APPLES & SEED

Praise the Lord that Grandma had those children! Hardly a week passed that Mom and Dad didn't meet someone who was pleased to see their old schoolteacher, Tom Adler. The comments ran something like this: "I learned more math in your class than any place else." "My kids and grandkids sure need a teacher like you." "You're the best teacher I ever had."

When a mother thanked my dad for not smoking, she said her husband always smoked and her boys didn't smoke because their teacher didn't.

The archaic one-room schoolhouses (and today's small schools) may have had a few advantages over the bigger ones. Plus, they didn't seem to have the same bad influences that are so prevalent in the larger schools today. The results speak for themselves. Among my father's former pupils are doctors, lawyers, nurses, mechanics, farmers, salespersons, teachers, barbers, beauty operators, postal employees, bus drivers, pre-surgeons, and – if money is your criterion – several millionaires. The list is too long to continue.

There is scarcely a service my parents needed that a former student could not provide. From grocer to mechanic to heart specialist, my father's students did literally everything. Toward the end of my parents' lives, they saw their grandchildren entering the business world.

Like Grandpa, my parents had a final card. They had three healthy children. Mother remarked once about the number of lives our family have touched. "One apple – how many seeds? How many lives are touched?" How wonderful that God can count the apples in a seed.

PUPPY MILLS

Fines could be up to $2,500 per offense. Multiple violations could lead the City of Carmel to seek an injunction to shut the business down.

Aasen said pet stores can make a lot of money without selling cats or dogs. Most make their money from selling food, supplies, etc. and the sale of animals represents a very small percentage. According to the World Pet Association, in 2019 pet stores that only sold dry goods reported more total revenue per square foot ($403) than those that sold animals ($246).

Aasen said this ordinance is not meant to punish breeders, and, in fact, the American Kennel Club says they "believe the best way for a person to obtain a new pet is through personal interaction with the pet's breeder and the pet under consideration." Most breeders clubs' Code of Ethics state that their breeders refuse to sell their dogs to pet dealers or any other commercial sources of distribution.

Puppy mills breed dogs and cats in dirty, unsanitary conditions with little to no veterinary care. Mothers are bred every heat cycle and are usually killed when they can no longer produce. Many puppy mills do not practice humane euthanasia. Dogs are killed in cruel ways, including shooting or drowning.

Puppies are taken from their mothers too young and can develop serious health or behavioral issues due to the conditions in which they are bred and shipped.

"When I was a newspaper reporter in Florida, I personally saw police seize dogs from a puppy mill," Aasen said. "These dogs had to be shaved because they had matted fur. They were dangerously skinny. The smell was terrible. It was an awful scene."

Puppy mills contribute to pet overpopulation and every time an animal is brought to the Humane Society for Hamilton County, it costs taxpayers of the city from which it came.

Animals brought to shelters outside of Hamilton County are often euthanized. Three million dogs are euthanized in animal shelters nationwide every year.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

our candidate pool as someone who exhibited not only these strengths, but who also brings skills in planning, engagement, and financial management. We're happy to welcome him to the Noblesville Schools family and are confident he will continue to grow our success into the future."

Hile said he's ready to lead Noblesville Schools, but he wants to ensure he understands exactly what the wider community wants in its public school system.

"Noblesville Schools is well-known and highly respected throughout the state," Hile said. "I'm humbled and excited to have this opportunity to be part of such an outstanding school culture and community. Relationships are central to everything we do as educators, and I look forward to meeting and building strong connections with Noblesville students, staff, families, and community members."

Noblesville Mayor Chris Jensen said that "the community is grateful to Dr. Beth Niedermeyer and appreciates everything she has done for Noblesville Schools." Jensen added "I want to welcome Dr. Daniel Hile and his family to Noblesville. A passionate advocate for public education, Hile is known for his leadership, communications, professionalism, and community involvement and I look forward to working with him."

Hile has served on several boards including the American Association of School Administrators, Indiana Association of Public School Superintendents, Northeast Indiana Public Schools Association, Northeast Indiana Regional Partnership, and the Purdue University Educational Leadership and Policy Studies Advisory Board.

He has also collaborated with the Whitley County Economic Development Council, Churubusco Rotary Club, Churubusco Chamber of Commerce, Churubusco Redevelopment Council, and the Churubusco Main Street Committee.

In addition to a doctorate in educational leadership from Purdue University, where he has also served as a guest lecturer, Hile also holds a master's degree in education administration from Indiana University Fort Wayne, and a bachelor's degree in music education from Indiana University.

