Old-time wisdom still applies today

An interesting recent lunch topic concerned some of the old-time statements made by my father. He once said, "To get a corn crop, you have to plant corn."

He went on to explain how everything produces according to its own kind. If you want soybeans, you have to plant soybeans. As he expanded, he mentioned that to have a friend, you needed to be a friend, and to make money, you often have to spend money.

Ancient Jewish wisdom had a similar instruction. "Give, and it will be given to you. Good measure, pressed down, shaken together, running over, will be put into your lap. For with the measure you use it will be measured back to you." What is the "it" in the ancient wisdom? The "it" refers to what you gave. Give friendship to receive friendship. Give money and you will receive money or, as it was explained by my father, "It takes money to make money."

Reporter columnist's latest book details Vietnam veteran's, wife's love letters

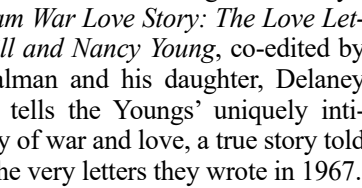

The REPORTER

It is perhaps the greatest, true love story never told – until now.

U.S. Marine Bill Young of Lock Haven, Pa., was a 20-year-old machine gunner in the thick of things in Vietnam, not sure if he would live to see the next sunset.

Nancy Market of Newburgh, Ind., was a recent high-school graduate headed for nursing school, enjoying her last idyllic teenage Southern Indiana summer. At first, they were virtual strangers, patriotic pen pals, sending scores of letters to each other. Soon, without Bill and Nancy ever meeting in person or even hearing each other's voices on the phone, the letters became love letters. In 2021, Bill and Nancy celebrated their 53rd wedding anniversary.

Vietnam War Love Story: The Love Letters of Bill and Nancy Young, co-edited by Scott Saalman and his daughter, Delaney Saalman, tells the Youngs' uniquely intimate story of war and love, a true story told through the very letters they wrote in 1967.

Two Noblesville students earn coveted 'Next Generation' educator scholarship

The REPORTER

Noblesville High School students Callie Mitchell and Delaney Shoemaker, who are preparing to become teachers, are among this year's recipients of the state's Next Generation Hoosier Educators Scholarship, according to State Rep. Chuck Goodrich (R-Noblesville).

The scholarship program, established in 2016 through legislation supported by the Indiana General Assembly, awards $7,500 per year to 200 high-achieving students. Recipients must commit to teaching in Indiana for a minimum of five years after graduating college. Current high school seniors or college students are eligible to apply. "This scholarship program encourages our highly motivated recent graduates to stay in Indiana for their post-secondary education, and teach in Hoosier classrooms," said Goodrich, a member of the House Education Committee. "I look forward to seeing the impact Callie and Delaney make on young Hoosier students and wish them success with their studies."

Noblesville to enhance its western gateway with $72M Midland Pointe development

Common Council to discuss proposal at next Tuesday's meeting

The REPORTER

Noblesville Mayor Chris Jensen on Wednesday announced a partnership between Secure Holdings, LLC and Old Town Companies, LLC to create a $72 million mixed-use development on the western gateway of Noblesville.

City officials say Midland Pointe is part of the city's overall effort to enhance its gateways and tie quality of place to economic and workforce growth. The development is proposed at the southeast corner of State Road

32 and Hazel Dell Parkway.

The proposal includes 40,000 square feet of high-quality commercial/retail space that will leverage the visibility and proximity to State Road 32 and the Midland Trace Trail. The plan includes a variety of commercial uses including a Crew Car Wash, fuel station, bank, and in-line retail. A restaurant with outdoor dining is suggested at the eastern edge for access to the Midland Trace Trail. The southern portion of the development along the Midland Trace Trail will include stacked flats and townhomes.

"The 34-acre, mixed-use Midland Pointe development will catalyze development at the intersection of two major roadways on the western side of the city and along the Midland Trace Trail. Midland Pointe brings immediate density and energy, connecting the trail to an eclectic mix of commercial, residential and green space," Jensen said. "Midland Pointe also achieves the desired outcomes of the 2020 Noblesville Comprehensive Plan by creating mixed development nodes that offer convenient shopping and dining, and enhance multi-use transportation options, including pedestrian connectivity to the nearby trail system."

