Conner & Stephenson wallet donated to Conner Prairie

By STU CLAMPITT
news@readthereporter.com

In the April 3 edition of the Reporter, we brought you the story of the discovery of a wallet originally owned by William Conner and John D. Stephenson.

Steve and Lori Schwartz asked The Reporter to help find a permanent home for the Conner and Stephenson wallet, along with its numerous receipts, IOUs and other business records found inside this unique piece of Hamilton County history, and our readers have spoken. The overwhelming majority of readers who responded to our poll asking where the wallet should go voted in favor of Conner Prairie.

On Tuesday, April 26, the Schwartzes visited the historic William Conner House at Conner Prairie, 3400 Allisonville Road, Fishers, to hand the wallet over to its new home.

'Roald Dahl's Matilda the Musical' opens this week at Booth Tarkington Civic Theatre

By STU CLAMPITT
news@readthereporter.com

After literal years of pandemic delays, Civic Theatre in the Center for the Performing Arts, 3 Carter Green, Carmel, is now all set to show Roald Dahl's Matilda the Musical starting this weekend. Director Suzanne Fleenor recently spoke to the Reporter about the play, the path it took to get to the stage and why she chose it.

"What I love about Matilda is that it's rather subversive," Fleenor told the Reporter. "It is unlike most musicals. It's Roald Dahl, whose books are left of center and yet so wonderfully intriguing and I just always loved them."

This show had originally been cast in 2020 and was nearly halfway to stage when the pandemic put every live performance on hold.

"We were three weeks into putting the show together when COVID hit," Fleenor said. "We have had two years to think about the show. We have maintained many of the original cast members, and due to voices changing for some of the boys and going off to college and various other assorted reasons for other cast members, we were easily able to cast this show after two nights of rehearsal in one evening. We were able to do that because we maintained many of the same cast members."

En Pointe Ballet in Noblesville brings Don Quixote to stage this weekend

The REPORTER

Under the direction of Pollyana Ribeiro and Robert Moore, En Pointe Indiana Ballet presents the delightful comedic ballet Don Quixote this weekend in Noblesville. A fun-filled, full-length ballet with a charming cast of characters, breathtaking costumes, lively dancing and a vibrant set, it is sure to entertain the whole family.

Based on the brilliant literature piece by Cervantes, this classic ballet follows Don Quixote and his squire, Sancho Panza, as they travel to save his imaginary lady Dulcinea. The colorful duo follows a journey that leads them to meet young lovers Kitri and Basilio. Along the way they encounter villagers, bullfighters, gypsies, cupids, dryads and, of course, a treacherous windmill. Love wins in the end and the village celebrates the wedding of Kitri and Basilio, as Don Quixote and Sancho Panza continue their travels.

Steve Schwartz said more than once that it was like the wallet was coming home, commenting that it had likely been in the very room where the donation took place. Schwartz also told the Reporter he was impressed at how quickly this all came together.

Schwartz also said it was a rumor in his family that the Schwartzes owed Conner $48. Conner Prairie staff made clear they will not seek interest-adjusted restitution on the (potentially) nearly 200-year-old debt. Conner Prairie staff will be working to preserve the wallet and its content for future generations and will have it on display both physically and virtually when that process is complete.

Fleenor said one of the benefits of this long delay was having so much more time to digest how the show works and how they put it together. There was the added benefit of starting over with many of the same cast members with whom she had already worked.

“The challenges were that it was terribly disappointing for all of us,” Fleenor said. “When we left rehearsal on a Sunday evening, we fully expected that we would be back within a couple of weeks. It went on and on and ON. We were full steam ahead at that point. We usually rehearse for approximately eight weeks, so we had a very good idea of what the show would shape up to be. There was disappointment. Also, we had rented the set, so we knew what the set was going to look like. It was terribly disappointing.”

This is the first show that Fleenor has directed since the world returned to allowing public events, though she has appeared on stage in other shows.

Fleenor said putting on a play again feels exhilarating. “I must say that it is an extraordinary cast,” Fleenor said. “The actors, a combination of adults and young middle school age children and they are just wonderfully terrific. The show has elements are magic that are beautifully executed. Roald Dahl portrays children neither as heroes nor villains but as a subversive combination of both. I think that is a wonderful draw.”

When asked who her ideal audience is for Matilda, Fleenor told the Reporter, “I see the ideal audience as adults who still wonder what it’s like to feel what

Advocating for Victims of Crime & Abuse

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

high school, coursework in art and architectural drafting continued that interest. My career path continued with enrollment in the Ball State University College of Architecture and Planning, with elective interest in art and art history courses. Following graduation with a Bachelor of Architecture degree, I taught design and graphics courses for two years as an Instructor of Architecture and then to private practice as a Partner and Officer at Browning Day Mullins Dierdorf Architects.