Hile, his wife Jana, and their two children plan to relocate to Noblesville. His son will attend Noblesville High School and his daughter will be a college student.

INTERVIEW

people struggle to answer. He credits that to Niedermeyer's work.

"She's done so many great things here and in the district already," Hile said. "In the first year or so my focus is going to be on relationships and getting to know everyone in this community as best I can. I want to fully understand what the norms are here. How does this community operate and what is important to everyone here? I am not a leader who thinks my job is to come in here and make a bunch of changes, especially in a district like Noblesville where things are already going so well."

Critical Race Theory

"If I am being honest, when this first became a topic a year or so ago, I think I speak for most of my peers in saying we were kind of caught off guard in a lot of ways because it was something that none of us even knew what it was," Hile said. "We all had to do some learning right alongside our communities."

Now that he and other educators have learned about Critical Race Theory and seen it become both a controversial and misunderstood topic, Hile told The Reporter in clear terms that he does not see a place for it in Noblesville schools.

"From everything I understand about what Critical Race Theory is, is that it is not something that is taught in our public schools, and it shouldn't be," Hile said. "It is a very advanced way of taking a look at society and it is not something that public schools should be doing. It does not match our academic standards here in the state of Indiana, so it is not something that we teach nor is it anything I have any intention of having in our Noblesville schools either."

Gender Identity

When asked about the challenges surrounding the debate over how to handle the gender identity discussion, Hile said it is a complicated issue and stressed that he wants to learn what Noblesville wants, rather than coming to his new role with a preset agenda.

"As a newcomer to the Noblesville community I will need to see where things already are," Hile said. "This is not a topic many folks have spoken to me about yet, so I have a lot of learning to do about the work that has already been done and what are the norms and expectations of this community on that."

Hile said in this area, as in others, his focus is about the quality of education and making schools a safe place for kids to be who they are.

"At the end of the day, regardless of what the specific approaches will be, I would hope that our focus always remains on making sure that every child who attends our schools and walks through those doors every day feels welcome, feels loved, feels cared for, feels accepted," Hile said. "I know there are a lot of other factors in this particular issue, and a community can feel very strongly on one side or the other or sometimes right down the middle. But at the end of the day I hope that we work through those conversations and see where things go nationally. I hope that we don't lose sight of the fact that we still want children to feel loved. We still want children to feel safe. They should feel like they can come to school ready to learn and not feel that they've been pushed aside or made to feel less."

Hile noted that he had not given The Reporter a specific answer and said that was because he wants to handle this, and other issues, in the way the community wants them handled.

"At the end of the day, different communities see this issue very differently and I think we all know that," Hile told The Reporter. "I think it would be presumptive of me to give a strong answer one way or the other before I truly understand what conversations have already happened and where we are in Noblesville right now."

School safety

"I don't think there is a school in the United States where school safety isn't at the front of their minds," Hile said. "Different cities have different perspectives on what that means and what they are ready to put into place or not. At my previous district, we had taken a pretty hard look at school safety. We made a lot of improvements to our facilities and to a lot of those physical things that I know a lot of schools have looked at and changed a lot of procedures."

According to Hile, Noblesville is one of the districts that many others in the state have looked to as a leader in school safety.

"A lot of the conversations that happened right here in this community impact what the rest of us did and is what we began to follow," Hile said. "We all learned a lot from that unfortunate incident that the Noblesville community had to go through. I'm very excited to get here and continue learning from the inside on some of those conversations that have happened, what are some of the lessons that were learned."

Director of Marketing and Communications Mar-nie Cook told The Reporter, "Since the school shooting, we have implemented over 50 different safety enhancements for Noblesville schools, including being one of only a few districts with full time NPD resource officers in all of our schools. These enhancements are thanks to funding from the 2018 community referendum."

Click here to see a full list of those enhancements.

Hile told The Reporter several times that he wants to hear from people in the community and build good relationships with the people and organizations here. Once his work email and work phone number are assigned and publicly available, The Reporter will pass them along.

Superintendent Hile posted a public video message to his new community on Wednesday evening. You can watch it at this link.

Four Hamilton County nominees will attend U.S. military academies

The REPORTER

U.S. Rep. Victoria Spartz (R-Ind.-05) announced Tuesday the names of six outstanding nominees from Indiana's Fifth Congressional District who were appointed and have accepted to attend the U.S. Air Force Academy, the U.S. Naval Academy and West Point.