Midland Pointe will provide a trail spur available for public use off the Midland Trace Trail, marked by a trail head and augmented by several art pieces along the length of the development. The Midland Pointe

Carmel among 21 finalists across North America for Urban Land Institute's Awards for Excellence

Monon Boulevard & Midtown Plaza could get city global recognition

The REPORTER

The Urban Land Institute (ULI) today announced 21 finalists for its 2022 ULI Americas Awards for Excellence, one of the most prestigious awards programs in the real estate industry. This year's finalists include 19 developments in the United States and two in Canada.

Monon Boulevard and Midtown Plaza are what could take Carmel to the ULI Global Awards for Excellence, should the city take the Americas Awards.

As part of the 2012 Midtown Master Plan, Monon Boulevard expands the former "rails-to-trails" Monon Greenway project into a complete street, providing accessibility and multi-modal transportation options through dedicated sidewalks, high speed and local bike lanes, and roadway. Often referred to as Carmel's "beach-front property," Monon Boulevard is the backbone of Carmel spurring the rebirth of a formerly abandoned industrial corridor into the thriving Midtown redevelopment area. Providing a local connection from Carmel's Art & Design District to City Center and bikeable connection to neighboring Indianapolis, Westfield, and Sheridan, the district now hosts a diverse mix of residents, workers, and visitors with opportunities to engage with the community in meaningful and accessible ways.

recreation area integrated into the project, has become the "backyard" for the many apartment dwellers and workers in the district and a popular destination for more remote Carmel residents and visitors. Carmel provided 124 events in 2021, from Movies at Midtown and lunchtime concerts to the International Arts Festival, Holiday Trolley rides, and talent competitions open to people of all ages. Every day, children can be found playing on the lawn while their parents play outdoor billiards and enjoy the local brewery or taproom. Teens are often spotted playing ping-pong or chatting with friends on the adult swings.

This year, awards categories included Equitable Development, Low-carbon Development, Resilient Development, Small-Scale Development, and Urban Open Space, in addition to an open category that considers projects of all types. Winners will be announced this summer and will become finalists in the 2022 ULI Global Awards for Excellence, along with the winners of the Europe and Asia Pacific Awards for Excellence. Winners of the Global Awards will be announced in the fall.

The Awards for Excellence program, established in 1979 and subsequently expanded globally, is the centerpiece of ULI's efforts to identify and promote best practices in all types of real estate development. This idea, as simple as it is, has proven invaluable through my own life. But it has also been demonstrably true in the corporate world.

Take Walmart for example. Walmart’s mission statement, which is displayed at its Bentonville, Ark., headquarters is to “save people money so they can live better.” Walmart’s slogan famously stated, “Always Low Prices. Always.” Thus, Walmart “gave” by way of providing more products to more people at a lesser cost. In return, Walmart reaped a tremendous reward and has become one of the most successful corporations in the United States. Recently, Amazon has taken up this philosophy and provides low-cost home delivery for nearly any product imaginable. In return, Amazon has become one of,

if not, the most successful corporations in the world.

Not that we should act out of charity merely with self-interested motivations, but the words in the Book carry practical truth as well metaphysical truth about our world. That is why it is better to give than to receive. If you receive one kernel of corn, you only have one kernel of corn. But, if you give one kernel of corn to the soil, you get a whole ear of corn in return.

It is better to give than receive because those who give often have it to give ... whereas those who receive, many times, do not.

spur will include an event lawn space, a pond overlook and lead to “The Grove,” a central park-like amenity intended to serve as an amenity to the residents and engage the Midland Trace Trail with the commercial options proposed with the development.

“We view Midland Pointe as a dynamic, place-making addition to the west side of Noblesville. It’s the perfect place to showcase the best that Hamilton County and Noblesville have to offer,” Secure Holdings President Jim Adams said. “We have an exciting partnership with Old Town Companies and together we have the opportunity to transform a dynamic intersection in Noblesville. We are excited to engage with local retailers and unique restaurants and connect them with current and new residents on the west side along the Midland Trace Trail.”

“The City of Noblesville continues to experience vibrant growth and Old Town Companies is proud to play a small role in that success by creating walkable, resident-focused communities built with our focus on ‘Outstanding Locations, Timeless Designs,’” Old Town Companies CEO Justin Moffett said. “The combination of residential and commercial uses, along with greenspaces and trail connectivity, bring a synergy to the community that will certainly improve the quality of life for our residents, and hopefully will serve as a benefit to our neighbors. Our team is privileged to be invited to co-develop Midland Pointe with Jim Adams and Secure Holdings.”