"Now retired, there is time to focus on a second passion as an artist, drawing on my developed skills as an architect over many years. As a longtime resident of Hamilton County, my paintings have been shown in several thematic state and local exhibitions for several years. In October of 2019, I was awarded the honored designation of INDIANA ARTISAN with a review of my work, by a jury of Indiana professionals and experts in the area of fine art and design, who determined my paintings to be of exceptionally high quality.

"My training as an architect can be seen in my paintings. This art is focused on subject matter, composition and color with acrylic paints and pastels on large canvases. While I paint wildlife, floral, and portraits, my primary interest is painting landscapes. Many of these landscape paintings have architectural elements as part of the context such as farm and barn compositions as well as images from travel and hiking experiences all over the world. Much of this work tends to be precise relative to the building subject, contrasted with a loose expression in the landscape elements of trees, ground texture, water and sky. I am very intrigued with the creation of a mood of time, space and color that cannot be captured in a photograph.

"I am particularly drawn to French Impressionist artists such as Claude Monet and the Hoosier Artists who flourished in the early 1900s, as well as contemporary landscape artists. Much of their work tends to be landscapes that explore light, color and the atmosphere of the moment in a way that compels your attention for long periods of time. That is what I am trying to achieve in my own way as an ARCHITECT-ARTIST."

Sherry Haines

"I developed an interest in the visual arts at an early age. That interest grew and became more intense during my high school years and while pursuing a bachelor's in Art Education at Taylor University and a master's in Art Education at Ball State University. With each new drawing and painting course I became more aware of my own desire to teach painting and to pursue my personal interests in this medium.

"Following my collegiate years, I taught art at public and private schools for 30 years, concluding my service in the classroom with an 18-year tenure at Cathedral High School in Indianapolis. During those wonderful years, I had the joy of instructing and guiding many very talented students who have gone on to successful, creative careers in the arts. Daily these students inspired and challenged me. After an extremely rewarding career in the classroom, I now find myself with the time and desire to pursue my first love of art: painting. I look forward to getting involved with the painting community of greater Indianapolis and the State of Indiana.

"Thirty years in the classroom, teaching painting and drawing to talented high school students, enabled me to stay engaged with my love of painting. Oil paint was my medium of choice during my higher education experience (both undergraduate and graduate), and during my early years in the classroom. During this period, I created a broad portfolio, with a focus on room interiors and reflections. For the past twelve years I have experienced a restlessness to explore new mediums and subject matter. I have embraced acrylic paint, watercolor, colored pencil and pastels. As I have come to enjoy these various mediums the process has become as consuming for me as the end result.

"Although I continue to be drawn to my previous subject matter, what unifies my work now is capturing that moment something catches my attention and makes me take a second look. That has included a child's frank stare, the abstract shapes created when sunshine filters through tree branches, the distortion of an object in water, or the way light makes colors pop. I have come to anticipate these unexpected glimpses that bring me great joy. These 'second look' moments are what drive my passion for painting."

Noblesville celebrating 32nd Tree City USA status this Saturday

The REPORTER

The City of Noblesville was named a 2022 Tree City USA by the Arbor Day Foundation in honor of its commitment to effective urban forest management. This is the 32nd consecutive year Noblesville has earned this national distinction.

“Being a Tree City USA member for over three decades shows the importance that the city and its citizens have for our environment and its sustainability year after year,” Noblesville Mayor Chris Jensen said. “I also want to thank the Noblesville Tree Board for its overall care of city street trees and the educational outlet and projects it provides our residents.”

The Tree City USA program started in 1979. Only four cities in Indiana have participated as long as Noblesville—Bloomington, Indianapolis, Elkhart and Angola. Noblesville received Tree City USA recognition by meeting the program’s four requirements: Maintain a tree board or department, have a community tree ordinance, an annual community forestry budget of at least $2 per capita, and an Arbor Day observance.

The city will celebrate its Tree City USA status during its Arbor Day Celebration on Saturday, April 30 with a proclamation by Mayor Jensen at noon. The city will hold a tree planting along the White River to help improve the river corridor. Those interested in volunteering for a shift can register at bit.ly/wrtv912 (9 a.m. to noon) or bit.ly/wrtv123 (noon to 3 p.m.). The planting is currently scheduled for rain or shine.

Starting at 10 a.m., the Tree Board will be giving away three-gallon shade trees to the first 50 Noblesville residents who arrive and sign one of the Clear Choices Clean Water pledges (indiana.clearchoicescleanwater.org) in an effort to protect Indiana Waterways. The Tree Board also will have 100 Shagbark Hickory seedlings and forestry information available to residents at the Riverwalk Trailhead parking lot west of 5th Street, next to Riverside Cemetery.