"It's critical that our military remains the best trained, best equipped, and most importantly, the best lead military force in the world," Rep. Spartz said. "I know these outstanding nominees will represent Indiana, and our nation well."

Every applicant was

U.S. Air Force Academy
Ellison Nou – Carmel, Hamilton County
Samuel Schmidt – Westfield, Hamilton County
Scott Winger – Hartford City, Blackford County

U.S. Naval Academy
John Shetty – Fishers, Hamilton County
Grace Sullivan – Carmel, Hamilton County

West Point
Reid Wesley – Zionsville, Boone County

interviewed and then rigorously evaluated by the nomination committee on a variety of factors including academic and athletic achievements, extra-curricular activities, character, and motivation.

Interested high school students residing in Indiana's Fifth Congressional District can apply for upcoming class nominations at this link and submit their applications no later than Oct. 14, 2022.

AG Rokita reminds Hoosiers to stay safe from summer scams

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Todd Rokita encourages Hoosiers to avoid scams by being mindful as they prepare for out-of-town summer vacations. To ensure your time away is as safe as possible, use caution to avoid crafty scammers.

“When planning your vacation this summer, remember anyone can be the target of a scam,” Rokita said. “Often, when a deal seems too good to be true, it is. Be on the lookout for heavily discounted amusement park tickets, condos, and hotel rentals.”

Rokita shared the following list of tips to avoid common vacation scams:

Rokita

- Avoid high-pressure sales pitches before you book a trip.
- Be extra cautious when booking through an unfamiliar company. Check the Better Business Bureau ratings and research the name online to see if there are any allegations of scams.
- Read the fine print in the contract before you sign it. It will tell you about the conditions under which the operator can change or cancel the trip and the rules and penalties for cancellation.
- Rokita
- Pay by credit card. It gives you more protection than cash or checks.
- Use good judgment when sharing about your trip on social media. Consider changing your online privacy settings while on your trip.
- Lock your valuables, including personal information, in your trunk or hotel safe.
- If you believe you have been the victim of a vacation scam, file a complaint at indianaconsumer.com with Attorney General Rokita's office.

Actors Theatre of Indiana to hold evening of music, comedy at Feinstein’s Cabaret in Carmel

The REPORTER

Actors Theatre of Indiana is bringing Darrin Murrell and John Vessels back to the stage in Carmel, but this time on the Feinstein’s stage at the Hotel Carmichael.

Murrell and Vessels recently joined pianist Brent Marty starring in ATI’s hit production of The Big Bang. The two men are veterans of musical theater and comedy stages locally, regionally and nationally.

JUST A COUPLE OF FOOLS: A Vaudeville Cabaret! is a fast, funny and ridiculous laugh riot celebrating the history of comedy with songs, jokes and sketches from the Golden Age of entertainment.

Murrell and Vessels are joined again by Brent Marty for an evening of music and comedy paying tribute to the Vaudeville Stars of the 1920s. This rapid-fire, nostalgic performance combines slapstick humor, outrageous physical comedy, hilarious novelty songs and old-time favorites. The show features classic comedy routines from Abbott & Costello, Hope & Crosby, Laurel & Hardy and The Marx Brothers as well as over 20 songs including

Darrin Murrell (left) and John Vessels (right) will have you rolling with the fast-paced Vaudeville comedy and song of classics such as Abbott & Costello, Hope & Crosby, Laurel & Hardy, and The Marx Brothers.

“Ain’t She Sweet,” “Hello My Baby,” “Toot, Toot Tootsie” and “By the Light of the Silvery Moon.”

Guests will spend the evening sharing memories and laughs in a small intimate venue that offers the perfect “front row” seat – no matter where you are.

JUST A COUPLE OF FOOLS: A Vaudeville Cabaret! takes place Thursday, June 23. Doors open at 5:30 p.m. with the show beginning at 7:30 p.m. Dinner and drinks are available before the show. Feinstein’s Cabaret is located within The Hotel Carmichael at 1

Carmichael Square, Carmel. Tickets are available online at feinsteinshc.com.

Letter to the Editor

Shaffer: Carmel “doubles down” on debt despite $115M revenue shortage

Dear Editor:

Five years ago, the bond rating firm Standard & Poor’s warned, “In our view, [Carmel runs] the risk of high leverage and a heavy dependence on sometimes more-volatile tax increment revenues, we feel the city’s crowded budget and high fixed costs leave it vulnerable to unanticipated economic or operating swings.”

It’s 2022 and the unanticipated has arrived. Big time.