The proposal will be presented to the Noblesville Common Council at its May 24 meeting. If approved, construction is anticipated to start later this year.

LOVE LETTERS

Scott Saalman, a recent Fishers transplant, first learned about the Youngs’ love story when interviewing them for a newspaper column in the Dubois County Herald for Valentine’s Day in 2016. After the interview, he was surprised to learn that Bill and Nancy had saved every letter they wrote to each other.

“It was a writer’s dream come true. I couldn’t believe my luck,” Saalman recalled. “I took a few bags home with me, reading them for the first time under a bed lamp’s glow and was struck by the dichotomy of that time period captured by two future lovers. The letters were well written and heartfelt, even poetic at times. One batch detailed the dreamy summer of an 18-year-old girl in small-town Indiana: Fourth of July fireworks, slumber parties, peaceful times spent along the river, a girl’s dream of becoming a nurse. The other batch detailed the horrors of the dense jungle, monsoons, a personal kill record, a soldier’s dismay upon hearing about civil unrest in the very country he was fighting for, and the deepest inner thoughts of a man unsure if he’d see tomorrow. Their letters were also a pop culture time capsule of 1967, what with many references to the music and movies of that time.”

Reading the scores of letters also caused Saalman to reflect upon the long-lost art of letter writing.

“Remember, these were actual handwritten letters, signed, sealed and delivered to the other side of the world, still smelling of Nancy’s perfume, one containing a locket of hair, from Newburgh to Nam, from Nam to Newburgh,” Saalman said. “It could be several days before those letters reached their target audience. Somehow Nancy’s letters found Bill wherever he was in the jungle. When Nancy’s mailbox remained empty for an abnormal period of time, she would assume the worst, but eventually Bill’s letters arrived (though that wasn’t a foolproof convincer that he was alive the day she read his letters). Compare that to today, how our emails and tweets, if not immediately replied to, cause great consternation and frustration – the need for speed, the lack thereof, breeding impatience and doubt, possibly jeopardizing the bloom of love. We need to write more love letters by hand; true love endures within the simmer, not the boil.”

The book was published in May of 2022.

PREVAIL
Advocating for Victims of Crime & Abuse

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

County Council working to mitigate inflation’s pressure on SR 37 cost overruns

May in Indiana is always fun. The Mini-Marathon and activities at the track seem to be the announcement that summer is almost here. I hope the changing seasons do not have the same impact on you that they do on me.

COLUMNIST
KEN ALEXANDER
Council Minutes

This year it was a bit different as I sought my first re-election to the Hamilton County Council. I did not have an opponent, which was nice as I managed through a very busy time at work, but it did not stop me from being involved in some of the primary campaigns.

This month’s County Council was a short agenda, which will allow me to also share some insights on the primary.

need to create asset life cycle management plans for all county buildings, equipment, and vehicles. Previously, the Council asked that when funds were needed for maintenance that requests would be made of Council, but this does not support good fiscal planning. I’ve spoken to many departments, and they are prepared to honor this request with many already doing this on their own.

These new budget instructions will help us reduce the risk of unplanned capital outlays and maintenance expenses by including maintenance and obsolescence plans with their budget requests. This is a sound business practice and one that will better inform the Council of upcoming expenses that we can incorporate into our fiscal plan.

The next item to clarify was the request of the county for funds to build out Superior Court 7, which has been required of the state based on our county’s demographic profile. You will have seen this new Court on your primary ballot. The funding was requested in two locations because as an additional appropriation it must be advertised, so we put it in our two funds which gives the Council the opportunity to make a choice of which fund to utilize as they have different impacts on our tax levy. We unanimously agreed to fund it out of the county’s general fund.

The last items to address are the road project requests. There was one project, 276th Street, that you will have noticed had several requests. This was done as we utilize the existing funds before going for additional appropriations from our county reserves. The other was appropriating funds for the anticipated State Road 37 overrun at the intersection of 141st Street and SR 37. I had made quite an issue of this of late, as I am worried that the inflation we are experiencing in all aspects of life will have a detrimental impact on these major projects.