“Trees are a uniting force in the world, and we think the time is now to capitalize on this part of nature that we all have in common,” Tree Board President Ashley Mulis said. “Trees provide our city with so many benefits [such as] clean air and water, erosion control, storm-water and pollution uptake, increased property values, positive mental health impacts, heating and cooling savings, shade and natural beauty, and the list goes on. We want to share that on Arbor Day and bring our community together.”

On May 2, the Tree Board and the Noblesville High School AP environmental science class and Junior Lions Club members will plant six native Redbud trees inside the interior courtyards of the high school.

The Tree City USA program is sponsored by the Arbor Day Foundation, in partnership with the United States Forest Service and the National Association of State Foresters. For more information about the program, visit arborday.org/TreeCityUSA.

Carmel Education Foundation gets $1K grant from Teachers Credit Union

The REPORTER

On March 30, the ribbon was officially cut to open Teachers Credit Union (TCU) at 635 E. Carmel Drive.

A special part of the celebration was a generous $1,000 contribution to Carmel Education Foundation (CEF) in honor of the 2,400 Carmel Clay Schools educators who engage and empower Carmel Clay students in their learning.

TCU Carmel Branch Manager Dee Herring and TCU Area Manager Joshua Lloyd presented CEF Executive Director Jennifer Penix with a check in recognition of TCU’s role as a CEF Community Partner.

Penix was most appreciative, saying, “Partnerships with like-minded businesses, such as TCU, are essential to propelling our mission to empower teachers in fostering innovative lessons in their classrooms and learning opportunities for our students. We are especially grateful for how TCU’s programs benefit teachers whom we consider to be foundational in our learning and living communities.”

CEF will use these funds to support the Great Idea! Grant program which awards up to 60 grants annually to Carmel Clay School educators and students for classroom innovation, curriculum enhancement, wellness initiatives, and other unique opportunities in the classroom, building, or district level.

The CEF Board of Directors adopted a Community Partner program in 2021 that is designed to provide local businesses opportunities to support public education in capacities that are best suited to their company mission or product. Along with TCU, CEF Community Partners include businesses that enhance fundraising, donor engagement, community events, operations, and innovation.

“The growth of this program is encouraging, and the opportunities are really endless,” Penix said. “We have a creative group of leaders that are open to new, fresh ideas from a variety of businesses that can help us take the Foundation to the next level to become an even more integral part of Carmel.”

Do you want to be a Christian and a Christian alone?

As a country, state and county we will soon enter into another contentious political season. Are you a Democratic, Republican, Libertarian or unattached? To whom do you give your allegiance? What determines your political allegiance? Rest easy this is not a political ad nor is it intended to promote any party or candidate. I want us to think for a moment about what brings us to that conclusion.

When we consider our religious affiliation, what leads us to make that decision? This decision is far more significant than making a commitment to a political party or candidate. If God is who He says He is and Jesus is His Son, it behooves us to surrender and submit to Him and Him alone! God will not accept divided devotion and thus we would call on all men to worship Him and Him alone. Repeatedly in the Old Testament, we read of commands to worship Him and Him alone. Enshrined in the Law was the command to "worship no other god, for the LORD, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God" (Exodus 34:14). Paul warned of the danger of provoking God to jealousy (1 Cor. 10:22).

Why not leave any commitment to a church founded by men, not provoke God to jealousy and seek to be a Christian and a Christian alone? Is that idea intriguing? Does it seem reasonable? Let's investigate that together.

To boost U.S. manufacturing & energy, GOP should advance conservative solution

For many in my generation, the emerging energy crisis has cast doubt on the preferred climate strategies of the environmental left: Constriction and restriction to deliver emissions reductions. It's clearer than ever that going forward solutions must promote energy independence and strengthen our domestic industries.

As a conservative and conservationist, I too am an ardent believer in U.S. leadership on climate but have become even more resolute in advocating for solutions that secure our economy, promote our home-grown industries, and clean up harmful pollution.

The Republican-led Baker-Shultz Carbon Dividends Plan uniquely fits that bill. Born of market and limited government principles, this proposal would address both the international and domestic dimensions of climate and energy – and boost American production along the way.

Domestically, it would use market-prices to unleash innovation and investment, sweep away regulations, and support American families.

GUEST COLUMNIST

CHRIS ELMORE
Chair, Hamilton Co. Young Republicans

Internationally, it would hold foreign polluters accountable for their pollution by charging them fees at the border. Since U.S. manufacturing is already much cleaner and more efficient than foreign producers, the “border carbon adjustment” fees would boost domestic production.¹

This would eliminate the free pass foreign nations get for their lower environmental standards, whether it's China or Putin's Russia, whose manufacturing production is four times dirtier and more carbon-intensive than America's. It's a policy that, as one Russian oil tsar fears², could damage Russia more than sanctions alone.