Data the city provides the state by statute indicates that, over the last decade, central planners have spent $70 million more per year than they have taken in.

Revenues of $3.37 billion compared to expenditures of $3.44 billion are largely due to the $115 million shortfall in revenues reported by the redevelopment group in just the last four years (when the State of Indiana ordered Carmel to break out redevelopment finances from city operations).

Far from heeding good advice, city progressives have doubled down on debt and are trying fruitlessly to rename large chunks of it “developer-backed bonds,” as if renaming debt pays it off.

The mayor remains mute as to his plan to reverse course even as interest rates and government-induced inflation climb.

Don’t let summer break slow down your child’s school success

Submitted

Research shows that the average student loses 17 to 34 percent of the prior year’s learning gains during summer break.* If your child already struggles with reading, this percentage could rise even higher.

This doesn’t have to be the case. ReadLS, a game-based cognitive therapy program for students struggling with dyslexia, improves reading skills by an average of two grade levels in 40 hours. ReadLS will also benefit those with ADHD and other reading and learning difficulties.

With ReadLS, not only could kids keep up their academic momentum into the next school year, but they could also move ahead, and stay ahead, of the curve. ReadLS is the perfect summer reading program for your child. It is built using fun and engaging games, so children are more inspired and motivated to complete the program. As an online software, ReadLS is suitable for use by parents in-home or through practitioners.

Kick off the summer season and get started with ReadLS by taking advantage of major savings! Register for ReadLS today and receive a limited time offer –

40 percent off – by entering coupon code SummerSavings40 during checkout. Go to ReadLS Sign-Up to get started. Offer is valid for the first 100 registrants.

The ReadLS approach boosts reading and enhances brain and executive development by using a Cognitive Therapy Approach. Its methodology includes reading decoding, reading comprehension, gradual cognitive load increase, an increase in visual movement, an increase in word attack difficulty level, homophones, and an increase in multi-tasking.

Four local groups get $310K in grants from United Way of Central Indiana

The REPORTER

United Way of Central Indiana announced June 14 that it is awarding $8.3 million to 63 organizations to help them meet the basic needs of people and families across the region.

Locally, four organizations within Hamilton County will receive a combined total of $310,000.

United Way's Basic Needs Fund is designed to help the most vulnerable access food, housing, health care and transportation.

An 18-member committee of United Way board members, staff and community volunteers reviewed applications and selected the recipients, awarding grants ranging from $40,000 to $320,000.

"To achieve stability, people must first have their basic needs met," said Mary Jones, United Way's senior director of basic needs. "These funds support services that help people with life's essentials."

Local Basic Needs Fund grantees

Alternatives Inc – $100,000

Boys & Girls Club of Noblesville – $60,000

PrimeLife Enrichment – $50,000

Shepherd's Center of Hamilton County – $100,000

Organizations that received funding during this grant cycle serve people in Boone, Hamilton, Hancock, Hendricks, Marion, Morgan and Putnam counties.

Central Indiana home buyers benefit from May residential real estate market inventory increase

The REPORTER

May 2022 was a favorable month for central Indiana home buyers with all 16 central Indiana counties experiencing significant increases in available housing inventory.

Monthly real estate statistics from F.C. Tucker Company revealed that May 2022 pended home sales decreased 2.2 percent compared to May 2021, while year-to-date home sale prices increased 13.4 percent. Central Indiana housing inventory increased 35.6 percent compared to this time last year.

The average May home sale price for the 16-county central Indiana region was $332,405 an increase of 14.4 percent compared to May 2021. Pended home sales decreased, down 2.2 percent compared to this time last year and available housing inventory increased, up 35.6 percent compared to May 2021.

In May 2022, 4,210 central Indiana homes were purchased, down 2.2 percent from the 4,303 sold in May 2021. Shelby County showed the greatest increase in pended home sales with 33.3 percent growth compared to May 2021 while Brown County pended sales had the greatest decrease with 47.6 percent fewer homes sold in May 2022 compared to this time last year.

The year-to-date sale price of homes in central Indiana continued its upward climb. Decatur County recorded the highest average year-to-date home sale price increase at 31.4 percent and Boone County had the highest average home sale price in the region at $468,431. Homes sold in 19 days on average, 20.8 percent faster than in 2021. Homes in Shelby County left the market 10 days, or 33.3 percent faster than in 2021 – the greatest decrease of the 16-county central Indiana area.