As a person familiar with the construction industry, we have seen material and fuel inflation that exceeds double digits in just the first quarter of this year alone. We generally plan for project cost escalation due to inflation at about 3 percent annually. To put that in perspective during 2021, the construction pricing that I have witnessed showed a growth more than 12 percent, which has impacted construction projects across the country. The project, a collaboration between INDOT, the City of Fishers, and Hamilton County, bid on May 5 and the initial indications are that inflation and project cost escalation have again exceeded expectations.

I am working hard with all parties to address this issue, as it is my belief that the citizens of Hamilton County have funded enough of this project already and we need to work to live within the project budget even in these difficult times. Everyone agrees that the project needs to be rebid with some changes to scope, and we have not ruled out drastic changes to design to avoid additional appropriations from the county or city of Fishers.

Lastly, I want to address the primary elections. The county participation was roughly 11 percent, which is a 20-year low. I cannot state enough how important local elections are, whether it be the school board, a council position, the county prosecutor, or a judge. These decisions have immediate impacts on you and our community. Changes in Washington, D.C., and even the Statehouse take time to be implemented, but the decisions local bodies make are immediate.

I would love to hear from people about what can be done to increase voter turnout and/or educate voters on the issues at large. It is a quandary. The exchange of unfounded claims and campaign rhetoric turn people off, and elections suffer. I hope that on a local level we can do better. Hamilton County is a great place because of all of us, and it is incumbent on us all to participate and make sure that the right people are representing you. I ask that you work with me and others to create a better medium for the public debate.

If items mentioned above are of interest, please reach out to me or any member of the County Council. As always, I am thankful that the Hamilton County Reporter for publishing my Council updates and a special thanks to you, the readers and residents of Hamilton County, for reading it and being engaged in the discussion. Our county is better because of you all. I welcome your questions at ken.alexander@hamilton-county.in.gov.

Heights track team honors Westfield track student who passed away last fall

Dear Editor:

I wanted to reach out and let you know of a special act of kindness done by the Hamilton Heights Unified Track team.

They were our guests at Westfield High School’s senior night. WHS lost one of our senior team members, Dominic Strain, last fall to a tragic accident. We were honoring him along with his fellow classmates Tuesday night.

I let the HHHS Unified Track Coach know what we were doing, as it would create a bit longer of an evening. When they arrived, they brought custom-made green wrist bands with a white Shamrock on them. In the middle of the Shamrock was a "D" for Dominic. Their entire team wore them, and they gave one to each of our seniors and coaches.

There are a lot of difficult things happening in the world, I just wanted to shine a light on something good and compassionate in our community.

"Over the past year, Universal Cares has collaborated with the Hamilton County Sheriff's Community Foundation, Hamilton County Parks and Recreation, and

Spring butters up Hamilton County

The Reporter's local lensman, nature-nut and flower-friend John Geiger caught this shot of a bounty of butterweed this week in a field along State Road 32 just east of State Road 37. Thanks, John, not only for this sprig of springtime for our pages, but for finding a flowery field suitably shaded in Miller hues. Would you call that yellow, or Singapore sunset saffron? According to Geiger, as a member of the aster or daisy family, butterweed's beautiful striking yellow stands are an important early spring source of nectar for bees and other pollinators.

AG Todd Rokita pledges to defend Hoosier girls' rights to fair competition in athletics

When Governor Holcomb vetoed common-sense protections for girls sports and equality, he suggested the state would face legal hurdles. He said lawsuits were already being drawn up to challenge the law. This is why he claimed he had to veto the protections for Hoosier girls.

As the chief legal officer for Indiana, I can tell you that this reasoning is BS.

As legislators reconvene this month to override the governor's veto, my office stands ready to uphold the law and defend any challenges. Hoosiers won't be bullied by woke groups threatening girls sports. We won't kowtow to left-wing special interests and the Biden administration undermining equality in our state. We stand by the law and will vigorously defend it in court if and hopefully when the General Assembly overrides the veto.

TODD ROKITA
Ind. Attorney General

The passage of HEA 1041 to ban males from competing on female sports teams is an important step in protecting youth sports and has been championed by my office. Athletics are a core part of our kids' development and growth. They provide a safe, beneficial outlet for children while also engraining a healthy competitive spirit in our future generation.

By opening the floodgates for biological males to participate in female sports, we are not only discouraging young women and girls from joining a team in the first place, but we are also stripping them of scholarship opportunities, starting positions, and a chance to fairly compete.