For these benefits, Republican leaders across the state formed Hoosiers for Carbon Dividends³ last year to push this conservative proposal for climate and energy. This year, the momentum for action built when State Senator Rick Niemeyer, who hails from steel-manufacturing-dense Northwest Indiana, introduced a resolution⁴ at the Statehouse urging his federal counterparts to support this approach.

In Indiana, we're blessed to have strong Republican Congressional leadership on these topics – from Senators Mike Braun and Todd Young to Congressman Jim Baird. With a smart solution like Baker-Shultz, the GOP could knuckle down on both challenges, beat back the restrictive strategies of the left, and secure prosperity and a clean environment for decades to come.

Chris Elmore is the 2021-2022 chairman of the Hamilton County Young Republicans and a student at Purdue University.

together to encourage communities to commit to a simple act with a powerful impact – giving blood or platelets for patients in need.

This spring, it's critically important the Red Cross maintains a readily available blood supply for those who rely on transfusions for treatment. Since donated blood has a limited shelf life, supplies must be constantly replenished to ensure a sufficient inventory of blood products. With no substitution for blood and no way to manufacture it, volunteer donors are the only source of blood products for patients with sickle cell disease, car accident victims and parents experiencing difficult childbirths.

As a blood donor himself, Jerry Rice urges individuals to roll up a sleeve and take pride in the life-saving impact they're making. “Here's your chance to make a difference,” said Rice. “You never know who you might be helping. It could be a friend or family member who needs blood – and that's why it's so important.”

As a thank you, Suburban Propane is fueling a lifetime of road-tripping memories with a special opportunity for donors who answer the call to give power to patients. Those who come to give blood, platelets or plasma now through May 19 will be automatically entered to win a travel trailer camper that sleeps eight. Plus, those who come to give will also receive a $10 e-gift card to a merchant of choice, all courtesy of Suburban Propane. (Terms apply; visit rcblood.org/camper for details.)

A simple act can lead to lifesaving care. To schedule an appointment to donate blood, platelets or plasma, download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

A free day of outdoor recreation with the Indiana Department of Natural Resources is coming your way on Sunday, May 1, kicking off Visit Indiana Week, a promotion of the Indiana Destinations Development Corporation that runs May 1 to 7.

For starters, the Indiana state parks, state recreation areas, reservoirs (on.IN.gov/stateparks), and state forests (on.IN.gov/forestry) that charge a daily gate fee for each entering vehicle will waive that fee for all guests on May 1. Sunday is also the first Free Fishing Day of the year. Indiana residents will be able to fish on that day without a fishing license or trout/salmon stamp, with all size and bag limits applying for those who keep fish.

Free Fishing Day applies to all public waters in Indiana, and free admission provides the perfect chance to fish at one of the many DNR destinations that offer fishing. You can find a fishing destination at on.IN.gov/recfinder.

Free Fishing Day is an ideal chance for anglers to share fishing with someone who does not have a license. To help them get started, fishing tips and videos are at on.IN.gov/learn-2fish. You can find public places to fish at on.IN.gov/where2fish. This year's other Free Fishing Days are June 4 and 5 and Sept. 24. Learn more at on.IN.gov/fishfree.

When you visit a DNR destination on May 1, regardless of whether you fish, make sure to check in with an Indiana State Nature Passport. Doing so will launch your eligibility for winning prizes from DNR. The grand prize is a package that includes a 2022 State Parks Pass, a $50 gift card for camping, and a subscription to Outdoor Indiana magazine.

In addition, those who donate to the Indiana Natural Resources Foundation (on.IN.gov/nrfdonate) in May will earn a free check-in on their nature passport.

Report: Domestic violence cases in central Indiana become more severe during 2020

The REPORTER

Domestic Violence Network (DVN) has released the 2020 edition of the State of Domestic Violence in Central Indiana report. The report examines key data and trends on the state of domestic violence during the first year of the COVID-19 pandemic. Organizations across the board noted that since the pandemic, domestic violence has become more severe. The new report includes 2020 data collected for central Indiana from various direct service providers in the area, as well as the Indiana Coalition Against Domestic Violence (ICADV). Key findings in the report include the following:

- There were approximately 13,500 service calls made in 2020 to five agencies in the region that provide services to domestic violence victims. Shelter capacity greatly diminished across organizations due to the safety measures put into place for COVID-19. As a result, 1,152 individuals were denied service due to capacity issues across three organizations. According to a survey conducted by the Indiana Criminal Justice Institute, there was a 43 percent increase in shelters that reported being under capacity.
- Calls to the Indianapolis Metropolitan Police Department (IMPD) for domestic violence nearly doubled from 2019 to 2020.