Hamilton County continues to see an active residential real estate market. According to F.C. Tucker Company, home sale prices increased up to 13.5 percent year-to-date to an average sale price of $462,865. Hamilton County saw a 4.7 percent increase in homes sold in May 2022 compared to this time last year. Housing inventory increased up to 49.8 percent compared to May 2021.

Central Indiana experienced a 35.6 percent increase in overall available home inventory May 2022, with 677 more homes available for sale than in May 2021. All 16 counties saw an inventory increase in May 2022 but Boone County had the largest inventory increase – up 166.7 percent compared to May 2021.

"Although home prices continued to rise in May, we saw a substantial increase in housing inventory compared to this time last year," F.C. Tucker CEO Jim Litten. "As interest rates continue to creep during the summer months, I anticipate the housing inventory will become even more robust and we will start to see a return to a more balanced market."

Of the pended home sales in the region last month, one was priced $2,000,000 or higher; 61 were priced $1,000,000 to $1,999,999; 474 were priced $500,000 to $999,999; 1,314 were priced $300,000 to $499,999; 1,283 were priced $200,000 to $299,999; 895 were priced $100,000 to $199,999; and 182 were priced at $99,999 or less.

Don't miss Seniors Citizens' bake sale at Federal Hill Commons

The Senior Citizens Organization of Noblesville will hold a bake sale from 8 a.m. to noon on Saturday, June 25 at the Noblesville Main Street Farmers Market at Federal Hill Commons.

Members will sell cakes, breads, cookies, candy, and other homemade items. The bake sale will be set up in the grassy area just east of the park's restroom building.

Summer scams & how to spot them

The REPORTER

Summer is here, and rising temperatures mean high air conditioning bills. Scammers have devised a new con that claims to "save you money." Con artists, posing as local government and utility company representatives, are offering phony home energy audits and services. Here's what you need to know to spot a scam.

How the scam works

You are contacted over the phone or in person at your front door. The "representative" introduces themselves as working for your utility company or with the energy division of your local government. They may even show you identification, but it isn't real.

Scammers inform you that you could be saving big on your energy bill. Some con artists will even insist on a tour of your home. These individuals may offer to install filters, thermostats or other energy equipment to lower your bill, or they may say you are eligible to pay less. In either case, they'll ask you to sign a contract and possibly even run a credit check. They will also ask for billing information, including your debit or credit card number.

In the end, you won't receive any discount on your energy bill or any services.

The equipment you were promised won't be delivered. That's because this "home energy audit" is a scam. You may, however, be charged the fees mentioned in the contract, and your personal information will be in the hands of a scammer.

How to avoid impersonation scams

- Don't agree to anything on the spot. No matter how good the deal seems or how urgent the individual makes their offer seem, take time to do your research. Tell the person you need time to think about their offer and hang up or close the door. Scammers may tell you you'll miss out on the deal, but taking immediate action isn't worth getting scammed.

- Go to the source. Contact your local government agency or your utility company directly to confirm whether they really are offering energy audit services. This is the quickest way to find out if you are dealing with an impostor.

- Get help. If you aren't sure about what you're being offered, talk to someone. Call a trusted friend or family member or contact your local BBB to find out if it you are dealing with a scam.

For more information on how to spot a scam, visit BBB.org/SpotaScam.

Doris Christine Beason August 2, 1931 – June 9, 2022

For 351 days, Doris Christine Beason, 90, Noblesville, was separated from her soulmate of more than 71 years, George. On Thursday, June 9, 2022, they were reunited, never to be apart again.

Doris was born on August 2, 1931, to Louis Edward and Annie Mable (Herb) Small in Vigo County, Ind., in the small town of Coal Bluff. Though the family moved to Tipton when she was still young, Doris would spend summers in Fontanet, often and fondly recounting the best of times with her cousins on the farm. As Doris grew, she would spend the days helping her mother hang wallpaper, wrangling her younger siblings, and babysitting to save dimes to spend summers at the pool. It was in Tipton that she met a lovely gentleman who would sweep her off her feet.

With George, Doris enjoyed raising three incredible girls in the small community of Noblesville, just south of where they first met. Friends and family were everything to them, and Doris never missed an opportunity to spend time with them, share a meal, or participate in her community.

She was no stranger to hard work, even working two jobs to go back to high school for her degree after her children were born, and later working as an insurance agent. Doris led a disciplined and diligent life, driven to persevere and overcome any setback, of which there were a few. She was devastated by the loss of her siblings, particularly her sister Judy Ann and brother Tommy at young ages.