The world watched as biological male Lia Thomas, who previously competed in men's collegiate swimming as the 462nd-ranked swimmer, won gold in the women's Ivy League Championships. Thomas took qualifying positions and podium spots away from female athletes who trained their whole lives to reach these competitions, only to compete on an unfair playing field.

There are vast biological differences when it comes to women and men. Men have higher bone density, muscle mass, and cardiovascular capacity. This creates an unsafe and unfair atmosphere for young female athletes working to improve their athletic prowess. In 2018, over 270 high school boys crushed U.S. Olympian Allyson Felix's time in the 400-meter in track and field.

The many examples of biological male athletes dominating female sports across the country show we are failing our girls. This is why leadership is so desperately needed, and I applaud the legislature's commitment to getting this legislation across the finish line.

Women have fought for equality for decades and to receive the same opportunities as men in sports – and yet, our country seems to have turned its back on these efforts. The pressure to cave is immense as woke corporations, Joe Biden, Hollywood, and cultural elites push their radical gender agenda. By caving and vetoing this bill, the governor made clear that appeasing these woke special interests means more to him than equal opportunity for Hoosier girls.

I am proud to see legislators' commitment to this commonsense policy with their pledge to return to the Statehouse on May 24 to override this veto. Hoosiers can count on me to defend it once it becomes law.

Indiana needs to join the nearly dozen other states that have similar laws to protect women's and girls' right to compete on an equal playing field, and once we do, I will eagerly fight any lawsuit that comes our way.

Todd Rokita serves as Indiana's attorney general.

Rep. Victoria Spartz returns from Ukraine’s frontlines, co-chairs classified House oversight hearing on aid spending

The REPORTER

Rep. Victoria Spartz returned to Washington, D.C., after spending the weekend in Ukraine where she traveled to the frontlines of the ongoing conflict and met with local authorities.

This is Rep. Spartz’s third trip to Ukraine since the Russian invasion began on Feb. 24 and follows her recent calls for proper oversight of the U.S. aid being sent into the country following the signing of the Ukraine Defense Lend-Lease Act of 2022.

“The American people are generous people, but as a Congress, we must ensure taxpayer resources are reaching those in need and being used efficiently,” Rep. Spartz said. “We also need to understand the situation on the ground to implement proper strategies.”

Rep. Spartz has led those voices calling for Congressional oversight of all U.S. aid to Ukraine, and she has called on House Committee on Government Oversight and Reform Chairwoman Carolyn Maloney (D-N.Y.) to hold a hearing to evaluate the federal government’s performance in the distribution of U.S. humanitarian and security assistance. Rep. Spartz on Wednesday co-chaired the first classified oversight House hearing on Ukraine, with more hearings expected in the future.

Since the start of the conflict, Rep. Spartz has visited numerous regions in Europe asking tough questions of government officials in each place. She has remained committed to ensuring U.S. resources are directed where they are needed the most to prevent a worsening crisis and help Ukraine defend itself and the international order.

Fishers-based INCOG BioPharma listed among best places to work in Indiana

The REPORTER
INCOG BioPharma Services, a Fishers-based contract development and manufacturing organization (CDMO) specializing in sterile injectables, was recently named as one of the Best Places to Work in Indiana, winning sixth place in the company’s size category. This 17th annual program was created by the Indiana Chamber of Commerce, and this year’s list included 125 companies. The statewide survey and awards program is designed to evaluate participating organizations and honor those with the highest levels of employee satisfaction and engagement in the workplace.

“We have many tremendous employers in the state, so it’s great to see more and more companies take part in this effort to evaluate their workplace cultures and gain the recognition they deserve,” Indiana Chamber President Kevin Brinegar. “These companies consistently demonstrate to their employees how much they value their contributions.”

To be considered for participation, companies had to fulfill the following eligibility requirements:

- Be a for-profit, not-for-profit business or government organization;
- Be a publicly or privately held organization;
- Have a physical operation in Indiana;
- Have at least 15 full- or part-time permanent employees working in Indiana;
- Have been in business for at least one year, at the program registration deadline.

“Receiving this recognition, just after our first year of establishing our business, is a wonderful endorsement of the culture we are creating, employees we are attracting and our commitment to outstanding customer service,” INCOG BioPharma Services Founder and CEO Cory Lewis said. “We are honored to be named among these great Hoosier organizations.”