- There were 3,709 arrests made for domestic violence, approximately 300 fewer than in 2019. COVID-19 and the safety precautions put into place for the jail system play into these numbers significantly.
- Of the 41 fatalities in 2020, 83 percent (33 deaths) were caused by a firearm. Forty-one percent of these fatalities were victims of domestic violence, and 59 percent were the perpetrators, family members, and bystanders.

In 2020, there were 41 fatalities in central Indiana. This number is in line with 2018 and 2019, but there is cause for concern in the drastic increase in the use of firearms for domestic violence-related fatalities. In 2018 and 2019, firearms were used in 65 percent of the fatalities, but in 2020 that number jumped to 83 percent. Service providers also observed more weaponry being used, a higher level of violence, and more strangulation than in the past.

“The pandemic has put more stress on the system, causing local organizations to adapt to keep victims and survivors safe when seeking shelter was not an option due to COVID-19 safety measures,” DVN Executive Director Kelly McBride said. “DVN partnered with Children’s Bureau, Inc. and Families First to help in this effort by using seed money and grants to provide 248 individuals with housing, hotel rooms, utility payments, and car repairs. Despite the circumstances in 2020, nearly 7,000 individuals were still able to access safe shelter from central Indiana direct service providers.”

Hamilton County, Indiana:

Living the dream

Noblesville school board

race already heating up

I was brought up in the hustle, bustle burbs of Washington, D.C. in Annandale, Va. It was a great place to grow up with the economic security of the federal government employing most people and government contractors employing the rest.

Sounds good, but you know what was missing? The “Honest to Goodness” community we have here in Hamilton County. Hamilton County, Indiana has been able to strike the right balance of growth, culture, jobs and a sense of community while maintaining low taxes and a great quality of life.

Our family moved to Hamilton County in 2010 after living in many different places, including Virginia, Canada, Pennsylvania, New York and a short stint in Vienna, Austria. None of those places can beat the quality of life we have right here in Hamilton County. Our many farmers markets, the Christkindlmarkt, the Circle of Lights Tree Lighting, Artmobilia, the Carmel International Arts Festival, Late Night on Main, The Center for the Performing Arts, Second Saturday Gallery Walks – these are just a few of the many memory making events that have made our family fall in love with this area.

GUEST COLUMNIST

More than just fun community events, we have a robust, diverse economy. I have a friend who is a pig farmer and another friend who is a research scientist. They both love their jobs and contribute to our world in important ways.

Hamilton County is also unique within the Hoosier State. We are home to three of the largest 20 cities and towns in the state (Carmel at No. 8, Fishers at No. 9, and Noblesville at No. 14). We have needs that are more diverse and larger scale than most of the rest of the state – not better or worse, just different. And if we are not careful this dream can become a nightmare.

For a community to continue to thrive, it needs a vision for the future. Our leaders have pursued the vision for an innovative, prosperous, safe and welcoming community. To see that vision through and maintain our community spirit, we need to focus on security, economy, infrastructure and community; ensuring that while we grow, we focus on the essential infrastructure to keep our growing community a wonderful place to work and play.

Noblesville United, a parent and family interest group, held a meeting Monday night at Life Church, 2200 Sheridan Road.

The group’s members are supporting Melba Kiser and Misti Ray for Noblesville school board. The group’s concerns center on school performance, academic excellence, and individual freedom.

One speaker noted that test scores within Noblesville Schools had dropped by more than 40 percent in the last six years. It was suggested that schools focus on reading, writing and arithmetic rather than on “woke ideology.”

The opening prayer was offered by Life Church Campus Pastor Micah Beckwith, and students Tori Hanley and Annabelle Fiore gave the Pledge of Allegiance and performed the National Anthem, respectively.

Elijah Condellone spoke on the importance of the upcoming school board elections, and Erin Tuttle gave a review of parental rights. Current Noblesville School Board Member Laura Alerding spoke on how to successfully prepare for a school board campaign.

Condellone then introduced the candidates – Kiser and Ray – and moderated questions from the audience.

Letter to the Editor

Gossard: I’ve never interfered with Mayor Cook’s ability to see Westfield’s financial data

Dear Editor:

I have seen a couple Letters to the Editor recently and felt I needed to respond.

As many know, I have faithfully served the citizens of Westfield for decades as the city’s elected Clerk Treasurer. I believe that one of the most important duties of my elected office is safeguarding the city’s finances. Critical to the discharging of this important duty is maintaining the security and integrity of the city’s data systems. If anyone – whether a city official, employee or a third party – has the ability to gain unfettered and complete access to these systems, then the security of city’s finances is jeopardized.

To be clear, I have never interfered with the mayor’s ability to see and use the city’s financial data and information for the benefit of the city or other city business. This includes complying with the mayor’s financial review and providing information and documents to his self-appointed review team. I continued this cooperation even when it became clear that the primary purpose of his appointed financial review team was to undermine public confidence in my office, which was evident by BKD’s biased report that cost taxpayers $451,404.