Through it all, she still took every opportunity for fun, whether that was maintaining a pool and enjoying the water with her youngest daughter, to water skiing and enjoying the houseboat life, or her many creative outlets. Doris would paint the finishing touches on any woodworking project of George's. She would craft cookie jars and holiday décor from painted ceramics pieces to handmade Halloween costumes for her grandchildren.

Doris and George enjoyed the fruits of a large and bountiful garden. With the harvest, she would quart and freeze shelves of food for her family, bake a multitude of pies and "shelly" beans for her church community, and gift something every friend or family member who visited. You just didn't leave her house without a quart of tomatoes, a jar of jelly, or some fresh vegetables.

Doris was active in her community. She worked on the Noblesville tax board for nearly three decades and was a member of First Christian Church of Noblesville for nearly 40 years, serving in various capacities including as an elder, Christian Women's Fellowship member, and was an enthusiastic participant in Bible study groups. Doris also crocheted newborn hats, lap blankets, and pillows for various healthcare facilities and organizations around town. She and George especially enjoyed attending all the Noblesville ball games together and making peanut brittle annually with their church friends.

Doris is survived by her three beautiful daughters, Katherine Sue Brown, Diana Lynn Russell, and Christi Rae (Brad) Johnson; four grandchildren, Abigail (Paul) Moore, John Russell, Lily (Ben) Renner, and Amber Johnson; and two great-grandchildren, Arlie and West Moore.

She was welcomed Home into loving arms of her husband, George Ray Beason, her parents, seven brothers and sisters, her son-in-law, John "Tim" Russell, and countless friends she had made and lost over the year – most certainly a reunion beyond any Earthly words or measure.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. on Friday, June 17, 2022, at First Christian Church of Noblesville, 16377 Herriman Blvd., Noblesville, with Nick Orange officiating. Visitation will begin at 10 a.m. with burial to follow at Fairview Cemetery in Tipton at approximately 2:30 p.m.

To allow Doris's community and God-centered spirit to live on, the family requests that donations be made to First Christian Church of Noblesville in lieu of flowers.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

It was necessary, then, for the copies of the heavenly things to be purified with these sacrifices, but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these. For Christ did not enter a sanctuary made with human hands that was only a copy of the true one; he entered heaven itself, now to appear for us in God's presence. Nor did he enter heaven to offer himself again and again, the way the high priest enters the Most Holy Place every year with blood that is not his own. Otherwise Christ would have had to suffer many times since the creation of the world. But he has appeared once for all at the culmination of the ages to do away with sin by the sacrifice of himself. Just as people are destined to die once, and after that to face judgment, so Christ was sacrificed once to take away the sins of many; and he will appear a second time, not to bear sin, but to bring salvation to those who are waiting for him.

Charlotte (Kirk) McKinzie

December 17, 1930 – June 10, 2022

Charlotte (Kirk) McKinzie, 91, Carmel, passed away on June 10, 2022. She was born in Hamilton County on December 17, 1930, daughter of John T. and Bessie (Richardson) Kirk.

Charlotte was a 1948 graduate of Carmel High School. She married Max McKinzie September 4, 1953; he preceded her in death on January 4, 2001. Charlotte worked as Receptionist and Switchboard Operator for more than 34 years with Statesman Insurance, which later became Northwestern Insurance.

As a longtime patron of MCL restaurant, Charlotte and a group of friends met daily for lunch as well as most evenings. Sunday was a special day because she looked forward to having ham and sweet potatoes for lunch. In the summer, Charlotte liked driving her red Ford Mustang convertible with the top down. Charlotte possessed a pleasant smile and enjoyed chatting with most anyone. She faithfully attended Central Christian Church for several years.

Survivors include niece, Linda Webster; nephew, Tom (Pat) Kirk along with other nieces and nephews.

A time of Visitation will take place at 10 a.m. on Thursday, June 16, 2022, at Bussell Family Funerals, 1621 E. Greyhound Pass, Carmel, where the Funeral Service will begin at 11 a.m. Burial will follow in Carmel Cemetery.

Arrangements entrusted to Bussell Family Funerals.

The Guerin Catholic boys golf team won the school's first-ever boys golf state championship Wednesday at Prairie View Golf Club in Carmel. The Golden Eagles edged out Westfield by one stroke thanks to 18th-hole birdies by Connor McNeely and Jacob Modleski.

Guerin basks in glory of first win

County teams dominate top three spots in golf state championship

By RICHIE HALL

sports@readthereporter.com

CARMEL - With two birdie putts, the Guerin Catholic boys golf team earned some redemption – and a state championship.

