shooting was perfect for the game. The Golden Eagles made all 21 of their foul shots, making them only the sixth team to go 100 percent from the line while making 21 or more shots. (Beech Grove and Bloomington South hold the record, each team going 26 of 26 during games in the 1997-98 season.)

Allen called that performance "incredible," saying that his team is "shooting in the high 90s right now for the last three games from the line."

The tone was set early, as both teams were blistering in the first quarter. University led 24-20 at the end of the period, with the Trailblazers scorching the nets for six 3-pointers. Seth Hogg and Sabien Cain each hit three of those triples. A basket by Larry Pierce gave the 'Blazers the four-point advantage at the end of the quarter.

The Golden Eagles went on a 6-0 run to start the second quarter, and that gave them a 26-24 lead. Aden Cannon and Kamea Chandler both made baskets, and Will Grissom nailed a pair of free throws. But Cain struck again, hitting his fourth 3-pointer to push the 'Blazers up 27-26. The period continued at that torrid pace, with Parker making the last shot of the half to get Guerin ahead 37-36 at halftime.

Ozlowski and Cain each made layins to give University a 42-41 third quarter lead. Grissom then hit two free throws, and Jack Cherry turned a steal into an and-1. That put the Golden Eagles up 46-43 and they would hold the lead until the fourth quarter.

Sorensen and Grissom both finished with 18 points and five rebounds, while Parker and Chandler both scored nine points. Cherry dished out five assists.

Cain totaled five 3-pointers for the game on his way to 24 points. Larry Pierce added 11 points, with Nate Jeffrey scoring 10. Cain provided six assists, while Ozlowski had four rebounds and two blocked shots. Pierce also had four rebounds.

"Our game plan was to run, which it usually is, and to pick up and pressure them," said University coach Brandon Lafferman. "We did a great job on the scoring side of the fast break, but we couldn't get stops. And that was really the difference in the game. I thought offensively, we played really well, good enough to win, but we just couldn't get stops when we needed to."

The Golden Eagles are 13-9 and play their regular-season finale Tuesday at Anderson. University is 13-8 and also finishes its season Tuesday, playing at Decatur Cen-

Etchison's layin sends Huskies past Bison

Hamilton Heights scored a dramatic comeback victory at Benton Central on Friday, as the Huskies came from way down to beat the Bison 66-64 in the fifth-place game of the Hoosier Conference tournament. Heights trailed 56-38 going into the fourth quarter, but stunned Benton Central in that period, outscoring the Bison 28-8. The Huskies got the ball back with 48 seconds left and held it for the last shot. Heights set up a high ball screen, it went into the hands of Tillman Etchison, and he laid it in at the buzzer. The Huskies led 14-12 after the first quarter, but Benton Central took over in the second quarter, pouring in 21 points for a 33-27 halftime lead. The Bison then out-scored Heights 23-11 in the third period. "They blitzed us in the third," said Huskies coach Chad Ballenger. "We just regrouped, started picking the pace up and our defense did a great job turning them over in the fourth quarter. Total team effort." Etchison had a sensational game, scoring 33 points. Luke Carroll added 13 points.

Isaac Tuma, Maddox Bohland and Etchison all collected four rebounds, with Bohland making four steals. Heights is 10-9 and hosts Tri-West tonight.