What I could not and cannot abide by is any person outside of my office having the ability to manipulate or alter financial data through the granting of “administrator level” access into our systems.

This is true whether it is Mayor Cook himself, his appointees, employees, city IT personnel, or non-city third parties who desire such access. The mayor has access to all our city reports and he, his administration and all department heads are able to view all financial data at any time.

I understand why certain citizens have identified mistrust as the primary reason for the difficulties between the mayor’s administration and my office.

After all, an administrative employee conducted a raid of my office in July 2021 in an effort to stop my investigation into remote access software found on all the computers in my office – an investigation that as an independently elected official for the City of Westfield, it is my responsibility to safeguard all financial data. I was fulfilling my elected role by hiring the proper forensic IT investigator to investigate this issue. Search warrants were executed against administration employees.

However, the cause of mistrust, and the reasons for ongoing difficulties with the administration, have nothing to do with my office.

Cindy Gossard
Westfield Clerk Treasurer

ATI's staged reading of Two Henrys brings family secrets, guilt, grief . . . and humor

The REPORTER

Sean Blake, Judy Fitzgerald and Jan Lucas will be the trio of Midwestern snowbirds unpacking family secrets in a May 14 developmental staged reading of Kenneth Jones' comedy-drama Two Henrys, part of Actors Theatre of Indiana's (ATI) Lab Series of new play readings. Richard J. Roberts directs the play set at the dawn of marriage equality and the dusk of the worst days of the AIDS epidemic.

The 2 p.m. presentation in Carmel represents the latest draft of the intimate story of grief, guilt, prejudices, perceptions – and hope.

Playwright Kenneth Jones, who'll be in residence with ATI in May, calls the play "an unlikely comedy populated by Midwestern snowbirds who are seeking to preserve family. It begins with a funeral but ends in joy – expect tears and laughter."

Here's how ATI bills Two Henrys:

"Constance [Jan Lucas] has just lost her husband, Mike, after 60 years of marriage. But his sudden death isn't the only grief inside her as she prepares for his wake. The sting of losing her son, Henry, to HIV/AIDS 15 years earlier is aroused again with the arrival of a stranger at her home: Henry's partner, also named Henry [Sean Blake], has come to express his condolences – and to make a connection with the mother-in-law he never knew. As the booze flows, are the surviving widow and her grown daughter, Amy [Judy Fitzgerald], ready to raise a glass to the unexpected guest? Two Henrys is a humor-laced drama about guilt and grief, perceptions and prejudices and the urge to find family."

ATI artistic director and co-founder Don Farrell said, "Actors Theatre of Indiana is very pleased to reunite with Alabama Story playwright Kenneth Jones for an Equity staged reading of his heartfelt drama. Although the worst days of the AIDS crisis are in the past, the play's themes are universal and quite poignant today. We look forward to presenting his play to our audiences here in central Indiana."

Click here to reserve tickets to the ATI Lab Series reading of Two Henrys, which will include a talk-back, at 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 14.

Two Henrys previously enjoyed two separate fully staged workshops (Red Mountain Theatre Company in Birmingham, Ala., and Pacific Resident Theatre in Venice, Calif.) and a number of developmental readings (Utah's Pioneer Theatre Company, Westchester County's Hudson Stage Company), including two streaming events during the COVID pandemic (Wisconsin's Third Avenue Playhouse and New Jersey's Cape May Stage). The two-act play was a two-time semi-finalist in the O'Neill National Playwrights Conference.

A perusal copy of Two Henrys is available at New Play Exchange, or contact the playwright directly to request a free perusal copy or to inquire about performance rights for a world premiere opportunity.

Director Richard J.

Roberts is resident dramaturg of Indiana Repertory Theatre in Indianapolis. For Actors Theatre of Indiana, he has directed The 39 Steps, My Fair Lady, The Musical of Musicals and two productions of Sweeney Todd. At Indiana Rep, he directed The Night Watcher, Neat, Bridge & Tunnel, Pretty Fire, The Giver, The Power of One, Twelfth Night, multiple editions of A Christmas Carol, among other titles.

Sean Blake's many credits include work at Northlight Theatre, Baltimore Centerstage, Goodman Theatre, Seattle Rep, Pasadena Playhouse, Alabama Shakespeare Festival and Long Wharf Theatre, to name a few. He appeared as Sportin' Life (Jeff Nomination Best Supporting Actor – Musical) in the critically acclaimed Porgy and Bess at Chicago's Court Theatre, where he also choreographed the critically acclaimed production of Caroline, Or Change.