The Golden Eagles had been battling with Westfield for all 36 holes of a hot IHSAA state championship this week at Prairie View Golf Club in Carmel. The tournament finished Wednesday afternoon in dramatic fashion, with the Shamrocks leading Guerin Catholic by one stroke with two groups left to play.

But thanks to those birdies from Connor McNeely and Jacob Modleski, the Golden Eagles overcame that deficit to finish first. Guerin totaled a two-day team score of 602, just ahead of Westfield's 603. It's the first-ever boys golf state championship for the Golden Eagles, and also brought Guerin Catholic full circle after last season's state finals – where it finished second to Center Grove by one stroke.

"There's a lot of pressure going down the last hole," said GC coach Mark Mathews. "Last swing is a tough one to make and those were pretty good swings. I'm just almost speechless, which for me is impossible."

McNeely went first, making his birdie to bring the Golden Eagles up to a tie with the Shamrocks. The senior held the lead after Tuesday's first round, but struggled during the second round before getting it together on the last hole, which he called his "four best shots."

"I ended on a high note," said McNeely. "State championship as a team, that's all that matters, so I'm happy as can be right now."

DON'T TELL ME

Modleski came up next, and after a perfect wedge shot – "probably the best wedge shot of the two days," he said – quickly put the ball in the hole for the birdie. While everyone around him was aware of how important his putt was, Modleski kept himself intentionally unaware of the score.

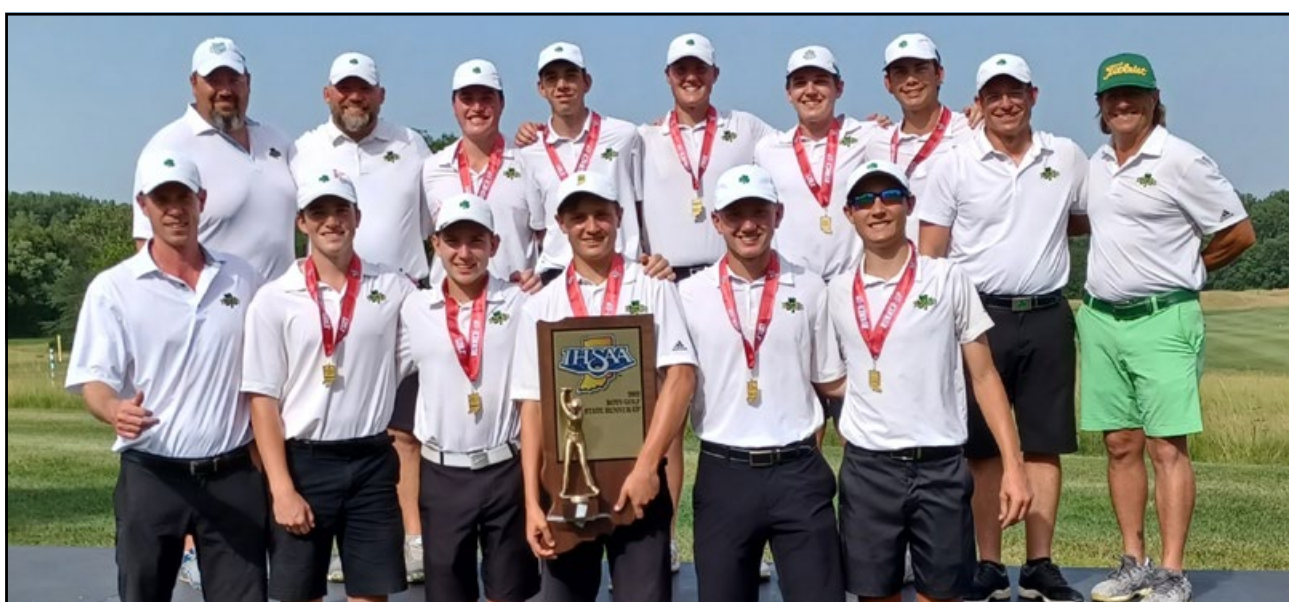

"I actually had no idea," said Modleski. "I told Coach Mathews not to tell me, unless we needed some sort of heroics on 18."

Coach Mathews can confirm this.

"It's pretty cool," said Mathews. "I went out with all intention to tell Jacob what he needed to do, and the first thing when I walk up is, he said 'I don't want to know anything, just help me with the shot. Don't need to know anything, just help me with the shot.' He's a smart kid, so he knew that if I walked out there, that I was probably going to tell him what he needed to do."