Companies from across the state entered the two-part survey process to determine the Best Places to Work in Indiana. The first part consisted of evaluating each nominated company’s workplace policies, practices, philosophy, systems and demographics. This part of the process, the Employer Assessment, was worth approximately 20 percent of the total evaluation. The second part consisted of an employee survey to measure the employee experience. This part of the process, the Employee Feedback Survey, was worth approximately 80 percent of the total evaluation. The combined scores determined the top companies and the final rankings. Workforce Research Group managed the overall registration and survey process in Indiana, analyzed the data, and determined the final rankings.

INCOG BioPharma Services plans to create more than 150 high-paying jobs by the end of 2024. Actively hiring, INCOG provides an entrepreneurial environment that fosters innovation and promotes genuine teamwork to impact the life sciences sector for patients and influence the way things are done. Susan Elizabeth Cox

November 14, 1946 – May 12, 2022

Susan Elizabeth Cox, born on November 14, 1946, to William and Betty (Barnard) Peck in Lancaster, Pa., passed away peacefully on May 12, 2022, surrounded by her loving family in Noblesville.

Susan graduated from Park Forest Hill High School in Illinois in 1964 and attended Churchman Business College. Her father's job took the family to many places, including Argentina during Susan's high school years.

She met her husband of 54 years, Bruce Warren Cox, on a blind date and they knew right away they were meant for one another. Susan started raising her family while Bruce was a First Lieutenant in the Vietnam War. She lived with family and on military bases while Bruce was in service.

To support her family and have time with her children, Susan worked at Greenbriar Elementary School as a Librarian and at North Central High School as an Administrative Assistant.

An artist at heart, she could always be seen working creatively on paintings, flower arrangements, jewelry, crochet, or baking. Her hands were never empty; they were always busy in either crafting, or care for another.

She was an avid collector of antiques, specializing in handmade pottery, and a member of the Red Wing Collection Society and secretary of Indy Wingers. This passion led to a great many cherished friends and relationships. This tight-knit group traveled together to pottery events to enjoy craftsmanship and fellowship.

She deeply enjoyed time with family, reading, Colts and Pacers games, and was a member of Noblesville First United Methodist Church.

Quick with a laugh, assistance, or a supportive hug, friends and family knew they could always call on Susan in time of need.

She is survived by her husband, Bruce Cox; children, Jennifer (Matt) Jones of Westfield and Jeff (Kelly) Cox of Noblesville; grandchildren, Grady Britt, Kayleigh Britt, and Derek Jones; siblings, Debbie (Jim) Youngkin and Gregg Peck; brother-in-law, Gary Cox; sister-in-law, Sylvia (Ken) Barr; several nieces, nephews, great-nieces, and great-nephews; and her beloved dog, Maxx.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by her sisters-in-law, Kathy Peck and Judith Hoog.

Memorial services will be held at 11:30 a.m. on Friday May 20, 2022, at Noblesville First United Methodist Church, 2051 Monument St., Noblesville. Visitation will be from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at the church. Internment will be at Eagle Creek Cemetery in Westfield.

A heartfelt thank you to the staff of Riverview Health, Paradigm Health, and Noblesville First United Methodist Church for their care and gracious support.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to National Kidney Foundation of Indiana, 911 E. 86th St., Suite #100, Indianapolis, IN 46240; or Tunnel to Towers Foundation for Fallen First Responder Home Program at t2t.org.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

We have come to share in Christ, if indeed we hold our original conviction firmly to the very end. As has just been said:

"Today, if you hear his voice, do not harden your hearts as you did in the rebellion."

Who were they who heard and rebelled? Were they not all those Moses led out of Egypt? And with whom was he angry for forty years? Was it not with those who sinned, whose bodies perished in the wilderness? And to whom did God swear that they would never enter his rest if not to those who disobeyed? So we see that they were not able to enter, because of their unbelief.

David loved to support his grandchildren by attending their games and activities.

He is survived by his son, Shawn Kinnaman; son, Mike (Renita) Kinnaman; daughter, Tonia (Alvin) Harris; son, Rodney (Heather) Case; brothers, Allen Kinnaman and Kenneth Campbell; sister, Ellen (Gary) Kinney; 13 grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; and many nieces, nephews, and cousins.