Judy Fitzgerald is associate artistic director and co-founder of ATI. Her many regional, touring and New York credits since joining Equity in 1993 include stints at Radio City Music Hall, Madison Square Garden, Birmingham Theatre, Georgia Ensemble Theatre, Westchester Broadway Theatre, Pennsylvania Center Stage, Blowing Rock Stage Co., The Mint Theatre, The Weathervane Theatre, The Ordway. With Actors Theatre of Indiana she has been seen as Mama Rose in Gypsy, Keely in Pete-n-Keely, Melpomene in Xanadu, Mrs. Lovett in Sweeney Todd, Kost in Cabaret as well as many others.

Jan Lucas, a Chicago native, has worked at Indiana Rep and Phoenix Theatre in Indianapolis, as well as at Jewish Theatre of Bloomington, Goodman Theatre, Steppenwolf and Remy Bumppo Theater Company in Chicago, among many other theaters.

Actors Theatre of Indiana previously produced Kenneth Jones' popular Alabama Story (published by Dramatists Play Service) and presented his six-actor comedy Hollywood, Nebraska in an earlier Lab Series reading. Hollywood, Nebraska will get a "rolling world premiere" of at least three productions in the 2022-23 season. The script is licensable from the playwright. Ask for a free perusal copy or find it at NewPlayExchange.org.

Here's Kenneth Jones' playwright note from the script of Two Henrys:

"Set in 2012, this play is a time capsule, a period piece, a remembrance of attitudes, perceptions and prejudices that existed – and still exist. Most everything spoken in the play is based on words spoken directly to me or to my LGBTQ+ friends. This is a 'coming out story' – a genre considered by some to be passé. I've tried to make it unique by telling it through the lens of middle-aged and older people. It's a delayed coming out experience – the talk a son and a mother never got to have. They are finally having the talk now, but not to their blood family. This is how the conversation might have gone with their respective family had timing and circumstance allowed it. As long as there are forces shoving people into the darkness, coming out stories will be relevant, necessary and alive. And if you think we're beyond these stories, you only have to look at the alarming attempted suicide statistics in the LGBTQ+ community, particularly among queer youth. Talking is still necessary."

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

You, however, must teach what is appropriate to sound doctrine. Teach the older men to be temperate, worthy of respect, self-controlled, and sound in faith, in love and in endurance.

Likewise, teach the older women to be reverent in the way they live, not to be slanderers or addicted to much wine, but to teach what is good. Then they can urge the younger women to love their husbands and children, to be self-controlled and pure, to be busy at home, to be kind, and to be subject to their husbands, so that no one will malign the word of God.

Similarly, encourage the young men to be self-controlled. In everything set them an example by doing what is good. In your teaching show integrity, seriousness and soundness of speech that cannot be condemned, so that those who oppose you may be ashamed because they have nothing bad to say about us.

Titus 2:1-8 (NIV)

FISHERS - In a Mudsock competition, anything can happen and it usually does.

Since the Mudsock softball game at Hamilton Southeastern Tuesday went to extra innings, many things happened. It took nine innings to decide a winner, and that was Fishers, as the Tigers scored in the top of the ninth to edge out the Royals 6-5 and claim the Mudsock trophy.

Hannah Trueblood drove in Fishers' winning run with one out and the bases loaded. Trueblood grounded into a fielder's choice that was enough to send Sophie Schoch in to score; Trueblood also made it safely to first to keep the bases loaded.

Southeastern's Tessa Sexauer made a double play to end the inning; she caught a line drive, then tossed it to Payton Fox at third base for the third out. But the Tigers retired the Royals 1-2-3 in the bottom of the inning. Kate Murray finished the game with a strikeout.

"It's always a grind," said Fishers coach Daren James. "Every time we play them, it's always close, no matter who's going what direction as far as wins and losses, this is always a close game."

The Royals scored the game's first runs, getting two across in the bottom of the first inning. Sage Ladig doubled in Lani Wyrick, then Maddie Bucher (running for Ladig) scored when Fox reached on error.

The Tigers tied the game in the top of the third. Kaylee Kardash led off with a double, then later scored when Murray hit a sacrifice fly. Trueblood scored the tying run, and it was now 2-2.

Southeastern got the lead right back in the bottom of the inning. Jenna Chase doubled in Taylor Larson, then Fox's double sent Chase home.

The Fishers softball team won the Mudsock game Tuesday night, beating host Hamilton Southeastern 6-5 in nine innings. The Tigers trailed 5-2 before rallying to win the game. Turn to Page 13 to see more pictures.

A run in the fourth inning gave the Royals a 5-2 lead. Wyrick's sacrifice fly sent Reece Garland home. The Tigers answered in the top of the fifth when Trueblood hit a sacrifice fly to score Abby Gavin.

Fishers again tied the game in the sixth inning. Schoch hit a single to send Trueblood home, then Nyah Duplessis scored on a passed ball.