Modleski and McNeely both finished the tournament with two birdies, and Modleski would also earn an individual medal as well, tying for fifth place with a two-day score of 145. Modleski went under par for his second round, a one-under 71.

Leo Wessel tied for 10th individually, scoring a 148. Wessel drained four birdies, all on the front nine, during his second round, in which he totaled an even-par 72. Everyone on the Golden Eagles team made at least one birdie, with Zach Thieme collecting two and Scotty Smith one.

(Below) Hamilton Southeastern placed third at the state meet. It's the highest finish for the Royals since they were the state runners-up in 2016.

Modleski and Wessel were both named to the All-State team at the conclusion of the meet. In addition to being Guerin Catholic's first-ever boys golf state title, it's the fifth IHSAA state title in school history for the Golden Eagles, following two each in boys basketball and boys soccer.

While it was a tough way for the meet to finish, the Shamrocks still had an outstanding state tournament. This was the first time a Westfield team had made it to state since 2017, and it did so with a young cast.

Junior Jake Cesare was part of the three-way tie for 10th place, scoring a 148 and making three birdies along the way. All five Westfield players drained at least one birdie, including three for freshman Alec Cesare and two for Will Harvey, another freshman. Nolan Hall collected two and Cam Kooi made one. Jake Cesare was also named to the All-State team.

"Our guys hung in there, they battled, they played great," said Shamrocks coach Josh Bryant. The coach was also proud of his team for fighting until the end.

"It was awesome," said Bryant, who called the event "a great golf tournament to coach in."

"Sometimes it's a bummer that there has to be a second place, but that's the name of the game," said Bryant. "I can tell you that I think our guys are going to look back and go 'I'm proud of our effort.' Hopefully we'll be able to make a run again next year."

ROYALS RISE

The top three was a Hamilton County sweep, as Hamilton Southeastern finished in third place with a two-day score of 615. The Royals played with remarkable consistency over the two days, rising to fourth place after the first round – and then they kept rising.

While Southeastern's consistency gave it the medals, there was also some excitement when junior Lane Zedrick made an eagle on Hole No. 7. That eagle had its origins when Zedrick's coaches talked with him during the practice round.

"They wanted me to lay up on the par fives, just to a distance that I felt really comfortable with," said Zedrick. On that hole, he laid up with the pitching wedge and got within 40 yards.

"That's definitely a distance I'm not comfortable with," said Zedrick. But he made the shot anyway.

"It was cool to hear the roars during the round," said Zedrick. He wound up as Southeastern's low man with a two-day score of 150, and also made a birdie during his second round.

Cole Starnes finished with a 153 and drained two second-round birdies, and also made the All-State team. Tyler Marcinko had two birdies and Jordan Huxford had one. It was a remarkable season for the Royals, who took third in the Noblesville sectional, third in the Muncie Central regional and third at state.

"We had our strategy in plan and we stuck with it for the most part," said Southeastern coach David Young. "We knew that our biggest test would be recovery, nutrition, hydration, just because of the temperature swings and how grueling these two days are already. And then of course you add in the heat and the level of competition and everything that only ups the ante. We focused on all the things that were in our control, we released the things that were not in our control, and that's how we were able to really have the run that we had."

A HISTORIC LIST

Noblesville finished with a two-day score of 641, placing 10th. The Millers were led by senior Will Perkins, who blazed through his second round with a score of 68, four under par. In fact, Perkins is now part of a historic list of players who have scored 68 or better during 18 holes at a state meet.

Coming into the meet, only 43 players in the history of the meet had carded 68 or better over 18 holes. That list now totals 47 players.

Perkins and Cathedral's Ryan Ford both scored 68s on Wednesday. Two more players totaled 67s: New Castle's Derek Tabor, who tied for third, and Valparaiso's Aidan Gutierrez, the individual champion. Gutierrez beat Ford in a three-hole playoff for first place.

Perkins made an eagle on hole No. 5, and followed that up with a birdie on the sixth hole. He totaled three birdies in all.

"I played great," said

Perkins. "After a rough round yesterday, or a rough hole, I knew I could come back, do something good today and just play my game, and I did. I just went out there and had some fun."

Alex Peck also made three birdies, while Rory Bushong collected one.

Fishers' Connor McMillan and Carmel's Owen Sander both totaled 157 for their two rounds. McMillan made two birdies in his second round, while Sander had one.