"We played a couple of games last week, our energy level just wasn't really there," said James. "We've been talking a lot about it this week, about bringing the energy. There's always a lot of energy in this game anyway, so I think they probably a little extra amped up tonight."

Schoch finished the game with three hits. Murray pitched seven innings for the win, striking out 10.

"We battled for nine innings," said HSE coach David Cook. "There's no doubt about that."

Emma Vance was 3-for-4 for Southeastern, while Alex Kiemeyer was 2-for-2. Ladig pitched the entire game, with four strikeouts.

"We got to correct a few little mistakes," said Cook. "We're close. We're right there."

Fishers is 4-8 and will host Mount Vernon Thursday. Southeastern is 6-0 and plays tonight at Kokomo.

Hamilton Heights' Maddison Martin signs to play tennis for Anderson University

Maddison Martin, Hamilton Heights senior, has signed a letter of intent to play tennis for Anderson University in Anderson, Indiana this fall. Anderson University is a member of the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference (HCAC) and a NCAA Division III athletic institution. She is the daughter of Ashley Whelchel.

Martin, who wants to be a graphic designer, chose Anderson University because it was welcoming, friendly, offered a strong graphic design and digital arts program and she could continue playing tennis at the college level.

Martin is a multi-sport (tennis and basketball) athlete who is also a member of 4-H. She is a strong student, who is skilled on the court and in the ring showing cows and sheep during 4H competition in the summer. She has received Academic All-State Awards and Most Improved Player for tennis. She is on the A/B Honor Roll and has earned various awards in 4-H during her tenure.

She says she has been passionate about the sport of tennis since she started high school. She practices as much as she can during the season and off-season focuses on the things she needs to improve to get better and be a stronger force on the court.

"Maddi has worked extremely hard on her tennis game, especially in the off-season, and it shows," said Kurt Ogden, Hamilton Heights High School Athletic Director. "She has earned this opportunity from her dedication to the sport and the good coaching she has received along the way. We're very happy for Maddi and excited that she gets to continue her tennis career at Anderson University."

Martin credits her coaches, Wayne Rupe, and Jeannan Dodson for having a huge impact on her as a player and a person. "They are the ones who made me better by giving their time," said Martin. "They weren't just my coaches; they were also like parents because they cared about my mental and physical health. She is also grateful to her mom who has been there for her as well.

Qualifying procedure expanded for 106th Indianapolis 500

The most pressure-filled four laps in racing have become even more challenging for those looking to qualify well and win the pole position for the 106th Indianapolis 500 presented by Gainbridge.

INDYCAR officials have announced adjustments to PPG Presents Armed Forces Qualifying on Saturday, May 21 and Sunday, May 22, which sets the field for "The Greatest Spectacle in Racing" on Sunday, May 29 at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

After Day One of qualifying from noon to 5:50 p.m. Saturday, May 21, Day Two will include two rounds of qualification attempts to decide the first four rows, including pole position.

Starting in reverse order of speeds based on Day One, each of the top 12 drivers will have a guaranteed attempt to post a traditional four-lap qualifying time starting at 4 p.m. The fastest six will advance to the Firestone Fast Six at 5:10 p.m. to determine positions one through six and compete for the NTT P1 Award for pole. The slowest six will fill out starting positions seven through 12 according to their recorded time.

In the Firestone Fast Six, each entrant is again guaranteed one attempt and will qualify in reverse order based on their Top 12 qualification results. The fastest wins pole position, which includes a $100,000 prize, with the remaining five drivers filling out the remainder of the first two rows.

"We have an incredibly deep field heading into this year's Indianapolis 500," said INDYCAR President Jay Frye. "The timing is right to implement a new and dramatic way to expand one of the most intense weekends on our calendar. Winning pole position for the '500' is an incredible feat, and with this new format, it will be even more challenging."

2022 NTT INDYCAR SERIES championship points will be awarded for those who advance to the Top 12 qualifying session. The Indy 500 pole winner will receive 12 points, the second fastest will receive 11, and points awarded will decrease by one-point increments down to 12th fastest (one point).

"Indianapolis 500 qualifying weekend always is special," Indianapolis Motor Speedway President J. Douglas Boles said "This format will give our fans even more opportunities to see INDYCAR'S world-class drivers compete on racing's biggest stage. While winning the race is the ultimate prize, capturing pole position for the '500' is one of motorsports' most prestigious honors and almost a race within a race. I cannot wait to see this expanded format on the final Sunday before Race Day."

A Last Chance Qualifying session for spots 31-33 is scheduled from 2 to 3 p.m. Sunday, May 22 if there are more than 33 entries competing for a spot in the world's most prestigious auto race. Each entry is guaranteed one attempt and can make multiple attempts until time expires. If multiple attempts are made, previous times are withdrawn, and the fastest non-qualified car assumes the 33rd spot.
